Section 1 - Conflict Minerals Disclosure

Item 1.01 Conflict Minerals Disclosure and Report

Brooks Automation, Inc. (“Brooks” or the “Company”) has determined that the following “conflict minerals” are necessary to the functionality or production of products manufactured or contracted to be manufactured by the Company: columbite-tantalite (coltran), cassiterite, gold, wolframite, or their derivatives, which are limited to tantalum, tin, and tungsten. As a result, the Company conducted in good faith a reasonable country of origin inquiry that was reasonably designed to determine whether any of the conflict minerals originated in the Democratic Republic of Congo or an adjoining country (collectively, the “DRC”), or are from recycled or scrap sources. Based on its reasonable country of origin inquiry, Brooks has concluded that some conflict minerals contained in the Company’s products may have originated in the DRC.

Brooks exercised due diligence regarding the source and chain of custody of its conflict minerals through utilization of a nationally recognized due diligence framework, as described in more detail in its Conflict Minerals Report filed as Exhibit 1.02 to this Form SD. Brooks is unable, after exercising due diligence, to determine whether its products contain conflict minerals that directly or indirectly finance or benefit armed groups in the DRC.

Item 1.02 Exhibit

A copy of the Company’s Conflict Minerals Report is filed as Exhibit 1.02 to this Form SD and is also available on the Company’s website at <http://www.brooks.com/company/about-brooks/corporate-responsibility>.
