FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

From time to time, in this Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q as well as in other written reports and verbal statements, we discuss our expectations regarding future performance. These forward-looking statements are identified by their use of terms and phrases such as believe, anticipate, could, estimate, intend, may, plan, expect and similar expressions, including references to assumptions. These forward-looking statements are based on currently available competitive, financial and economic data, current expectations, estimates, forecasts and projections about the industries in which we operate and management's beliefs and assumptions. We undertake no obligation to publicly update any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise. Among the factors that might affect our performance are:

the costs associated with protecting our intellectual property rights and our ability to operate our business without violating the intellectual property rights of others;

our ability to generate revenue from our market data that may be reduced or eliminated by the growth of electronic trading, the state of the overall economy or declines in subscriptions;

Table of ContentsCME GROUP INC. AND SUBSIDIARIES*NOTES TO UNAUDITED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS*1. Basis of Presentation

The consolidated financial statements consist of CME Group Inc. (CME Group) and its subsidiaries (collectively, the company), including Chicago Mercantile Exchange Inc. (CME), the Board of Trade of the City of Chicago, Inc. (CBOT), New York Mercantile Exchange, Inc. (NYMEX) and their respective subsidiaries (collectively, the exchange). In the opinion of management, the accompanying consolidated financial statements include all normal recurring adjustments considered necessary to present fairly the financial position of the company at March 31, 2010 and December 31, 2009 and the results of operations and cash flows for the periods indicated. Quarterly results are not necessarily indicative of results for any subsequent period.

On March 18, 2010, CBOT acquired a 90 percent ownership interest in CME Group Index Services LLC (Index Services), a joint venture with Dow Jones & Company (Dow Jones). The financial statements and accompanying notes presented in this report include the financial results of Index Services beginning on March 19, 2010.

The accompanying interim consolidated financial statements have been prepared by CME Group without audit. Certain notes and other information normally included in financial statements prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States have been condensed or omitted.

The accompanying consolidated financial statements should be read in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements and notes thereto in CME Group's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2009, filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) on February 26, 2010.

Certain reclassifications have been made to the 2009 financial statements to conform to the presentation in 2010.

2. Business Combinations

On March 18, 2010, CBOT and Dow Jones entered into an agreement to form Index Services. Index Services was formed through the contribution of CBOT's market data business and Dow Jones' index business. Based on the preliminary fair value of assets contributed, the company has allocated $432.6 million to goodwill and $376.4 million to identifiable intangible assets. Intangible assets consist primarily of $232.8 million of customer relationships and $126.6 million of trade names.

In conjunction with its formation, Index Services issued $612.5 million of 4.40% fixed rate notes due 2018, which are guaranteed by CME Group, in an unregistered offering. Proceeds of $607.5 million were distributed to Dow Jones thereby reducing its interest in Index Services to 10 percent. Dow Jones retains the right to redeem its remaining interest at fair value on or after March 18, 2016. In addition, CBOT retains a right to call Dow Jones' remaining interest at fair value on or after March 18, 2017. In accordance with current accounting guidance, Dow Jones interest has been classified as redeemable non-controlling interest in the company's consolidated financial statements.

The company conducts goodwill and intangible asset impairment testing at least annually. The company is required to consider a market participant's perspective when developing the assumptions used to estimate fair value for its impairment tests. It may be possible that the estimated fair value of certain intangible assets and goodwill may be less than book value when impairment testing is performed in the future. As a result, the company would be required to record an impairment charge at that time.

- (4) At March 31, 2010 and December 31, 2009, this represented commercial paper backed by the three-year senior credit facility. Commercial paper notes with an aggregate par value of $900.0 million and maturities ranging from seven to 61 days were issued during the quarter ended March 31, 2010. The weighted average discount rates for commercial paper outstanding at March 31, 2010 and December 31, 2009 were 0.20% and 0.24%, respectively. During the first quarter of 2010 and 2009, the weighted average balance, at par value, of commercial paper outstanding was $230.0 million and $1.0 billion, respectively.

