Item 2.06. Material Impairments

On January 17, 2005 Captaris concluded that the stand-alone Infinite mobile delivery product offering is not strategic to its long-term business focus and will make an end of life announcement for the stand-alone Infinite mobile delivery product line. Captaris acquired the mobile delivery product line and associated mobile technology in the acquisition of Infinite Technologies in 2001. As a result of this decision, Captaris will record a non cash impairment charge of approximately $480,000 for the reduction in value of the purchased intangibles associated with the Infinite Technologies acquisition. Shutdown costs are not expected to be material. The non-cash charge will be recorded in financial results for the fourth quarter ended December 31, 2004. The impairment charge will not result in future cash expenditures. Captaris intends to continue to deploy mobile technology in its enterprise products, including RightFax, which it views as a significant competitive differentiator and valuable feature for its enterprise customers.
