The Fund seeks long-term capital appreciation through investment primarily in equity and equity-linked securities of issuers domiciled in Central and Eastern Europe and invests more than 25% of its total assets in the energy sector.

Investments in funds involve risks, including the loss of principal.

The shares of most closed-end funds, including the Fund, are not continuously offered. Once issued, shares of closed-end funds are bought and sold in the open market. Shares of closed-end funds frequently trade at a discount to net asset value. The price of the Fund's shares is determined by a number of factors, several of which are beyond the control of the Fund. Therefore, the Fund cannot predict whether its shares will trade at, below, or above net asset value.

This Fund is non-diversified and can take larger positions in fewer issuers than a diversified fund, increasing its potential risk. Investing in foreign securities presents certain risks, such as currency fluctuations, political and economic changes, and market risks. Any fund that focuses in a particular segment of the market or in a particular geographical region will generally be more volatile than a fund that invests more broadly.

The European Union, the United States and other countries have imposed sanctions in response to the Russian military and other actions in recent years. These sanctions have adversely affected Russian individuals, Russian issuers and the Russian economy. Russia, in turn, has imposed sanctions targeting Western individuals, businesses and products. The various sanctions have adversely affected, and may continue to adversely affect, not only the Russian economy but also the economies of many countries in Europe, including countries in Central and Eastern Europe. The continuation of current sanctions, or the imposition of additional sanctions, may materially adversely affect the value or liquidity of the Fund's portfolio.

Table of Contents*Letter to the Shareholders*(Unaudited)

Dear Shareholder,

For its most recent semiannual period ended April 30, 2018, the Central and Eastern Europe Fund (the Fund ) delivered a total return in U.S. dollars ( USD ) of 2.55% based on net asset value ( NAV ) and 1.08% based on market price. The Fund s benchmark, the MSCI Emerging Markets Eastern Europe Index, returned 4.03% during the same period.<sup>1</sup> The Fund s discount to net asset value averaged 11.32% for the period in review, compared with 12.84% for the same period a year earlier. The Fund s underperformance during the period was primarily due to its positioning within Russia, in particular its underweight in Tatneft PAO and its overweight in X5 Retail Group (see additional details below). Emerging Europe equities registered mixed performance for the six-month period, with Czech equities gaining 12.4% (MSCI Czech Republic Index in USD terms) and Russian equities up 7.8% (MSCI Russia Index in USD terms).<sup>2,3,4</sup> Poland lagged, with a return of -4.7% (MSCI Poland Index in USD terms (through 4/27/18)).<sup>5</sup> Hungary closed the reporting period with a 0.5% gain (MSCI Hungary Index in USD terms (through 4/27/18)).<sup>6</sup>

The Russian equity market performed well until the end of February 2018, supported by higher oil prices and a favorable macroeconomic picture, coupled with falling inflation and interest rates. However, in March the Russian market began to decline, and the downturn escalated in April when the U.S. Treasury Department imposed sanctions on a number of Russian individuals and companies. This was the first time that U.S. sanctions targeted certain publicly-listed Russian companies. (The Fund does not hold newly sanctioned companies. However, its position in the Russian mining company Nor Nickel could potentially be affected by the company s shareholder structure. In addition, if the sanctions weigh on a large number of Russian corporations, holdings in Russia s Sberbank as one of the major corporate lenders in the country could be negatively impacted.) New sanctions spurred weakness in the ruble and a spike in sovereign bond yields. An initial sell-off in Russian stocks was followed by some bounce back afterwards. In light of a weaker ruble, Russia s central bank recently took a pause, keeping its key rate unchanged at 7.25% in April after cutting interest rates by 100 basis points over the past six months overall.<sup>7</sup> On the domestic political front, President Putin was elected for another six-year term in March with record-high support. Within the MSCI Russia Index, the top sector performer over the period was energy, led by Tatneft PAO and Lukoil PJSC, based on a positive backdrop for commodities, capital expenditure cuts and higher dividend payouts. The weakest individual performer was Magnit PJSC, which faced an additional drop in its net income. In addition, 2017 turned out to be a disappointing year for the Russian food retail sector, as sales decreased and aggressive promotional activities had a negative impact on gross margins. Unfortunately, the Fund's non-benchmark position in X5 Retail Group* could not decouple from this trend despite its much more attractive valuation versus its sector.