Long-term debt maturities, at par value, were as follows as of March 31, 2010:

Edgar Filing: CME GROUP INC. - Form 10-Q

At March 31, 2010, the fair values of the fixed rate notes by maturity date were as follows. The fair value for the fixed rate notes due 2013 and 2014 was estimated using quoted market prices. The fair value of the fixed rate notes due 2018 was derived using a standard valuation model with market-based observable inputs including U.S. Treasury yields and interest rate spreads.

5. Contingencies

Legal Matters. On October 14, 2003, the U.S. Futures Exchange, L.L.C. (Eurex U.S.) and U.S. Exchange Holdings, Inc. filed suit against CBOT and CME in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia. The suit alleges that CBOT and CME violated the antitrust laws and tortiously interfered with the business relationship and contract between Eurex U.S. and The Clearing Corporation. Eurex U.S. and U.S. Exchange Holdings, Inc. are seeking a preliminary injunction and treble damages. In December 2003, CBOT and CME filed separate motions to dismiss or, in the event the motion to dismiss is denied, to move the venue to the United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois. In September 2004, the judge granted CBOT's and CME's motions to transfer venue to the Northern District of Illinois. In light of that decision, the judge did not rule on the motions to dismiss. In March, 2005, Eurex U.S. filed a second amended complaint in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois. On June 6, 2005, CME and CBOT filed a motion to dismiss the complaint. On August 25, 2005, the judge denied the joint CME/CBOT motion to dismiss. In April 2007, CME and CBOT filed two joint motions for summary judgment. The company is currently awaiting the court's decision on the motions. Based on its investigation to date and advice from legal counsel, the company believes this suit is without merit and intends to defend itself vigorously against these charges.

On August 19, 2008, Fifth Market filed a complaint against CME Group and CME seeking a permanent injunction against CME's Globex system and enhanced damages for what the plaintiff alleges is willful infringement, in addition to costs, expenses and attorneys' fees. The suit alleges that CME infringes two U.S. patents. Based on its investigation to date and advice from legal counsel, the company believes this suit is without merit and intends to defend itself vigorously against these charges.

In addition, the company is a defendant in, and has potential for, various other legal proceedings arising from its regular business activities. While the ultimate results of such proceedings against the company cannot be predicted with certainty, the company believes that the resolution of any of these matters will not have a material adverse effect on its consolidated financial position or results of operations.

Intellectual Property Indemnifications. Certain agreements with customers and other third parties related to accessing the CME Globex platform, the CME ClearPort platform, and/or the Clearing 21 platform; utilizing market data services, and licensing CME SPAN software may contain indemnifications from intellectual property claims that may be made against them as a result of their use of the applicable products and/or services. The potential future claims relating to these indemnifications cannot be estimated and, therefore, no liability has been recorded.

6. Guarantees

CME Clearing Contract Settlement. CME accounts for its guarantee of settlement of contracts in accordance with current accounting guidance on guarantees. CME marks-to-market all open positions at least twice a day, and requires payment from clearing firms whose positions have lost value and makes payments to clearing firms whose positions have gained value. In select circumstances where CME has introduced clearing services to newer markets, positions are marked-to-market daily, with the capability to mark-to-market more frequently as market conditions warrant. Under the extremely unlikely scenario of simultaneous default by every clearing firm who has open positions with unrealized losses, the maximum exposure related to CME's guarantee would be one half day of changes in fair value of all open positions, before considering CME's ability to access defaulting clearing firms' performance bond and security deposit balances as well as other available resources. During the first quarter of 2010, CME transferred an average of approximately $2.2 billion a day through its clearing system for settlement from clearing firms whose positions had lost value to clearing firms whose positions had gained value. CME reduces its guarantee exposure through initial and maintenance performance bond requirements and mandatory security deposits. The company believes that the guarantee liability in accordance with the accounting guidance is immaterial and therefore has not recorded any liability at March 31, 2010.

