PART I

ITEM 1. BUSINESS.

Company Overview

iTalk, Inc. (collectively with its subsidiaries, "iTalk", the "Company", "we" or "our") is a Nevada corporation formed in October 1988 under the name SOPAC Cellular Solutions, Inc. The company intends to grow its direct to dealer business model. The company plans to add distribution centers in major target cities.

On May 2, 2013, the Company entered into a definitive Asset Purchase Agreement with AA Enterprises pursuant to which the Company acquired substantially all the assets of AA Enterprises, including, but not limited to, all intellectual property rights relating to RocketVoIP. On June 6, 2013 the Company acquired ITG, Inc. ("ITG"), a Texas corporation in an Asset Purchase Agreement (the "Purchase Agreement"). Pursuant to the terms of the Purchase Agreement, the Company agreed to purchase substantially all of the assets of ITG, including, but not limited to, all intellectual property rights relating to ITG, EasyTalk and Valucom (the "Acquired Assets"). We continue to focus on both the organic growth of our revenue streams as well as evaluating potential acquisitions that would complement our core business operations and accelerate our overall mission of providing new and innovative communications services to consumers.

In December 2014, we formed a subsidiary, Limestone Energy Holdings, Inc., a Florida corporation ("Limestone"), to explore a diversification strategy into the oil and gas industry. Subsequently, on January 6, 2015, Limestone entered into a Purchase and Sale Agreement (the "Hilliard Purchase Agreement") with Hilliard Bender Energy, LLC, a Florida limited liability company, ("Hilliard"). On October 19, 2015, Limestone and Hilliard mutually agreed to terminate the Hilliard Purchase Agreement. Accordingly, Limestone will not complete the acquisition of Hilliard.

The Company entered into a Purchase and Sale Agreement (the "UMS Purchase Agreement") on September 24, 2015 with Kil W. Lee ("Mr. Lee") and United Mobile Solutions Corp., a Delaware corporation (formerly known as United Mobile Solutions, LLC) ("UMS"). Pursuant to the terms of the UMS Purchase Agreement, the Company agreed to acquire from Mr. Lee all of the issued and outstanding capital stock of UMS in exchange for shares of the Company's preferred stock, par value $0.001 per share, ("Preferred Stock"), convertible into 85% of the Company's fully diluted common stock, par value $0.001 per share ("Common Stock"), as of the date of closing (the "Exchange"), prior to giving effect to dilution of the issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock by (i) shares of Common Stock underlying options to be issued to David Levy under a management option plan, which will represent 5.0% of the fully diluted shares of Common Stock of the Company at the date of exercise of the options ("Prospective Levy Options"), (ii) shares of Common Stock underlying a warrant to be issued to Mesa Partner, which will represent 4.9% of the fully diluted shares of Common Stock of the Company at the date of exercise of the warrant ("Prospective Mesa Partner Warrant"), and (iii) shares of Common Stock underlying a warrant to be issued to Andora Holdings, LLC, which will represent 4.9% of the fully diluted shares of Common Stock of the Company at the date of exercise of the warrant ("Prospective Andora Holdings Warrant").

On January 29, 2016 ("Closing Date"), the Company closed ("Closing") on the Exchange under the UMS Purchase Agreement pursuant to which the Company acquired 100,000 shares of common stock of UMS held by Mr. Lee, representing all of the issued and outstanding capital stock of UMS, in exchange for issuing 106,250 shares of Preferred Stock of the Company to Mr. Lee and/or his affiliates, convertible into 10,625,000,000 shares of Common Stock of the Company (where each share of Preferred Stock is convertible into 100,000 shares of Common Stock). Upon Closing of the Exchange, UMS became a wholly owned subsidiary of the Company and the Company's pro-forma shares of Common stock and Preferred Stock issued and outstanding after giving effect to the Exchange was 1,875,000,000 shares of Common Stock and 106,250 shares of Preferred Stock, convertible into 10,625,000,000 shares of Common Stock of the Company (representing approximately representing 85% of the Company's fully diluted Common Stock as of the Closing Date), prior to giving effect to dilution of the issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock by the shares of Common Stock underlying the Prospective Levy Options, Prospective Mesa Partner Warrant and Prospective Andora Holdings Warrant.

Revenue Sources

The Company's global communications receive sales revenues through credit card charges for prepaid communications services processed and paid by American Express, VISA and Global Pay. The Company's services are delivered over the Internet and terminated through third party carriers. The Company sells cellular mobile products to wireless resellers and distributors. The Company not only sells smart phone devices, at times the Company is contracted by 3rd parties for refurbishment services where the company charges for labor and time. The Company's revenues are also generated from reoccurring revenues from its carrier master dealership business. The Company generates a commission per activation; spiff for reaching targeted goals and a reoccurring monthly residual income from the active subscribers. The Company also enables retailer's wireless airtime replenishment through an online portal through its relationships with payment processing companies as an independent sales operative.

Leveraging the Existing Network to Increase Opportunities

The Company currently has sales and warehouse operations in Dallas, Texas and Norcross, Georgia. By utilizing this geographic diversity and the established relationships with retailers and wholesale distributors, the Company is in position to effectively launch new products and services with relatively low risk. The Company can achieve this by adding on to the existing network, which will result in increased earnings. Recently the company has customized a licensed software package for an informational and customer management system that allows us to not only tracks each and every customer order from purchase to delivery, but also to identify customer and geographic trends. This system is scalable and under constant improvement to streamline operations and maximize operational efficiencies.

Competitive Landscape

While there are several regional companies who compete for market share based on price, new competitors coming into the market are facing a tougher barrier to entry. The market will continue to see more mergers and acquisitions, and the landscape as the Company knows it will make it more difficult for undercapitalized and/or startup companies to remain competitive.

Regulation

Communications services industries are generally subject to regulation in the United States and elsewhere. Regulatory policies in the United States are administered by the Federal Communications Commission (the "FCC"). The FCC's regulations distinguish between dominant and non-dominant providers of services. The Company is considered a non-dominant provider of services. As such, we are subject to minimal regulation and oversight.

Our Strategy

Our strategy incorporates a blend of organic growth and complementary acquisitions. As the market continues to intensify for the solutions we offer, it is evident that customers are seeking a single sourced, lower cost, less complex way of calling, texting and accessing the Web. It is iTalk's strategy to be the low cost provider in its market segments.

SALES, MARKETING AND CUSTOMER CARE

To properly establish products and services into a store relies on the personal touch from one of the Company's sales representatives. This personal contact over the phone or in person helps convey the Company's vision, builds rapport, and demonstrates the unique qualities of the products and services offered. As a consultative approach to customers, sales representatives from iTalk conduct in-store visits and offer in-store coaching and training to reach maximum sales and distribution potential from each customer. As distribution expands, the Company will adjust to meet greater demand by increasing dealer communications in-person, virtually, or remotely.

