In accordance with General Instruction B.2 of Form 8-K, the information contained in Exhibit 99.1 furnished as an exhibit hereto shall not be deemed “filed” for purposes of Section 18 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, is not subject to the liabilities of that section, and shall not be deemed incorporated by reference into any registration statement or other document filed under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, except as shall be expressly set forth by specific reference in such filing or document.

Item 7.01 Regulation FD Disclosure.

On March 14, 2017, the Company’s North American operating subsidiary, Real Alloy Holding, Inc. (“Real Alloy”), together with certain of its U.S. and Canadian subsidiaries, executed a Revolving Credit Agreement (the “ABL Agreement”) with Bank of America, N.A. that provides Real Alloy with a new $110 million senior secured revolving asset-based credit facility (“ABL Facility”). The ABL Facility will terminate on the earlier of March 14, 2022 or 90 days prior to the earlier of the maturity date for the Real Alloy 10% Senior Secured Notes (January 15, 2019) or the maturity date for the Company’s preferred stock (March 22, 2020), unless such maturity dates are extended. Concurrent with entry into the ABL Agreement, Real Alloy has terminated its existing $110 million Revolving Credit Agreement with Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., dated February 27, 2015, as amended (the “Existing Facility”).

The ABL Agreement is intended to provide Real Alloy with additional borrowing capacity, based principally on the accounts receivable of Real Alloy’s Mexican operations, as well as improved advance rates and more flexible operational, intercompany and transactional covenants. In addition, the ABL Facility is comprised of a U.S. sub-facility and Canadian sub-facility. The borrowing base under the ABL Facility will be determined based on eligible accounts receivable and eligible inventory of the Real Alloy business in the United States (in the case of the US sub-facility) and eligible accounts receivable and eligible inventory of the Real Alloy business in Canada (in the case of the Canadian sub-facility). The proceeds of the ABL Facility will be used for Real Alloy’s working capital and general corporate purposes.

The Company will file a Current Report on Form 8-K with the SEC no later than March 20, 2017, which will disclose the material terms of the ABL Agreement and termination of the Existing Facility.

On March 14, 2017, the Company updated its investor presentation deck on its corporate website, www.realindustryinc.com. The presentation deck is attached hereto as Exhibit 99.2.

The information set forth in Item 2.02 above and in Exhibit 99.1 to this Current Report on Form 8-K is incorporated into this Item 7.01 by reference.