Mutual Offset Agreement. CME and Singapore Exchange Limited (SGX) have a mutual offset agreement with a current term through October 2010. The term of the agreement will automatically renew for a one year period unless either party provides advance notice of their intent to terminate. CME can maintain collateral in the form of U.S. Treasury securities or irrevocable letters of credit. At March 31, 2010, CME was contingently liable to SGX on irrevocable letters of credit totaling $83.0 million. Regardless of the collateral, CME guarantees all cleared transactions submitted through SGX and would initiate procedures designed to satisfy these financial obligations in the event of a default, such as the use of performance bonds and security deposits of the defaulting clearing firm.

Cross-Margin Agreements. CME and Options Clearing Corporate (OCC) have a cross-margin arrangement, whereby a common clearing firm may maintain a cross-margin account in which the clearing firm's positions in certain CME futures and options on futures contracts are combined with certain positions cleared by OCC for purposes of calculating performance bond requirements. The performance bond deposits are held jointly by CME and OCC. If a participating firm defaults, the gain or loss on the liquidation of the firm's open position and the proceeds from the liquidation of the cross-margin account are allocated 50% each to CME and OCC.

Cross-margin agreements exist with CME and Fixed Income Clearing Corp (FICC) whereby the clearing firms' offsetting positions with CME are subject to reduced margin requirements. Clearing firms maintain separate performance bond deposits with each clearing house, but depending on the net offsetting positions between CME and FICC, each clearing house may reduce the firm's performance bond requirement. In the event of a firm default, the total liquidation net gain or loss on the firm's offsetting open positions and the proceeds from the liquidation of the performance bond collateral held by each clearing house's supporting offsetting positions are divided evenly between CME and the applicable clearing house.

Additionally, for the FICC cross-margin agreements, if, after liquidation of all the positions and collateral of the defaulting firm at each respective clearing organization, and taking into account any cross-margining loss sharing payments, any of the participating clearing organizations has a remaining liquidating surplus, and any other participating clearing organization has a remaining liquidating deficit, any additional surplus from the liquidation will be shared with the other clearing houses to the extent that they have a remaining liquidating deficit. Any remaining surplus funds will be passed to the bankruptcy trustee.

GFX Corporation Letter of Credit. CME guarantees a $5.0 million standby letter of credit for GFX Corporation (GFX). The beneficiary of the letter of credit is the clearing firm that is used by GFX to execute and maintain its futures positions. Per exchange requirements, GFX is required to place performance bond deposits with its clearing firm. The letter of credit, utilized as performance bond, will be drawn on in the event that GFX defaults in meeting requirements to its clearing firm. In the unlikely event of a payment default by GFX, if GFX's performance bond is not sufficient to cover the deficit, CME would guarantee the remaining deficit, if any.

7. Stock-Based Payments

Total expense for stock-based payments, including shares issued to the board of directors, converted CBOT Holdings options and converted NYMEX Holdings options, was $9.9 million for the quarter ended March 31, 2010, and $9.2 million for the quarter ended March 31, 2009. The total income tax benefit recognized in the consolidated statements of income for stock-based payment arrangements was $4.0 million and $3.7 million for the quarters ended March 31, 2010 and 2009, respectively.

In the first quarter of 2010, the company granted employees stock options totaling 5,836 shares under the CME Group Omnibus Stock Plan. The options have a ten-year term with an exercise price of $314 per share, the closing market price on the date of grant. The fair value of these options totaled $0.7 million, measured at the grant date using the Black-Scholes valuation model, which is recognized as compensation expense on an accelerated basis over the vesting period. The Black-Scholes fair value of the option grant was calculated using the following assumptions: dividend yield of 1.5%; expected volatility of 43.6%; risk-free interest rate of 2.9% and expected life of 6.2 years. The grant date weighted average fair value of options granted during the quarter was $126 per share.

In the first quarter of 2010, the company granted 4,155 shares of restricted Class A common stock which generally have a vesting period of two to five years. The fair value of this grant was $1.3 million, which is recognized as compensation expense on an accelerated basis over the vesting period.

Table of Contents8. Fair Value Measurements

Accounting guidance on fair value measurements and related disclosures provides direction for using fair value to measure assets and liabilities by defining fair value and establishing a framework for measuring fair value. The guidance creates a three-level hierarchy that establishes classification of fair value measurements for disclosure purposes.

Level 1 inputs, which are considered the most reliable evidence of fair value, consist of quoted prices (unadjusted) for identical assets or liabilities in active markets.