The Company's promotional strategy has been mostly organic and is comprised of sales promotions, referral business, email marketing campaigns, and most importantly the solid network of relationships the Company has. The staff at iTalk offers short-term sales promotions and interaction to wireless retailers and distributors tied to bundle deals, requesting a specific model, free shipping on minimum quantities, bulk pricing, equipment service solutions, and premium OEM and certified refurbished products. In addition, iTalk is currently working with several carriers, national distributors and vendors to leverage the suite of products and services for promotion into their customer channels.

This will all be done under the name of a holding company and will be branded market-by-market.

Methodology

- Partner with wireless advertising mediums including Wireless Dealer Magazine and The Prepaid Press to attract a new dealer base, market to a larger audience, and capture more market share. The Company will engage these relationships to get products and services in front of over 100,000 wireless retailers and distributors. The Company has been highly effective with an organic marketing and sales strategy, but partnering with a wireless advertising medium will begin the national marketing and branding campaign to reach beyond the Company's current reach.
2. Focus on integrating all online platforms with social media marketing and offer daily/weekly/monthly deals to drive customer acquisition, retain customers, and create a larger brand image.
3. Actively tailor digital presence by utilizing search engine optimization tools and enhancing online content to ensure a higher level of online website acquisitions and conversions through direct online marketing, organic search marketing, and referral marketing and social media marketing.
4. Utilize online advertising tools like AdWords and pay-per-click to attract new online users, increase inbound call volumes, and grow online sales. Overall effective and cost efficient based on only paying for users who actually click the advertisement.
5. Create a third party logistics program for wireless dealers and distributors that want a 'low barrier of entry' to become a wireless reseller. Capitalize on ERP and online platform to extend digital infrastructure to other qualified distributors and retailers wanting to offer same products and services to their business customers by utilizing online technology in markets not easily attainable or out of the company's reach.
6. Market an alternative to new devices and increase the certified refurbished and OEM replacement device sales to attract a larger audience looking for more affordable and comparable alternatives to new devices. In-house repair and kitting gives the company a competitive advantage to actively pursue used devices and create a demand for them. This concept can be similar and related to the used car market.
7. Attend and exhibit at trade shows including CTIA Las Vegas, CES Las Vegas and the Wireless Repair Expo. The Wireless Repair Expo will give exposure to specifically Touchpoint, and CTIA and CES will help properly expose the iTalk brand to the masses.

Promotions and Pricing Strategy

The Company expects to create an inventory write down or reserve equaling 1% to 1.5% of total inventory cost for liquidation items and promotional efforts. With improving logistic operations, the reserve will be applied toward bestselling items and promotions on bestselling items. We believe that this method will help differentiate us from competitors. The Company believes this will also drive new customer acquisition and further loyalty among clients.

Industry Overview

The U.S. telecom industry has experienced a major shift in the market share mix. During the last quarter of the twentieth century, landline phone services dominated the market. In the last ten years, the change has been sudden and pervasive. The market has shifted to modern telecom technologies that are more cost effective and convenient to use. Cellular networks show a continuous increase in the number of customers. The most significant factor that influenced the growth of cellular networks is convenience. With the introduction of CDMA and GSM networks with 3G and 4G speeds, growth has shifted drastically in the favor of the cellular networks. The new breed of cell phones (smart phones) aren't mere devices of making and receiving phone calls, they can be used for texting, storing data, taking pictures, sharing content and accessing the internet.

Voice over Internet Protocol (VoIP) enables phone service anywhere in the world at little or no cost. 4G wireless Internet connections ensure that all calls are of very high quality and access is ubiquitous. New smart phones have excellent computing and multitasking ability that makes them ideal devices to be used as mobile VoIP phones.

The Market

“The most recent issue of PWC’s North American Wireless Industry Survey published in February 2015 states that there is an industry shift towards prepaid. The survey results indicate that the average postpaid connections grew by just 1.2 percent year over year in 2013. On the other hand, the average prepaid connections grew 30.2 percent year over year. The increase in prepaid subscribers using smartphones is growing at a faster rate with an almost 50 percent increase on a year over year basis; driven largely by availability of devices to this customer segment. An average of 35 percent of the prepaid subscriber base utilized a smartphone as of December 31, 2013, compared with 17 percent as of December 31, 2012. Smartphones are also increasingly becoming a more significant part of prepaid phones sales with smartphones averaging 38 percent of prepaid phones sales with smartphones averaging 38 percent of prepaid phones sales for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2013, as compared with 27 percent for the year ended December 31, 2012.”

Advertising, Public Relations and Promotion

Advertisements will be targeted to industry specific mediums to target wireless industry resellers. Examples of the ways in which the Company plans to reach its target audience are through the following methods:

Public relations and marketing has been contracted with Mesa Partners.

Trade shows – CTIA Las Vegas, CES Las Vegas, CEBIT Spain, Global Sources Mobile Electronics Fair.

Trade magazine advertising – Wireless Dealer Magazine, Prepaid Press, Wireless Industry Association

Direct mailings, print and local newspapers.

Sales Force / Distributors / Direct Retailers

The Company believes that direct selling and one-on-one relationships in addition to in-depth product and competitive landscape knowledge are important factors in the marketing of the products that the Company sells. Accordingly, the Company promotes relationship building and maintenance through personal contact, advertising in industry-centric publications, both print and on-line, and attending the major regional and national carrier shows.

The Company currently employs 15 experienced sales professionals who are involved in distribution and market to existing and potential customers in their respective assigned territories. They do this through both telephone and e-mail interaction in addition to notification of special promotions. Potential new customers are located primarily through the Company's database. The company believes this approach motivates the sales professionals to achieve higher gross margin as well as greater sales numbers.

In each regional location, the company plans to have 1 branch manager, 3 sales reps and 2 warehouse employees. Each regional office will have a mixture of direct sales to dealer channels and distribution through company direct sub dealer locations, as well as leveraging distributors to access additional channels.

Design and Development Plans

The company plans to introduce a customized branded smartphone device within 2 years, once expansion markets have stabilized. OEM (Original Equipment Manufacturer) White Labeling/branding a manufactured device through an existing manufacturer takes considerable time and research. In order to introduce a product into the marketplace, ODM (Original Design Manufacturer) eventually becomes necessary in order to build a product that is both unique and acceptable to the market place.

The company has seen numerous OEM companies come and go. The company has been on the front lines to promote these brands, while making the conscious decision to avoid others. The experience of growing with successful OEM brands in addition to watching several other brands make mistakes and eventually fail has given us the know-how.

The company has tested several prototypes from a number of manufacturers. The steps involved in developing a prototype include:

Select Manufacturing Plant in China

Corporate Due Diligence on Factory

Compliance and Certifications

Engineering and customization of existing molds

Factory Capacity and availability of parts Verification

Specification and parts standards

Packaging and Boxing design and accessories design

Decision for OEM or ODM and agree on drawing and develop "golden sample"

In order to successfully launch brands in the North American markets, a significant amount of marketing and promoting has to be done prior to the product launch.

ITEM 1A: RISK FACTORS.

