1. Basis of Presentation and Significant Accounting Policies

Our unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States (GAAP) and under the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) for interim financial information. Some of the information and footnote disclosures normally included in annual financial statements have been condensed or omitted pursuant to those rules and regulations. In management s opinion, the interim financial statements reflect all adjustments that are necessary for a fair presentation of the results for the interim periods presented. All adjustments made were normal recurring accruals, except as otherwise disclosed. Results of operations for the interim periods presented herein are not necessarily indicative of results of operations for a full year. These financial statements should be read in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements and the notes contained in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2010.

2. Revision to Previously Reported Financial Information

During the third quarter of 2011, we conducted a re-examination of our accounting related to our Senior Managing Director Incentive Compensation Program and related agreements (ICP). As a result of this review, we revised our accounting to reflect an acceleration of expense related to certain forgivable loans and/or share-based awards and corrected an immaterial error in our previously reported results for the six-months ended June 30, 2011 and for the annual reporting periods 2006 through 2010. As previously disclosed in the Current Report on Form 8-K that we filed with the SEC on November 2, 2011, we are revising our previously reported financial information in the third quarter 2011 filling to reflect the impact of the correction of the immaterial error. We intend to revise our previously reported consolidated financial statements for certain comparative quarterly and annual periods through subsequent periodic filings.

The ICP is a program designed to compensate and retain the Company s top senior managing directors. There are currently 82 employees who participate in this program. Employees who are invited to participate in the program are eligible to receive share-based awards and forgivable loans on a discretionary and periodic basis. As a result of a re-examination of the ICP provisions related to retirement and non-renewal or resignation by the employee, and the corresponding non-compete periods, the Company determined that it should have recorded compensation expense for certain forgivable loans and/or share-based awards over a shorter period.

We assessed the materiality of these errors in accordance with SEC Staff Accounting Bulletin No. 108, Considering the Effects of Prior Year Misstatements when Quantifying Misstatements in Current Year Financial Statements (SAB 108), and determined the error was immaterial to the previously reported amounts contained in our periodic filings. Although the error was immaterial to prior periods, recording the cumulative impact of the out-of-period correction in the third quarter of 2011 would be material. Therefore, we applied the guidance for accounting changes and error corrections and revised our prior period financial statements presented per SAB 108. The impact of the correction of the immaterial error was a decrease to net income of $4.1 million in the six months ended June 30, 2011 and $5.9 million, $3.2 million, $2.0 million, $1.6 million and $0.5 million in the annual reporting periods 2010, 2009, 2008, 2007 and 2006, respectively.

3. New Accounting Standards Not Yet Adopted

In June 2011, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued Accounting Standards Update 2011-05, Comprehensive Income (Topic 220): Presentation of Comprehensive Income, which amends current comprehensive income guidance. This accounting update eliminates the option to present the components of other comprehensive income as part of the statement of shareholders equity. Instead, an entity must report comprehensive income in either a single continuous statement of comprehensive income which contains two sections, net income and other comprehensive income, or in two separate but consecutive statements. This guidance will be effective for us beginning in the first quarter of 2012. We do not expect the guidance to impact our consolidated financial statements, as it only requires a change in the format of presentation.

Unaudited

In September 2011, the FASB issued Accounting Standards Update No. 2011-08, Testing Goodwill for Impairment. This accounting update is intended to simplify goodwill impairment testing by adding a qualitative review step to assess whether the required quantitative impairment analysis that exists today is necessary. An entity no longer will be required to calculate the fair value of a reporting unit unless the entity determines, based on a qualitative assessment, that it is more likely than not that its fair value is less than its carrying amount. The amended goodwill impairment guidance does not affect the manner in which a company estimates fair value. The new standard is effective for annual and interim goodwill impairment tests performed for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2011, with early adoption permitted. The Company plans to adopt this update early. The value of the Company s goodwill will not be affected by the adoption of this standard.

4. Earnings Per Common Share

Basic earnings per common share are calculated by dividing net income by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the period. Diluted earnings per common share adjust basic earnings per share for the effects of potentially dilutive common shares. Potentially dilutive common shares include the dilutive effects of shares issuable under our equity compensation plans, including stock options and restricted stock, and shares issuable upon conversion of our 3 ³/4% senior subordinated convertible notes due 2012 (Convertible Notes) assuming the conversion premium was converted into common stock based on the average closing price per share of our stock during the period, each using the treasury stock method. The conversion feature of our Convertible Notes had a dilutive effect on our earnings per share for the periods presented below because the average closing price per share of our common stock for such periods was above the conversion price of the Convertible Notes of $31.25 per share.

5. Special Charges

During the year ended December 31, 2010, we recorded special charges of $51.1 million, of which $31.4 million was non-cash. The non-cash charges primarily included trade name impairment charges related to our global FTI Consulting branding strategy and other strategic branding decisions. The remaining charges related to a realignment of our workforce and a consolidation of four office locations. The charges reflect actions we took to support our corporate positioning, as well as actions taken to better align capacity with expected demand, to eliminate certain redundancies resulting from acquisitions and to provide for appropriate levels of administrative support.

