Item 1. Reports to Stockholders.

Fellow Shareholders:

July 2012

Many of the fundamental concerns confronting the equity market remained largely unchanged in the second quarter but the outcome was very different from the preceding three-month period. For instance, while the S&P 500® Index returned 12.59 percent in the first quarter, in the second quarter the index declined 2.75 percent. Most other equity indices experienced a similar reversal; the technology-oriented NASDAQ Composite Index, for example, swung to a 4.78 percent loss in the quarter after gaining 18.96 percent in the first quarter.

Once again during this quarter, it was macro factors rather than company fundamentals that set the tone in equity markets. Most of the market-moving headlines came out of Europe, as government and European Central Bank officials continued grappling with various ways to address massive sovereign debt issues and weak financial institutions with solutions ranging from bailouts to the outright dissolution of the euro. In the U.S., the culprit was sluggish economic growth, exemplified by a report of gross domestic product growth of just 1.9 percent in the first quarter, down from 3.0 percent in the fourth quarter of 2011. Another key data point the June Purchasing Managers' Index provided by the Institute for Supply Management dipped to a reading of 49.7, the first time it fell below 50 since July 2009 when the economy was beginning to recover from the 2007/08 financial crisis. Meanwhile, unemployment remained stubbornly high at 8.2 percent.

For long-term equity investors, daily volatility remained frustratingly high. One has only to look at the final week of the quarter to understand how volatile markets were. On Monday, June 25, doubts about the success of a European summit meeting led the S&P 500® Index to decline 1.6 percent. By Friday, June 29, investors saw potential in a European bailout plan and the S&P 500® rose 2.5 percent, its best single day of the year at that point.

For the quarter, the Fund declined 8.12 percent with shares valued at net asset value (NAV), 8.01 percent with shares valued at NAV with dividends reinvested and 6.66 percent with shares valued at market price (with dividends reinvested). By comparison, the Lipper Multi-Cap Growth Mutual Fund Average returned -5.75 percent and the Russell 3000® Growth Index returned -4.02 percent. The discount at which Fund shares are priced relative to their NAV narrowed somewhat, ranging from 6.2 percent to 10.1 percent over the quarter.

We concur with the Fund's investment managers' commitment to their bottom-up focus on the fundamentals of growth-oriented companies, despite the top-down orientation that shaped investors' mindsets in the past quarter.

Through the first half, the Fund provided better absolute rather than relative returns. As of June 30, the Fund had returned 5.35 percent with shares valued at NAV, 5.60 percent with shares valued at NAV with dividends reinvested and 8.29 percent with shares valued at market price (with dividends reinvested). Those results fell short of the 9.07 percent for the Lipper Multi-Cap Growth Mutual Fund Average and 9.98 percent for the Russell 3000® Growth Index.

In this year's second quarter, investors took refuge in a few defensive sectors. But funds flowing into those sectors bid up share prices to the point where the Fund's managers questioned their fundamental valuations based upon their longer-term growth prospects. An example is consumer staples; this sector accounts for 12.6 percent of the Russell 3000® Growth Index at quarter-end, but just 2.8 percent of the Fund's assets. In addition, the Fund was helped by an overweight to and good stock selection in the healthcare sector, but hurt by poor stock selection in the technology sector.

For a perspective on how the Fund's mid-cap growth style manager, Brendt Stallings of TCW, views the macro issues that are shaping investors' sentiment, I invite you to read the manager interview in this report. Mr. Stallings also provides insights into how the firm relies on disciplined, bottom-up stock picking in an attempt to find companies that stand to benefit from strong secular growth trends.

In sum, we are disappointed that the Fund's relative results lagged in the second quarter, but pleased that returns remain positive through the first half of the year. We concur with the Fund's investment managers' commitment to their bottom-up focus on the fundamentals of growth-oriented companies, despite the top-down orientation that shaped investors' mindsets in the past quarter. Over the long term, we believe that quality, discipline and experience will be rewarded.

Sincerely,

William R. Parmentier, Jr.