Forward-Looking and Cautionary Statements

Investing in our common stock involves a high degree of risk. Prospective investors should carefully consider the following risks and uncertainties and all other information contained or referred to in this Annual Report on Form 10-K before investing in our common stock. The risks and uncertainties described below are not the only ones facing us. Additional risks and uncertainties that we are unaware of, or that we currently deem immaterial, also may become important factors that affect us. If any of the following risks occur, our business, financial condition or results of operations could be materially and adversely affected. In that case, the trading price of our common stock could decline, and you could lose all of your investment.

Risks Relating to Our Business

Our independent registered public accounting firm has expressed substantial doubt about our ability to continue as a going concern, which may also hinder our ability to obtain future financing.

In their report included in the financial section of this report, our independent registered public accounting firm stated that our consolidated financial statements for the year ended August 31, 2015 were prepared assuming that we would continue as a going concern. However, they expressed substantial doubt about our ability to do so. The Company has experienced an accumulated deficit of $5,579,667 as of August 31, 2015, including a net loss of $ 1,285,046 for the year ended August 31, 2015. We also had a working capital deficit of $2,532,271 at August 31, 2015 and cash on hand of $14,601.

Our ability to continue as a going concern is subject to our ability to increase revenues and generate a profit and/or obtain necessary funding from outside sources, including obtaining additional funding from the sale of our securities, generating sales, or obtaining financing from various financial institutions where possible. By adjusting our operations and development to the level of capitalization, we believe that we have sufficient capital resources to meet projected near-term cash flow requirements. However, if during that period or thereafter, we are not successful in generating sufficient liquidity from operations or in raising sufficient capital resources, on terms acceptable to us, this could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations, liquidity and financial condition. There can be no assurances that our efforts will prove successful. The Company's consolidated financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

Insufficient systems capacity or systems failures could harm our business.

Our business depends on the performance and reliability of the computer and communications systems supporting it. Notwithstanding our current capacity, heavy use of our computer systems during peak trading times or at times of unusual market volatility could cause our systems to operate slowly or even to fail for periods of time. If our systems cannot be expanded successfully to handle increased demand, or otherwise fail to perform, we could experience disruptions in service, slower response times, and delays in introducing new products and services.

Our systems and operations also are vulnerable to damage or interruption from human error, natural disasters, power loss, sabotage or terrorism, computer viruses, intentional acts of vandalism, and similar events. Any system failure that causes an interruption in service or decreases the responsiveness of our service could impair our reputation, damage our brand name and negatively impact our revenues. We also rely on a number of third parties for systems support. Any interruption in these third-party services or deterioration in the performance of these services could also be disruptive to our business and have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and operating results. We cannot predict the likelihood that services provided by third parties may be interrupted.

We have not voluntarily implemented various corporate governance measures, in the absence of which, stockholders may have more limited protections against interested director transactions, conflicts of interest and similar matters.

Certain federal legislation, including the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, has resulted in the adoption of various corporate governance measures designed to promote the integrity of the corporate management and the securities markets. Some of these measures have been adopted in response to legal requirements. Others have been adopted by companies in response to the requirements of national securities exchanges, such as the NYSE or The Nasdaq Stock Market, on which their securities are listed. Among the corporate governance measures that are required under the rules of national securities exchanges are those that address board of directors' independence, audit committee oversight, and the adoption of a code of ethics. We have not adopted a Code of Business Conduct and Ethics nor have we yet adopted any other corporate governance measures and, since our securities are not listed on a national securities exchange, we are not required to do so. We have not adopted corporate governance measures such as an audit or other independent committees of our Board of Directors. Prospective investors should bear in mind our current lack of corporate governance measures in formulating their investment decisions.

Our internal controls over financial reporting, and our disclosure controls and procedures, are not adequate, which could have a significant and adverse effect on our business and reputation.

Section 404 of Sarbanes-Oxley and the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”) associated with Sarbanes-Oxley, which we refer to as Section 404, require a reporting company to, among other things, annually review and disclose its internal controls over financial reporting, and evaluate and disclose changes in its internal controls over financial reporting quarterly. Under Section 404 a reporting company is required to document and evaluate such internal controls in order to allow its management to report on these controls. As reported in Item 9A. Controls and Procedures, we have concluded that our disclosure controls and procedures, and our financial reporting controls, are currently ineffective. If we are not able to implement the requirements of Section 404 with adequate compliance, we may be subject to sanctions or investigation by regulatory authorities, such as the SEC. As a result, there could be an adverse reaction in the financial markets due to a loss of confidence in the reliability of our financial statements. In addition, we may be required to incur substantial costs in improving our internal control system and the hiring of additional personnel. Any such actions could adversely affect our results of operations, cash flows and financial condition.

Our inability to protect our intellectual property rights could adversely affect our business.

To protect our intellectual property rights, we rely on a combination of trademark laws, trade secret protection, confidentiality agreements and other contractual arrangements with our affiliates, customers, strategic investors and others. The protective steps we have taken may be inadequate to deter misappropriation of our proprietary information. We may be unable to detect the unauthorized use of, or take appropriate steps to enforce, our intellectual property rights. Failure to protect our intellectual property adequately could harm our brand and affect our ability to compete effectively. Further, defending our intellectual property rights could result in the expenditure of significant financial and managerial resources, which could adversely affect our business, financial condition and operating results.

Intellectual property and proprietary rights of others may prevent us from using the technology necessary to provide our services and may subject us to expensive intellectual property.

If a court determines that the technology necessary for us to provide our services infringes a patent held by another person, and if that person is unwilling to grant us a license on acceptable terms, we may be ordered not to use the technology. We may also be ordered to pay significant monetary damages to the patent-holder. If we are ordered not to use the technology, we may be forced to cease offering services that depend on such use. In the event that a claim of infringement is brought against us based on the use or sale of our technology, or against any of our customers based on the use of our technology, which we have agreed to indemnify our customers against, we may be subject to litigation to determine whether there is an infringement. Such litigation is expensive and distracting to our business and operations, regardless of the outcome of the suit.

If our fraud prevention methods are not effective, our business, reputation and financial results may be adversely affected.

We are susceptible to online cardholder-not-present fraud and call processing fraud. We control fraud through the use of internally developed proprietary technology and commercially available licensed technology. Traditional means of controlling online cardholder-not-present fraud insufficiently controls fraudsters who obtain personal credit card information and pose as legitimate cardholders. To address this risk, we have developed automated proprietary as well as off-the-shelf technology, coupled with in-house staff reviews, to constantly monitor and block suspicious transactions based on defined criteria. We are also at risk of attempts to hack into our system using various PIN combinations in an attempt to find a valid account. To address this risk, our system has integrated fraud detection mechanisms that detect such patterns and block the numbers from making further attempts. In-house fraud specialists also monitor traffic reports and usage patterns to identify and investigate suspicious calling patterns. While we place a high priority on fraud prevention, there is no guarantee that our measures will be successful in preventing significant fraudulent use of our network and resources, thereby materially adversely affecting our business, reputation and financial results.

Because our Chief Executive Officer owns 5 shares of our Series A Preferred Stock, he effectively retains voting control over our Company regardless of the number of shares of common stock that are issued.

