BLR Partners LP, together with the other participants named herein (collectively, “RESI Shareholders Group”), intends to make a preliminary filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission of a proxy statement and accompanying proxy card to be used to solicit votes for the election of RESI Shareholders Group’s slate of three highly-qualified director nominees to the Board of Directors of Altisource Residential Corporation, a Maryland corporation (the “Company”), at the Company’s upcoming 2016 annual meeting of stockholders, or any other meeting of stockholders held in lieu thereof, and any adjournments, postponements, reschedulings or continuations thereof.

On March 4, 2016, RESI Shareholders Group issued the following press release:

RESI SHAREHOLDERS GROUP SENDS LETTER TO ALTISOURCE RESIDENTIAL CHAIRMAN

NEW YORK, NY, March 4, 2016 - RESI Shareholders Group owning over 4.5% of the outstanding shares of Altisource Residential Corporation (“RESI” or the “Company”) (NYSE: RESI) announced today that it has released an open letter to David Reiner, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Company (the “Board”).

Full text of the letter follows:

“RESI: Destroy Shareholder Value & Insert ASPS Advertisement Here”

Source: Fred Small’s March 1, 2016 report from Compass Point Research & Trading, LLC

Dear Mr. Reiner,

It is clear that RESI’s Board and management’s attempt to justify your current value-destroying strategy during the earnings call on Monday was a resounding failure. In the face of shareholder opposition, sell-side analyst criticism and negative market reaction, management has redoubled its commitment to pursuing a failed and discredited strategy of acquiring single-family rentals (“SFR”).

On the call, Jade Rahmani, a research analyst at Keefe, Bruyette & Woods, encapsulated shareholder concerns with this strategy when he said:

“I think the essential disconnect is your stock is trading at 48% of book value, which means you can buy these assets, the same assets that you are going out and paying market price for at $0.50 on the dollar, which would be highly accretive to shareholders and that's a provable thing whereas the single-family rental strategy with ASPS is more uncertain just given that you haven't been at that business for an extended period of time. So I think that buying back the stock in meaningful amounts would be compelling at this point.”

RESI CEO, George Ellison has displayed a frightening inability to explain why his strategy will work. Clearly, investors and analysts are unable to understand how purchasing homes could be a better opportunity than buying back RESI shares at less than 50% of tangible book value or liquidating RESI completely. CEO Ellison effectively threatened shareholders by citing friction costs and timing in the event of a liquidation, although he is already undertaking a full liquidation of the legacy assets anyway. Pushed further, however, about the true NAV given these purported friction costs, he reiterated that the stated book value of $20.73 does indeed represent fair value, almost double the current share price.

Shareholder confidence in this management has been further eroded by CEO Ellison’s irrational commitment to Altisource Portfolio Solutions S.A. (“ASPS”). Since the call, ASPS is now trading down 35% on recent news. RESI’s

Board must recognize the futility and harm of propping up the Erbey complex of formerly related entities and must focus strictly on their fiduciary duty to RESI shareholders alone.

Since the date of CEO Ellison's appointment, RESI's share price has declined by approximately 40%. It is clear to us this represents an unequivocal vote of no-confidence in the Company's current strategy and its management. Shareholders will have a chance to express their views when they decide on the makeup of the post-Erbey Board at the next Annual Meeting, which we expect will be held in May.

We urge you to take your role as our Chairman seriously and restore value by ceasing the drain of shareholder capital in management's current value destroying strategy.

Mr. Reiner, you are a fiduciary to RESI shareholders, not Mr. Ellison, AAMC, ASPS or any other conflicted group. We demand you act in the best interest of all shareholders and pursue the best risk adjusted outcome for RESI by halting the SFR strategy.

Sincerely,

RESI Shareholders Group
