MATSUSHITA REPORTS GAINS IN THIRD QUARTER FINANCIAL RESULTS

- Full-year Operating Profit Forecast Revised Upward -

Osaka, Japan, February 4, 2005 Matsushita Electric Industrial Co., Ltd. (Matsushita [NYSE symbol: MC]) today reported its consolidated financial results for the third quarter and nine months, ended December 31, 2004, of the current fiscal year ending March 31, 2005 (fiscal 2005).

Consolidated Third-quarter Results¹

Consolidated group sales for the third quarter increased 13% to 2,296.5 billion yen (U.S.$22.08 billion), from 2,031.3 billion yen in the same three-month period a year ago. Explaining third quarter results, the company cited sales gains in digital audiovisual (AV) products, especially V-products, increased sales in Home Appliances, and the addition of MEW, PanaHome and their respective subsidiaries to the company's consolidated financial results. Sales declines, however, were recorded in information and communications equipment, Components and Devices, and JVC. Of the consolidated group total, domestic sales increased 28% to 1,189.0 billion yen ($11.43 billion). Overseas sales edged up 1% to 1,107.5 billion yen ($10.65 billion). Excluding the effects of currency translation, overseas sales increased 1% from a year ago on a local currency basis².

1. On April 1, 2004, Matsushita acquired a controlling interest in Matsushita Electric Works, Ltd. (MEW). As a result, MEW, PanaHome Corporation (PanaHome) and their respective subsidiaries became consolidated subsidiaries of the company. The current third quarter and nine-month consolidated results include the results of these subsidiaries on a full consolidated basis. For more information, see Notes 5 and 8 of Notes to consolidated financial statements on pages 14 and 15.
 2. Sales on a local currency basis is not a measure conforming with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (U.S. GAAP). However, the company believes that this measure is useful to investors in promoting understanding of the company's business conditions by excluding the influence of foreign currency exchange rate fluctuations.

During the third quarter under review, the overall economic situation in Japan remained stable, despite lingering negative factors including a strong yen, mainly against the U.S. dollar, rising oil and raw materials prices, downturns in the information technology (IT) and components and devices industries, as well as slowed exports. Global economies, however, were characterized by generally slow conditions, although the U.S. economy showed modest progress, and China also continued an upward trend, supported by domestic consumer spending.

During the third quarter of fiscal 2005, Matsushita continued to implement initiatives relating to product competitiveness, enhanced profitability and strengthened overseas businesses, all aimed at achieving global excellence and sustainable growth. In particular, Matsushita further augmented its line of competitive V-products that feature proprietary black-box technologies, incorporate universal design concepts and are environmentally friendly. Matsushita also strengthened its overall management structure through sweeping cost reduction activities and proactive business restructuring. Furthermore, management maintained a high priority on the improvement of cash flows, focusing on the reduction of total assets, particularly inventories.

As part of its comprehensive collaboration activities with MEW, the two companies unified brands and product designs, opened new product showrooms and announced Collaboration V-products, which utilize the respective strengths of both companies. In addition, Matsushita and MEW will integrate overlapping businesses in the areas of electrical supplies, building materials and equipment, and home appliances to establish an optimum organizational structure from a customer's point of view.

Regarding earnings, negative factors such as a strong yen, increased raw materials costs and intensified global price competition were more than offset by sales gains, cost reduction efforts and other positive factors. As a result, operating profit³ for the third quarter increased 24%, to 88.3 billion yen ($849 million), from 70.9 billion yen in the same three-month period a year ago. During the third quarter, the company incurred restructuring charges of 10.0 billion yen ($96 million) related to early retirement programs. This, and other factors, resulted in pre-tax income of 83.1 billion yen ($799 million), mostly unchanged from the third quarter of last year. Net income for the quarter totaled 35.6 billion yen ($342 million), up from 24.2 billion yen in the same quarter of the previous year. Net income per common share for the third quarter was 15.56 yen ($0.15) on a diluted basis, versus a net income per common share of 10.32 yen on the same basis a year ago.

Consolidated Nine-month Results

Consolidated group sales for the nine months ended December 31, 2004 increased 17% to 6,615.1 billion yen ($63.61 billion), compared with 5,671.0 billion yen in the same nine-month period a year ago. Domestic sales increased 30% to 3,391.9 billion yen ($32.62 billion), while overseas sales were up 5% to 3,223.2 billion yen ($30.99 billion). Excluding the effects of currency translation, overseas sales increased 8% from a year ago on a local currency basis.