Mr. Levy, our Chief Executive Officer and member of our Board of Directors, owns 5 shares of our Series A Preferred Stock. The Series A Preferred Stock owned by Mr. Levy insures that he will have effect voting control on all matters brought up for vote of shareholders including, but not limited to, the election of our directors and for any acquisition or merger transaction involving the Company. A holder of a share of Series A Preferred Stock is entitled to voting rights equal to two (2) times the sum of: i) the total number of shares of Common Stock which are issued and outstanding at the time of voting, plus ii) the total number of shares of any Preferred Stock which are issued and outstanding at the time of voting. Such control by Mr. Levy could be detrimental to our remaining shareholders, who would have little to say in regard to votes by our shareholders and effectively prevents Mr. Levy from be removed as an officer or director.

Our common stock is a “penny stock” under SEC rules. It may be more difficult to resell securities classified as “penny stock.”

Our common stock is a “penny stock” under applicable SEC rules (generally defined as non-exchange traded stock with a per-share price below $5.00). Unless we maintain a per-share price above $5.00, these rules impose additional sales practice requirements on broker-dealers that recommend the purchase or sale of penny stocks to persons other than those who qualify as “established customers” or “accredited investors.” For example, broker-dealers must determine the appropriateness for non-qualifying persons of investments in penny stocks. Broker-dealers must also provide, prior to a transaction in a penny stock not otherwise exempt from the rules, a standardized risk disclosure document that provides information about penny stocks and the risks in the penny stock market. The broker-dealer also must provide the customer with current bid and offer quotations for the penny stock, disclose the compensation of the broker-dealer and its salesperson in the transaction, furnish monthly account statements showing the market value of each penny stock held in the customer’s account, provide a special written determination that the penny stock is a suitable investment for the purchaser, and receive the purchaser’s written agreement to the transaction.

Legal remedies available to an investor in “penny stocks” may include the following:

If a “penny stock” is sold to the investor in violation of the requirements listed above, or other federal or states securities laws, the investor may be able to cancel the purchase and receive a refund of the investment.

If a “penny stock” is sold to the investor in a fraudulent manner, the investor may be able to sue the persons and firms that committed the fraud for damages.

However, investors who have signed arbitration agreements may have to pursue their claims through arbitration.

These requirements may have the effect of reducing the level of trading activity, if any, in the secondary market for a security that becomes subject to the penny stock rules. The additional burdens imposed upon broker-dealers by such requirements may discourage broker-dealers from effecting transactions in our securities, which could severely limit the market price and liquidity of our securities. These requirements may restrict the ability of broker-dealers to sell our common stock and may affect your ability to resell our common stock.

Many brokerage firms will discourage or refrain from recommending investments in penny stocks. Most institutional investors will not invest in penny stocks. In addition, many individual investors will not invest in penny stocks due, among other reasons, to the increased financial risk generally associated with these investments.

For these reasons, penny stocks may have a limited market and, consequently, limited liquidity. We can give no assurance that our common stock will not be classified as a “penny stock” in the future.

2015 Overview

For the year ended August 31, 2015, total revenue decreased to $689,824 from $802,241 in fiscal 2014. The overall decrease in revenue during fiscal 2015 is entirely due to a drop in new revenue from network services.

For the year ended August 31, 2015, operating expenses decreased to $268,711 as compared to $ 1,844,935 in fiscal 2014. The decrease in operating expenses in fiscal 2015 as compared to fiscal 2014 is primarily related to cost of network services initiated from operations of acquisitions in the general and administrative costs.

Our net loss in fiscal 2015 decreased to $1,285,046 compared to $3,546,767 in fiscal 2014. In fiscal 2015 we accumulated net operating loss carry forwards and have recorded no provision for income tax.

Results of Operations

Revenues

Total revenue decreased by $112,417 to $ 689,824 during the year ended August 31, 2015, as compared to $802,241 in fiscal 2014. The overall decrease in revenue during fiscal 2015 as compared to fiscal 2014 is primarily attributable to lower revenue from subscriber base loss caused by new data center migration.

We do anticipate that both new acquisitions and organic growth of existing acquisitions will be a continuing source of revenue in the future.

2015 Deferred Revenue Backlog

At August 31, 2015, we have recorded deferred revenue of $46,243 versus $59,908 during the same period in 2014, which we expect to recognize throughout the next fiscal year.

Cost of Services

Costs of revenues consist primarily of direct network services purchased from carriers under preferred bulk purchase agreements. Cost of revenues increased to $754,930 from $740,685 during the year ended August 31, 2015 as compared to fiscal 2014

General and Administrative Expense

General and administrative expenses consist primarily of consulting services, stock based compensation, insurance, fees for professional services, general corporate expenses and facility and equipment expenses. General and administrative expenses decreased to $244,139 during the year ended August 31, 2015 as compared to $1,499,418 in fiscal 2014 as management streamlined operations and reduced facilities, professional expenses and equipment expenses.

Depreciation and Amortization

Other Income/ Expense

Other income and expense totaled expense of $951,229 in fiscal year 2015 compared to other expense of $1,762,388 in 2014. The other expense in 2015 consisted of change in fair value of $290,084, settlement of note payable of $219,762 and interest expense of $441,383 while the other expense in 2014 consisted of impairment of assets of $315,016, change in fair value of derivative liability of $357,287, settlement on note payable of $255,000 and interest expense of $835,085

Net Income/Loss

Net loss for the year ended August 31, 2015 decreased to $1, 285,046 as compared to $3,545,767 in fiscal 2014. The decrease in net deficit is primarily due to decreases in general and administrative expenses in 2015 from 2014.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

As of August 31, 2015, the Company had $14,601 in cash. Current liabilities at August 31, 2015, including accounts payable, deferred revenue, accrued payroll liabilities related parties, and other accrued expenses totaled $648,550, notes payable of $1,433,465, derivate liability of $424,592 and other liabilities to related parties of $40,265. At August 31, 2015, current assets were $14,601 and current liabilities $2,546,872.

We manage our cash flow carefully with the intent to meet our obligations from cash generated from operations. There can be no assurance that cash generated from operations will be sufficient to fund our operating expenses or to allow us to meet our other obligations, and there is no assurance that debt or equity financing will be available, or if available, that such financing will be upon terms acceptable to us. Should we need to raise additional capital, either for business expansion reasons and / or to meet certain debt obligations, the Company may opt to issue additional equity securities.

Working Capital

Our working capital deficit increased by $438,359 during the year ended August 31, 2015 from a working capital deficit (current liabilities in excess of current assets) of $2,093,912 at August 31, 2014 to a working capital deficit of $2,532,271 at August 31, 2015. The increase in working capital deficit for the year ended August 31, 2015 is due to a combination of reasons, of which the significant factors include:

Cash had a net decrease from working capital by $28,269 for the year ended August 31, 2015.

The most significant uses and proceeds of cash were:

Approximately $114,920 used by operating activities;

Cash flow analysis

Cash used by operations was $114,920 during the year period ended August 31, 2015. During the year ended August 31, 2015, our primary capital needs were for operating expenses, including funds to support our business strategy, which primarily includes working capital necessary to fund operations and reducing our account payables.

