Item 8.01 Other Events.

On February 9, 2016, Banc of California, Inc. (the Company) issued a press release announcing the conclusion of the Special Committee investigation.

As previously reported, on October 18, 2016, an anonymous blog post raised questions about related party transactions and other issues with respect to the Company. Also, as previously disclosed, in response to these allegations, the Board of Directors of the Company formed a Special Committee to identify and engage an independent law firm to review the allegations. Shortly thereafter, on October 27, 2016, the Company's independent auditor, KPMG, sent a letter to Mr. Szniewajs in his capacity as Chair of the Company's Joint Audit Committee (the KPMG Letter) raising concerns about allegations of inappropriate relationships with third parties and potential undisclosed related party relationships.

The Special Committee retained WilmerHale, a law firm with no prior relationship with the Company, to conduct an independent investigation to address certain issues raised by the blog post, and items identified by the Special Committee as well as questions raised by the KPMG Letter. In accordance with the KPMG Letter, WilmerHale has made a final report to the Special Committee and KPMG and has confirmed its earlier conclusion that the inquiry has not found any violation of law. In addition, as previously stated, contrary to the claims in the blog post, WilmerHale did not find evidence that Jason Galanis has any direct or indirect control or undue influence over the Company. Furthermore, the inquiry did not find that any loan, related party transaction, or any other circumstance has impaired the independence of any director.

As set forth in the Company's statement on January 23, 2017, while the Special Committee inquiry did not identify any violation of law, the Special Committee found that a press release issued by the Company on October 18, 2016, contained certain inaccuracies relating to a prior review of issues that were raised in the blog post.

A copy of the press release issued by the Company announcing the conclusion of the Special Committee investigation is attached to this report as Exhibit 99.2 and is incorporated herein by reference.