For reasons similar to those given for the third quarter results, the company's operating profit for the nine months increased 62% to 244.6 billion yen ($2.35 billion), from 150.5 billion yen in the comparable period a year ago. Income before income taxes for the nine-month period increased 57% to 220.4 billion yen ($2.12 billion), from 140.2 billion yen in the comparable period a year ago. Net income also improved, increasing 94% to 91.7 billion yen ($882 million), as compared with a net income of 47.4 billion yen in the same nine-month period of the previous year. This resulted in a net income per common share of 39.79 yen ($0.38) on a diluted basis, versus a net income per common share of 20.11 yen on the same basis a year ago.

3. For information about operating profit, see Note 2 of Notes to consolidated financial statements on page 14.

Third-quarter Sales Breakdown by Product Category

Effective April 1, 2004, the company reclassified its previous five product categories (AVC Networks, Home Appliances, Components and Devices, JVC, and Other) into six new product categories to reflect the consolidation of MEW, PanaHome and their respective subsidiaries. The six new product categories are: AVC Networks, Home Appliances, Components and Devices, MEW and PanaHome, JVC, and Other.

The company's third-quarter consolidated sales by reclassified product category, as compared with prior year amounts, are summarized as follows:

AVC Networks

AVC Networks sales decreased 5% to 966.9 billion yen ($9.30 billion), from 1,013.4 billion yen in last year's third quarter. Within this category, sales of video and audio equipment increased 4%, due mainly to strong sales of digital AV products, such as flat-panel TVs, including PDP TVs, and digital cameras, which were more than sufficient to offset sluggish sales in VCRs and audio equipment.

Sales of information and communications equipment were down 12% due to sales declines in cellular phones and other products, although increased sales were recorded for PCs and peripherals.

Home Appliances

Sales of Home Appliances increased 3% to 316.5 billion yen ($3.04 billion), compared with 306.9 billion yen in the third quarter of the previous year. Although sales of seasonal products in Japan decreased due to an unusually warm winter, sales of new air conditioners, washing machines and refrigerators contributed to improved overall results.

Components and Devices

Edgar Filing: MATSUSHITA ELECTRIC INDUSTRIAL CO LTD - Form 6-K

Sales of Components and Devices decreased 7% to 279.1 billion yen ($2.68 billion), compared with 301.4 billion yen in the same three-month period of the previous year. Although sales of batteries increased from last year's third quarter, sluggish sales of general electronic components and semiconductors resulted in overall lower sales.

Table of Contents

MEW and PanaHome

Sales of MEW and PanaHome and their respective subsidiaries totaled 376.6 billion yen ($3.62 billion).

JVC

Sales for JVC (Victor Company of Japan, Ltd. and its subsidiaries) totaled 209.4 billion yen ($2.01 billion), down 7% from 225.9 billion yen in the third quarter of the previous year. Although sales of AV equipment increased in the Japanese domestic market, overseas sales, particularly in the Americas, declined from the previous year's third quarter. Sales decreases were also recorded in software.

Other

Sales for Other were down 19% to 148.0 billion yen ($1.42 billion), from 183.7 billion yen a year ago. Within this category, sluggish sales of factory automation (FA) equipment and the reclassification of MEW products (which were traditionally sold through the parent company) into a new product category resulted in the overall lower sales.

Consolidated Financial Condition

On a consolidated basis, total assets as of December 31, 2004 were 8,329.0 billion yen ($80.09 billion), a decrease of 76.3 billion yen from the end of the first fiscal half (September 30, 2004). This was attributable mainly to a decrease of 77.0 billion yen ($740 million) in inventories. Stockholders' equity decreased 48.9 billion yen, due mainly to repurchases of the company's own shares from the market. Consolidated total assets as of December 31, 2004 increased 891.0 billion yen as compared with the end of the previous fiscal year (March 31, 2004), due mainly to the consolidation of MEW and PanaHome.

