Item 1.01 Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement.

On February 21, 2013, Altera Corporation (the Company) entered into a Foundry and Manufacturing Customer Agreement (the Frame Agreement) with Intel Corporation (Intel). Under the Frame Agreement, which governs the general terms and conditions of the supply arrangement between the parties, the parties may enter into future product addenda pursuant to which Intel will manufacture and supply the Company's advanced products. The Frame Agreement provides that Intel will continue to support production of the Company's products for at least twelve (12) years from the later of the quarter following production launch of Intel's lead product in the applicable node or availability of initial foundry design kits for the applicable technology node to be used by the Company; the Company will also have a last time buy opportunity. In the event of early termination of production support by Intel, Intel has agreed to pay an early termination fee. Intel has also agreed, under certain circumstances, to restrict its rights (1) to produce programmable logic devices (as defined in the Frame Agreement) (PLDs) for third parties; (2) to sell PLDs under its own brand; and (3) to invest in or acquire companies whose principal business is the sale of PLDs.

The foregoing description does not purport to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by the full text of the Frame Agreement, a copy of which will be filed as an exhibit to the Company's quarterly report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended March 30, 2013. The Company intends to submit a FOIA confidential treatment request to the Securities and Exchange Commission pursuant to Rule 24b-2 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, requesting that it be permitted to redact certain portions of the Frame Agreement. The omitted material will be included in the request for confidential treatment.