Cash provided from financing activities consisted of net proceeds of $86,650 from issuance of convertible notes payable.

Critical Accounting Policies and Estimates

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company and its wholly owned subsidiary, Rocket VoIP.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

We consider all highly liquid investments with an original maturity of three months or less at the date of purchase to be cash equivalents. Cash and cash equivalents are carried at cost, which approximates fair value.

The Company places its cash and cash equivalents on deposit with financial institutions in the United States. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) covers $250,000 for substantially all depository accounts and temporarily provides unlimited coverage through December 31, 2015 for certain qualifying and participating non-interest bearing transaction accounts. The Company from time to time may have amounts on deposit in excess of the insured limits. As of August 31, 2015, the Company had $42,870, which did not exceed these insured amounts.

Revenue Recognition

We recognize revenue in accordance with SEC Staff Accounting Bulletin No. 104, "Revenue Recognition," which requires that: (i) persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, (ii) delivery has occurred or services have been rendered, (iii) the sales price is fixed or determinable, and (iv) collectability is reasonably assured. We recognize revenue when services are rendered or delivered, where collectability is probable. Deferred revenue primarily consists of upfront payments for annual service contracts, and is recognized throughout the year as the services are performed.

Deferred Costs

For all prepaid customer sales, the Company defers the recognition of revenue and also defers the associated costs, such as direct network services supplied by third party network carriers.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment is recorded at cost and depreciated over the estimated useful lives of the assets using principally the straight-line method. When items are retired or otherwise disposed of, income is charged or credited for the difference between net book value and proceeds realized thereon. Ordinary maintenance and repairs are charged to expense as incurred, and replacements and betterments are capitalized. The range of estimated useful lives used to calculate depreciation for principal items of property and equipment are as follow:

Asset Category	Depreciation / Amortization Period
Furniture, fixtures and equipment	3 to 5 years
Computer equipment and purchased software	3 years
Machinery and equipment	3 to 5 years
Leasehold Improvements	4 to 7 years

Earnings per Share

We calculate earnings per share in accordance with the authoritative guidance for earnings per share, which requires that basic net income per common share be computed by dividing net income for the period by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the period. Diluted net income per share is computed by dividing the net income for the period by the weighted average number of common and common equivalent shares, such as convertible preferred stock, outstanding during the period.

Allowance for Doubtful Accounts

Most of the Company's revenue is derived from prepaid charges to customer credit cards. At this time, the Company does not offer unsecured credit to customers. Accordingly, the Company's financial statements make no allowance for doubtful accounts.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Income Taxes

We comply with FASB ASC No. 740 – Income Taxes (formerly SFAS No. 109, “Accounting for Income Taxes”) which requires an asset and liability approach to financial accounting and reporting for income taxes. Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are computed for differences between the financial statement and tax bases of assets and liabilities that will result in future taxable or deductible amounts based on enacted tax laws and rates applicable to the periods in which the differences are expected to affect taxable income. Valuation allowances are established, when necessary, to reduce deferred income tax assets to the amounts expected to be realized. For any uncertain tax positions, we recognize the impact of a tax position, only if it is more likely than not of being sustained upon examination, based on the technical merits of the position. Our policy regarding the classification of interest and penalties is to classify them as income tax expense in our financial statements, if applicable. The tax returns for the prior three years are generally subject to review by federal and state taxing authorities.

Impairment of Long-lived Assets

In accordance with FASB ASC No. 360 – Property Plant and Equipment, long-lived assets, such as property and equipment, and intangible assets subject to amortization, are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset group may not be recoverable. Recoverability of asset groups to be held and used is measured by a comparison of the carrying amount of an asset group to estimated undiscounted future cash flows expected to be generated by the asset group. If the carrying amount of an asset group exceeds its estimated future cash flows, an impairment charge is recognized by the amount by which the carrying amount of an asset group exceeds fair value of the asset group. Goodwill is tested for impairment annually or whenever events indicate that the asset may be impaired.

Fair Value Measurements

As of August 31, 2015 and 2014, we do not have any financial assets or liabilities that are required to be, or that we elected to measure, at fair value.

We believe that the fair value of our financial instruments, which consist of cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable, our line of credit, and accounts payable approximate their carrying amounts.

Stock-based compensation

We account for stock-based compensation under the authoritative guidance for stock compensation. The authoritative guidance for stock compensation requires that companies estimate the fair value of share-based payment awards on the date of the grant using an option-pricing model. The cost is to be recognized over the period during which an employee is required to provide service in exchange for the award. The valuation provisions of the authoritative guidance for stock compensation apply to new grants and grants modified after the adoption date that were outstanding as of the effective date. The authoritative guidance for stock compensation also requires the benefit of tax deductions in excess of recognized compensation expense to be reported as a financing cash flow, rather than as an operating cash flow as prescribed under previous accounting rules. This requirement reduces net operating cash flows and increases net financing cash flows in periods subsequent to adoption, only if excess tax benefits exist.

ITEM 7A: Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk

We do not believe that we face material market risk with respect to our cash, cash equivalents and restricted cash investments. We held no marketable securities as of August 31, 2015 or 2014.

ITEM 8: FINANCIAL STATEMENTS AND SUPPLEMENTARY DATA

The financial statements annexed to this Form 10-K for the year ended August 31, 2015 begin on page F-1.

ITEM 9A. CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

Management's annual report regarding internal disclosure controls and procedures provides that our management is responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate internal control over financial reporting, as defined in Rules 13a-15(f) and 15d-15(f) of the Exchange Act. Internal control over financial reporting is designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements for external purposes, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. The effectiveness of any system of internal control over financial reporting is subject to inherent limitations and therefore, may not prevent or detect misstatements. Also, projections of any evaluation of effectiveness of future periods are subject to the risk that the controls may become inadequate due to change in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

This annual report does not include an attestation report of the Company's registered public accounting firm regarding internal control over financial reporting. Management's report was not subject to attestation by the Company's registered public accounting firm pursuant to rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission that permit the Company to provide only management's report in this annual report.

Evaluation of Disclosure Controls and Procedures

Based on an evaluation as of August 31, 2015, under the supervision and with the participation of our management, our principal executive officer and principal financial officer have concluded that our disclosure controls and procedures as defined in Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended ("Exchange Act") were ineffective as of August 31, 2015 to ensure that information required to be disclosed in reports that are filed or submitted under the Exchange Act is (i) recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in the Securities and Exchange Commission rules and forms and (ii) accumulated and communicated to our management, including our principal executive officer and principal financial officer, as appropriate to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Controls

Our internal control over financial reporting is designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Our internal control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that: (i) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and disposition of our assets; (ii) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors; and (iii) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Management, including our Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, do not expect that our internal controls will prevent or detect all errors and all fraud. A control system, no matter how well designed and operated, can provide only reasonable, not absolute, assurance that the objectives of the control system are met. Further, the design of a control system must reflect the fact that there are resource constraints, and the benefits of controls must be considered relative to their costs. Because of the inherent limitations in all control systems, no evaluation of internal controls can provide absolute assurance that all control issues and instances of fraud, if any, have been detected. Also, any evaluation of the effectiveness of controls in future periods are subject to the risk that those internal controls may become inadequate because of changes in business conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Report of Management's Annual Report on Internal Control over Financial Reporting

Our management is responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate internal control over financial reporting (as defined in Rule 13a-15(f) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended). Management has evaluated the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting based on the criteria set forth in Internal Control—Integrated Framework (2013 framework) issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations (“COSO”) as of August 31, 2015. Based on this evaluation, management has concluded that our internal control over financial reporting is inadequate as of August 31, 2015, due to a limited staff and limited financial resources.

