(c) Beginning in February 2011, Juniper Networks, Inc. (the "Company") began implementing a new organizational structure designed to position the Company to drive long-term growth by focusing talent and resources in the two core areas of systems and software. That organizational realignment has resulted in the creation of two new divisions, the Software Solutions Division and the Platform Systems Division. Today the Company issued a press release in which it announced the hiring of Robert Muglia as Executive Vice President of Software, leading the new Software Solutions Division. Mr. Muglia will report to Company CEO Kevin Johnson. A copy of the press release is attached to this report as Exhibit 99.1. As Mr. Muglia joins the company to drive the Company's end-to-end software strategy, Stefan Dyckerhoff will continue in his role as EVP of the Platform Systems Division and drive Juniper's end-to-end systems strategy.

The Company will continue to report financial results under its existing segment structure through 2011 and anticipates realigning its reporting consistent with its new division structure beginning with 2012.

In support of its division realignment, the Company is also making several executive assignments, effective immediately. Mark Bauhaus will assume the role of Executive Vice President of Services, Support and Operations. To better align field operations and strategic alliances, Gerri Elliott will assume the role of Executive Vice President and Chief Sales Officer and John Morris will assume the role of Executive Vice President of Strategic Alliances. Mike Rose will assume the role of Executive Vice President, Customer Executive Relationships. Executive Vice President and CFO Robyn Denholm will expand her responsibilities, managing IT and business enablement in addition to global finance, real estate, IR and IA. Executive Vice President Kim Perdikou will also expand her responsibilities to oversee customer quality and experience initiatives worldwide.
