

Edgar Filing: BP PLC - Form 6-K

"We remain committed to our UK businesses and ensuring that we are able to fully maintain the supply of fuel products to them will be a key element of the sales agreement," explains John Manzoni, chief executive of BP's refining and marketing business. "In particular we will require the buyer to provide a long term supply agreement and continuing use of the adjacent distribution terminal. This will also allow us to support and further develop our bio and differentiated fuels strategies in the UK."

BP is in the process of holding initial discussions with a number of potential buyers and will commence more detailed negotiations in the next couple of months. As the refinery is being sold as a going concern there is unlikely to be any significant impact on jobs.

"Coryton is a well placed and profitable refinery with excellent development potential which offers an attractive investment opportunity for potential buyers," said John Manzoni. "At the same time the disposal will enable us to invest more deeply in our remaining European refineries so that they remain top class assets."

The sale includes the Coryton distribution terminal, which is adjacent to the refinery, and BP's UK bitumen business, which is integrated with Coryton.

Notes to Editors:

- Coryton started up in 1953 and currently employs in the region of 540 BP staff and numerous contractors
- Coryton produces petrol and diesel, including the new 'cleaner' fuels, aviation fuels, liquefied petroleum gas (LPG), fuel oils and bitumen.
- Excluding Coryton, BP owns or has shareholdings in 8 European refineries, with its principal refining assets being in Germany, Spain and the Netherlands.