Level 2 inputs consist of observable market data, other than level 1 inputs, such as quoted prices for similar assets and liabilities in active markets or inputs other than quoted prices that are directly observable.

Level 3 inputs consist of unobservable inputs which are derived and cannot be corroborated by market data or other entity-specific inputs.

In general, the company uses quoted prices in active markets for identical assets to determine the fair value of marketable securities and equity investments. Level 1 assets generally include U.S. Treasury securities and exchange-traded mutual funds, and publicly-traded equity securities. If quoted prices are not available to determine fair value, the company uses other inputs that are observable either directly or indirectly. Assets included in level 2 generally consist of U.S. Government agency securities, municipal bonds, asset-backed securities and certain corporate bonds. There were no level 3 assets that were valued on a recurring and non-recurring basis as of March 31, 2010.

The company determined the fair value of its interest rate swap contracts, considered level 2 assets, using standard valuation models with market-based observable inputs including forward and spot exchange rates and interest rate curves. The level 2 marketable securities are measured at fair value based on matrix pricing.

Financial assets and liabilities recorded in the consolidated balance sheet as of March 31, 2010 were classified in their entirety based on the lowest level of input that was significant to each asset or liability's fair value measurement.

Financial Instruments Measured at Fair Value on a Recurring Basis:

Table of Contents9. Earnings Per Common Share

Basic earnings per share is computed by dividing net income by the weighted average number of shares of all classes of common stock outstanding for each reporting period. Diluted earnings per share reflects the increase in shares using the treasury stock method to reflect the impact of an equivalent number of shares of common stock if stock options were exercised and restricted stock awards were vested. Outstanding stock options of approximately 609,000 and 734,000 were anti-dilutive for the quarters ended March 31, 2010 and 2009, respectively. Restricted stock awards of approximately 5,000 were anti-dilutive for the quarter ended March 31, 2009. These options and awards were not included in the diluted earnings per common share calculation.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONSFinancial Highlights

The following summarizes significant changes in our financial performance for the periods presented.

(dollars in millions, except per share data)	Quarter Ended March 31,		Change
	2010	2009
Total revenues	$ 693.2	$ 647.1	7%
Total expenses	278.5	260.7	7

Diluted earnings per common share attributable to CME Group	3.62	3.00	21
Cash flow from operations	355.7	254.7	40

In the first quarter of 2010 when compared with the same period of 2009, an increase in clearing and transaction fees due to increased trading volumes primarily contributed to the growth in revenues.

Increases in professional fees related to the closing of the transaction to form Index Services, our joint venture with Dow Jones as well as compensation and benefits expense contributed to higher overall expenses in the first quarter of 2010.

The decrease in non-operating expense in the first quarter of 2010 is attributable to additional dividend income, a decrease in interest expense as well as a gain realized on a legal settlement related to a derivative investment.

The effective tax rate decreased in the first quarter of 2010 when compared with the same period in 2009 due to a $6.4 million reduction in liabilities recognized for uncertain tax positions in the first quarter of 2010 as well as a $6.3 million liability recognized for uncertain tax positions in the first quarter of 2009.

Cash flows from operations are strongly correlated with trading volume.

Table of ContentsClearing and Transaction Fees

Based on total volume and average rate per contract data below, we estimate that clearing and transaction fees revenue increased by $61.7 million due to the increase in total volume and declined by $11.5 million due to the decrease in average rate per contract, resulting in a net increase in revenues in the first quarter of 2010 of $50.2 million when compared with the same period in 2009. Average rate per contract is impacted by our rate structure, which includes volume-based incentives; product mix; trading venue, and the percentage of trading volume executed by customers who are members compared with non-member customers. Due to the relationship between average rate per contract and volume, the change in revenues attributable to changes in each is only an approximation.

Table of Contents

The increase in interest rate products volume in the first quarter of 2010 compared with the same period in 2009 was attributable to the overall improvement in the economic environment in 2010 following the credit crisis. The improving macroeconomic expectations led to changing expectations in U.S. Treasury products as well as increased market participants' use of these products, which contributed to an increase in volume. We also believe that trading volume has increased due to the market's changing expectations regarding the Federal Reserve Bank's zero interest rate policy for short-term interest rates.

