5. Business Review and Prospects

Business Review

In 2017, global economy recovered gradually, while China maintained stable and favourable economic growth with gross domestic product (GDP) up by 6.9%. International oil prices fluctuated and climbed from the low level, and domestic natural gas demand increased rapidly. With fast development of independent refineries, domestic oil products market witnessed strong competition. Demand for chemicals grew steadily, and China's environmental regulations became more stringent. The Company actively addressed market changes through a focus on the improvement of assets quality and profitability, as well as operation upgrades. We pressed ahead with measures for specialised business development, market-oriented operation and overall coordination. Following the supply-side structural reform, we focused on optimisation, cost reduction, market expansion, structural adjustment, reform promotion, foundation building and risk management, coordinating all aspects of our work, which helped deliver solid operating results.

5.1 Market Review

(1) Crude Oil & Natural Gas Market

In 2017, international crude oil prices fluctuated at low level among the first three quarters, and rapidly went up in the 4th quarter. The average spot price of Platt's Brent for the year was USD 54.19 per barrel, up by 23.9% from the previous year. Along with the adjustments of China's energy structure, domestic demand for natural gas became robust. Domestic apparent consumption of natural gas reached 237.3 billion cubic meters, up by 15.3% year on year.

(2) Refined Oil Products Market

In 2017, domestic demand for refined oil products maintained its growth while market supply was in surplus. According to our statistics, domestic consumption of ethylene equivalent was up by 11.3% from the previous year, and the apparent consumption of synthetic resin, synthetic fibre and synthetic rubber rose by 8.6%, 5.0% and 6.4%, respectively. Domestic average chemical product prices increased compared with the previous year, in line with movements of international chemical product prices.

5.2 Production & Operations Review(1) Exploration and Production

In 2017, faced with low oil prices, we constantly strengthened measures to increase proved reserves and rein in development costs, which helped achieving better results. We gave priority to high-efficiency exploration activities and made new discoveries in the Xinjiang Tahe Basin and the Sichuan Basin. The Company's newly added proved reserve reached 462.73 million barrels of oil equivalent, with crude oil reserve replacement ratio reaching 116.0%. In crude oil development, we constantly adopted a profit-oriented approach, deepened structural adjustment, focused on cost control, reduced natural decline rate and ensured steady production. In natural gas development, we actively pushed forward capacity building in Hangjinqi of Nei Mongol and Dongpo of west Sichuan, and completed 10 bcm(billion cubic meter) per year shale gas capacity building in Fuling.
