FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

RISKMETRICS RECOMMENDS THAT EQUUS STOCKHOLDERS VOTE ON THE GOLD PROXY CARD

RiskMetrics Recommends Equus Stockholders NOT Vote the White Card
The Committee to Enhance Equus Reminds Stockholders

They Have Every Right to Change Their Vote Using the GOLD Proxy Card

HOUSTON, May 5, 2010 The Committee to Enhance Equus, owning 11.4% of the outstanding shares of Equus Total Return, Inc. (NYSE: EQS), today announced that RiskMetrics Group (formerly Institutional Shareholder Services), a leading independent proxy voting advisory firm, recommends that Equus stockholders vote on the GOLD proxy card in connection with Equus' annual meeting of stockholders to be held on May 12, 2010.

The Committee stated, "We welcome the support of RiskMetrics Group and its recommendation that Equus stockholders vote on the GOLD proxy card FOR Committee nominees J. Philip Ferguson, Lance T. Funston and Charles R. Ofner and that they NOT vote for any nominees on the white card. The Committee also believes that electing ALL of its highly qualified, talented nominees will bring valuable insights to the Board and effect the change that Equus stockholders deserve.

The Committee continued, "The Committee's director nominees are widely respected, well-connected community and industry leaders, and, if elected, they would bring a desperately needed fresh perspective to Equus and oversee the implementation of disciplined strategies designed to enhance and sustain value for all Equus stockholders. We urge all stockholders to read the RiskMetrics recommendation and vote the GOLD proxy card today.

In its May 4, 2010, report, RiskMetrics stated*:

In terms of management's slate, we note that all four of the new director nominees have an affiliation with Versatile Systems, a 9.8% Equus shareholder. Messrs. Hardy and Atkinson are employees of the firm, while Messrs. des Pallieres and Benedetti are Versatile board members...[W]e have historically encouraged proxy fight participants to select a slate of candidates that are independent of each other.

On April 26, 2010, the Securities and Exchange Commission issued a subpoena and notice that it was conducting an investigation into possible violations of federal securities laws in connection with trading in Equus stock by certain companies, including Versatile Systems, Inc. This is particularly troubling since four new director nominees

Benedetti, des Pallieres, Hardy and Atkinson (the "Versatile 4") who have been proposed by the current five-member majority of the Board (the "Holdover 5 Majority") are either directors or officers of Versatile Systems.

Responding to recent assertions by the Holdover 5 Majority, the Committee noted, "We were surprised at the Holdover 5 Majority's misinformed views about the SEC investigation. The fact that the SEC did not make this investigation public is not the issue. They routinely do not. The issue is: the stockholders are the true owners of Equus and are entitled to cast an informed vote at the annual meeting, which is only days away. It is our firm belief that stockholders have a right to know about this concerning development before casting such a critical vote. In addition, we expect other stockholders to take as little comfort as we do in the Company's internal inquiry, which the Holdover 5 Majority conducted without independent counsel and instead with their own attorneys. We urge stockholders to ask themselves why the Holdover 5 Majority is not disclosing important information to them.

Regarding the recently announced resignation of Alan Feinsilver, former Chairman of the Board's Audit Committee, the Committee stated, "From the outset of this proxy contest we have shared our concerns with stockholders about the hasty, substandard nomination process of the Holdover 5 Majority. The fact that Mr. Feinsilver, who is not part of our slate of nominees, resigned over that process affirms how deeply flawed it was.

The Committee believes that the interests of the Holdover 5 Majority and the Versatile 4 are not aligned with those of all Equus stockholders. The Holdover 5 Majority and the Versatile 4 collectively own only one half of one percent of Equus common stock personally.

Further, from June 2005 until June 2009, during the time that Moore, Clayton Capital Advisors, Inc. (MCCA) was Equus investment adviser, EQUUS STOCK PRICE DECLINED 61%. THIS DECLINE CONTINUED TO A TOTAL OF 65% AS OF MARCH 26, 2010. Kenneth Denos, a member of the Holdover Majority 5, was the President and CEO of MCCA, and is CEO of MCC Global N.V. MCC Global introduced the Versatile 4 to Equus, and Mr. Denos nominated them to the Board.