There were no changes in the Company’s internal control over financial reporting identified in connection with the evaluation required by paragraph (d) of Rule 13a-15 or 15d-15 of the Exchange Act that occurred during the fourth quarter of the fiscal year ended August 31, 2015 that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, the Company’s internal control over financial reporting.

entity (as defined in Section 1(a)(29) of the Commodity Exchange Act), or any equivalent exchange, association, entity or organization that has disciplinary authority over its members or persons associated with a member.

Section 16(a) Beneficial Ownership Reporting Compliance

Section 16(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, requires our executive officers and directors, and persons who own more than 10% of our common stock, to file reports regarding ownership of, and transactions in, our securities with the Securities and Exchange Commission and to provide us with copies of those filings. Based solely on our review of the copies of such forms received by us, or written representations from certain reporting persons we believe that during the fiscal year ended August 31, 2015, all filing requirements applicable to our executive officers and directors, and persons who own more than 10% of our common stock were complied with.

Code of Ethics

We have not adopted a code of ethics because our board of directors believes that our small size does not merit the expense of preparing, adopting and administering a code of ethics. Our board of directors intends to adopt a code of ethics when circumstances warrant.

Corporate Governance

Election of Directors; Term of Office

Each director of our company is to serve for a term of one year ending on the date of subsequent annual meeting of stockholders following the annual meeting at which such director was elected. Notwithstanding the foregoing, each director is to serve until his successor is elected and qualified or until his death, resignation or removal. Our board of directors is to elect our officers and each officer is to serve until his successor is elected and qualified or until his death, resignation or removal.

Holders of our common stock are entitled to one (1) vote for each share held on all matters submitted to a vote of the stockholders, including the election of directors. Cumulative voting with respect to the election of directors is permitted by our Articles of Incorporation. However, Mr. Levy, by virtue of his 5 shares of our Series A Preferred Stock effectively has voting control of the Company. A holder of a share of Series A Preferred Stock is entitled to voting rights equal to two (2) times the sum of: i) the total number of shares of Common Stock which are issued and outstanding at the time of voting, plus ii) the total number of shares of any Preferred Stock which are issued and outstanding at the time of voting.

Committees of the Board

Our board of directors held no formal meetings during the fiscal year ended August 31, 2015. All proceedings of our board of directors were conducted by resolutions consented to in writing by all the directors and filed with the minutes of the proceedings of the directors. Such resolutions consented to in writing by the directors entitled to vote on that resolution at a meeting of the directors are, according to the corporate laws of the State of Nevada and our By-laws, as valid and effective as if they had been passed at a meeting of our directors duly called and held.

We currently do not have nominating or compensation committees or committees performing similar functions nor do we have a written nominating or compensation committee charter. Our board of directors does not believe that it is necessary to have such committees because it believes that the functions of such committees can be adequately performed by our board of directors.

We do not have any defined policy or procedure requirements for shareholders to submit recommendations or nominations for directors. We do not currently have any specific or minimum criteria for the election of nominees to our board of directors and we do not have any specific process or procedure for evaluating such nominees. Our board of directors assesses all candidates, whether submitted by management or shareholders, and makes recommendations for election or appointment.

A shareholder who wishes to communicate with our board of directors may do so by directing a written request to the address appearing on the first page of this annual report.

Audit Committee and Audit Committee Financial Expert

We do not have a standing audit committee at the present time. Our board of directors has determined that we do not have a board member that qualifies as an “audit committee financial expert” as defined in Item 407(d)(5)(ii) of Regulation S-K.

We believe that our board of directors is capable of analyzing and evaluating our financial statements and understanding internal controls and procedures for financial reporting. The board of directors of our company does not believe that it is necessary to have an audit committee because we believe that the functions of an audit committee can be adequately performed by the board of directors. In addition, we believe that retaining an independent director who would qualify as an “audit committee financial expert” would be overly costly and burdensome and is not warranted in our circumstances given the early stages of our development.

ITEM 11: EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION.

Shares of our common stock which may be acquired upon exercise of stock options or warrants which are currently exercisable or which become exercisable within 60 days after the date indicated in the table are deemed beneficially owned by the optionees. Subject to any applicable community property laws, the persons or entities named in the table below have sole voting and investment power with respect to all shares indicated as beneficially owned by them.

A holder of a share of Series A Preferred Stock is (a)entitled to voting rights equal to two (2) times the sum of: i) the total number of shares of Common Stock which are issued and outstanding at the time of voting, plus ii) the total number of shares of any Preferred Stock which are issued and outstanding at the time of voting. As such, Mr. Levy effectively has voting control of the Company.

ITEM 13: CERTAIN RELATIONSHIPS AND RELATED TRANSACTIONS, DIRECTOR INDEPENDENCE.

On September 28, 2015, the Company entered into a Purchase and Sale Agreement (the “Purchase Agreement”) on September 24, 2015 with Mr. Lee, who is now our President and a member of our board of directors, and UMS. Pursuant to the terms of the Purchase Agreement, the Company agreed to acquire from Mr. Lee all of the issued and outstanding capital stock of UMS in exchange for shares of the Company’s preferred stock, par value $0.001 per share, (“Preferred Stock”), convertible into 85% of the Company’s fully diluted common stock, par value $0.001 per share (“Common Stock”), as of the date of closing (the “Exchange”), prior to giving effect to dilution of the issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock by (i) shares of Common Stock underlying options to be issued to David Levy under a management option plan, which will represent 5.0% of the fully diluted shares of Common Stock of the Company at the date of exercise of the options (“Prospective Levy Options”), (ii) shares of Common Stock underlying a warrant to be issued to Mesa Partner, which will represent 4.9% of the fully diluted shares of Common Stock of the Company at the date of exercise of the warrant (“Prospective Mesa Partner Warrant”), and (iii) shares of Common Stock underlying a warrant to be issued to Andora Holdings, LLC, which will represent 4.9% of the fully diluted shares of Common Stock of the Company at the date of exercise of the warrant (“Prospective Andora Holdings Warrant”).

