To all employees:

As Paul and Chuck outlined in recent communications, the forthcoming merger will change the face of our two companies and help drive and grow the industry. Achieving our goal requires many critical decisions and a tremendous amount of hard work. To that end, we are pleased to announce that ScanSoft and Nuance have formally begun the integration planning process and want to provide an update on what to expect over the next few months.

To assist our organizations as we work through this important process, we have retained an experienced team of integration consultants from Deloitte and are using their formal and comprehensive integration methodology. To start, we have established an intra-company, cross-functional team, comprising members of the companies' respective management teams, to assess the needs of the combined company, identify critical paths and issues, build actionable plans, determine anticipated synergies and oversee the eventual integration process. The attached org chart identifies the teams and provides an example of the thorough approach being applied to the process.

Accomplishments to date include:

Created the Integration Steering Committee that comprises members of the ScanSoft and Nuance executive teams.

Defined 14 integration planning teams, organized by functional areas. Each area includes a representative from each company's management team.

Oriented team leaders on integration roles, guidelines, deliverables and timeframe.

Identified initial key processes, issues, and synergies as part of a two day workshop focused on understanding the priorities and goals of the integration.

We will be providing a bi-weekly update on the integration process and will send additional communications from the Integration Committee as we achieve milestones and reach decisions along the way. Please feel free to contact the appropriate functional team leaders with recommendations, concerns or questions. We thank you in advance for your cooperation, assistance and patience as we work through the process.

Regards.