DISTRIBUTION POLICY

Liberty All-Star® Growth Fund, Inc.'s current policy is to pay distributions on its shares totaling approximately 6 percent of its net asset value per year, payable in four quarterly installments of 1.5 percent of the Fund's net asset value at the close of the New York Stock Exchange on the Friday prior to each quarterly declaration date. The fixed distributions are not related to the amount of the Fund's net investment income or net realized capital gains or losses and may be taxed as ordinary income up to the amount of the Fund's current and accumulated earnings and profits. If, for any calendar year, the total distributions made under the distribution policy exceed the Fund's net investment income and net realized capital gains, the excess will generally be treated as a non-taxable return of capital, reducing the shareholder's adjusted basis in his or her shares. If the Fund's net investment income and net realized capital gains for any year exceed the amount distributed under the distribution policy, the Fund may, in its discretion, retain and not distribute net realized capital gains and pay income tax thereon to the extent of such excess.

The characteristics are different for each of the Fund's three investment managers. These differences are a reflection of the fact that each has a different capitalization focus and investment strategy. The shaded column highlights the characteristics of the Fund as a whole, while the first three columns show portfolio characteristics for the Russell Smallcap, Midcap and Largecap Growth indices. Brendt Stallings, CFA

Managing Director

TCW Investment Management Company

TCW INVESTS IN COMPANIES BENEFITING FROM GROWTH TRENDS THAT CAN OFFSET A SLOW ECONOMY

TCW Investment Management Company manages the portion of the Liberty All-Star® Growth Fund that is allocated to mid-cap growth stocks. TCW's mid-cap growth strategy seeks capital appreciation through investment in the securities of rapidly growing companies whose business prospects, in TCW's belief, are not properly perceived by consensus research. We recently had the opportunity to talk with Brendt Stallings, CFA, Managing Director. ALPS Advisors, Inc. moderated the interview.

Growth has been a challenge for the U.S. economy in recent years. What are a couple of strong, secular growth drivers that you believe have the staying power to overcome the lack of growth that is generally plaguing the economy?

This gets to exactly what we seek to do with the portfolio, and that is to assemble a set of companies that benefit from strong secular tail winds, and that have the ability to either create new markets or gain significant market share in large existing markets. And we do this despite the likelihood of lackluster economic growth for some time to come. So, our operative assumption has been that we are going to remain in a sluggish economy and we have responded by identifying and investing in companies that we think can grow nicely even in this environment. This growth usually occurs for one of two reasons. Either these are mid-cap growth companies which are in entirely new markets that are growing rapidly and taking share from other parts of the economy, or they are doing something innovative and sustainable and taking share from large existing incumbents. The two places that I would point to that are really interesting are energy and technology.

Within energy, the big secular growth driver is the increased energy independence of the United States due to the abundance of cheap natural gas and domestic sources of oil. The shale plays in the U.S. have proven to be massive domestic resources and we expect to see continued strong exploration and production activity. Near term, gas prices have been significantly lower and we have seen a reduction in the number of natural gas rigs. But with the forces of supply and demand, fewer rigs will lead to a price response and then to a price response, and then you will see activity pick up again.

In technology, we are seeing an unusually high level of innovation. In many ways the sector reminds us of the mid-90s, when, simultaneously, there was a major upgrade cycle in existing technologies, especially in the enterprise software area, but also a wave of innovative new products, services and companies.

We seek companies that have the ability to either create new markets or gain significant market share in large existing markets.

Can you cite stocks in the portion of the Liberty All-Star® Growth Fund portfolio that you manage that are examples of the growth drivers you are focusing on?

In energy, a couple of our largest positions are Oceaneering International and Core Laboratories. Oceaneering manufactures and operates submersible robotic submarines, known as Remotely Operated Vehicles (ROVs), that go down into the deep ocean to make connections, conduct inspections and perform other tasks. As more and more oil and gas exploration goes into deeper waters, Oceanengineering benefits. Core Labs does a big business analyzing core samples and also has a business making equipment used for drilling wells. Core Labs benefits from land-based exploration activities, including the major shale plays in the U.S. Another name is Lufkin, which makes the big pumps that pump the oil out of the ground. So, here is a case where there is a very strong long-term tail wind. Short term, energy has been a difficult place for us to be invested, but we think it will be very fruitful for our investors over the long term.

