Item 5.02 Departure of Directors or Certain Officers; Election of Directors; Appointment of Certain Officers; Compensatory Arrangements of Certain Officers

On February 5, 2009, the Board of Directors of General Moly, Inc. (the “Company”) approved the appointment of Andrew G. Sharkey as a director of the Company. There is no arrangement or understanding between Mr. Sharkey and any other person pursuant to which he was selected as a director. Mr. Sharkey will serve on the Governance and Nominating Committee and the Compensation Committee of the Board of Directors.

Mr. Sharkey recently retired as the President and Chief Executive Officer of the American Iron and Steel Institute (AISI), a position he had held since 1993, where he was awarded the prestigious Gary Memorial Medal for his contributions to the Institute and the North American steel industry. AISI member companies represent over 75% of raw steel produced in North America and the Institute focuses on industry representation in key public policy issues, market development, sharing best practices, and collaborative R&D. He previously served in various roles including President of the Steel Service Center Institute (now Metals Service Center Institute) from 1978-1993.

Mr. Sharkey is a graduate of Yale University and earned a M.A.T. from Duquesne University. He also currently serves as a Director of the Reliance Steel and Aluminum Company, the largest metals service center in the United States with over 200 locations.

Mr. Sharkey will be compensated for his service as a director in accordance with the Company’s standard director compensation program.

There are no family relationships or related party transactions involving Mr. Sharkey and the Company.
