On January 17, 2013, Raymond James & Associates ("RJA"), (a wholly owned subsidiary of Raymond James Financial, Inc.) issued the following press release:

Raymond James & Associates, the traditional employee broker/dealer of Raymond James Financial, Inc., (NYSE-RJF) has introduced a new simplified and product-neutral compensation plan for its advisors (both RJA and legacy Morgan Keegan) to take effect in October of 2013 for existing advisors and immediately for any advisors joining the firm after January 14, 2013.

"After several years of soliciting feedback and direction from advisors as well as studying the market and giving careful consideration to timing, we are implementing a new payout grid for implementation in fiscal year 2014," said Tash Elwyn, president of Raymond James & Associates Private Client Group. "The new plan achieves our goal of delivering even greater transparency in our compensation structure while retaining our extremely competitive position within the industry."

"We remain committed to the "one-page" grid and making few, if any, changes over time - in fact, there have been no significant changes in my nearly 20-year tenure with the firm," added Elwyn.

"Advisors join Raymond James and stay with us for many reasons, including our well-managed, stable parent company, client service focus, and strong technology platform. Most important, they appreciate our AdvisorChoice promise to respect advisors' relationships with their clients. That means avoiding dictates on account size or incentives for specific products and recognizing that as far as anyone can "own" a client relationship, the advisor does," Elwyn noted. "This new compensation structure adds to our already strong competitive advantages and positions us for additional growth."
