Overview

HSBC Trinkaus

results in the first nine months of 2008 reflect the challenges of the global economy in 2008, particularly in the third quarter. However, HSBC Trinkaus benefitted from being part of the HSBC Group and saw customer deposits reach a record level of €12 billion, up some €2 billion in the third quarter.

Despite the difficult trading conditions in the third quarter, net trading income and profit before tax have continued to grow, albeit at a slower rate

Throughout the period, HSBC Trinkaus consistently exceeded the minimum liquidity requirements demanded by the banking supervisors; HSBC Trinkaus has not made use of the central bank's refinancing facility.

Financial commentary

Operating profit of €133.6 million was 17.6 per cent lower than the record €162.6 million recorded in the same period in 2007

The Management Board believes that, given the difficult market conditions, this represents a solid performance.

Net interest income increased by 16.0 per cent from €83.6 million to €97.0 million.

This was primarily due to the increase in customer deposits referred of €2 billion to over €12 billion

Net fee income was up 7.4 per cent from €242.9 million to €260.9 million

Market volatility led to increased transaction volumes in the third quarter but the overall number of transactions in the year will be down on 2007 due to market declines around the globe. There has also been a reduction in demand for structured products and investment banking services.

The period under review includes, for the first time

net fee income generated by the fully consolidated International Transaction Services GmbH (

ITS), the securities settlement subsidiary acquired on 1 January 2008

Net trading income was down 17.7 per cent from €84.3 million to €69.4 million, but remained profitable even in the third quarter. HSBC Trinkaus saw a substantial increase in income from equities and equity derivatives trading. However, as a large part of liquid Treasury investments are kept in bonds with a mark-to-market valuation, valuation losses occurred as a result of spreads widening

The sales-trading bond positions were affected in the same way.

The equities and equity/index derivatives and the foreign exchange business remained profitable. The bonds and interest rate derivatives business recorded losses.

Net loan impairment and other credit risk provisions increased by €1.7 million compared with the €3.7 million

credit reported in the same period in 2007

C redit risk provisioning remains
at the lower end of expectations
and HSBC Trinkaus remains largely unaffected by major defaults in the lending business.
However a modest increase in provisioning levels reflected the changing economic environment.
Total a dministrative expenses were up 12.9
per cent from €262.5 million to €296.4 million. Excluding ITS'
s
administrative expenses, included for the first time, the increase would have been three per cent
. The rise in costs was attributable both to an increase in the number of employees and further investments in IT infrastructure. Performance -based remuneration declined in line with the overall result. The introduction of the flat tax on capital income in Germany
from 2009
will have the effect of put ting
considerable pressure on administrative expenses this year.

Results by business segment

Despite the severe turbulence in global financial market
, the Corporate Banking and Institutional Clients segments again managed to improve on the strong results recorded the previous year. The Private Banking and Global Markets segments were not able to repeat their 2007 performances
however
, due to the unfavourable market conditions

The

Corporate Banking segment improved net fee income in the fixed income, international and foreign exchange businesses compared to the previous year.

This was driven by higher net interest income accrued as a result of a strong increase in sight deposits and lending volume coinciding with an increase in margins on deposits

Revenue growth in the Institutional Clients segment was particularly strong in the fixed income and custody business.

Successful

Asset Management and fixed income business in the Private Banking segment almost offset the decline

in transaction revenues in the securities business as many investors withdrew from the market.

The Global Markets segment was affected in particular by the unfavourable global economic environment and revenues

in the period were lower than those achieved in the previous year

, especially in respect of interest rate

products.

However, the

Global Markets

segment did

report a positive

result thanks to strict risk and limit discipline.

Outlook

HSBC Trinkaus has performed

well

during a

difficult period in both absolute terms and in relation to the competition

as the bank remains profitable

The resilient business model operated by HSBC Trinkaus, a clear strategy and the benefits of being part of the wider HSBC Group have proved attractive to customers; although we have had to make further provisions, the bank's sustained earning potential in the long term remains unaffected

The global economic outlook remains uncertain but the Management Board will continue to focus on serving the needs of the bank's customers and controlling its costs to ensure HSBC Trinkaus is well positioned for the future.
