FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS AND CERTAIN CONSIDERATIONS

The estimated financial results and concomitant changes from prior periods included in this report are forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the Exchange Act). All statements included in this report and in the exhibits hereto, other than statements of historical fact, that address activities, events or developments that Quality expects, believes, projects or anticipates will or may occur in the future are also forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements can be identified by, among other things, the use of forward-looking language, such as potential expects, estimates, vision, or anticipates or the negatives of those terms, or other variations of those terms or comparable language, or by discussions of strategy or other intentions. We claim the protection of the safe harbor for forward-looking statements provided in the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933 (the Securities Act) and Section 21E of the Exchange Act. These forward-looking statements represent Quality s reasonable judgment on the future based on various factors and using numerous assumptions and are subject to known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors that could cause Quality's actual results and financial position to differ materially from those contemplated by the statements. These risks, uncertainties and other factors include, among others:

general economic conditions, the availability of diesel fuel, adverse weather conditions, competitive rate fluctuations,

Quality's substantial leverage and restrictions contained in its debt agreements, including its credit facility and its indentures, the cyclical nature of the transportation industry due to various economic factors such as excess capacity in the industry, the availability of qualified drivers, changes in fuel and insurance prices, interest rate fluctuations, and downturns in customers' business cycles and shipping requirements,

Quality's dependence on affiliates and owner-operators and its ability to attract and retain owner-operators, affiliates and company drivers, changes in or Quality's ability to comply with governmental regulations and legislative changes affecting the transportation industry,

Quality's obligations under both historical and future environmental regulations and the increasing cost of environmental compliance,

Quality's ability or inability to reduce its claims exposure through insurance due to changing conditions and pricing in the insurance marketplace, the cost of complying with existing and future anti-terrorism security measures enacted by federal, state and municipal authorities, the potential loss of Quality's ability to use net operating losses to offset future income due to a change of control, and changes in senior management.

These and other factors that could cause Quality's actual results to be materially different from the results referenced in the forward-looking statements are described in Quality's Annual Report on Form 10-K/A for the year ended December 31, 2004 and its subsequently filed Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q.