Equity Products

During the first quarter of 2010, volatility within the equity markets declined, which we believe was attributable to a generally improved economic outlook. This decline in volatility contributed to a decrease in volume in the first quarter of 2010 when compared with the same period in 2009. Average volatility, as measured by the CBOE Volatility Index, decreased to 20% in the first quarter of 2010 from 45% in the same period of 2009.

Average daily volume for E-mini equity products decreased by 19% to 2.6 million contracts in the first quarter of 2010 when compared with the first quarter of 2009. The decline in volume was primarily attributable to the decline in E-mini S&P 500 contracts, which decreased by 20% when compared with the first quarter of 2009 to an average of 2.2 million contracts per day. We believe that the diminished volatility contributed to the decrease in E-mini S&P 500 contract volume.

Foreign Exchange Products

The following table summarizes average daily volume for our top foreign exchange futures and options products.

(amounts in thousands)	Quarter Ended March 31,		Change
	2010	2009
Euro	339	205	65%
British pound	135	78	73
Japanese yen	126	90	40
Australian dollar	103	38	166
Canadian dollar	85	40	113

We believe that the volume for our FX products has increased due to a divergence between interest rate policy in the United States and other global markets, as well as the sovereign debt crisis in Europe.

Commodity Products

We believe the overall increase in average daily volume for commodities products in the first quarter of 2010 when compared with the same period in 2009 was largely due to improved economic conditions following the credit crisis. We also believe that the increase in volume was attributable to the broader use of commodities as an asset class as well as changes in global supply and demand.

Energy Products

We believe the increase in average daily volume in the first quarter of 2010 when compared with the same period in 2009 was attributable to the increased use of energy products as an asset class as well as improving macroeconomic conditions.

Metal Products

We believe metal products volume increased in the first quarter of 2010 when compared with the first quarter of 2009 largely due to increased investment in precious metals as an asset class during periods of uncertainty in interest rates and foreign exchange.

Average Rate per Contract

The average rate per contract decreased in the first quarter of 2010 when compared with the same period in 2009 due to a higher portion of interest rate products as a percentage of total volume compared with equity products, which have a higher rate per contract. As a percentage of total volume, equity products trading volume decreased by 10% in the first quarter of 2010, while interest rate products volume increased by 7% when compared with the same period in 2009.

Table of Contents

Growth in member trading volume also contributed to the overall decrease in average rate per contract in the first quarter of 2010, when compared with the same period in 2009. Member trading volume increased faster than non-member trading in the first quarter of 2010.

Concentration of Revenue

We bill a substantial portion of our clearing and transaction fees to our clearing firms. The majority of clearing and transaction fees received from clearing firms represent charges for trades executed and cleared on behalf of their customers. As of March 31, 2010, we had approximately 140 clearing firms. One firm represented 12% of our clearing and transaction fees revenue in the first quarter of 2010. No other firm represented more than 10% of our clearing and transaction fees revenue in the first quarter of 2010. Should a clearing firm withdraw, we believe that the customer portion of the firm's trading activity would likely transfer to another clearing firm of the exchange. Therefore, we do not believe we are exposed to significant risk from the loss of revenue received from a particular clearing firm.

Other Sources of Revenue

The increase in market data and information services revenue was primarily attributable to an increase in the basic device monthly fee. The increase was fully offset by the decrease in basic device counts in the first quarter of 2010 due primarily to cost-cutting initiatives at customer firms.

(dollars in millions, except monthly fee per device)	Quarter Ended March 31,		Change
	2010	2009
Average estimated monthly basic device screen count	387,000	432,000	(45,000)
Basic device monthly fee per device	$ 61	$ 55	$ 6
Estimated increase (decrease) in revenues
Due to an increase in monthly fee per device			$ 7.0
Due to a decrease in screen counts			(7.4)

Beginning March 19, 2010, market data and information services revenue includes market data and licensing revenue from Index Services.

