RYANAIR

WINS RIGHT TO CHALLENGE EXCESSIVE KNOCK S UBSIDY

Ryanair, Europe's leading low fares airline,
won the right
today (
Tuesday, 9
th
September 2008

to challenge the award of the PSO subsidy on the Knock - Dublin route to Aer Arann. Ryanair is seeking an explanation why its offer
of a smaller subsidy, lower fares and triple
the passenger numbers

for the Knock route
was rejected
in favour of Aer Arann's larger subsidy, higher fares and fewer passenger numbers.

T he High Court in Ireland

has granted Ryanair's application for a judicial review of the decision of the Department of Transport following the unlawful award of a PSO (Public Service Obligation) contract for the Dublin
to Knock route to Aer Arann, following Cityjet's announcement that it would not serve the route.
Ryanair
today underlined that t he Minister should have called for a new tender process in order to comply with European Regulations on the grant of PSOs but failed to do so.

Ryanair had offered to serve this route for a much lower subsidy and with over 3 times the seat capacity but the Department rejected the offer without having carried out a new tender.

Speaking today, Ryanair's Director of Legal & Regulatory Affairs, Jim Callaghan, said:

Following Cityjet's announcement that it would not fly the Dublin -

Knock route, Ryanair immediately offered to serve this route for a much lower price to the taxpayer and with over 3 times the passenger numbers

However the Department rejected this offer and unlawfully granted the PSO to Aer Arann without calling for a new tender.

Ryanair has been a vocal critic of the Department for Transport's waste of taxpayer funds in the area of PSOs and this is the latest example.

We are delighted that the High Court has granted our request to challenge this unlawful decision.

At a time of economic downturn, it is high time that the Department for Transport stopped wasting taxes on grossly inflated PSOs by supporting the subsidy junkie Aer Arann, which does not publish accounts yet continues to receive massive state subsidies. The Department must instead choose

o

se the value for money option - Ryanair!"

Ends.