Outlook for the Full Fiscal Year 2005, ending March 31, 2005

Regarding the outlook for the remainder of fiscal 2005, while the company currently expects severe conditions, including sharp price declines due to fierce competition and other negative factors, Matsushita today announced an upward revision of its operating profit forecast for the full fiscal year, ending March 31, 2005. On a consolidated basis, operating profit is now expected to increase to 300 billion yen, as compared with the previous forecast (announced on April 28, 2004) of 280 billion yen. The revised forecast for operating profit represents an increase of 53% from the previous year. Reasons given for the upward revision included strong sales of V-products, such as PDP TVs and washer/dryers, and the positive effects of cost reductions and other management initiatives. Matsushita maintained its original forecast for consolidated income before income taxes⁴ of 230 billion yen. The pre-tax income forecast was left unchanged due mainly to an increase in restructuring charges from the original projection of 75 billion yen to 130 billion yen. Net income is now expected to decrease to 50 billion yen, compared with the previous forecast of 63 billion yen, considering a possible increase in tax expenses related to the re-evaluation of deferred tax assets, resulting from the aforementioned structural reforms. The new forecast for net income represents an increase of 19% compared to the previous year. Regarding net sales on a consolidated basis, Matsushita maintained its original forecast of approximately 8,800 billion yen.

Matsushita Electric Industrial Co., Ltd., best known for its Panasonic brand products, is one of the world's leading manufacturers of electronic and electric products for consumer, business and industrial use. Matsushita's shares are listed on the Tokyo, Osaka, Nagoya, New York, Euronext Amsterdam, and Frankfurt stock exchanges. For more information, please visit the following web sites:

4. Other income (deductions) affecting the forecast for income before income taxes consists of other income expected to amount to 60 billion yen, such as a gain from the transfer of the substitutional portion of Japanese Welfare Pension Insurance, and restructuring charges of 130 billion yen.

Notes to consolidated financial statements:

1. The company's consolidated financial statements are prepared in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (U.S. GAAP).
2. In order to be consistent with generally accepted financial reporting practices in Japan, operating profit is presented as net sales less cost of sales and selling, general and administrative expenses. The company believes that this is useful to investors in comparing the company's financial results with those of other Japanese companies. Please refer to the accompanying consolidated statement of income and Note 4 for U.S. GAAP reconciliation.
3. Comprehensive income was reported as a gain of 14,423 million yen ($139 million) for the third quarter ended December 31, 2004, a gain of 223,115 million yen for the third quarter ended December 31, 2003. Comprehensive income was a gain of 205,842 million yen ($1,979 million) for the nine months ended December 31, 2004, and a gain of 252,750 million yen for the nine months a year ago. Comprehensive income (loss) includes net income and increases (decreases) in cumulative translation adjustments, unrealized holding gains (losses) of available-for-sale securities, unrealized gains (losses) of certain derivative instruments and minimum pension liability adjustments.
4. Restructuring charges in Other income (deductions) of the consolidated statements of income for the third quarter and nine months ended December 31, 2004 and 2003 include expenses associated with the implementation of early retirement programs at certain domestic companies. Under U.S. generally accepted accounting principles, these charges are included as part of operating profit in the statement of income.
5. On April 1, 2004, the company acquired 19.2% of the issued common shares of MEW through a tender offer, of which the company had a 31.8% equity ownership until then, to obtain its controlling interest. This acquisition also resulted in another acquisition of controlling interest of PanaHome because both the company and MEW have 27% equity ownership. The acquired assets and assumed liabilities on April 1, 2004 are as shown below. As a result, the total assets at the beginning of the period increased 1,043,282 million yen, the balance that deducts 343,844 million yen, the company's new basis of investment in MEW and PanaHome upon the acquisition of additional shares, from 1,387,126 million yen, the total assets acquired.

6. Certain of the company's subsidiaries obtained approvals from Japan's Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare (the Ministry) for exemption from the past benefit obligation with respect to the portion of the Employees Pension Funds that certain of the company's subsidiaries operated for the Government (the so-called substitutional portion), and transferred the substitutional portion to the Government in the first half ended September 30, 2004. The gain of 31,509 million yen for the nine months ended December 31, 2004 from the transfer of the substitutional portion of the Japanese Welfare Pension Insurance is reported as other income in the consolidated statement of income.

Matsushita Electric Welfare Pension Funds obtained approval from the Ministry for exemption from the past benefit obligation with respect to the substitutional portion and transferred it to the Government in December 2003. Income related to the transfer of the substitutional portion of the Employees Pension Funds is reported as other income of 39,580 million yen for the third quarter and for the nine months, ended December 31, 2003 in the consolidated statement of income.

* In order to be consistent with generally accepted financial reporting practices in Japan, operating profit is presented as net sales less cost of sales and selling, general and administrative expenses. The company believes that this is useful to investors in comparing the company's financial results with those of other Japanese companies.