The two largest resellers of our market data represented approximately 51% of our quotation data fees in the first quarter of 2010. Despite this concentration, we consider exposure to significant risk of revenue loss to be minimal. In the event that one of these vendors no longer subscribes to our market data, we believe the majority of that vendor's customers would likely subscribe to our market data through another reseller. Additionally, several of our largest institutional customers that utilize services from our two largest resellers report usage and remit payment of quotation data fees directly to us.

Other revenues declined in the first quarter of 2010 when compared with the same period in 2009 due to a $5.2 million decrease in trading revenues generated by GFX Corporation (GFX) as the result of lower trading activity.

Operating expenses increased by $17.8 million in the first quarter of 2010 when compared with the same period in 2009. The following table shows the estimated impact of key factors resulting in the increase (decrease) in operating expenses:

(dollars in millions)	Amount of Change	Change as a Percentage of Total Expenses
Professional fees related to Index Services	$ 10.3	4%
Salaries, benefits and employer taxes	5.1	2
Bonus expense	3.4	1
Amortization of purchased intangibles	(2.9)	(1)
Restructuring expense	(3.4)	(1)
Other expenses, net	5.3	2
Total	$ 17.8	7%

Costs incurred for the formation of Index Services led to an increase in professional fee expenses of $10.3 million in the first quarter of 2010 when compared with the same period in 2009.

The rise in salaries, benefits and employer taxes was attributable to salary increases and rising healthcare costs. An increase in average headcount of 1% in the first quarter of 2010 also contributed to an increase in expense.

The increase in our bonus expense in the first quarter of 2010 was due to improved performance relative to our 2010 cash earnings target compared with 2009 relative to our 2009 cash earnings target.

The decrease in amortization of purchased intangibles was attributable to the open interest intangible asset acquired in our merger with NYMEX Holdings, which was fully amortized during 2009.

The restructuring program related to the NYMEX Holdings merger was substantially complete by August 2009, which resulted in a decrease in expense in the first quarter of 2010 when compared with the first quarter of 2009.

For the remainder of 2010, we expect an increase in operating expenses relative to the prior year due to the acquisition of Index Services, including an increase in amortization of purchased intangibles. Assuming equity product volume stays consistent with volume results for the first quarter of 2010, we also would expect a decrease in volume-based licensing fee expense for the remainder of 2010 when compared with the prior year due to lower trading volumes. In addition, Dow Jones licensing fees have been eliminated subsequent to our acquisition of Index Services on March 18, 2010.

The increase in investment income during the first quarter of 2010 when compared with the same period in 2009 was primarily due to an increase in dividend income from our investment in BM&FBOVESPA. Total dividend income was $9.9 million and $0.4 million in the first quarter of 2010 and 2009, respectively.

In March 2010, we recognized a $6.0 million gain as a result of a settlement from the Lehman Brothers Holdings (Lehman Brothers) bankruptcy proceedings. The settlement relates to an unsecured claim tied to a derivative contract that we terminated in September 2008 when Lehman Brothers filed for bankruptcy.

We recognized $7.6 million of debt issuance costs in the first quarter of 2009 related to our revolving bridge facility, which was terminated in February 2009. This contributed to a decrease in interest and other borrowing costs in the first quarter of 2010 when compared with the same period in 2009. On March 18, 2010, we issued $612.5 million of 4.40% fixed rate notes due 2018.

Income Tax Provision

The effective tax rate decreased to 39.8% in the first quarter of 2010 from 43.2% in the same period of 2009. In the first quarter of 2010, we reduced the liability for uncertain tax positions by $6.4 million, resulting in a decrease in the effective tax rate for the first quarter of 2010, when compared with the same period in 2009. Also, in the first quarter of 2009, it was determined that $6.3 million of federal tax did not meet the required more-likely-than-not standard. As a result, a liability for uncertain tax positions was established in the first quarter of 2009, which also contributed to a decrease in the effective tax rate in the first quarter of 2010 when compared with the same period in 2009. For the full year 2010, we expect the effective tax rate to be between 41% and 42%.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Sources and Uses of Cash. Net cash provided by operating activities was $355.7 million for the first quarter of 2010 compared with $254.7 million for the same period in 2009. The increase in net cash provided by operating activities was due primarily to higher trading volumes and increased profitability. In the first quarter of 2010, net cash provided by operating activities was $115.5 million higher than net income. This increase consisted of an increase of the income tax payable of $146.9 million, depreciation and amortization expense of $32.2 and amortization of purchased intangibles of $30.8 million. The increase was offset by an increase in accounts receivable of $48.3 million. The increase in income tax payable is due to the income tax expense exceeding the income tax payments during the first quarter. Accounts receivable in any period result primarily from the clearing and transaction fees billed in the last month of the reporting period.

