RYANAIR ANNOUNCES 17th ROUTE FROM SHANNON TO MALAGA

Ryanair, Europe's No. 1 low fares airline, today (Tuesday, 13th September 2005) announced a new route from its Shannon base to Malaga that will start twice weekly from 2nd November 2005 and will generate an additional 20,000 passengers per annum for Shannon airport.

Announcing this further expansion at Shannon Airport today, Ryanair's CEO Michael O'Leary, said:

"Today's new route to Malaga means year round low fare access to the south of Spain for the people of the mid-west and brings the total number of destinations served by Ryanair at Shannon to 17, following the recent addition of Bristol and Nantes.

"The partnership between Shannon Airport Authority and Ryanair, based on low fares and rapid traffic growth has been an outstanding success and has been a major driver of business and tourism in the West of Ireland. "To celebrate we are offering 2,000 FREE* seats on our Shannon - Malaga route available today on www.ryanair.com. This route will prove very popular and passengers are advised to book their seats immediately as demand will be very strong."

In welcoming the Ryanair announcement, Martin Moroney, Director of Shannon International Airport, said:

"We are delighted that Ryanair is announcing further growth at Shannon just two months after their previous route announcements. The low cost model has delivered record growth for Shannon airport and secured Shannon's strategic position as the international gateway of choice for low fare access to the West of Ireland".