During the nine months ended September 30, 2011, we recorded special charges of $15.2 million, of which $4.8 million was non-cash. The charges reflect actions we took to reduce senior management related overhead in connection with our realignment of our segment management on a global basis and to align our workforce with expected market trends. These actions included a reduction in workforce totaling 37 employees. The special charges consisted of:

$10.4 million of salary continuance and other contractual employee related costs associated with the reduction in workforce;

$2.0 million related to loan forgiveness and accelerated recognition of compensation cost of share-based awards related to the reduction in workforce; and

$2.8 million of deferred costs under a service contract without a substantive future economic benefit to the Company. The following table details the special charges by segment for the nine months ended September 30, 2011:

Corporate Finance/Restructuring	$ 9,440
Forensic and Litigation Consulting	839
Economic Consulting	2,093
	12,372
Unallocated Corporate	2,840
Total	$ 15,212

The total cash outflow associated with the 2010 special charges is expected to be $19.7 million, of which $19.2 million has been paid as of September 30, 2011. The total cash outflow associated with the 2011 special charges is expected to be $10.4 million, of which $3.8 million has been paid as of September 30, 2011. Of the remaining liability of $7.1 million at September 30, 2011, $2.7 million is expected to be paid during the remainder of 2011 and the balance of approximately $4.4 million is expected to be paid during 2012. A liability for the amounts to be paid is included in Accounts payable, accrued expenses and other on the Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheets. Activity related to the liability for these costs for the nine months ended September 30, 2011 is as follows:

6. Provision for Doubtful Accounts

The provision for doubtful accounts is recorded after the related work has been billed to the client and we determine that full collectability is not reasonably assured. It is classified in Selling, general and administrative expense on the Condensed Consolidated Statements of Income. The provision for doubtful accounts totaled $3.7 million and $9.5 million for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2011, respectively, and $2.6 million and $7.2 million for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2010, respectively.

7. Research and Development Costs

Research and development costs related to software development totaled $5.1 million and $16.9 million for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2011, respectively, and $8.1 million and $18.8 million for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2010, respectively. Research and development costs are included in Selling, general and administrative expense on the Condensed Consolidated Statements of Income.

8. Financial Instruments

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

We consider the recorded value of certain of our financial assets and liabilities, which consist primarily of cash equivalents, accounts receivable and accounts payable, to approximate the fair value of the respective assets and liabilities at September 30, 2011, based on the short-term nature of the assets and liabilities. The fair value of our long-term debt at September 30, 2011 was $816.1 million compared to a carrying value of $815.4 million. At December 31, 2010, the fair value of our long-term debt was $847.2 million compared to a carrying value of $810.8 million. We determine the fair value of our long-term debt primarily based on quoted market prices for our $7^3/4\%$ senior notes due 2016 (7/4% Senior Notes), 6/4% senior notes due 2020 (7/4% Senior Notes) and Convertible Notes. The carrying value of long-term debt includes the $18.0 million equity component of our Convertible Notes which is recorded in Additional paid-in capital on the Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheets.

Derivative Financial Instruments

From time to time, we hedge the cash flows and fair values of some of our long-term debt using interest rate swaps. We enter into these derivative contracts to manage our exposure to interest rate changes by achieving a desired proportion of fixed rate versus variable rate debt.

Accordingly, to achieve the desired mix of fixed and floating interest rate debt, we entered into four interest rate swap agreements in March 2011, which qualify and have been designated as fair value hedges. The interest rate swaps mature on October 1, 2016. Under the terms of the interest rate swaps, we receive interest on the $215.0 million notional amount of the $7^3/4\%$ Senior Notes at a fixed rate of $7^3/4\%$ and pay a variable rate of interest, based on LIBOR as the benchmark interest rate. For the three months ended September 30, 2011, our variable interest rate was 5.43%. The maturity, payment dates and other critical terms of these swaps exactly match those of the hedged $7^3/4\%$ Senior Notes. These interest rate swaps qualified for hedge accounting using the short-cut method under ASC 815-20-25, Derivatives and Hedging (formerly SFAS No. 133), which assumes no hedge ineffectiveness. As a result, changes in the fair value of the interest rate swaps and changes in the fair value of the hedged debt were assumed to be equal and offsetting. As of September 30, 2011, the fair value of our interest rate swaps was an asset of $7.5 million, which is recorded in Other assets on the Condensed

Consolidated Balance Sheets. The impact of effectively converting the interest rate of the 7 3/4% Senior Notes from fixed rate to variable rate decreased interest expense by $2.6 million for the nine months ended September 30, 2011 and $1.2 million for the three months ended September 30, 2011.