On January 29, 2016 (“Closing Date”), the Company closed (“Closing”) on the Exchange under the Purchase Agreement pursuant to which the Company acquired 100,000 shares of common stock of UMS held by Mr. Lee, representing all of the issued and outstanding capital stock of UMS, in exchange for issuing 106,250 shares of Preferred Stock of the Company to Mr. Lee and/or his affiliates, convertible into 10,625,000,000 shares of Common Stock of the Company (where each share of Preferred Stock is convertible into 100,000 shares of Common Stock). Upon Closing of the Exchange, UMS became a wholly owned subsidiary of the Company and the Company’s pro-forma shares of Common stock and Preferred Stock issued and outstanding after giving effect to the Exchange was 1,875,000,000 shares of Common Stock and 106,250 shares of Preferred Stock, convertible into 10,625,000,000 shares of Common Stock of the Company (representing approximately representing 85% of the Company’s fully diluted Common Stock as of the Closing Date), prior to giving effect to dilution of the issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock by the shares of Common Stock underlying the Prospective Levy Options, Prospective Mesa Partner Warrant and Prospective Andora Holdings Warrant.

In connection with the Exchange, on January 29, 2016, David F. Levy resigned as the Company’s President and Mr. Lee was appointed as the Company’s President and as a director. Mr. Levy still remains the Chief Executive Officer, Chairman of the Board of Directors, Treasurer, and Secretary and a director of the Company.

ITEM 14: PRINCIPAL ACCOUNTANT FEES AND SERVICES.

The following table sets forth the fees billed to our company for the fiscal years ended August 31, 2015 and 2014 for professional services rendered by independent registered public accounting firms:

Fees	2015	2014
Audit Fees	$13,500	$13,500
Audit-Related Fees	-	-
Tax Fees	-	-
Other Fees	-	-
Total Fees	$13,500	$13,500

Audit Fees

Audit fees were for professional services rendered for the audits of our financial statements and for review of our quarterly financial statements during the 2015 and 2014 fiscal years.

Audit-related Fees

During the 2015 and 2014 years, our independent registered public accountants did not provide any assurance and related services that are reasonably related to the performance of the audit or review of our financial statements that are not reported under the caption “Audit Fees” above. Therefore, there were no audit-related fees billed or paid during the 2015 and 2014 fiscal years.

Tax Fees

As our independent registered public accountants did not provide any services to us for tax compliance, tax advice and tax planning during the fiscal years ended August 31, 2015 and 2014, no tax fees were billed or paid during those fiscal years.

All Other Fees

Our independent registered public accountants did not provide any products and services not disclosed in the table above during the 2015 and 2014 fiscal years. As a result, there were no other fees billed or paid during those fiscal years.

Pre-Approval Policies and Procedures

Our entire board of directors, which acts as our audit committee, pre-approves all services provided by our independent auditors. All of the above services and fees were reviewed and approved by our board of directors before the respective services were rendered.

Our board of directors has considered the nature and amount of fees billed by our independent registered public accounting firm and believe that the provision of services for activities unrelated to the audit is compatible with maintaining their respective independence.

REPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

To the Board of Directors and Stockholders of iTalk, Inc.

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of iTalk, Inc. as of August 31, 2015 and 2014, and the related statements of operations, stockholders' deficit, and cash flows for each of the years then ended. iTalk, Inc.'s management is responsible for these financial statements. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. The company is not required to have, nor were we engaged to perform, an audit of its internal control over financial reporting. Our audit included consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the company's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

We were not engaged to examine management's assertion about the effectiveness of iTalk, Inc.'s internal control over financial reporting as of August 31, 2015 and, accordingly, we do not express an opinion thereon.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of iTalk, Inc. as of August 31, 2015 and 2014, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for each of the years then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared assuming that the Company will continue as a going concern. As discussed in Note 2 to the financial statements, the Company has incurred operating losses, has incurred negative cash flows from operations and has a working capital deficit. These and other factors raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. Management's plan regarding these matters is also described in Note 2 to the financial statements. The consolidated financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

iTALK, INC.

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

NOTE 1 – SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Business and Basis of Presentation

ITALK, INC. (the “Company”) was formed on July 10, 2006 under the laws of the State of Nevada as Sopac Cellular Solutions, Inc. On December 18, 2012, the Company changed its name iTALK, INC. affected by way of a merger with its wholly-owned subsidiary iTalk, Inc which was created solely to facilitate the name change.

On September 24, 2015 the Company entered into a Purchase and Sale Agreement with United Mobile Solutions Corp., (“UMS”) a Delaware corporation. Under the terms of the Purchase Agreement, the Company agreed to acquire from Mr. Lee all of the issued and outstanding capital stock of UMS in exchange for shares of the Company’s preferred stock, par value $0.001 per share, convertible into 85% of the Company’s fully diluted common stock, par value $0.001 per share as of the date of closing which occurred on January 29, 2016. UMS was formed in May 2010 and is in the business of providing value added products and services to T-Mobile dealers, mobile virtual network operations dealers, wireless product and service resellers, exclusive carrier agents, distributors and wholesalers nationwide. In addition to its products and services, the Company is also an authorized Master Agent and wholesale partner of T-Mobile U.S.A. contracted to do business in the southeastern region of the United States including provides training and development, new dealer recruitment, retail store development and commissions processing for its sub agents to its customers. ,

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company and its wholly owned subsidiaries, iTalk, Inc. and RocketVoIP, Inc. All significant inter-company transactions and balances have been eliminated in consolidation.

Revenue Recognition

The Company follows the guidance in Staff Accounting Bulletin 104 (“SAB 104”), which provides guidance on the recognition, presentation and disclosure of revenue in financial statements. SAB 104 states that revenue is realized or realizable and earned when all of the following criteria are met: persuasive evidence of an arrangement exists, services have been rendered, the seller’s price to the buyer is fixed or determinable, and collectability is reasonably assured.

Revenues are primarily derived from fees charged to terminate voice services over the Company's network and from related monthly recurring charges. Variable revenue is earned based on the number of minutes during a call and is recognized upon completion of a call. Revenue from each customer is calculated from information received through the Company's network switches. The Company tracks the information received from the switch and analyzes the call detail records and applies the respective revenue rate for each call. Fixed revenue is earned from monthly recurring services provided to customers that are fixed and recurring in nature, and are connected for a specified period of time. Revenues are recognized as the services are provided and continue until the expiration of the contract or until cancellation of the service by the customer. Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Significant estimates include impairment of intangible assets assumptions used in the fair value of stock-based compensation and derivative liabilities.

Net Loss per Common Share

The Company computes net loss per share under Accounting Standards Codification subtopic 260-10, Earnings Per Share Basic net income (loss) per common share is computed by dividing net loss by the weighted average number of shares of common stock. Diluted net income (loss) per share is computed using the weighted average number of common and common stock equivalent shares outstanding during the period. For the years ended August 31, 2015 and 2014; 10,683,124,795 and 83,165,121 shares, respectively, underlying convertible debt were not included in the diluted loss per share because their impact was anti-dilutive.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

For purposes of reporting cash flows, the Company considers all cash on hand, in banks, certificates of deposit and other highly liquid debt instruments with a maturity of three months or less at the date of purchase, to be cash and cash equivalents.