The Polish economy remains strong. In 2017, Poland's GDP gained 4.6% year-over-year (up from 2.9% year-over-year in 2016), reaching a six-year high.<sup>8</sup> Private consumption growth increased to 4.8%, well above 2016's 3.9% rise, and investments increased. On the political front, the Polish government's efforts to reform its judicial system were strongly opposed by the European Commission, which has threatened to impose disciplinary sanctions against Poland. While it is anticipated that another EU member would veto such sanctions, the risk of EU funds being cut in the next budget cycle presents downside risks for the country's growth prospects, as Poland is currently the largest recipient of EU funds. After being a top performer in 2017, the Polish stock market has declined by approximately 7% year-to-date during the first four months of 2018. In terms of Polish equities, the most significant underperformers during the reporting period were state-owned industrial companies and utilities. Banking stocks gained until January but then were hurt by dovish statements from the Polish central bank's governor forecasting no interest rate hikes for an extended period.

Economic growth within the Czech Republic increased to 4.5% year-over-year in 2017, driven mainly by accelerating private consumption as well as a rebound in investment activity. As the Czech labor market is tightening and unemployment is at a record low with gross wage growth hitting 8% year-over-year, inflation expectations there are beginning to edge higher.

4 The Central and Eastern Europe Fund, Inc.

Table of Contents

According to the current forecast of the Czech National Bank (the CNB), inflation will be above the bank's 2% target this year, but should return to the target at the start of next year. The CNB forecasts further increases in the country's rates by next year at the latest. Politically, the Social Democrats have recently agreed to reopen talks with the ruling ANO Party regarding the formation of a new government after the previous round of talks collapsed. For the time being, the minority cabinet led by Andreaj Babis serves in a caretaker capacity.

In Hungary, GDP growth reached 4% year-over-year in 2017, primarily driven by private consumption. Hungary's labor market is very tight, wage growth has hit double digits, and inflation is converging gradually to the Hungarian National Bank's 3% target. The country's corporate sector is benefiting from a corporate income tax cut in 2017 to a single rate of 9%. On the political front, Prime Minister Viktor Orban's party secured another supermajority with a 49.3% showing in the country's April election. The political victory was broadly expected, thus the result had a neutral effect on Hungary's equity market.

Economic Outlook

Russia's economy is currently benefiting from rising commodity prices and appears more resilient than in 2014, when it fell into recession after oil prices declined and Western countries imposed sanctions in retaliation for the annexation of Crimea and the war in Ukraine. Russian companies and banks have reduced their foreign-currency debt. Additionally, the Russian government has ample foreign reserves to cushion most external shocks, and ruble weakness boosts the cash flows of commodity exporters, which dominate the market. However, going forward we believe that Russian equities will become more volatile, and vulnerable to geopolitical developments. This justifies a higher risk premium for both Russian stocks and bonds, and we are currently underweight in Russia. In addition, we remain cautious on Poland, especially regarding the banking sector, where valuations appear to be stretched. The above-mentioned dovish statements from the Polish Central Bank's governor support our negative view of the Polish banking sector. We prefer Czech banks. We remain overweight in Hungary and the Czech Republic due to attractive valuations and a healthy macroeconomic picture for both countries.

Lastly, the Fund ended the reporting period with a relatively high cash position, as we await more favorable entry points for select names.

Outlook Interview with the Portfolio Manager
Portfolio Manager

(Unaudited)

Sylwia Szczepek, Vice President

Portfolio Manager

Question: What does the current oil price mean for Russia?

Answer: The current oil price provides a great deal of support to an otherwise sluggish Russian economy. Oil at $70 per barrel could potentially infer GDP growth at 2%+, a budget surplus at approximately 1.5% of GDP, a positive current account balance and a stable ruble. Longer term, however, this price level provides a reduced incentive for government policy reform.

Question: Which sectors should benefit the most from the current oil price?

Answer: Russian oil companies are in a strong position. And a Russian ruble that has devalued by almost 10% since early April provides a strong tailwind. These companies could report favorable results in the coming quarters. Other beneficiaries may come from domestic-oriented sectors, but the scenario is not as straightforward there. The Russian consumer remains weak after three years of falling real income. However, it is reasonable to expect that the government will push state-controlled companies and agencies to increase wages, funded by the oil windfall. Consumption in Russia could pick up speed in the second half of 2018.

Question: Is the Polish zloty due for a correction after being a star performer in 2017?