9. Acquisitions

In March 2011, we completed acquisitions of certain practices of LECG Corporation in Europe, the United States and Latin America with services relating to those provided through our Economic Consulting, Forensic and Litigation Consulting, and Corporate Finance/Restructuring segments. The acquisition-date fair value of the total consideration transferred is approximately $30.0 million, which consisted of $27.0 million of cash paid at the closings of these acquisitions, a portion of which is subject to certain working capital and other adjustments, and contingent consideration with an estimated fair value of $3.0 million. As part of the preliminary purchase price allocation, we recorded an aggregate of $24.1 million in accounts receivable, $6.3 million in identifiable intangible assets, $20.7 million of assumed liabilities and $15.0 million in goodwill. Aggregate acquisition-related costs of approximately $1.5 million have been recognized in earnings in 2011. Pro forma results of operations have not been presented because the acquisitions were not material in relation to our consolidated financial position or results of operations for the periods presented.

Certain acquisition-related restricted stock agreements entered into prior to January 1, 2009 contain stock price guarantees that may result in cash payments in the future if our share price falls below a specified per share market value on the date that the applicable stock restrictions lapse (the determination date). For those acquisitions, the future settlement of any contingency related to our common stock price will be recorded as a reduction to additional paid-in capital. During the nine months ended September 30, 2011, we paid $6.2 million in cash in relation to the stock price guarantees on certain shares of common stock that became unrestricted, which was recorded as a reduction to additional paid-in capital. We did not make any stock price guarantee payments during the three months ended September 30, 2011. Our remaining common stock price guarantee provisions have stock floor prices that range from $28.47 to $69.48 per share and have determination dates that range from 2012 to 2013.

Other intangible assets with finite lives are amortized over their estimated useful lives. For intangible assets with finite lives, we recorded amortization expense of $5.8 million and $16.8 million for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2011, respectively, and $6.3 million and $18.2 million for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2010, respectively. Based solely on the amortizable intangible assets recorded as of September 30, 2011, we estimate amortization expense to be $5.5 million during the remainder of 2011, $21.8 million in 2012, $20.1 million in 2013, $11.6 million in 2014, $10.7 million in 2015, $9.2 million in 2016 and $40.1 million in years after 2016. Actual amortization expense to be reported in future periods could differ from these estimates as a result of new intangible asset acquisitions, finalization of asset valuations for newly acquired assets, changes in useful lives, changes in value due to foreign currency translation or other factors. During the nine months ended September 30, 2011, we wrote-off $26.5 million of fully amortized intangible assets related to our customer relationships, non-competition agreements, tradenames and contract backlog with a net book value of zero.

Convertible Notes

Our Convertible Notes are convertible at the option of the holder during any conversion period if the per share closing price of our common stock exceeds the conversion threshold price of $37.50 for at least 20 trading days in the 30 consecutive trading day period ending on the first day of such conversion period. A conversion period is the period from and including the eleventh trading day in a fiscal quarter up to but not including the eleventh trading day of the following fiscal quarter.

When the Convertible Notes are convertible at the option of the holder, they are classified as current on our Consolidated Balance Sheet. When the Convertible Notes are not convertible at the option of the holder, and the scheduled maturity is not within one year after the balance sheet date, they are classified as long-term. As of September 30, 2011, the Convertible Notes are classified as short-term given that the scheduled maturity is within one year of the balance sheet date.

63/4% Senior Notes Due 2020

On September 27, 2010, we issued $400.0 million in aggregate principal amount of 63/4% Senior Notes in a private offering (the Offering) that was exempt from the registration requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the Securities Act). The 4% Senior Notes were sold to qualified institutional buyers as defined in Rule 144A under the Securities Act and non-U.S. persons outside the United States under Regulation S under the Securities Act. The net proceeds from the Offering were $390.4 million after deducting debt issuance costs. On March 25, 2011, the Company filed a Registration Statement on Form S-4 with the SEC to register the exchange offer of the 63/4% Senior Notes for publicly registered 63/4% Senior Notes with identical terms, which was declared effective on May 24, 2011. The Company completed the exchange offer of all outstanding 63/4% Senior Notes on June 24, 2011.

12. Commitments and Contingencies

Contingencies

We are subject to legal actions arising in the ordinary course of business. In management s opinion, we believe we have adequate legal defenses and/or insurance coverage with respect to the eventuality of such actions. We do not believe any settlement or judgment would materially affect our financial position or results of operations.

