EXELON, CONSTELLATION ENERGY FILE FOR MARYLAND

REGULATORY APPROVAL OF MERGER

BALTIMORE (May 25, 2011) Exelon Corporation (NYSE: EXC) and Constellation Energy (NYSE: CEG) today filed for approval by the Maryland Public Service Commission (MPSC) of the merger announced by the companies on April 28.

Constellation Chairman and CEO Mayo A. Shattuck III said, "The merger of Exelon and Constellation is a unique and exciting opportunity for both companies and our stakeholders. Our filing today seeking the approval of the Maryland Public Service Commission gives us an opportunity to more thoroughly describe the many benefits of this transaction for BGE customers, the City of Baltimore and the State of Maryland.

The proposed merger would mean a direct investment in the state of more than $250 million (including a $100 rate credit for each BGE residential customer). According to economic modeling included in the filing, the benefit includes the creation of nearly 900 jobs directly related to projects associated with the merger, such as the development of a new or renovated headquarters building for the new company's energy marketing and renewable development businesses, as well as the development of new renewable energy projects. It also includes the creation of approximately 1,500 indirect jobs in industries like engineering, architecture, insurance and food service.

Benefits to BGE customers, the City of Baltimore and the State of Maryland include:

BGE customer rate credit and increased low-income customer assistance. Within 90 days after closing the merger, each BGE residential customer will receive a $100 rate credit. Exelon will also fund $5 million for the State of Maryland's Electric Universal Service Program (EUSP). Over the long term, BGE customers will benefit from the sharing of best practices with Exelon's other utilities, PECO and ComEd, in the areas of safety, reliability, efficiency and customer service.

Baltimore headquarters for the new company's growth engine. Exelon's marketing arm, Power Team, will be combined with Constellation's wholesale and retail marketing business under the Constellation brand and, along with the company's renewable energy development business, will be headquartered in Baltimore. To house these growing businesses, Exelon will build or refurbish an office center in Baltimore to LEED green building standards. BGE's electric and gas operations will continue to be managed locally from the utility's existing Baltimore headquarters.

Investment in programs advancing Maryland's sustainability. Exelon will provide $4 million to support the objectives of the EmPower Maryland Energy Efficiency Act and $10 million to spur development of Maryland's electric vehicle infrastructure, and Exelon will invest in the development of 25 MW of new renewable generation in the state at an expected cost of $50 million.

In addition, Exelon has agreed to maintain Constellation's/BGE's charitable giving and traditional local community support in Maryland at its current level for at least 10 years following closing of the merger.

Earlier this month, Exelon and Constellation made other regulatory filings in support of their proposed merger with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, the New York State Public Service Commission, the Public Utility Commission of Texas, and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

The companies will also seek shareholder approval in the third quarter of 2011. They expect to obtain regulatory approvals and complete the merger by first quarter 2012.

Cautionary Statements Regarding Forward-Looking Information

Except for the historical information contained herein, certain of the matters discussed in this communication constitute forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Securities Act of 1933 and the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, both as amended by the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Words such as may, will, anticipate, estimate, expect, project, intend, plan, believe, target, and terms of similar substance used in connection with any discussion of future plans, actions, or events identify forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, statements regarding benefits of the proposed merger, integration plans and expected synergies, the expected timing of completion of the transaction, anticipated future financial and operating performance and results, including estimates for growth. These statements are based on the current expectations of management of Exelon Corporation (Exelon) and Constellation Energy Group, Inc. (Constellation), as applicable. There are a number of risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from the forward-looking statements included in this communication. For example, (1) the companies may be unable to obtain shareholder approvals required for the merger; (2) the companies may be unable to obtain regulatory approvals required for the merger, or required regulatory approvals may delay the merger or result in the imposition of conditions that could have a material adverse effect on the combined company or cause the companies to abandon the merger; (3) conditions to the closing of the merger may not be satisfied; (4) an unsolicited offer of another company to acquire assets or capital stock of Exelon or Constellation could interfere with the merger; (5) problems may arise in successfully integrating the businesses of the companies, which may result in the combined company not operating as effectively and efficiently as expected; (6) the combined company may be unable to achieve cost-cutting synergies or it may take longer than expected to achieve those synergies; (7) the merger may involve unexpected costs, unexpected liabilities or unexpected delays, or the effects of purchase accounting may be different from the companies' expectations; (8) the credit ratings of the combined company or its subsidiaries may be different from what the companies expect; (9) the businesses of the companies may suffer as a result of uncertainty surrounding the merger; (10) the companies may not realize the values expected to be obtained for properties expected or required to be divested; (11) the industry may be subject to future regulatory or legislative actions that could adversely affect the companies; and (12) the companies may be adversely affected by other economic, business, and/or competitive factors.

Other unknown or unpredictable factors could also have material adverse effects on future results, performance or achievements of the combined company. Discussions of some of these other important factors and assumptions are contained in Exelon's and Constellation's respective filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), and available at the SEC's website at www.sec.gov, including: (1) Exelon's 2010 Annual Report on Form 10-K in (a) ITEM 1A.