Turning to technology, we are in a major upgrade cycle in enterprise software. The mid-90s was the era of big client-server packages from PeopleSoft, Oracle, SAP and Siebel Systems. All of those replaced old mainframe systems. Now those systems are kind of long in the tooth and we are seeing them being upgraded and replaced. In the realm of software as a service, a company like Salesforce.com is a prime example. Salesforce is an enterprise cloud computing company that is a leader in Customer Relationship Management, or CRM. A potentially huge new market is being created in what is known as Big Data, an entirely new market for analyzing the massive amounts of data created by Web sites, applications, servers, networks and mobile devices. We recently invested in Splunk, which has a methodology for searching, monitoring and analyzing machine-generated data. Another holding is QLIK Technologies, which specializes in business intelligence software. The continued proliferation of wireless devices connected to ubiquitous data networks is creating an incredible amount of innovation. F5 Networks, for example, enables organizations to align their IT infrastructure with changing business demands, while another portfolio company, Rackspace, provides enterprise-level hosting services. Another holding, Cavium, benefits from continued growth in network traffic. On the device side, we have invested in Universal Display which makes organic light emitting diode (OLED) displays used in flat panel displays and solid state lighting, and that we expect will be adopted for a lot of wireless devices.

Shifting gears, let us ask if you focus at all on macro factors in making buy/sell decisions, or do you strictly concentrate on stock picking? While corporate America is fairly strong right now, economic/fiscal problems in Europe and the U.S. along with the potential for slowing growth in China have been a drag on the stock market.

We concentrate on bottom-up stock picking, but we do pay attention to macro factors because we have to have an opinion on how they may impact our portfolio companies.

We concentrate on bottom-up stock picking. We don't feel like we have an edge in predicting the direction of the economy or the direction of currencies or interest rates. We do, however, pay close attention to these events, because we do have to have an opinion on how they impact our portfolio companies' fundamentals. So, for instance, we will model how different economic scenarios may impact our companies' fundamental results to make sure that the risk-reward ratio makes sense under reasonable economic assumptions. An example would be Robert Half, which is a temporary staffing company. We have an opinion on how Robert Half's earnings and cash flow will be affected if the U.S. economy should encounter a double dip recession. And we have an opinion on what will happen with the company if U.S. economic growth were to accelerate. Having an opinion helps set bounds for different earnings and cash flow scenarios. It is really a question of making sure that a stock's current price makes sense, number one, given those different paths that company fundamentals could take. And, number two, we want to make sure that our companies have both the competitive advantage and the balance sheet strength to not only survive a recession but take market share.

Thank you, Brendt, for an interesting session.

NOTE 1. ORGANIZATION

Liberty All-Star® Growth Fund, Inc. (the Fund) is a Maryland corporation registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the Act), as amended, as a diversified, closed-end management investment company.

Investment Goal

The Fund seeks long-term capital appreciation.

Fund Shares

The Fund may issue 60,000,000 shares of common stock at $0.10 par.

NOTE 2. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAP) requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Actual results could differ from these estimates. The following is a summary of significant accounting policies consistently followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements.

Security Valuation

Equity securities including common stocks and exchange traded funds are valued at the last sale price at the close of the principal exchange on which they trade, except for securities listed on the National Association of Securities Dealers Automated Quotations (NASDAQ) exchange, which are valued at the NASDAQ official closing price. Unlisted securities or listed securities for which there were no sales during the day are valued at the closing bid price on such exchanges or over-the-counter markets.

Short-term debt obligations maturing in more than 60 days for which market quotations are readily available are valued at current market value. Short-term debt obligations maturing within 60 days are valued at amortized cost, which approximates market value.

Investments for which market quotations are not readily available are valued at fair value as determined in good faith under consistently applied procedures approved by and under the general supervision of the Fund's Board of Directors.