13. Share-Based Compensation

Share-based Awards and Share-based Compensation Expense

Our officers, employees, non-employee directors and certain individual service providers are eligible to participate in the Company s equity compensation plans, subject to the discretion of the administrator of the plans. During the nine months ended September 30, 2011, aggregate share-based awards granted included stock

14. Stockholders Equity

Common Stock Repurchase Program

In November 2009, our Board of Directors authorized a two-year stock repurchase program of up to $500.0 million (the Repurchase Program) and terminated the $50.0 million stock repurchase program authorized in February 2009. Also in November 2009, we entered into a collared accelerated stock buyback master confirmation agreement (the Master Agreement) with Goldman, Sachs & Co. (Goldman Sachs). Through December 31, 2010, we repurchased and retired 6,633,680 shares of our common stock with a value equivalent to approximately $290.6 million at the time of repurchase under the Repurchase Program, including a $250.0 million accelerated stock buyback transaction pursuant to a supplemental confirmation under the Master Agreement. As of December 31, 2010, a balance of $209.4 million remained available under the Repurchase Program to fund stock repurchases by the Company.

On March 2, 2011, we entered into a supplemental confirmation with Goldman Sachs for a $209.4 million accelerated stock buyback transaction (the 2011 ASB), pursuant to the Master Agreement. On March 7, 2011, we paid $209.4 million to Goldman Sachs using available cash on hand and received 4,433,671 shares of FTI Consulting common stock, representing a majority of the total number of shares expected to be delivered pursuant to the 2011 ASB. On May 17, 2011, the Company received additional shares bringing the total number of shares of our common stock delivered pursuant to the 2011 ASB to 5,061,558 shares. As permitted by the Master Agreement and the 2011 ASB, on September 2, 2011, Goldman Sachs accelerated the termination date of the 2011 ASB which was to occur no later than December 2, 2011. On September 8, 2011, the Company received an additional 671,647 shares of FTI Consulting common stock, bringing the total number of shares of our common stock delivered pursuant to the 2011 ASB to 5,733,205. The repurchase of shares was accounted for as a share retirement resulting in a reduction of common stock issued and outstanding of 5,733,205 shares and a corresponding reduction in common stock and additional paid-in capital of $209.4 million. The completion of the 2011 ASB completed the Repurchase Program.

15. Segment Reporting

We manage our business in five reportable operating segments: Corporate Finance/Restructuring, Forensic and Litigation Consulting, Economic Consulting, Technology and Strategic Communications.

Our Corporate Finance/Restructuring segment focuses on strategic, operational, financial and capital needs of businesses around the world and provides consulting and advisory services on a wide range of matters, such as restructuring (including bankruptcy), financings, claims management, mergers and acquisitions, post-acquisition integration, valuations, tax issues and performance improvement.

Our Forensic and Litigation Consulting segment provides law firms, companies, government clients and other interested parties with dispute advisory, investigations, forensic accounting, data analytics, business intelligence assessments and risk mitigation services.

Our Economic Consulting segment provides law firms, companies, government entities and other interested parties with analysis of complex economic issues for use in legal and regulatory proceedings, strategic decision making and public policy debates in the U.S. and around the world.

Our Technology segment provides electronic discovery (e-discovery) and information management software and services to its clients. It provides products, services and consulting to companies, law firms, courts and government agencies worldwide. Its comprehensive suite of software and services help clients locate, review and produce electronically stored information, including e-mail, computer files, voicemail, instant messaging and financial and transactional data.

Our Strategic Communications segment provides advice and consulting services relating to financial communications, brand communications, public affairs and reputation management and business consulting.

We evaluate the performance of our operating segments based on Adjusted Segment EBITDA. We define Adjusted Segment EBITDA as a segment s share of consolidated operating income before depreciation, amortization of intangible assets, accretion of contingent consideration and special charges. Adjusted Segment EBITDA for 2010 has been presented in a consistent manner. Although Adjusted Segment EBITDA is not a measure of financial condition or performance determined in accordance with GAAP, we use Adjusted Segment EBITDA to evaluate and compare the operating performance of our segments.

Credit Suisse calculated the estimated present value of the unlevered, free cash flows that Novartis could generate during the perio from September 30, 2010 to December 31, 2014, based on both financial projections provided by Novartis management and consensu research analyst estimates. Credit Suisse then calculated a range of terminal values by multiplying calendar year 2014 estimated EBITDA b selected EBITDA multiples ranging from 7.0x to 9.0x. The estimated free cash flow and terminal values were then discounted to preser value using discount rates from 7% to 9%. Miscellaneou

Novartis engaged Credit Suisse to render an opinion to the Novartis Board with respect to the fairness to Novartis, from a financia point of view, of the Merger Consideration. Novartis selected Credit Suisse based on Credit Suisse's qualifications, experience and reputation, and its familiarity with Novartis and its business. Credit Suisse is an internationally recognized investment banking firm and i regularly engaged in the valuation of businesses and securities in connection with mergers and acquisitions, leveraged buyouts, negotiated underwritings, competitive biddings, secondary distributions of listed and unlisted securities, private placements and valuations for corporate and other purposes. Pursuant to the engagement letter of Novartis with Credit Suisse, Novartis agreed to pay Credit Suisse a customary fee upon the delivery of its opinion. In addition, Novartis agreed to reimburse Credit Suisse on a monthly basis for its out-of-pocket expense incurred in connection with the engagement, including the fees and expenses of its legal counsel. Novartis has agreed to indemnify Credit Suisse and certain related parties for certain liabilities and other items arising out of or related to Credit Suisse's engagement

