Strong Track Record of Generating Shareholder Value

Irving, Texas and Louisville, Kentucky (June 17, 2004) IMCO Recycling Inc. (NYSE: IMR) and Commonwealth Industries, Inc. (NASDAQ/NM: CMIN) announced today that they have signed a definitive merger agreement creating a vertically integrated aluminum recycler and sheet manufacturer. The strategic combination will have approximately $2 billion in annual revenues (based on last twelve months), 3,600 employees, 34 facilities worldwide, a leading global position in aluminum recycling, a leading position in North American aluminum sheet production, and a leading U.S. position in zinc recycling.

Under the terms of the merger agreement, which was unanimously approved by the Boards of Directors of both companies, Commonwealth stockholders will receive 0.815 IMCO shares in exchange for each of their Commonwealth shares. Upon the completion of the transaction, IMCO stockholders will own approximately 54 percent and Commonwealth stockholders approximately 46 percent of the merged entity, based on the number of shares outstanding as of June 16, 2004. As of the close of trading on Wednesday, June 16, 2004, the combined equity market capitalization of IMCO and Commonwealth was about $345 million. The merger transaction is expected to be tax-free to the stockholders of both companies and is expected to close in the fourth quarter of 2004, subject to the approval of the stockholders of both companies, approval under the Hart Scott Rodino Act, refinancing of indebtedness and other customary closing conditions.

Upon completion of the transaction, Steven J. Demetriou, who has served as a Commonwealth Director since 2002 and was appointed President and Chief Executive Officer (CEO) of Commonwealth on June 11, 2004, will be Chairman and CEO of the combined company. Michael D. Friday, who most recently served as Chief Financial Officer (CFO) of Noveon Inc. with Steve Demetriou, will be CFO of the combined company. Richard L. Kerr, President and CEO of IMCO, will serve as President of the Recycling & Alloy Division, and John J. Wasz, Executive Vice President of Alflex Division, will be President of the Aluminum Fabricating Division. The Board of Directors of the combined company will include four directors from Commonwealth, four directors from IMCO, and Steve Demetriou. The combined company is expected to be named and its headquarters selected prior to the closing of the transaction.

Commenting on the planned merger, Steve Demetriou said, "This strategic combination creates a new vertically integrated company that can be a strong competitor in the global aluminum recycling and production industries. The merged company will benefit from significant procurement savings and cost synergies, an enhanced competitive position, increased scope and scale, greater technological capabilities, as well as improved access to capital. We plan to utilize these combined benefits to create customer value through enhanced service and product offerings, and to drive the growth of this dynamic business over the long-term.

John Balkcom, currently Chairman of IMCO said, "This merger of equals integrates one of the world's largest recyclers of aluminum and zinc with the U.S.'s leading manufacturer of common-alloy aluminum sheet from recycled metal. In addition to the compelling competitive advantages, the merged company will benefit from significant operational and technology synergies that will drive productivity, as well as cost savings. We expect the new company will deliver significant value to stockholders.

The Company expects to achieve an annual cost synergy run rate of approximately $25 million in the 18 to 24 months after the close of the merger from procurement savings, the integration of complementary operations, selling, general and administrative cost reductions, and the application of best practices at plant operations. Commonwealth does not expect this merger to impact the pending sale of Alflex announced June 7, 2004.