 Factors affecting the forecast for income before income taxes include other income of 60 billion yen, such as a gain from the transfer of the substitutional portion of Japanese Welfare Pension Insurance, and business restructuring charges of 130 billion yen.

Matsushita to Absorb Wholly-Owned Subsidiary

Osaka, Japan, February 4, 2005 Matsushita Electric Industrial Co., Ltd. (MEI [NYSE symbol: MC]), best known for its Panasonic brand, today announced that the company will absorb Matsushita Industrial Information Equipment Co., Ltd. (MIIE), as announced in the November 29, 2004 press release Reorganization and Consolidation of Industrial Equipment Business. The merger is expected to take effect on April 1, 2005, at which point MIIE will be merged into MEI. Details of the merger are outlined below.

1. Purpose of merger

In line with comprehensive collaboration efforts between MEI and Matsushita Electric Works, Ltd. (MEW), MEI will transfer the central monitoring and control system business of MIIE, a wholly-owned subsidiary of MEI, to MEW, and the high-voltage power distribution equipment (CUBICLE) business of MIIE to Matsushita Electric Works Electric Control Equipment & Systems, Ltd., a subsidiary of MEW, on March 31, 2005. (see separate press release issued today Signing of Agreements on Reorganization of New Matsushita Group). After these transfers, MEI will absorb the environmentally-friendly materials business of MIIE through such merger on April 1, 2005, with the aim of strengthening the group's environmental business in the industrial equipment area.

Hitachi and Panasonic Agree on Comprehensive

Collaboration in Plasma Display Business

TOKYO, Japan, February 7, 2005 Hitachi, Ltd. (NYSE:HIT/TSE: 6501) and Matsushita Electric Industrial Co., Ltd. (NYSE:MC/TSE: 6752), best known for its Panasonic brand products, announced today that they will be joining forces to develop and expand the plasma TV market under an agreement that calls for all-around collaboration in moving forward with the plasma display (PDP) business. The two companies, both leaders in the plasma TV arena, have agreed to collaborate in a broad range of activities, including R&D, production, marketing and intellectual property. The color PDP was developed by researchers and engineers in Japan making the best use of their advanced technologies and innovative ideas. The agreement between Hitachi and Panasonic is aimed at further development of color PDP technologies and growth of the Plasma TV market on a global scale.

The color PDP was realized mostly with advanced Japanese technologies of image displays and it has become a key device in the digital consumer product field. The PDP is a self-luminous device that produces a picture by emitting light from many individual pixels. It has numerous notable features, such as wide viewing angle, fast response, and outstanding color rendering. Since the PDP is emissive (produces its own light), the amount of light it emits can be flexibly regulated according to the use environment. This makes it an ideal device from the ecological viewpoint, because it can conserve energy while offering large-screen size and high-definition. In addition, the PDP has a highly efficient productivity, making its cost competitiveness strong.

The plasma TV, which was developed to take full advantage of these features of the PDP, has achieved rapid market penetration against the backdrop of the spread of digital broadcasting worldwide. The Plasma TV accounts for about 90% of the global market for thin, large screen TV sets (Techno Systems Research Co., Ltd. survey) and are expected to enjoy phenomenal growth in coming years.

Concluding that the self-luminous PDP is the most suitable display for slim, large-screen, high-definition TVs, Hitachi and Panasonic agreed to establish a comprehensive cooperative relationship encompassing every aspect of the PDP business.

Although the specific points of collaboration are to be discussed and implemented progressively, some of the points currently envisioned by Hitachi and Panasonic are as follows:

1. R&D

In order to increase cost competitiveness by, for example, establishing standards for PDP module components, the companies will jointly explore whether and how they can work in liaison with component manufacturers. Synergism between the companies businesses, such as product performance enhancement and cost reduction, will be sought through mutual utilization of the best components of the Hitachi and Panasonic groups. An effort will be made to further strengthen the technological capability of the companies through the exchange of up-to-date PDP news and information from around the world.

2. Production

Standardization of next-generation production facilities and mutual benchmarking of production processes will be explored with an eye to boosting PDP production capacity and efficiency.

3. Marketing

The companies will collaborate in reaching out to consumers with easy-to-understand explanations of the advantages of PDP from the customer's viewpoint, including their wide viewing angle, motion picture performance, color rendering capability and other superb picture quality features, and the excitement of having an energy-efficient home theater that adds realism to movie viewing in one's own home.

