Forward-Looking Statements

Certain statements contained in this Current Report on Form 8-K about our expectations of future events or results constitute forward-looking statements for purposes of the safe harbor provisions of The Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Forward-looking statements can often be identified by the use of terminology such as "may," "should," "expects," "plans," "anticipates," "believes," "estimates," "predicts," "potential," "continue," or the negative of these terms or other comparable terminology. Such forward-looking statements are based on currently available competitive, financial and economic data and management's views and assumptions regarding future events. However, such forward-looking statements are inherently uncertain, and investors must recognize that actual results may differ from those expressed or implied in the forward-looking statements. For the Registrant, particular uncertainties that could cause our actual results to be materially different than those expressed in our forward-looking statements include: the continued financial strength and credit-worthiness of our tenants; the impact of conditions in the financial and credit markets on the availability and cost of our funding; the adequacy of our cash flow and earnings and other conditions which may affect our ability to maintain our quarterly dividend at the current level; and numerous other matters on a national and regional scale, including those of a political, economic, business and competitive nature. These uncertainties may cause our actual future results to be materially different than those expressed in our forward-looking statements. These uncertainties are described in more detail in the "Risk Factors" section of our most recent Report on Form 10-K, and on our other filings from time to time with the Securities and Exchange Commission. We do not undertake to update our forward-looking statements.
