GENERAL INFORMATION

What is GE Capital Invest Direct?

GE Capital Invest Direct is a website through which General Electric Capital Corporation offers the opportunity to invest directly in GE Interest Plus and GE Capital Select notes.

What is a GE Capital Select term note?

A GE Capital Select term note is an investment in the unsecured senior debt of General Electric Capital Corporation and is not a bank account, certificate of deposit or money market fund and is not FDIC-insured. GE Capital Select term notes are not guaranteed under the FDIC's Temporary Liquidity Guarantee Program. Each GE Capital Select term note represents a promise by GE Capital to pay principal and interest to the holder thereof when due. When the note matures, your principal will be returned to you along with any accrued but unpaid interest. More information concerning GE Capital Select term note is contained in the prospectus.

What are the available terms and interest rates?

GE Capital Select term notes have terms to maturity ranging from 1 to 10 years. This website and the prospectus and supplements provide information on the current rate offered for each term. Please review the prospectus and pricing supplement or click here to view terms and current rates.

What is the difference between GE Capital Select and GE Interest Plus?

When you invest in GE Capital Select term notes, you are investing a fixed amount of money in a fixed rate term note. This means that you are paid a fixed rate of interest and agree not to redeem your investment for a specific period of time. This rate will not change during the term of the note. If you decide to redeem your note prior to maturity (other than within 10 days of funding of the investment or upon the death of the registered holder of the note), you will incur a 5% early redemption penalty and will only receive 95% of the aggregate principal amount of your initial investment amount (plus 100% of any accrued and unpaid interest). See the prospectus and supplements for more information.

When you invest in GE Interest Plus notes, you are investing in a variable rate demand note. This means that the note pays a floating rate of interest and is redeemable by you at any time without penalty. The interest rate offered by GE Interest Plus varies and may be reset as often as weekly, as determined by the GE Interest Plus Committee. You are able to add to or redeem your investment by check, ACH transfer and wire. More information can be found in the prospectus and pricing supplements.

What is the difference between a GE Capital Select term note and a bank certificate of deposit?

GE Capital Select term notes represent a direct investment in General Electric Capital Corporation. They do not represent a bank deposit, money market account or certificate of deposit and are NOT FDIC-

Insured. Certificates of deposit are a form of bank deposit and are FDIC-Insured. Investors must understand that term notes do not represent a bank deposit. Click here to review the prospectus, which contains more information on GE Capital Select term notes.

How is the interest calculated and paid?

Interest is compounded daily at an annual rate based on a 365-day year. You may elect to receive interest payments on a monthly basis or only upon maturity of the note. If you elect to receive interest monthly, it will be posted to your GE Capital Select term note on the last day of the month and a payment will be initiated to you on the same day. Typically, monthly interest payments will be transferred to your linked bank account 2 business days after month end.

If you elect to receive interest only upon maturity of the note, interest will be paid monthly and automatically invested in notes having the same interest rate and maturity date as your investment.

Will my interest rate for GE Capital Select change during the note's term?

No. The interest rate is fixed on the note issue date and remains unchanged through the life of the note.

Will the interest I earn be taxable?

Yes. Interest earned on your GE Capital Select investment will constitute income to you and is taxable in the year in which it is earned, regardless of whether you elect to receive monthly interest payments or to receive your interest payment only upon maturity of the investment. Interest income is subject to federal and applicable state and local taxes.

Can I purchase a note in my IRA?

No.

INVESTING

Who can purchase GE Capital Select term notes?

GE Capital Select term note investments may be held by individuals (individually, jointly or in a custodial arrangement) and by personal trust investors. Trust applications will not be accepted from any trust that is an employee benefit, retirement, or deferred compensation plan. The notes are not currently available to business investors. Investors must be 18 years or older and reside in the United States to apply.

How do I purchase a note?

Carefully read the prospectus and supplements. If you determine that a GE Capital Select term note is an appropriate investment for you, you can then establish your investment online. When you do, you will have the option to fund your investment via a linked bank account, by redemption of part of a current investment maintained in GE Interest Plus notes, or by mailing in a check.

How can I fund my GE Capital Select term note?

You may do so through redemption of part of an existing GE Interest Plus investment, by transferring funds from an external bank account already linked to your current investment, or linked during the application process, or by mailing in a check.

If you have a current GE Interest Plus investment, you may fund your GE Capital Select term note by electing to redeem a portion of your GE Interest Plus investment and applying the proceeds to the new investment.

You may fund your investment by transferring funds from a bank account that you verify during the application process or one that you have verified previously for another investment account. If the bank account must be verified, you will either verify it instantly or through trial deposits.

1. If you instantly verify your bank account, your GE Capital Select term note will be opened and you will receive the rate offered on the day your application is approved.
2. If you choose trial deposits, you will leave the application session and return to complete the application after you receive the trial deposits in your bank account.

You may complete the investment application online and then mail in a check with the cover letter provided to you when you complete your application. If you mail in a check, your investment will initially be set to pay interest to you at maturity. You will have the option to change this to monthly interest payouts once your investment has been established. You will mail your check to the following address:

GE Capital Invest Direct
GE Capital Select
P.O. Box 534023
Pittsburgh, PA 15253-4023

Trust investments may only be funded by mailing in a check. Keep in mind that when you mail in a check, you are leaving the application process and interest rates may change before your term note is established. When your check is received, your term note account will be established and your interest rate will be set. See Note Maturity and Redeeming Prior to Maturity to review your options if you are unhappy with the interest rate on your investment.

What types of checks will you accept for investment?

Your investment check must be drawn on a U.S. bank or a U.S. branch of a foreign bank. Funds must be in U.S. dollars. Money orders, traveler s checks, starter checks, cashier s checks, credit card checks, foreign checks and third party checks are not acceptable. Your check must be made payable to GE Capital Select. Cash is not accepted.

Can I apply for an investment if I do not have a Driver's License?

Yes. If you do not have a Driver's License, you may apply as long as you have a valid, non-expired U.S. State ID.

What type of bank account can I link to my investment?

It must be a U.S. based bank checking or savings account with a valid routing and transit number. The registration of the bank account must match the registration of the investment you are establishing.

What is required to open a Trust Investment?

After you submit your application electronically, you must mail in a completed and signed Trustee Certification and Agreement, IRS Form W-9, and the first two pages and the signature page of the trust agreement (with visible notary seal or stamp) along with your check for the investment amount you indicated on your application. The Trustee Certification and Agreement will be provided to you online once your application has been submitted. Make sure the name of the trust, the date the trust was established and the name of the trustee (and co-trustee if applicable) appear on the pages of the trust agreement you send in.

What is a Uniform Gift to Minor's Account?

The Uniform Gift to Minors Act (UGMA) or the Uniform Transfers to Minors Act (UTMA) is a type of custodial account for children. Most states have adopted one form of these uniform acts as a means of transferring ownership of property to children. The Acts allow a person to fund an investment for a child, but limit that child's access to the investment until the child reaches the age of majority. The age of majority is set by state law and typically ranges from 18 to 21. The child is the investment owner, but a parent (or other adult) is named as custodian. The custodian controls the investment until the child is no longer a minor. At that point, the custodial relationship ends and the child controls the investment.

Can I establish an investment account with an address outside the United States?

No. GE Capital Select term notes are available only to individuals who have an established residence in the U.S.

Can I have my mail sent to an address outside the United States?

No.

What happens after I invest?
