The Company's stockholders may obtain additional information about the interests of the directors and officers of the Company in the Transaction by reading the preliminary Registration Statement on Form S-4 filed by GPC, which includes a preliminary proxy statement of the Company.

Information Concerning Forward-Looking Statements

This Report includes forward-looking statements within the meaning of the safe harbor provisions of the United States Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Words such as expect, estimate, project, budget, forecast, and intend, plan, may, will, could, should, believes, predicts, potential, continue, and similar expressions identify such forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements in this Report include matters that involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors that may cause actual results, levels of activity, performance or achievements to differ materially from results expressed or implied by this Report.

Such risk factors include, among others:

uncertainties as to the timing of the Transaction;

approval of the Transaction by the Company's stockholders;

the satisfaction of closing conditions to the Transaction, including the receipt of regulatory approvals;

costs related to the Transaction;

the competitive environment in the industry in which Graham Packaging operates;

the diversion of management time on Transaction-related issues;

general economic conditions such as inflation or recession;

Graham Packaging's ability to maintain margins due to future increases in commodity prices, including resin and energy costs;

Graham Packaging's loss of large customers;

operating GPC as a public company;

Graham Packaging's historical net losses;

the terms of Graham Packaging's debt instruments, which restrict the manner in which Graham Packaging conducts its business and may limit Graham Packaging's ability to implement elements of its business strategy;

Graham Packaging's indebtedness, which could adversely affect Graham Operating Company's cash flow; that despite Graham Packaging's current levels of indebtedness, Graham Packaging may incur additional debt in the future, which could increase the risks associated with Graham Packaging's leverage;

Graham Packaging's recovery of the carrying value of its assets;

Graham Packaging's exposure to fluctuations in resin prices and its dependence on resin supplies;

risks associated with Graham Packaging's international operations;

Graham Packaging's dependence on significant customers and the risk that customers will not purchase its products in the amounts expected by Graham Packaging under their requirements contracts; that the majority of Graham Packaging's sales are made pursuant to requirements contracts;

a decline in prices of plastic packaging;

Graham Packaging's ability to develop product innovations and improve its production technology and expertise; infringement on Graham Packaging's proprietary technology;

sales of Graham Packaging's beverage containers may be affected by cool summer weather; risks associated with environmental regulation and liabilities;

the possibility that interests of GPC's stockholders will conflict with GPC's interests;

Graham Packaging's dependence on key management and its labor force and the material adverse effect that could result from the loss of their services;

Graham Packaging's ability to successfully integrate its business with those of other businesses it may acquire;

risks associated with a significant portion of Graham Operating Company's employees being covered by collective bargaining agreements;

Graham Packaging's dependence on blow molding equipment providers; market conditions for Graham Packaging's products; and the inability to maintain growth rates and the related impact on revenue, net income and fund inflows/outflows.

The Company's, GPC's, Graham Operating Company's and Graham Packaging's actual results could differ materially from those anticipated in forward-looking statements for many reasons. The Company, GPC, Graham Operating Company and Graham Packaging undertake no obligation and do not intend to update these forward-looking statements to reflect events or circumstances occurring after the date of this Report. You are cautioned not to place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date of this Report. You should, however, review the factors and risks described in the preliminary proxy statement/prospectus on Form S-4 filed by GPC and the factors and risks to be described in the definitive proxy statement/prospectus and the reports the Company, GPC, and Graham Packaging will file from time to time with the SEC after the date of this Report. All forward-looking statements are qualified in their entirety by this cautionary statement.
