Integration Update 9: Our Culture next

Cultural Assessment
    We recently conducted a survey of the executive population of both companies,
   and we learned
  three key things.
          2
          3
      We have...
  A strong, similar cultural foundation
 A shared, common cultural ideal
A few misperceptions
 we need to address next

1. Our Strong Foundation
Many of the strongest cultural characteristics are shared;
others are complementary and can be leveraged Strongest characteristics of current cultures

- Pride in our heritage
- Hard working, with "can-do" attitude
- Clear set of values lived each day
- Value new and better methods and ideas
 - Personal accountability Shared Stanley
- Results, not efforts
- Bias toward action
- Clearly articulated vision for future
 - Ambitious goals
- High capacity for change
- Strong operations & finance base Black & Decker
- Collaborative, team spirit; mutual trust
- Do the right thing, not the easy thing
- Give 100%, all of the time
- Decentralized decision making
 - Customer focused next

- 3. Misperceptions
- Resource rich as opposed to lean and efficient Stanley views Black & Decker as...
- More competitive in nature than BDK views itself
- Structured and formal in leadership communication as opposed to slightly informal
 - More operations focused than customer focused
 - Structured and processdriven as opposed to somewhat more flexible
- Not quite as lean as SWK views itself

Black & Decker views Stanley as...

It is common for partners to perceive their cultures as different next Misperceptions are Natural, but...

There is Overwhelming Agreement
next
We have two great companies.

Moving Forward

- Stanley and Black & Decker share far more similarities than differences
- Integration effectiveness will depend in part on how well the perceived and actual cultural differences are managed
 - Be aware and open regarding cultural differences within your team
- Maintain an honest, frequent dialogue within your team and encourage sub-team members to do the same next

Thank You!

CAUTIONARY STATEMENTS

Under the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995

Statements in this document that are not historical, including but not limited to those regarding the consummation of the proposed transaction between Stanley and Black & Decker and the realization of synergies in connection therewith, are "forward looking statements" and, as such, are subject to risk and uncertainty.

Stanley's and Black & Decker's ability to deliver the results as described above is based on current expectations and involves inherent risks and uncertainties, including factors listed below and other factors that could delay, divert, or change any of them, and could cause actual outcomes and results to differ materially from current expectations. In addition to the risks, uncertainties and other factors discussed in this document, the risks, uncertainties and other factors that could cause or contribute to actual results differing materially from those expressed or implied in the forward looking statements include, without limitation, those set forth in the "Risk Factors" section, the "Legal Proceedings" section, the "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" section and other sections of Stanley's and Black & Decker's Annual Reports on Form 10-K and any material changes thereto set forth in any subsequent Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q, those contained in Stanley's and Black & Decker's other filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, and those set forth below.

These factors include but are not limited to the risk that regulatory and stockholder approvals of the transaction are not obtained on the proposed terms and schedule; the future business operations of Stanley or Black & Decker will not be successful; the risk that the proposed transaction between Stanley and Black & Decker will not be consummated; the risk that Stanley and Black & Decker will not realize any or all of the anticipated benefits from the transaction; the risk that cost synergy, customer retention and revenue expansion goals for the transaction will not be met and that disruptions from the transaction will harm relationships with customers, employees and suppliers; the risk that unexpected costs will be incurred; the outcome of litigation (including with respect to the transaction) and regulatory proceedings to which Stanley or Black & Decker may be a party; pricing pressure and other changes within competitive markets; the continued consolidation of customers particularly in consumer channels; inventory management pressures on Stanley's and Black & Decker's customers; the impact the tightened credit markets may have on Stanley or Black & Decker or customers or suppliers; the extent to which Stanley or Black & Decker has to write off accounts receivable or assets or experiences supply chain disruptions in connection with bankruptcy filings by customers or suppliers; increasing competition; changes in laws, regulations and policies that affect Stanley or Black & Decker, including but not limited to trade, monetary, tax and fiscal policies and laws; the timing and extent of any inflation or deflation in 2009 and beyond; currency exchange fluctuations; the impact of dollar/foreign currency exchange and interest rates on the competitiveness of products and Stanley's and Black & Decker's debt programs; the strength of the U.S. and European economies; the extent to which world-wide markets associated with homebuilding and remodeling continue to deteriorate; the impact of events that cause or may cause disruption in Stanley's or Black & Decker's manufacturing, distribution and sales networks such as war, terrorist activities, and political unrest; and recessionary or expansive trends in the economies of the world in which Stanley or Black & Decker operates, including but not limited to the extent and duration of the current recession in the US economy.

Neither Stanley nor Black & Decker undertake any obligation to publicly update or revise any forward-looking statements to reflect events or circumstances that may arise after the date hereof.
