JDA Software Acquires i2 Technologies

Hello. I'm Hamish Brewer, CEO and President of JDA Software Group and I'm delighted to have the opportunity to share with you my thoughts on the combination of JDA and i2 announced on November 5, 2009. The challenges of the global financial crisis continue to be at the forefront of corporate thinking around the world. That's why I believe that this is the perfect time to create a company that will unquestionably possess the greatest potential for innovation and service targeted squarely at improving business results. The combined resources, talents and track records of JDA and i2 create a platform from which I assure you we intend to accelerate innovation, expand service and support, protect customer investments and deliver improved results to the bottom line. In short, JDA and i2 intend to create a leader in supply chain and we aim to do this, first and foremost, by earning and maintaining each customer's trust, and second, by consistently delivering real results.

The challenges that companies worldwide face are in many ways unprecedented. This challenging paradigm demands transformational thinking, dependable delivery and a solid return on investment. The integration of our companies into one seamless organization will afford us the scale to take planning, optimization and execution disciplines to the next level. We will back innovation in these areas with comprehensive support and services designed to optimize the profits of companies in the retail, manufacturing, wholesale, distribution and services industries globally.

I'd like to speak to some of the changes we expect to deliver and also address some of the things that we don't intend to change at all:

New Innovative Solutions that Create New Value for our Customers. The combination of these two companies will bring together the market's largest and most experienced team of supply chain professionals capable of innovating in the fields of planning, optimization and execution for our customers. We will be able to create accelerated and highly differentiated innovation at a pace that will be hard for others to follow. My promise to our customers is that our focus will not waiver from the primary goal of delivering maximum value to their businesses in a form that is easy and cost effective to deploy and maintain. Many of these opportunities will emerge from implementing our respective solutions as over 130 joint customers of i2 and JDA have already done.

Investment Protection. JDA has a long-standing history of protecting the investment of our customers. This will not change. To create the innovation opportunities that I just mentioned, we will integrate our solutions, creating new solutions as a result. However, I assure you that we will do so in a manner that is respectful of our customers investment and considerate of the changes that they can absorb. Within 90 days of the close of the acquisition we will launch an integrated product roadmap focused on ensuring continuity and providing easy access to new innovation.

Expanded Services and Support. We know that technology is just an enabler, and that real results are achieved by combining great technology with great people. Our opportunities in this respect are second to none. The combined companies will incorporate the world's largest and most experienced team of industry experts. We intend to harness this capability to ensure that our customers can implement mission-critical process improvement with minimum risk and maximum return on investment. Our capabilities will allow for the implementation of solutions either in the traditional "behind the firewall" model or as a service delivered with the highest quality. Our goal is to give our customers the options they need, and to work with them to ensure that whichever delivery model best suits their business, we are able to provide distinctive value. In addition to expanded deployment models and services, we will also focus on total cost of delivery to maximize value for tier one customers and ensure competitiveness in the mid-market.

To summarize, my objective at this stage is to reassure you that JDA will keep customer interests at the forefront, create new business opportunities for all JDA and i2 customers, and build a service and support operation which is unmatched in terms of quality and value.

We expect the transaction to be final during the First Quarter of 2010 and will use JDA's past integration experience to make the transition to a single company as rapid and seamless as possible.

These are exciting times for our associates, partners and I hope, for our customers, as we enter into a new era for the industries we serve.

I thank you for your business and look forward to adding even more value to our existing business relationships, as well as many new ones, in the years ahead.