Property and equipment

Property and equipment are stated at cost, less accumulated depreciation. Depreciation is calculated using the straight-line method over the asset's estimated useful life, which is five years for computer assets and software. Expenditures for maintenance and repairs are expensed as incurred.

Intangible Assets and Goodwill

The Company amortized its identifiable intangible assets using the straight-line method over their estimated period of benefit. The estimated useful lives of the customer relationships and domain rights are five years. The Company periodically evaluates the recoverability of intangible assets and takes into account events or circumstances that warrant revised estimates of useful lives or indicate that impairment exists.

The Company accounts for and reports acquired goodwill and other intangible assets under Accounting Standards Codification subtopic 350-10, Intangibles, Goodwill and Other (“ASC 350-10”). In accordance with ASC 350-10, the Company tests its intangible assets for impairment on an annual basis and when there is reason to suspect that their values have been diminished or impaired. Any write-downs will be included in results from operations. Considerable management judgment is necessary to estimate the fair value. Accordingly, actual results could vary significantly from management’s estimates. During the years ended August 31, 2015 and 2014, the Company impaired assets creating an impairment charge of $81,915 and $307,373, respectively.

Income Taxes

The Company has adopted Accounting Standards Codification subtopic 740-10, Income Taxes (“ASC 740-10”) which requires the recognition of deferred tax liabilities and assets for the expected future tax consequences of events that have been included in the financial statement or tax returns. Under this method, deferred tax liabilities and assets are determined based on the difference between financial statements and tax basis of assets and liabilities using enacted tax rates in effect for the year in which the differences are expected to reverse. Temporary differences between taxable income reported for financial reporting purposes and income tax purposes consist primarily of depreciation, amortization and stock compensation accounting versus basis differences.

The ultimate realization of deferred tax assets is dependent upon the generation of future taxable income in the periods in which those temporary differences become deductible. Management considers the scheduled reversals of future deferred tax assets, projected future taxable income, and tax planning strategies in making this assessment.

As a result, management determined it was more likely than not the deferred tax assets would not be realized.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

Fair value estimates discussed herein are based upon certain market assumptions and pertinent information available to management as of August 31, 2015 and 2014. The respective carrying value of certain on-balance-sheet financial instruments approximated their fair values. These financial instruments include cash and accounts payable. Fair values were assumed to approximate carrying values for cash and payables because they are short term in nature and their carrying amounts approximate fair values or they are payable on demand.

Stock-Based Compensation

The Company accounts for stock based compensation under ASC 718 “Compensation – Stock Compensation” using the fair value based method. Under this method, compensation cost is measured at the grant date based on the value of the award and is recognized over the service period, which is usually the vesting period.

This guidance establishes standards for the accounting for transactions in which an entity exchanges its equity instruments for goods or services. It also addresses transactions in which an entity incurs liabilities in exchange for goods or services that are based on the fair value of the entity’s equity instruments or that may be settled by the issuance of those equity instruments.

Compensation expense for restricted stock or options granted to non-employees is determined in accordance with the standard as the fair value of the consideration received or the fair value of the equity instruments issued, whichever is more reliably measured.

Determining the appropriate fair value of the stock-based compensation requires the input of subjective assumptions, including the expected life of the stock-based payment and stock price volatility. The Company uses the Black-Scholes option-pricing model to value its stock option awards which incorporate the Company’s stock price as determined by an outside third-party, an average volatility of comparable companies, U.S. risk-free rate, dividend rate, and estimated life.

NOTE 2 – GOING CONCERN

The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, which contemplate continuation of the Company as a going concern. However, the Company has reported net losses of $1,285,046 and $3,545,767 for the years ended August 31, 2015 and 2014, respectively, and accumulated deficit of $5,579,667 and total current liabilities in excess of current assets of $2,532,271 as of August 31, 2015.

The Company has not generated positive cash flows from operations and will be dependent on raising funds to satisfy its ongoing capital requirements for the next 12 months. The Company will require additional financing in order to execute its operating plan and continue as a going concern. The Company cannot predict whether this additional financing will be in the form of equity or debt, or by in another form. The Company may not be able to obtain the necessary additional capital on a timely basis, or on acceptable terms, or at all. In any of these pressures, any of these circumstances would have a material adverse effect on its business, prospects, financial condition and results of operations.

The consolidated financial statements do not include any adjustments relating to the recoverability of assets and classifications of assets and liabilities that might be necessary should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern.

NOTE 3 – FAIR VALUE MEASUREMENTS

As defined in (Financial Accounting Standards Board ASC 820), fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date (exit price). The Company utilized the market data of similar entities in its industry or assumptions that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability, including assumptions about risk and the risks inherent in the inputs to the valuation technique. These inputs can be readily observable, market corroborated, or generally unobservable. The Company classifies fair value balances based on the observability of those inputs. FASB ASC 820 establishes a fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs used to measure fair value. The hierarchy gives the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (level 1 measurement) and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs (level 3 measurement).

The three levels of the fair value hierarchy are as follows:

Quoted prices are available in active markets for identical assets or liabilities as of the reporting date. Active Level markets are those in which transactions for the asset or liability occur in sufficient frequency and volume to provide pricing information on an ongoing basis. Level 1 primarily consists of financial instruments such as exchange-traded derivatives, marketable securities and listed equities.

Pricing inputs are other than quoted prices in active markets included in level 1, which are either directly or indirectly observable as of the reported date and includes those financial instruments that are valued using models or other valuation methodologies. These models are primarily industry-standard models that consider various assumptions, including quoted forward prices for commodities, time value, volatility factors, and current market and contractual prices for the underlying instruments, as well as other relevant economic measures. Level 2 – Substantially all of these assumptions are observable in the marketplace throughout the full term of the instrument, can be derived from observable data or are supported by observable levels at which transactions are executed in the marketplace. Instruments in this category generally include non-exchange-traded derivatives such as commodity swaps, interest rate swaps, options and collars.

Level Pricing inputs include significant inputs that are generally less observable from objective sources. These inputs 3 – may be used with internally developed methodologies that result in management's best estimate of fair value.

The following table sets forth by level within the fair value hierarchy the Company's financial assets and liabilities that were accounted for at fair value as August 31, 2015 and 2014.

Components of net deferred tax assets, including a valuation allowance, are as follows at December 31:

	2015	2014
Deferred tax assets:
Net operating loss carry forward	$5,594,813	$4,309,767
Total deferred tax assets	1,958,185	1,508,418
Less: Valuation Allowance	(1,958,185)	(1,509,418)
Net Deferred Tax Assets	$—	$—

The valuation allowance for deferred tax assets as of August 31, 2015 and 2014 was $1,958,185 and $1,509,418, respectively. In assessing the recovery of the deferred tax assets, management considers whether it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. The ultimate realization of deferred tax assets is dependent upon the generation of future taxable income in the periods in which those temporary differences become deductible. Management considers the scheduled reversals of future deferred tax assets, projected future taxable income, and tax planning strategies in making this assessment. As a result, management determined it was more likely than not the deferred tax assets would not be realized as of December 31, 2015 and 2014, accordingly, recorded a full valuation allowance.