Credit Suisse and its affiliates have in the past provided, and are currently providing, investment banking and other financial services to Alcon and its affiliates, including having provided or providing certain foreign exchange services and products to Alcon. Credit Suisse and its affiliates also have in the past provided and are currently providing and in the future may provide, investment banking and other financial services to Novartis and its affiliates, for which Credit Suisse and its affiliates have received, and would expect to received compensation, including: having acted as a lead underwriter in connection with public offerings of debt securities by Novartis; a lender in connection with the revolving credit facility of Novartis; and having provided or providing certain asset management, foreign exchange and trade finance services and products to Novartis. Credit Suisse and its affiliates may have provided other financial advice and services, and may in the future provide financial advice and services, to Alcon, Novartis and their respective affiliates, for which Credit Suisse and it affiliates have received, and would expect to receive, compensation. In addition, in connection with the acquisition by Novartis of its 77% stake in Alcon, Credit Suisse acted as financial advisor to the seller in that transaction. Credit Suisse is a full service securities firm engaged in securities trading and brokerage activities, as well as providing investment banking and other financial services. In the ordinary course of business, Credit Suisse and its affiliates may acquire, hold or sell, for its and its affiliates' own accounts and the accounts of customers equity, debt and other securities and financial instruments (including bank loans and other obligations) of Alcon, Novartis and any other company that may be involved in the merger, as well as provide investment banking and other financial services to such companies

Position of Novartis Regarding Fairness of the Merge

The rules of the SEC require Novartis to express its belief as to the fairness of the merger to the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders. Novartis believes that the merger is fair to the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders. Novartis bases this belief on the following factors, each owhich, in its judgment, supports its view as to the fairness of the merger the Merger Consideration will have a value of $168 per Alcon share as determined in accordance with the provisions of the merger agreement, which Novartis believes represents fair value:

the aggregate value of the Merger Consideration of $168 per share, as described above, represents a premium of 3.4% over $162.43, the closing price of Alcon shares on December 14, 2010, the last trading day before the announcement of the merger agreement, and 6.3% over $158.02, the average of the volume-weighted average prices of Alcon shares for 2010 (through December 13, 2010).

Alcon shareholders will be able to participate and share in the future earnings or growth of Novartis and its subsidiarie (including synergies resulting from the merger) and benefit from increases, if any, in the value of Novartis and it subsidiaries, following completion of the merger, which Novartis believes supports its view as to the fairness of the merger agreement and the merger;

the structure of the Merger Consideration eliminates the risk to Alcon shareholders of market fluctuation in the value of Novartis shares between the announcement of the merger agreement until the closing, because if 2.8 Novartis shares are valued at less than $168, Alcon shareholders will receive a contingent cash payment in the amount of the difference Novartis believes that this level of protection, particularly in the current economic environment, supports its view as to the fairness of the merger; and the merger is not subject to a financing condition or to antitrust or other regulatory approvals, which limits the execution risk attached to the completion of the merger, subject to satisfaction of the conditions to the completion of the merger a described in this prospectus, and thus makes it more likely that the merger will be consummated promptly if the shareholders of both Alcon and Novartis approve the merger, which Novartis believes supports its view as to the fairnes of the merger

Novartis did not consider the per Alcon share price of $181 paid to Nestlé for all but 4,088,485 of the Second Stage Shares (whic 4,088,485 shares were purchased for $143.18 per Alcon share) because of its view that an acquisition of a controlling majority position should be valued at a premium that would not be applicable to a merger transaction that does not similarly confer control. Novartis did not consider the premium paid for shares in prior squeeze-out transactions involving Novartis in considering the substantive fairness of the transaction to the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders because Novartis does not consider the merger to be a squeeze-out transaction, and as such those premia would not be relevant. Novartis did consider appropriately comparable premia typically applied to unaffected share prices for acquisitions of a minority stake, including certain transactions cited in the precedent premia paid analysis prepared by Credit Suisse

In reaching its conclusion as to fairness, Novartis expressly adopted the conclusions and analyses of Credit Suisse, as described in Opinion of Credit Suisse" beginning on page 49, in addition to the other factors described herein. Novartis considered the fact that certare of the valuation methodologies and metrics (including trade prices) considered by Credit Suisse included prices and per share equity reference ranges in excess of $168, while other analyses indicated values below $168.

