ITEM 7.01 REGULATION FD DISCLOSURE

Hurricane Ike has impacted Company and franchised Jack in the Box(R) restaurants in the Gulf Coast region of Texas. Approximately 235 Company and franchised restaurants (189 Company and 46 franchised) were closed at the time Hurricane Ike made landfall on Friday, Sept. 12. As of Sept. 19, approximately 100 Company and franchised Jack in the Box restaurants remain closed, primarily due to a lack of utilities. The Company's internal distribution network has been able to quickly re-stock restaurants as utility service is restored, and the Company expects restaurants to continue reopening. At the end of the Company's third quarter of fiscal 2008 (July 6), there were 2,148 Jack in the Box restaurants, including 1,378 Company and 770 franchised locations. The Company has property and business interruption insurance, subject to certain deductibles. At this time, it is too early to determine the financial impact of the storm damage and power outages.

Hurricane Ike had less of an impact on the Company's fast-casual subsidiary, Qdoba Mexican Grill(R). One franchised Qdoba restaurant in Texas was closed when Hurricane Ike made landfall on Sept. 12, but that location re-opened on Sept. 14. As the storm passed through the Midwest, three franchised Qdoba restaurants were closed for approximately two days each due to power outages. One franchised Qdoba restaurant in Louisville, Ky., has been closed since Sept. 14 due to lack of electricity in that area. At the end of the Company's third quarter, there were 438 Qdoba restaurants, including 99 Company and 339 franchised locations.
