agreements with the other Named Executive Officers in July 2004. Each agreement provides for the payment of a minimum base salary (and under Mr. Coury's original agreement, increases in base salary of $200,000 for each subsequent year during the contract term), as well as eligibility to receive a discretionary bonus and fringe benefits of employment as are customarily provided to senior executives of the Company. Mr. Coury's agreement also provides for a guaranteed bonus. Unless earlier terminated, extended or renewed, the agreements with Mr. Coury and Dr. O'Donnell expire on March 31, 2007, and the agreements with Mr. Borkowski, Mr. DeBone and Mr. Williams expire on December 31, 2006, September 1, 2006 and June 1, 2006, respectively. Each agreement contains customary non-competition and non-solicitation provisions. If an executive resigns for good reason or is discharged by the Company without cause or if the term of employment is not extended or renewed on terms mutually acceptable to the executive and the Company, the executive would be entitled to receive a lump sum severance payment in an amount equal to one (in the case of Mr. Borkowski, Mr. DeBone and Dr. O'Donnell) or two (in the case of Mr. Williams) times the sum of the executive's then current base salary plus the prior bonus (as defined below), as well as continued participation in certain compensation and employee benefit plans. Under the employment agreements, prior bonus is defined as the higher of (i) the average of the annual bonuses paid to the executive in the three fiscal years prior to his separation from the Company or (ii) the annual bonus applicable for the prior fiscal year.

If Mr. Coury's employment is terminated by the Company without cause or if Mr. Coury terminates his employment for good reason, Mr. Coury would be entitled under his employment agreement to (i) a cash lump sum severance payment equal to two (2) times his then current minimum base salary plus the annual bonus applicable for that year, plus (ii) the continuation of his then current minimum base salary plus the annual bonus (determined under his employment agreement), as well as continued participation in certain employee benefit plans, for the remainder of the contract period. In the event the term of his employment is not extended or renewed due to the inability of Mr. Coury and the Company to agree to mutually acceptable terms, Mr. Coury would be entitled to receive a cash lump sum severance payment equal to two (2) times the sum of his then current minimum base salary plus the annual bonus applicable for the year in which his contract expires, as well as continued participation in certain employee benefit plans for a period of two years. If Mr. Coury resigns without good reason after the first thirty-six (36) months of the term of his employment agreement, he would be entitled to continue to receive his minimum base salary plus the annual bonus (as determined under the employment agreement) and shall continue to participate in employee benefit plans for a period of twenty-four (24) months.

In the event the executive becomes entitled to severance under his transition and succession agreement (discussed below), no severance would be payable under the executive's employment agreement.

Transition and Succession Agreements. Mylan also entered into transition and succession agreements with each of the Named Executive Officers in December 2003, which were modified in December 2004. Under the terms of these transition and succession agreements, both Mr. Coury's and Mr. Williams' employment terminates upon a change of control, with each becoming entitled to receive a severance payment equal to the higher of (a) the compensation and benefits payable under his employment agreement as if the change of control were deemed to be a termination without cause under the employment agreement and (b) a lump sum severance payment in an amount equal to four (in the case of Mr. Coury) or three (in the case of Mr. Williams) times the sum of base salary and highest bonus determined under the employment agreement, and the continuation of health and insurance benefits for a period of three years.

The transition and succession agreements for each of Messrs. Borkowski and DeBone and Dr. O'Donnell provide that if the executive's employment is terminated other than for cause or if the executive terminates his employment voluntarily for good reason, in each case within two years following the occurrence of a change of control, or for any reason within 90 days following the first anniversary of a change of control, the executive would become entitled to receive a severance payment equal to the higher of (a) the compensation and benefits payable under his employment agreement as if the change of control were deemed to be a termination without cause under the employment agreement and (b) a lump sum severance payment in an amount equal three times the sum of base salary and highest bonus paid to the executive under the employment agreement or the transition and succession agreement, and the continuation of health and insurance benefits for a period of three years. The transition and succession agreements for each of the Named Executive Officers also provides for a gross-up payment for any excise tax on excess parachute payments.

Retirement Benefit Agreements. In December 2004, the Company entered into Retirement Benefit Agreements ( RBAs ) with each of Messrs. Coury, Borkowski and Williams (each an Executive ), in furtherance of the obligations contained in their respective employment agreements. The Company also entered into Amended Retirement Benefit Agreements (the Amended RBAs ) with each of Mr. DeBone and Dr. O'Donnell. Pursuant to the RBAs, upon retirement following completion of ten or more years of service, Messrs. Borkowski and Williams would each be entitled to receive an annual benefit equal to $150,000 for a period of 15 years, and Mr. Coury would be entitled to receive an annual benefit equal to $400,000 for a period of 15 years (the Retirement Benefit ). An executive who completes five years of service since his date of hire would be 50% vested in his Retirement Benefit, with an additional 10% of the Retirement Benefit vesting after each full year of service for up to five additional years (the Partial Benefit ).

The Retirement Benefit or, if applicable, the Partial Benefit, would generally be payable on a monthly basis commencing on the first day of the seventh month following the month in which the Executive retires, but would generally not commence prior to age 55. However, in the case of death or upon the occurrence of a change of control of the Company, each executive would become fully vested in his Retirement Benefit and would be entitled to receive a lump sum payment equal to the net present value of the Retirement Benefit as soon as practicable following any subsequent termination of employment.

If an Executive dies while employed by the Company, the Executive's beneficiary would be entitled to receive a lump sum payment equal to the greater of (i) two times the Executive's base salary or (ii) the net present value of the Retirement Benefit. If an Executive dies following retirement, the Executive's beneficiary would be entitled to receive a lump sum payment equal to the net present value of all monthly payments not yet made.

The retirement benefit agreements which the Company originally entered into with Mr. DeBone and Dr. O'Donnell provided for a retirement benefit of $100,000 per year for ten years, together with a death benefit of $1.25 million in the event of death prior to retirement. The Amended RBAs provide each of these individuals with retirement benefits equal to those contemplated for Messrs. Borkowski and Williams (including extension of payments from ten to fifteen years). The increased benefit will be contingent on Mr. DeBone and Dr. O'Donnell continuing to serve out the remainder of the term under their respective employment agreements (September 1, 2006 in the case of Mr. DeBone and March 31, 2007 in the case of Dr. O'Donnell) or, if earlier, until the occurrence of a change of control.
