Section 8 Other Events.

Item 8.01 Other Events.

Rambus Inc. (Rambus) today announced the commencement of additional litigation between itself and DRAM manufacturer Samsung Electronics Co., Ltd. (Samsung) which follows Rambus' June 6, 2005 filing and amendment by Rambus of certain patent infringement cases against Samsung in the United States District Court for the Northern District of California.

Subsequent to that California filing by Rambus, Samsung filed suit against Rambus in the Eastern District of Virginia on June 7, 2005. Samsung's Virginia filing seeks a declaration of invalidity of the four Rambus patents previously at issue in the Eastern District of Virginia in Rambus' now-settled litigation with Infineon Technologies AG. The Samsung suit also challenges the enforceability of the four Rambus patents on grounds that Rambus allegedly spoliated relevant documents and misused information from JEDEC, a standards setting organization for the solid state industry.

On June 15, 2005, Rambus added Samsung to Rambus' existing antitrust lawsuit against DRAM manufacturers Hynix Semiconductor, Inc. (Hynix) and Micron Technologies, Inc. (Micron), which was originally filed in April 2004 in the Superior Court of the State of California for the County of San Francisco, by substituting Samsung as one of the previously named Doe defendants. Rambus took this step after a series of other developments, which included Hynix's plea agreement with the United States Department of Justice (the DOJ) promising cooperation in the DOJ's investigation of a possible DRAM industry conspiracy to fix RDRAM prices and otherwise eliminate competition in the 1999-2002 time period, and following Rambus' recent receipt of certain documents previously provided to the DOJ by Hynix and Micron in connection with the DOJ's ongoing criminal investigation.
