TD BANK FINANCIAL GROUP MOVES AGGRESSIVELY ON ITS STRATEGY TO ADDRESS CREDIT CONCERNS

TORONTO, NOVEMBER 04, 2002 / CNW / - TD Bank Financial Group (TDBFG) today announced a definitive strategy to deal with its credit challenges. Under this new strategy, TD will split its corporate lending business into "core" and "non-core" relationships. In addition, driven by deterioration in the utilities sector creating higher than anticipated impaired loan formations, TD announced that it was increasing its specific loan loss provisions and taking additional one-time provisions of CDN$600 million.

"Our existing credit challenges have been aggravated by recent further deterioration in the utilities sector. To that end, we determined that the shift in strategy that we announced in July was not only appropriate, but one which we should be pursuing faster and more aggressively," said A. Charles Baillie, Chairman and CEO of TD Bank Financial Group. "We have implemented very specific and vigorous steps which are designed to tackle our continuing credit challenges even more aggressively while positioning TDBFG for growth going forward."

As a result of higher than anticipated new formations of impaired loans for the end of the fiscal year, TDBFG will be taking a higher specific loan loss provision for the quarter of CDN$350 million versus the CDN$175 million guidance previously provided. CDN$263 million of the provision will be against three relationships in the utilities sector. In addition, TDBFG will also draw CDN$185 million in this quarter from the CDN$600 million telecom sectoral that it announced in July. TDBFG indicated that its loan losses in the personal and commercial bank will come in at expected levels.

"We remain comfortable with our provisioning for telecom though we will be drawing down on this sectoral earlier than expected. The amount of the draw down is in keeping with our loss level expectations," added Baillie.

"Our strong desire to deal definitively with our continuing credit challenges has led us to accelerate our previously announced shift in direction and to organizationally split TD Securities into two distinct business groups. The division of our corporate lending book into 'core' and 'non-core' portfolios will result in a significantly smaller on-going corporate loan book with less capital deployed, which can deliver earnings growth from an adjusted base with lower volatility and improved rates of return," said Ed Clark, President and COO of TD Bank Financial Group. "We will now have one unit for on-going operations with core clients and one for businesses with non-core clients that we want to exit over time," he noted.

The non-core loan portfolio comprises approximately $11 billion in corporate loans or about half of TDBFG's total corporate loans. About 55% of this is telecommunications and utilities and is primarily non-Canadian loans. TDBFG emphasized that the non-core portfolio is 40% investment grade.

"As a second step to address our credit challenges we will be taking additional one-time provisions of CDN$600 million. Combined with the remaining CDN$415 million telecom and CDN$250 million US corporate sectorals, we will have CDN$1.265 billion in provisions against the non-core portfolio," added Clark.

The effect of this provisioning will produce a loss for the quarter in the range of CDN$0.07 to CDN$0.12 cents per share on a fully diluted cash operating basis or CDN$0.31 to CDN$0.36 cents per share on a reported GAAP basis. Additional information will be provided when TDBFG announces its fourth quarter results at the end of the month.

"It is clearly not a good time for us, and I am deeply disappointed that we are delivering this news - our shareholders deserve better," said Baillie.

"With today's aggressive actions we have dramatically changed the risk profile of the Bank. We have a strong Canadian franchise both in corporate lending and investment banking as well as strong capabilities in capital markets outside of Canada and we will continue to lend on a limited basis outside Canada. The TDBFG franchise continues to have solid fundamentals which we believe will deliver consistent and quality earnings for our shareholders in the future, " added Clark.
