SECTION 3 - SECURITIES AND TRADING MARKETS

Nasdaq Capital Market because shares of its Common Stock had closed at a per share bid price of less than $1.00 for at least 30 trading days. Under Nasdaq rules, the Company has a 180-day grace period to regain compliance, which extends to February 11, 2008. If the Company is unable to regain compliance by such date, the Nasdaq Staff will determine whether the Company meets the initial listing criteria of the Nasdaq Capital Market, other than the minimum bid price requirement. In the event that the Company meets such initial listing criteria, it will be granted an additional 180-day grace period to regain compliance. The Company currently meets all other of such listing requirements. In order to regain compliance, shares of the Company's Common Stock would need to close at a price of $1.00 or more for at least ten consecutive trading days. In the event that the Company does not regain compliance within the requisite time period, it intends to appeal any delisting. However, no assurance can be provided that any such appeal will be successful. The failure to maintain listing on the Nasdaq Capital Market may have an adverse effect on the price and/or liquidity of the Company's Common Stock.