Foreign Securities

The Fund may directly purchase securities of foreign issuers. Investing in securities of foreign issuers involves special risks not typically associated with investing in securities of U.S. issuers. The risks include possible reevaluation of currencies, the inability to repatriate foreign currency, less complete financial information about companies and possible future adverse political and economic developments. Moreover, securities of many foreign issuers and their markets may be less liquid and their prices more volatile than those of securities of comparable U.S. issuers. For the six months ended June 30, 2012, the Fund only held American Depositary Receipts and did not hold any securities denominated in foreign currencies.

Security Transactions

Security transactions are recorded on trade date. Cost is determined and gains/(losses) are based upon the specific identification method for both financial statement and federal income tax purposes.

Repurchase Agreements

The Fund engages in repurchase agreement transactions with institutions that the Fund's investment advisor has determined are creditworthy. The Fund, through its custodian, receives delivery of underlying securities collateralizing a repurchase agreement. Collateral is at least equal, at all times, to the value of the repurchase obligation including interest. A repurchase agreement transaction involves certain risks in the event of default or insolvency of the counterparty. These risks include possible delays or restrictions upon a Fund's ability to dispose of the underlying securities and a possible decline in the value of the underlying securities during the period while the Fund seeks to assert its rights.

Income Recognition

Interest income is recorded on the accrual basis. Corporate actions and dividend income are recorded on the ex-date.

Fair Value Measurements

The Fund discloses the classification of its fair value measurements following a three-tier hierarchy based on the inputs used to measure fair value. Inputs refer broadly to the assumptions that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability, including assumptions about risk. Inputs may be observable or unobservable. Observable inputs reflect the assumptions market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability that are developed based on market data obtained from sources independent of the reporting entity. Unobservable inputs reflect the reporting entity's own assumptions about the assumptions market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability that are developed based on the best information available.

Various inputs are used in determining the value of the Fund's investments as of the end of the reporting period. When inputs used fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy, the level in the hierarchy within which the fair value measurement falls is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety. The designated input levels are not necessarily an indication of the risk or liquidity associated with these investments. These inputs are categorized in the following hierarchy under applicable financial accounting standards:

- Level 1 Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical investments, unrestricted assets or liabilities that a Fund has the ability to access at the measurement date;
- Level 2 Quoted prices which are not active, quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets or inputs other than quoted prices that are observable (either directly or indirectly) for substantially the full term of the asset or liability; and
- Level 3 Significant unobservable prices or inputs (including the Fund's own assumptions in determining the fair value of investments) where there is little or no market activity for the asset or liability at the measurement date.

The following is a summary of the inputs used to value the Fund's investments as of June 30, 2012. The Fund recognizes transfers between the levels as of the beginning of the annual period in which the transfer occurred.

Total	$ 126,017,792	$ 4,420,000	$	$ 130,437,792

*See Schedule of Investments for industry classifications

For the six months ended June 30, 2012, the Fund did not have any transfers between Level 1 and Level 2 securities. The Fund did not have any securities which used significant unobservable inputs (Level 3) in determining fair value.

Distributions to Shareholders

The Fund currently has a policy of paying distributions on its common shares totaling approximately 6% of its net asset value per year. The distributions are payable in four quarterly distributions of 1.5% of the Fund's net asset value at the close of the New York Stock Exchange on the Friday prior to each quarterly declaration date. Distributions to shareholders are recorded on ex-date.

NOTE 3. FEDERAL TAX INFORMATION

The timing and character of income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with income tax regulations, which may differ from GAAP. Reclassifications are made to the Fund's capital accounts for permanent tax differences to reflect income and gains available for distribution (or available capital loss carryforwards) under income tax regulations. If, for any calendar year, the total distributions made under the distribution policy exceed the Fund's net investment income and net realized capital gains, the excess will generally be treated as a non-taxable return of capital, reducing the shareholder's adjusted basis in his or her shares. If the Fund's net investment income and net realized capital gains for any year exceed the amount distributed under the distribution policy, the Fund may, in its discretion, retain and not distribute net realized capital gains and pay income tax thereon to the extent of such excess.