Cash used in investing activities was $19.8 million in the first quarter of 2010 compared with cash provided by investing activities of $301.0 million in the first quarter of 2009. The increase in cash used was largely attributable to the termination of the NYMEX securities lending program in 2009 as well as net decrease in proceeds from marketable securities, net of purchases of $63.5 million.

Table of Contents

Cash used in financing activities was $152.3 million in the first quarter of 2010 compared with $514.4 million for the same period in 2009. The decrease was primarily attributable to an increase in proceeds from commercial paper issuances, net of maturities as well as the termination of the NYMEX securities lending program in 2009. The decrease was partially offset by the distribution to Dow Jones of $607.5 million related to Index Services as well as an increase in share repurchases of $254.8 million.

Debt Instruments. The following table summarizes our debt outstanding as of March 31, 2010:

(in millions)	Par Value
Commercial paper	$ 299.9
Floating rate notes due August 2010, interest equal to 3-month LIBOR plus 0.65% ⁽¹⁾	300.0
Term loan due 2011, interest equal to 3-month LIBOR plus 1.00% ⁽²⁾	420.5
Fixed rate notes due August 2013, interest equal to 5.40%	750.0
Fixed rate notes due February 2014, interest equal to 5.75%	750.0
Fixed rate notes due March 2018, interest equal to 4.40% ⁽³⁾	612.5

- (1) In September 2008, the company entered into an interest-rate swap agreement that modified the variable interest obligation associated with these notes so that the interest payable on the notes effectively became fixed at a rate of 3.92% beginning with the interest accrued after November 6, 2008.
- (2) In September 2008, the company entered into an interest-rate swap agreement that modified the variable interest obligation associated with this facility so that the interest payable effectively became fixed at a rate of 4.72% beginning with the interest accrued after October 22, 2008.
- (3) In March 2010, we completed an unregistered offering of fixed rate notes due 2018. Net proceeds from the offering were used to fund a distribution to Dow Jones in conjunction with our investment in Index Services. In February 2010, the company entered into a forward-starting interest-rate swap agreement that modified the interest obligation associated with these notes so that the interest payable on the notes effectively became fixed at a rate of 4.46% beginning with the interest accrued after March 18, 2010.

We maintain a $1.4 billion senior credit facility with various financial institutions, including the $420.5 million term loan and a $945.5 million revolving credit facility. As long as we are not in default under the senior credit facility, we have the option to increase the facility from time to time by an aggregate amount of up to $1.1 billion, to a total of $2.5 billion, with only the consent of the agent and the lenders providing the additional funds. The revolving credit facility expires on August 21, 2011. Our commercial paper outstanding is backed by this revolving credit facility.

At March 31, 2010, we have excess borrowing capacity for general corporate purposes of approximately $645.5 million.

We maintain a 364-day revolving line of credit with a consortium of banks to be used in certain situations by our clearing house. The line of credit, which was renewed in December 2009, provides for borrowings of up to $1.0 billion. This line of credit is collateralized by clearing firm security deposits held by us in the form of U.S. Treasury or agency securities, as well as security deposit funds in the Interest Earnings Facility (IEF) and any performance bond deposits of a clearing firm that may default on its obligation. The line of credit can only be drawn on to the extent it is collateralized. At March 31, 2010, security deposit collateral available was $2.3 billion. We have the option to request an increase in the line from $1.0 billion to $1.5 billion with the participating banks' approval.

