CSN DENIES BID FOR CORUS STEEL PLANT IN UK

(São Paulo, Brazil June 28, 2004) - Companhia Siderúrgica Nacional (CSN) (BOVESPA: CSNA3) (NYSE: SID) announces today that according to its international growth strategy, it is always seeking and evaluating opportunities in steelmaking facilities, mainly in Europe and in the United States of America, in order to add value to its strong competitiveness worldwide. However, CSN is not bidding and has not expressed interest for an interest in Teesside Cast Products.

Benjamin Steinbruch, CSN's CEO commented: CSN will evaluate each and every opportunity that comes to the market and that can be integrated with our facilities in Brazil. It's too soon though to talk about any deals being currently negotiated with any other steel producer. The market can rest assured that as soon as CSN decides on any formal bid or agreement, we will timely and properly disclose it.

Companhia Siderúrgica Nacional, located in the state of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, is a steel complex integrated by investments in infrastructure and logistics, that combines in its operation captive mines, an integrated steel mill, service centers, ports and railways. With a total annual production capacity of 5,800,000 tonnes of crude steel and gross revenues of R$ 8.3 billion reported in 2003, CSN is also the only tin-plate producer in Brazil and one of the five largest tin-plate producers worldwide.
