Item 2.06. Material Impairments.

On July 18, 2018, Lattice Semiconductor Corporation (“Lattice” or the “Company”), announced that it will discontinue its millimeter wave business, which is expected to result in approximately $25 million of primarily non-cash restructuring and impairment charges in the second quarter of 2018, and an annualized reduction in operating expenses of approximately $13 million. The Company expects cash impacts of approximately $3.0 to $3.3 million for severance and $1.2 million to settle purchase commitments, each in the third quarter of 2018.

After careful evaluation, millimeter wave was determined to be a non-core business, unable to achieve the required near-term scale to be profitable or to warrant any further investment. After no other strategic alternatives considered proved to be viable, Lattice chose to take concrete action to further sharpen its focus on the compelling opportunities in its core business.