Table of Content

Novartis also believes that sufficient procedural safeguards were present to ensure the fairness of the transaction to the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders. Novartis reached this conclusion based on, among other things the fact that the Independent Director Committee unanimously recommended the merger agreement.

the fact that the Independent Director Committee consisted solely of independent directors

the fact that the Alcon Board and the Independent Director Committee each retained their own legal and financia advisors, which contributed to the determination of Novartis as to fairness because it preserved the independence of the advice provided to the Alcon Board and the Independent Director Committee; and the fact that the Alcon Board received the advice and assistance of Lazard, as its investment banker, and Cravath Swaine & Moore LLP and Homburger AG, as its legal advisors, and requested and received from Lazard its oral opinion rendered to the Alcon Board, subsequently confirmed in writing, that, as of the date of such opinion, and based upon an subject to the assumptions, procedures, factors, qualifications and limitations set forth therein, the Merger Consideration (as defined in the merger agreement) to be paid to Alcon shareholders (other than Alcon, Novartis and their respective affiliates) in the merger was fair, from a financial point of view, to such Alcon shareholders, which opinion is attached as Annex C to this prospectus

Swiss law requires that the merger agreement be approved by 2/3 of the votes represented at the annual general meeting of Alcor shareholders. Swiss law does not provide for, and it is not a recognized practice under Swiss law to structure the transaction so that the merger would require, the approval of at least a majority of the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders

Novartis also considered the following factors, each of which it considered to be negative in its considerations concerning the fairness of the terms of the transaction

as to the Merger Consideration, the interests of Novartis are adverse to the financial interests of Alcon shareholder unaffiliated with Novartis; and as described under "Interests of Alcon's Directors and Executive Officers in the Merger" beginning on page 138, certain executive officers of Alcon may have actual or potential conflicts of interest in connection with the merger

Novartis did not find it practicable to assign, nor did it assign, relative weights to the individual factors considered in reaching it conclusion as to fairness

In reaching its conclusion as to fairness, Novartis did not consider the liquidation value of Alcon because it considers Alcon to be viable going concern and has no plans to liquidate Alcon. The liquidation of Alcon was not considered to be a viable course of action base on the desire of Novartis for Alcon to continue to conduct its business following completion of the merger and remain an integral componer of the overall strategy of Novartis. Therefore, Novartis believes that the liquidation value of Alcon is irrelevant to a determination as t whether the merger is fair to Alcon shareholders unaffiliated with Novartis, and no appraisal of liquidation value was sought for purposes of valuing the Alcon shareholders.

Further, net book value, which is an accounting concept, was not considered as a factor because Novartis believes that net boo value is not a material indicator of the value of Alcon as a going concern but rather is primarily indicative of historical costs

Novartis is not aware of any firm offers made by a third party to acquire Alcon during the past two years and in any event Novarti does not have any intention of selling or otherwise disposing of the

Table of Content

Alcon shares that are currently owned by it. Third-party offers were therefore not considered by Novartis in reaching its conclusion as to

Novartis did not consider alternative means (other than the merger) to acquire shares held by the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders

The foregoing discussion of the information and factors considered and given weight by Novartis is not intended to be exhaustive but includes the factors considered by Novartis that it believes to be material

Alcon Reasons for the Merger; Recommendation of the Alcon Board as to Fairness of the Merge

The Alcon Board, by the unanimous vote of those directors who voted (Dr. Vasella, who is the Chairman of the Novartis Board, and Mr. Buehler, who has received an employment offer to be Head of the Novartis eye care division after completion of the proposed merger recused themselves and Dr. Joan W. Miller, who participated in the unanimous resolution of the Independent Director Committee to recommend to the Alcon Board that the Alcon Board approve the merger agreement, was not present), determined to approve the merge agreement and the merger, the Alcon Board consulted with Alcon management and legal and financial advisors regarding strategic, legal, operational and financial aspects of the transaction, and it considered a variety of factors in favor of the merger. Among other things, Alcon believes the merger agreement and the merger are fair and are advisable and in the best interests of the unaffiliated Alconshareholders:

the merger will allow Alcon shareholders to participate in future synergies resulting from the merger while holding shares in a company that is not controlled by a single shareholder;

the merger will end the speculation caused by the existing ownership structure regarding Novartis acquiring the Minority Shares, which has been a distraction to the business and the employees of Alcon;

the merger will create a stronger eye care business with broader commercial reach and enhanced capabilities to develop more new and innovative eye care products that address unmet clinical needs in eye care;

the merger will yield a number of benefits to Alcon and its employees and customers, including increased commercial capability to accelerate sales growth and support for Alcon's customers.