For the year ended December 31, 2011, permanent book and tax basis differences resulting primarily from a net operating loss and excess distributions were identified and reclassified among the components of the Fund's net assets as follows:

Accumulated Net	Accumulated Net
Investment Income	Realized Loss	Paid-In Capital
$3,453,079	($1,019,242)	($2,433,837)

Net investment loss and net realized gain, as disclosed on the Statement of Operations, and net assets were not affected by this reclassification.

Classification of Distributions to Shareholders

Net investment income/(loss) and net realized gain/(loss) may differ for financial statement and tax purposes. The character of distributions made during the year from net investment income or net realized gains may differ from its ultimate characterization for federal income tax purposes.

The amounts and characteristics of tax basis distributions and composition of distributable earnings/(accumulated losses) are finalized at fiscal year-end; accordingly, tax basis balances have not been determined as of June 30, 2012. Also, due to the timing of dividend distributions, the fiscal year in which amounts are distributed may differ from the fiscal year in which the income or realized gain was recorded by the Funds.

The tax character of distributions paid during the year ended December 31, 2011, was as follows:

Distributions paid from:
Ordinary income	$ 1,994,479
Long-term capital gain	6,127,216
Total	$ 8,121,695

The Fund used capital loss carry forwards of $1,800,878 to offset taxable capital gains during the period ended December 31, 2011.

Future realized gains offset by the loss carryforwards are not required to be distributed to shareholders. However, under the Fund's distribution policy, such gains may be distributed to shareholders in the year the gains are realized. Any such gains distributed may be taxable to shareholders as ordinary income.

Under the Regulated Investment Company Modernization Act of 2010 (the Modernization Act), net capital losses recognized in tax years beginning after December 22, 2010 may be carried forward indefinitely, and the character of the losses is retained as short-term and/or long-term. Under the law in effect prior to the Modernization Act, net capital losses were carried forward for eight years and treated as short-term. As a transition rule, the Modernization Act requires that post-enactment net capital losses be used before pre-enactment net capital losses. Additionally, post-enactment capital losses that are carried forward will retain their character as either short-term or long-term losses rather than being considered all short-term as under previous law. As of December 31, 2011, the components of distributable earnings on a tax basis were as follows:

Accumulated	Net Unrealized	Undistributed Net
Capital Gains/Losses	Appreciation	Investment Income
$0	$16,436,017	$0

The differences between book-basis and tax-basis are primarily due to adjustments related to passive foreign investment companies and deferral of losses from wash sales.

Federal Income Tax Status

For federal income tax purposes, the Fund currently qualifies, and intends to remain qualified, as a regulated investment company under the provisions of Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code by distributing substantially all of its investment company taxable net income including realized gain, not offset by capital loss carryforwards, if any, to its shareholders. Accordingly, no provision for federal income or excise taxes has been made.

Management has concluded that the Fund has taken no uncertain tax positions that require recognition in the financial statements. The Fund files income tax returns in the U.S. federal jurisdiction and Colorado. For the years ended December 31, 2008, December 31, 2009, December 31, 2010, and December 31, 2011 the Fund's returns are still open to examination by the appropriate taxing authorities.

All officers of the Fund, including the Fund's Chief Compliance Officer, are employees of AAI or its affiliates, and receive no compensation from the Fund. The Board of Directors has appointed a Chief Compliance Officer to the Fund in accordance with federal securities regulations.

NOTE 5. PORTFOLIO INFORMATIONPurchases and Sales of Securities

For the six months ended June 30, 2012, the cost of purchases and proceeds from sales of securities, excluding short-term obligations, were $19,910,630 and $25,314,029, respectively.

NOTE 6. INDEMNIFICATION

In the normal course of business, the Fund enters into contracts that contain a variety of representations and warranties and which provide general indemnities. The Fund's maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims against the Fund. Also, under the Fund's organizational documents and by contract, the Directors and Officers of the Fund are indemnified against certain liabilities that may arise out of their duties to the Fund. However, based on experience, the Fund expects the risk of loss due to these warranties and indemnities to be minimal.