Answer: The Polish zloty is currently facing some headwinds, such as interest rates being on hold at a very low level, a stronger U.S. dollar, signs of slower Eurozone growth and geopolitical tensions. But, the fundamentals in Poland have not changed: Poland's macroeconomic backdrop remains stable, and its fiscal situation is very favorable.

Question: Why are you positive regarding Czech banks?

Answer: Rising interest rates and a strong macroeconomic backdrop for the Czech economy (i.e., low cost of risk) are the main reasons for our positive stance on the sector. In addition, the Czech bank sector's dividend yields are much higher than other banks in our region.

Fair Value Measurements

Various inputs are used in determining the value of the Fund's investments. These inputs are summarized in three broad levels. Level 1 includes quoted prices in active markets for identical securities. Level 2 includes other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, prepayment speeds and credit risk). Level 3 includes significant unobservable inputs (including the Fund's own assumptions in determining the fair value of investments). The level assigned to the securities valuations may not be an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities.

The following is a summary of the inputs used as of April 30, 2018 in valuing the Fund's investments.

Notes to Financial Statements

(Unaudited)

A. Accounting Policies

The Central and Eastern Europe Fund, Inc. (the Fund) is a non-diversified, closed-end management investment company incorporated in Maryland. The Fund commenced investment operations on March 6, 1990.

The preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ( U.S. GAAP ) requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates. The Fund qualifies as an investment company under Topic 946 of Accounting Standards Codification of U.S. GAAP. The following is a summary of significant accounting policies followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements.

Security Valuation. The Fund calculates its net asset value ( NAV ) per share for publication at the close of regular trading on Deutsche Börse XETRA, normally at 11:30 a.m., New York time.

Various inputs are used in determining the value of the Fund's investments. These inputs are summarized in three broad levels. Level 1 includes quoted prices in active markets for identical securities. Level 2 includes other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, prepayment speeds and credit risk). Level 3 includes significant unobservable inputs (including the Fund's own assumptions in determining the fair value of investments). The level assigned to the securities valuations may not be an indication of the risk or liquidity associated with investing in those securities.

Equity securities are valued at the most recent sale price or official closing price reported on the exchange (U.S. or foreign) or over-the-counter market on which they trade prior to the time of valuation. Securities for which no sales are reported are valued at the calculated mean between the most recent bid and asked quotations on the relevant market or, if a mean cannot be determined, at the most recent bid quotation. Equity securities are generally categorized as Level 1.

Investments in open-end investment companies are valued and traded at their NAV each business day and are categorized as Level 1.

Securities and other assets for which market quotations are not readily available or for which the above valuation procedures are deemed not to reflect fair value are valued in a manner that is intended to reflect their fair value as determined in accordance with procedures approved by the Board and are generally categorized as Level 3. In accordance with the

Table of Contents

Fund's valuation procedures, factors considered in determining value may include, but are not limited to, the type of the security; the size of the holding; the initial cost of the security; the existence of any contractual restrictions on the security's disposition; the price and extent of public trading in similar securities of the issuer or of comparable companies; quotations or evaluated prices from broker-dealers and/or the appropriate stock exchange (for exchange-traded securities); an analysis of the company's or issuer's financial statements; an evaluation of the forces that influence the issuer and the market(s) in which the security is purchased and sold; and, with respect to debt securities, the maturity, coupon, creditworthiness, currency denomination, and the movement of the market in which the security is normally traded. The value determined under these procedures may differ from published values for the same securities.

Disclosure about the classification of the fair value measurements is included in a table following the Fund's Schedule of Investments.

Securities Transactions and Investment Income. Investment transactions are accounted for on a trade date plus one basis for daily NAV calculation. However, for financial reporting purposes, investment security transactions are reported on trade date. Interest income is recorded on the accrual basis. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date net of foreign withholding taxes. Certain dividends from foreign securities may be recorded subsequent to the ex-dividend date as soon as the Fund is informed of such dividends. Realized gains and losses from investment transactions are recorded on an identified cost basis. Proceeds from litigation payments, if any, are included in net realized gain (loss) for investments.