expanded ability to develop innovative eye care products that reach the market faster greater patient and market access to advanced technologies:

enhanced product development and branding opportunities in contact lenses and solutions; and cost efficiencies that can be reinvested in research and other growth opportunities:

the merger will allow Alcon to benefit from the global commercial capabilities of Novartis across multiple healthcar product categories. This includes reimbursement and market access capabilities that can be leveraged to accelerate Alcon's growth around the world, such as enhanced market access for advanced technology intraocular lenses in Europe Alcon and Novartis together will also be better positioned to capture growth and market share in numerous geographic markets, especially in emerging markets where there is high growth potentia

the new eye care division that Novartis proposes to create following completion of the merger will combine Alcon' in-depth scientific knowledge of eye disease and clinical experience with the broad-based research capabilities and resources of Novartis. This will allow for an expanded commitment to research and development activities in eye car with the goal of increasing new product discovery and development productivity to generate differentiated products to sustain and accelerate growth. This is expected to translate into more new products for eye care professionals and their patients and increased opportunities for market penetration in key market segments; and

following completion of the merger, the combined company will be better positioned to capitalize on commercia opportunities to develop and brand contact lenses collaboratively with contact lens solutions with the goal of capturing new patients and increasing the number of patients that use contact lenses to correct their vision

In reaching its determination that the merger agreement and the merger are fair and are advisable and in the best interests of the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders, the Alcon Board determined that the analyses of the Independent Director Committee in considering whether to recommend the merger agreement to the Alcon Board were reasonable, and expressly adopted the conclusions and analyses of the Independent Director Committee. In determining the fairness of the transaction, the Alcon Board considered and relied upon the process of the Independent Director Committee in considering the merger, which contributed to the Alcon Board' determination as to fairness because it supported the Alcon Board's view that the terms of the transaction recommended by the Independent Director Committee were a result of a procedurally fair process and an active negotiation between the Independent Director Committee and Novartis:

the Alcon Board having received legal advice from Homburger AG and Cravath, Swaine & Moore LLP and financial advice from Lazard, and the Independent Director Committee having received legal advice from Pestalozzi an Sullivan & Cromwell and financial advice from Greenhill, which contributed to the Alcon Board's determination as t fairness because it supported the Alcon Board's view that the price offered by Novartis and the process followed in negotiating the merger agreement was fair to the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders:

the recommendation of the Independent Director Committee on December 14, 2010, expressly adopted by the Alco Board, that the Alcon Board approve the merger agreement:

the fact that the Merger Consideration valued at $168 per share is at a 12.2% premium per Alcon share to $149.76, the last closing price for Alcon shares on December 1, 2009, the day prior to the commencement of public takeove speculation triggered by a UBS research analyst report, which contributed to the Alcon Board's determination as to fairness because it supported the Alcon Board's view that the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders would receive an appropriate premium for their Alcon shares in the transaction (as compared to Alcon's unaffected stock price);

the fact that the Merger Consideration valued at $168 per share would represent a premium over Alcon's unaffected stock price on December 1, 2009 that is within the range of premia paid in other comparable transactions;

the fact that the Merger Consideration valued at $168 per share represented an approximately 9.8% increase over the $153 per share value of the January 3 Proposal, which contributed to the Alcon Board's determination as to fairness because it supported the Alcon Board's view that the merger negotiations had resulted in increased value for the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders the fact that the Merger Consideration is approximately equal to the weighted average price per share of $168.16 paid by Novartis in acquiring the approximately 77% controlling stake in the Alcon shares it currently owns;

the Contingent Value Amount (or "put option") feature of the merger agreement, which contributed to the Alcon Board' determination as to fairness because it protected Alcon shareholders from the potential risks associated with the Novarti share price during the period between signing and the annual general meeting of Alcon shareholders;

the terms and conditions of the merger agreement, described under "The Merger Agreement and the Merger" beginning on page 104, which contains conditions to completion of the merger that the Alcon Board, after consulting with its legal counsel, considered to be reasonable, customary and reasonably likely to be satisfied in a timely manner, which the Alcon Board believed supported its determination;

the likelihood, considering the terms of the merger agreement and the financial and capital resources and incentives on Novartis to complete the merger, that the merger would be completed in a reasonably prompt time frame, which contributed to the Alcon Board's determination as to fairness because it supported the Alcon Board's view that increased the certainty of value and time value of the consideration offered to unaffiliated Alcon shareholders;

the Alcon Board's understanding of, on the one hand, promising trends in the eye care industry, including aging demographics, increasing demand for and access to eye care in emerging markets, the existence of multiple unmemedical needs and rising patient expectations for product performance, and, on the other hand, certain challenges facing the industry, including rising research costs, increasing regulatory and reimbursement hurdles and the need for access to wide libraries of chemical and biological compounds for the development of new eye care products, contributed to the Alcon Board's determination as to fairness because it supported the Alcon Board's view that the value certainty of the transaction would be beneficial to unaffiliated Alcon shareholders at this time; and the factors referred to above as having been taken into account by the Independent Director Committee, including the amount of the Merger Consideration in general and in comparison to the last unaffected stock price and the original price proposed by Novartis, the terms of the merger agreement and the receipt by the Alcon Board of the oral opinion of Lazard rendered to the Alcon Board, subsequently confirmed in writing, that, as of such date, and based upon an subject to the assumptions, procedures, factors, qualifications and limitations set forth therein, the Merger Consideration (as defined in the merger agreement) to be paid to Alcon shareholders (other than Alcon, Novartis and their respective affiliates) in the merger was fair, from a financial point of view, to such Alcon shareholders, which opinion is attached as Annex C to this prospectus