NOTE 7. OTHER MATTERSMaryland Statutes

By resolution of the Board of Directors, the Fund has opted into the Maryland Control Share Acquisition Act and the Maryland Business Combination Act. In general, the Maryland Control Share Acquisition Act provides that control shares of a Maryland corporation acquired in a control share acquisition may not be voted except to the extent approved by shareholders at a meeting by a vote of two-thirds of the votes entitled to be cast on the matter (excluding shares owned by the acquirer and by officers or directors who are employees of the corporation). Control shares are voting shares of stock which, if aggregated with all other shares of stock owned by the acquirer or in respect of which the acquirer is able to exercise or direct the exercise of voting power (except solely by virtue of a revocable proxy), would entitle the acquirer to exercise voting power in electing directors within certain statutorily defined ranges (one-tenth but less than one-third, one-third but less than a majority, and more than a majority of the voting power). In general, the Maryland Business Combination Act prohibits an interested shareholder (a shareholder that holds 10% or more of the voting power of the outstanding stock of the corporation) of a Maryland corporation from engaging in a business combination (generally defined to include a merger, consolidation, share exchange, sale of a substantial amount of assets, a transfer of the corporation's securities and similar transactions to or with the interested shareholder or an entity affiliated with the interested shareholder) with the corporation for a period of five years after the most recent date on which the interested shareholder became an interested shareholder. At the time of adoption, March 19, 2009, the Board and the Fund were not aware of any shareholder that held control shares or that was an interested shareholder under the statutes.

Item 7. Disclosure of Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures for Closed-End Management Investment Companies.

The Fund has delegated to ALPS Advisors, Inc. (the Advisor) the responsibility to vote proxies relating to portfolio securities held by the Fund. In deciding to delegate this responsibility to the Advisor, the Fund's Board reviewed and approved the policies and procedures adopted by the Advisor. These included the procedures that the Advisor follows when a vote presents a conflict between the interests of the Fund and its shareholders and the Advisor, its affiliates, its other clients or other persons.

The Advisor's policy is to vote all proxies for Fund securities in a manner considered by the Advisor to be in the best interest of the Fund and its shareholders without regard to any benefit to the Advisor, its affiliates, its other clients or other persons. The Advisor or an affiliate examines each proposal and votes against the proposal, if, in its judgment, approval or adoption of the proposal would be expected to impact adversely the current or potential market value of the issuer's securities. The Advisor or an affiliate also examines each proposal and votes the proxies against the proposal, if, in its judgment, the proposal would be expected to affect adversely the best interest of the Fund. The Advisor or an affiliate determines the best interest of the Fund in light of the potential economic return on the Fund's investment.

The Advisor addresses potential material conflicts of interest by having predetermined voting guidelines. For those proposals that require special consideration or in instances where special circumstances may require varying from the predetermined guideline, a Proxy Committee determines the vote in the best interest of the Fund, without consideration of any benefit to the Advisor, its affiliates, its other clients or other persons. The Proxy Committee is composed of representatives of equity investments, equity research, compliance, legal and fund administration functions. In addition to the responsibilities described above, the Proxy Committee has the responsibility to review, on a semi-annual basis, the Advisor's proxy voting policies to ensure consistency with internal and regulatory agency policies and to develop additional predetermined voting guidelines to assist in the review of proxy proposals.

The Proxy Committee may vary from a predetermined guideline if it determines that voting on the proposal according to the predetermined guideline would be expected to impact adversely the current or potential market value of the issuer's securities or to affect adversely the best interest of the client. References to the best interest of a client refer to the interest of the client in terms of the potential economic return on the client's investment. In determining the vote on any proposal, the Proxy Committee does not consider any benefit other than benefits to the owner of the securities to be voted. A member of the Proxy Committee is prohibited from voting on any proposal for which he or she has a conflict of interest by reason of a direct relationship with the issuer or other party affected by a given proposal. Persons making recommendations to the Proxy Committee or its members are required to disclose to the Committee any relationship with a party making a proposal or other matter known to the person that would create a potential conflict of interest.

The Advisor has retained RiskMetric (Institutional Shareholder Services (ISS)), a third party vendor, to implement its proxy voting process. ISS provides proxy analysis, record keeping services and vote disclosure services.