Securities Lending. Brown Brothers Harriman & Co., as lending agent, lends securities of the Fund to certain financial institutions under the terms of its securities lending agreement. During the term of the loans, the Fund continues to receive dividends generated by the securities and to participate in any changes in their market value. The Fund requires the borrowers of the securities to maintain collateral with the Fund consisting of either cash or liquid, unencumbered assets having a value at least equal to the value of the securities loaned. When the collateral falls below specified amounts, the lending agent will use its best effort to obtain additional collateral on the next business day to meet required amounts under the securities lending agreement. As of period end, any securities on loan were collateralized by cash. During the six months ended April 30, 2018, the Fund invested the cash collateral into a joint trading account in affiliated money market funds managed by Deutsche Investment Management Americas Inc. As of April 30, 2018, the Fund invested the cash collateral in Deutsche Government & Agency Securities Portfolio. Deutsche Investment Management Americas Inc. receives a management/administration fee (0.14% annualized effective rate as of April 30, 2018) on the cash collateral invested in Deutsche Government & Agency Securities Portfolio. The Fund receives compensation for lending its securities either in the form of fees or by earning interest on invested cash collateral net of borrower rebates and fees paid to a lending agent. Either the Fund or the borrower may terminate the loan at any time and the borrower, after notice, is required to return borrowed securities within a standard time period. There may be risks of delay and costs in recovery of securities or even loss of rights in the collateral should the borrower of the securities fail financially. If the Fund is not able to recover securities lent, the Fund may sell the collateral and purchase a replacement investment in the market, incurring the risk that the value of the replacement security is greater than the value of the collateral. The Fund is also subject to all investment risks associated with the reinvestment of any cash collateral received including, but not limited to, interest rate, credit and liquidity risk associated with such investments.

As of April 30, 2018, the Fund had securities on loan, which were classified as common stock in the Schedule of Investments. The value of the related collateral exceeded the value of the securities loaned at period end. As of period end, the remaining contractual maturity of the collateral agreements were overnight and continuous.

Foreign Currency Translation. The books and records of the Fund are maintained in United States dollars.

Assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currency are translated into United States dollars at the prevailing exchange rates at period end. Purchases and sales of investment securities, income and expenses are translated at the rate of exchange prevailing on the respective dates of such transactions. Net realized and unrealized gains and losses on foreign currency transactions represent net gains and losses between trade and settlement dates on securities transactions, the acquisition and disposition of foreign currencies, and the difference between the amount of net investment income accrued and the U.S. dollar amount actually received. The portion of both realized and unrealized gains and losses on investments that results from fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates is not separately disclosed but is included with net realized and unrealized gain/appreciation and loss/depreciation on investments.

Contingencies. In the normal course of business, the Fund may enter into contracts with service providers that contain general indemnification clauses. The Fund's maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Fund that have not yet occurred. However, based on experience, the Fund expects the risk of loss to be remote.

Taxes. The Fund's policy is to comply with the requirements of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended, which are applicable to regulated investment companies, and to distribute all of its taxable income to its shareholders.

Additionally, the Fund may be subject to taxes imposed by the governments of countries in which it invests. Such taxes are generally based on income and/or capital gains earned or repatriated. Estimated tax liabilities on certain foreign securities are recorded on an accrual basis and are reflected as components of interest income or net change in unrealized gain/loss on investments. Tax liabilities realized as a result of security sales are reflected as a component of net realized gain/loss on investments.

At October 31, 2017, the Fund had a net tax basis capital loss carryforward of approximately $37,723,000, which may be applied against realized net taxable capital gains indefinitely, including short-term losses ($11,501,000) and long-term losses ($26,222,000).

At October 31, 2017, the aggregate cost of investments for federal income tax purposes was $179,921,705. The net unrealized appreciation for all investments based on tax cost was $28,770,547. This consisted of aggregate gross unrealized appreciation for all investments in which there was an excess of value over tax cost of $37,934,678 and aggregate gross unrealized depreciation for all investments in which there was an excess of tax cost over value of $9,164,131.

The Fund has reviewed the tax positions for the open tax years as of October 31, 2017 and has determined that no provision for income tax and/or uncertain tax provisions is required in the Fund's financial statements. The Fund's federal tax returns for the prior three fiscal years remain open subject to examinations by the Internal Revenue Service.

Dividends and Distributions to Shareholders. The Fund records dividends and distributions to its shareholders on the ex-dividend date. The timing and character of certain income and capital gain distributions are determined annually in accordance with United States federal income tax regulations, which may differ from accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. These differences primarily relate to investments in foreign currency denominated investments, investments in foreign passive investment companies, recognition of certain foreign currency gains (losses) as ordinary income (loss) and certain securities sold at a loss. As a result, net investment income (loss) and net realized gain (loss) on investment transactions for a reporting period may differ significantly from distributions during such period. Accordingly, the Fund may periodically make reclassifications among certain of its capital accounts without impacting the NAV of the Fund.