4. Intellectual property

In view of the increasingly important role of patents in expanding the PDP business, Hitachi is to consider setting up a company to manage its PDP patents. Panasonic will consider investment into such company, which will enable a continuing and stable cross-licensing relationship between the two companies.

Hitachi and Panasonic have a partnership in a broad range of endeavors, most notably in the consumer products sector, and have achieved many successes in the joint development of products and other areas.

The companies view the agreement announced today as a step toward a still stronger collaborative relationship that will enable them to help make life more enjoyable for people around the world.

Description of Internal Organization and Procedures Regarding Timely Disclosure of Corporate Information

February 28, 2005

Company Name: Matsushita Electric Industrial Co., Ltd.

The following describes the Company's internal organization and procedures regarding timely disclosure of corporate information.

The Company aims to conduct its businesses with a high level of transparency under the basic management philosophy of contributing to society as a public entity, while maintaining accountability to stakeholders. The Company's fundamental policy regarding disclosure is outlined in Chapter 2, Section II-5 "Information Disclosure" of the Matsushita Group Code of Conduct (see attachment). The Matsushita Group Code of Conduct is a detailed description of directives to be followed in order to maintain the Company's basic management philosophy. This information is also available on the Company's web page. The Company's fundamental policy regarding disclosure is to provide impartial and precise financial results and other corporate information including management policies, business activities, and corporate social responsibility (CSR) activities both timely and appropriately, in an easily understandable manner.

In conformance with this policy, matters of material importance regarding management of the Matsushita Group are decided upon or reported at the Company's Board of Directors Meetings, pursuant to the Regulations of the Board of Directors. Such material matters, as well as information that the Company is required to disclose by relevant laws, ordinances or stock exchange regulations in Japan and overseas, are reported accurately and in a timely manner to the appropriate corporate division under the supervision of the Chief Financial Officer (CFO). In this manner, the Company maintains a system whereby material information is conveyed accurately and timely.

Table of Contents

The Company also maintains a system whereby information regarding business domain companies within the Matsushita Group (including subsidiaries) that is required to be disclosed by relevant laws, ordinances or stock exchange regulations in Japan and overseas is conveyed to the Corporate Accounting Group or the Corporate Finance and IR Group of the head office in a timely manner.

Decisions as to whether or not the information described above needs to be disclosed are made in accordance with domestic or overseas laws, ordinances and applicable stock exchange regulations. Thus, information is disclosed in a timely manner after a resolution or decision is made, or at the time the Company recognizes such occurrence.

In addition, details of the disclosed matter are confirmed by the business divisions concerned and outside attorneys to assure accuracy, impartiality and sufficiency.

As a company listed on the New York Stock Exchange, and in accordance with the U.S. Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, the Company established and implemented disclosure controls and procedures as required by Section 302 of the Act, starting in the fiscal year ended March 31, 2003 (fiscal 2003). With regard to the preparation and confirmation of the Company's annual securities report submitted to the Financial Services Agency in Japan, annual report on Form 20-F, and annual report for investors, the Company established the Internal Control and Disclosure Committee to check the propriety of statements and descriptions and the adequacy of the procedures in the disclosure. This committee consists of representatives from various internal divisions, and is supervised by the President of the Company and the CFO, who are both directly responsible for the establishment, maintenance and effectiveness of internal and disclosure controls. The chairman of the committee is appointed by the President and the CFO of the Company, and members of the committee are appointed by the chairman. The committee is responsible for the preparation, maintenance, improvement and evaluation of internal control procedures regarding the disclosure of information.

Furthermore, in order to ensure the reliability of the Company's financial reporting, the Matsushita Group, including subsidiaries, worked on documenting the appropriate systems and procedures in operations from the control environment up to actual internal control activities, and appointed internal auditing managers in each of the business domain companies, who will check on how requisites are observed (or the effectiveness of internal controls) under the supervision of the Corporate Internal Auditing Group. In fiscal 2005, ending March 2005, the Company will further reinforce internal controls by implementing self-assessments, in addition to regular internal auditing, at organizational units of the Matsushita Group.

Under these internal organizations and procedures, the Company will continue to provide timely and adequate corporate information with speed, accuracy and impartiality, from the perspective of investors at all times. The Company also acknowledges the importance of the basic philosophy regarding faithful execution of business by issuers of securities listed on the stock exchanges under their rules and regulations for timely disclosure.
