Changes from Preliminary Prospectus Supplement

1) Changes to the aggregate principal amount of notes offered

The aggregate principal amount of the notes to be issued in this offering has been increased from $525 million to $550 million. The additional net proceeds from this increase will be used to repay outstanding amounts under our Revolving Facility.

All consequential changes to reflect the increased amount of the offering and the use of proceeds thereof are hereby deemed to be made in the Preliminary Prospectus Supplement.

2) Change to the Underwriting section of the Preliminary Prospectus Supplement

The ninth paragraph in the Underwriting section of the Preliminary Prospectus Supplement is changed to read as follows:

It is expected that delivery of the notes will be made, against payment of the notes, on or about December 12, 2017, which will be the fifth business day in the United States following the date of pricing of the notes. Under Rule 15c6-1 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, purchases or sales of securities in the secondary market generally are required to settle within two business days (this settlement cycle being referred to as T+2), unless the parties to any such transaction expressly agree otherwise. Accordingly, purchasers of the notes who wish to trade the notes on the date of this prospectus supplement or the succeeding two business days, will be required, because the notes will settle within five business days (T+5) in the United States, to specify an alternate settlement cycle at the time of any such trade to prevent a failed settlement. Purchasers of the notes who wish to trade on the date of this prospectus supplement or the succeeding two business days should consult their own legal advisors.