22 The Central and Eastern Europe Fund, Inc.

Table of Contents

The tax character of current year distributions will be determined at the end of the current fiscal year.

B. Investment Advisory and Administration Agreements

The Fund is party to an Investment Advisory Agreement with Deutsche Asset Management International GmbH ( Deutsche AM International GmbH ). The Fund also has an Administration Agreement with Deutsche Investment Management Americas Inc. ( DIMA ). Deutsche AM International GmbH and DIMA are affiliated companies.

Under the Investment Advisory Agreement with Deutsche AM International GmbH, Deutsche AM International GmbH directs the investments of the Fund in accordance with its investment objectives, policies and restrictions. Deutsche AM International GmbH determines the securities, instruments and other contracts relating to investments to be purchased, sold or entered into by the Fund.

The Investment Advisory Agreement provides Deutsche AM International GmbH with a fee, computed weekly and payable monthly, at the annual rate of 0.80% of the Fund's average weekly net assets up to and including $100 million, 0.60% of such assets in excess of $100 million and up to and including $500 million, 0.55% of such assets in excess of $500 million and up to and including $750 million, and 0.50% of such assets in excess of $750 million.

Accordingly, for the six months ended April 30, 2018, the fee pursuant to the Investment Advisory Agreement was equivalent to an annualized rate of 0.70% of the Fund's average daily net assets.

Under the Administration Agreement with DIMA, DIMA provides all of the non-investment advisory services to the Fund. The Administration Agreement provides DIMA with an annual fee, computed weekly and payable monthly, of 0.20% of the Fund's average weekly net assets.

C. Transactions with Affiliates

DWS Service Company ( DSC ), an affiliate of DIMA, is the transfer agent, dividend-paying agent and shareholder service agent of the Fund. Pursuant to a sub-transfer agency agreement between DSC and DST Systems, Inc. ( DST ), DSC has delegated certain transfer agent and dividend-paying agent functions to DST. DSC compensates DST out of the shareholder servicing fee it receives from the Fund. For the six months ended April 30, 2018, the amount charged to the Fund by DSC aggregated $4,494, of which $745 is unpaid.

Under an agreement with DIMA, DIMA is compensated for providing certain pre-press and regulatory filing services to the Fund. For the six months ended April 30, 2018, the amount charged to the Fund by DIMA included in the Statement of Operations under Reports to shareholders aggregated $5,914, of which $5,501 is unpaid.

Deutsche Bank AG, the majority shareholder in the DWS Group, and its affiliates may receive brokerage commissions as a result of executing agency transactions in portfolio securities on behalf of the Fund, that the Board determined were effected in compliance with the Fund's Rule 17e-1 procedures. For the six months ended April 30, 2018, Deutsche Bank did not receive brokerage commissions from the Fund.

Certain Officers of the Fund are also officers of DIMA.

The Fund pays each Director who is not an interested person of DIMA or Deutsche AM International GmbH retainer fees plus specified amounts for attended board and committee meetings.

The Fund may invest cash balances in Deutsche Central Cash Management Government Fund, which is managed by DIMA. The Fund indirectly bears its proportionate share of the expenses of Deutsche Central Cash Management Government Fund. Deutsche Central Cash Management Government Fund does not pay DIMA an investment management fee. Deutsche Central Cash Management Government Fund seeks a maximum current income to the extent consistent with stability of principal.

D. Portfolio Securities

Purchases and sales of investment securities, excluding short-term investments, for the six months ended April 30, 2018 were $141,036,566 and $171,569,278, respectively.

E. Investing in Emerging Markets in Europe

Investing in emerging markets may involve special risks and considerations not typically associated with investing in developed markets. These risks include currency fluctuations, high rates of inflation or deflation, repatriation restrictions on income and capital, and future adverse political, social and economic developments. Moreover, securities issued in these markets may be less liquid, may be subject to government ownership controls or delayed settlements and may have prices that are more volatile or less easily assessed than those of comparable securities of issuers in developed markets.

The European Union, the United States and other countries have imposed sanctions in response to the Russian military and other actions in recent years. These sanctions have adversely affected Russian individuals, Russian issuers and the Russian economy. Russia, in turn, has imposed
