No. 1	RNS Announcement, re: October Output Statement dated 14 November 2003

British Energy plc

Edgar Filing: BRITISH ENERGY PLC - Form 6-K

14 November 2003

Clarification to October Output Statement

Further to the October output statement released yesterday, British Energy wishes to clarify the statement on 2003/4 nuclear output which should read:

2003/04 UK Nuclear Output

At the outset of the year, the Company's forecast for total UK nuclear output for the current financial year was approximately 67 TWh after establishing a reserve for unplanned outages in excess of 8 TWh. The figure of approximately 5 TWh, previously stated, excluded a provision for minor station losses. Based on outages to date and the Company's current expectations as to the return to service of Sizewell B and Heysham 1, the remaining reserve for unplanned outages is in excess of 2 TWh.

Furthermore, having now substantially completed the outage programme for the current financial year, the overall operational risk is expected to be lower.