The indentures governing our floating and fixed rate notes, our 364-day revolving line of credit for $1.0 billion and our senior credit facility for $1.4 billion due 2011 do not contain specific covenants that restrict the ability to pay dividends. These documents, however, do contain other customary financial and operating covenants that place restrictions on the operations of the company, which could indirectly affect the ability to pay dividends.

Under our senior credit facility, we are required to maintain a consolidated net worth of at least $12.1 billion.

In addition, our 364-day revolving line of credit contains a requirement that CME remain in compliance with a consolidated tangible net worth test, defined as consolidated shareholder's equity less intangible assets (as defined in the agreement), of not less than $125.0 million. In the event that CME elects to increase the facility, the minimum consolidated tangible net worth test will increase ratably up to $187.5 million.

As of March 31, 2010, we are in compliance with the various covenant requirements of all our debt facilities.

CME Group, as a holding company, has no operations of its own. Instead, it relies on dividends declared and paid to it by its subsidiaries, including CME, in order to provide a portion of the funds which it uses to pay dividends to its shareholders.

To satisfy our performance bond obligation with Singapore Exchange Limited, we may pledge CME-owned U.S. Treasury securities in lieu of, or in combination with, irrevocable letters of credit. At March 31, 2010, the letters of credit totaled $83.0 million. CME also guarantees a $5.0 million standby letter of credit for GFX. The beneficiary of this letter of credit is the clearing firm that is used by GFX to execute and maintain its futures position. The letter of credit would be utilized in the event that GFX defaults in meeting performance bond requirements to its clearing firm.

The following table summarizes our credit ratings as of March 31, 2010:

Rating Agency	Short-Term Debt Rating	Long-Term Debt Rating	Outlook
Standard & Poor's	A1+	AA	Stable
Moody's Investors Service	P1	Aa3	Stable

Given our ability to pay down debt levels and refinance existing debt facilities if necessary, we expect to maintain an investment grade rating. If our ratings are downgraded due to a change in control which results in a downgrade below investment grade, we are required to make an offer to repurchase our fixed and floating rate notes at a price equal to 101% of the principal amount, plus accrued and unpaid interest.

Liquidity and Cash Management. Cash and cash equivalents totaled $444.2 million at March 31, 2010 and $260.6 million at December 31, 2009. The balance retained in cash and cash equivalents is a function of anticipated or possible short-term cash needs, prevailing interest rates, our investment policy and alternative investment choices.

Net current deferred tax assets of $26.0 million and $23.8 million are included in other current assets at March 31, 2010 and December 31, 2009, respectively. Total net current deferred tax assets include primarily unrealized losses and accrued expenses.

Net long-term deferred tax liabilities were $7.8 billion and $7.6 billion at March 31, 2010 and December 31, 2009, respectively. Net deferred tax liabilities are primarily the result of purchase accounting for intangible assets in our mergers with CBOT Holdings and NYMEX Holdings.

We have a long-term deferred tax asset of $145.9 million included within our domestic long-term deferred tax liability. This deferred tax asset is for an unrealized capital loss incurred in Brazil related to our investment in BM&FBOVESPA. As of March 31, 2010, we do not believe that we currently meet the more-likely-than-not threshold that would allow us to fully realize the value of the unrealized capital loss. As a result, a partial valuation allowance of $64.5 million has been provided for the amount of the unrealized capital loss that exceeds potential capital gains that could be used to offset the capital loss in future periods. We also have a long-term deferred tax asset related to Brazilian taxes of $125.3 million for an unrealized capital loss incurred in Brazil related to our investment in BM&FBOVESPA. A full valuation allowance of $125.3 million has been provided because we do not believe that we currently meet the more-likely-than-not threshold that would allow us to realize the value of the unrealized capital loss in Brazil in the future. Valuation allowances of $53.9 million have also been provided for additional unrealized capital losses on various other investments.

Net long-term deferred tax assets also include a $24.0 million deferred tax asset for foreign net operating losses related to Swapstream. Our assessment at March 31, 2010 was that we did not currently meet the more-likely-than-not threshold that would allow us to realize the value of acquired and accumulated foreign net operating losses in the future. As a result, the $24.0 million deferred tax assets arising from these net operating losses has been fully reserved.