The Alcon Board also believes that sufficient procedural safeguards were present to ensure the fairness of the transaction. The Alcon Board reached this conclusion based on, among other things the fact that Article V, Section 5 of the Alcon Organizational Regulations provides, among other things, that the Alcon Board may only resolve with respect to a merger with a majority shareholder of Alcon if a majority of the Independent Director Committee so recommends, and that the Independent Director Committee unanimously recommended the merger agreement

the fact that the Independent Director Committee consisted solely of independent directors who are not affiliated with Novartis and its affiliates, which contributed to the Alcon Board's determination as to fairness because the Alcon Board believed these directors could objectively evaluate the proposal of Novartis and represent effectively the interests of the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders;

the fact that the Alcon Board and the Independent Director Committee each retained their own legal and financia advisors, which contributed to the Alcon Board's determination as to fairness because it preserved the independence of the advice provided to the Independent Director Committee;

the fact that the Alcon Board received the advice and assistance of Lazard, as its investment banker, and Homburger AC and Cravath, Swaine & Moore LLP, as its legal advisors, and requested and received from Lazard its oral opinion rendered to the Alcon Board, subsequently confirmed in writing, that, as of the date of such opinion, and based upon an subject to the assumptions, procedures, factors, qualifications and limitations set forth therein, the Merger Consideration (as defined in the merger agreement) to be paid to Alcon shareholders (other than Alcon, Novartis and their respective affiliates) in the merger was fair, from a financial point of view, to such Alcon shareholders, which opinion is attached as Annex C to this prospectus; and the fact that the negotiations that had taken place between representatives of Novartis, on the one hand, and the Independent Director Committee and its representatives, on the other hand, were structured and conducted so as to preserve the independence of the Independent Director Committee, which contributed to the Alcon Board' determination as to fairness because it supported the Alcon Board's view that the transaction was procedurally fair to the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders

The Alcon Board also considered a variety of risks and other potentially negative factors concerning the merger agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby, including the merger. These factors included the fact that the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders, following completion of the merger, will constitute a relatively small percentage of equity ownership of Novartis, which contributed to the Alcon Board's determination as to fairness to the extent that it relates to their participation in future synergies resulting from the merger;

the fact that, due to the ownership position of Novartis in Alcon and public statements by Novartis that it would no support an alternative transaction, the Alcon Board believed there was no reason to contact, and did not contact, thir parties about a sale of Alcon, which contributed to the Alcon Board's determination as to fairness because it caused the Alcon Board to conclude that it was unlikely, although possible, that an alternative transaction would be proposed by third party; and the fact that the merger agreement does not include as a requirement that the merger be approved by a majority of the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders, which contributed to the Alcon Board's determination as to fairness because it increases the likelihood that the merger would be approved even if a significant number of the unaffiliated Alcon shareholder voted against it

In view of the wide variety of factors considered by the Alcon Board in evaluating the merger and the complexity of these matters the directors did not find it practicable, and did not attempt, to quantify, rank or otherwise assign relative weight to those factors. To avoid any actual conflict of interest or the appearance of any conflict of interest, Dr. Vasella, who is the Chairman of the Novartis Board, and Mr. Buehler, who has received an employment offer to be Head of the Novartis eye care division after completion of the proposed merger did not participate in any deliberations of the Alcon Board relating to the merger agreement and the merger and abstained from voting on the approval of the merger agreement

In reaching its determination and making its recommendation, the Alcon Board did not consider the liquidation value of Alcon to be a relevant valuation method because it considered Alcon to be a viable going concern. Furthermore, the Alcon Board did not consider ne book value to be a useful indicator of Alcon's value because the Alcon Board believed that net book value is primarily indicative of historical costs but is not a material indicator of the value of Alcon as a going concern. The Merger Consideration is approximately 654% greater than Alcon's net book value per share of $22.27 on a shares outstanding basis as of September 30, 2010. In addition, the Alcon Board did not consider firm offers made by unaffiliated persons during the last two years (other than the transactions pursuant to the Purchase and Option Agreement described in "Special Factors" Background of the Merger" beginning on page 34), as no such offers were made during the

In connection with the consummation of the merger, certain of Alcon's officers may receive benefits and compensation that may differ from the Merger Consideration you would receive. Please see "Interests of Alcon's Directors and Executive Officers in the Merger beginning on page 138

Based in part on the recommendation of the Independent Director Committee, the Alcon Board, by the unanimous vote of the those directors voting (Dr. Vasella, who is Chairman of the Novartis Board, and Mr. Buehler, who has received an employment offer to be Head of the Novartis eye care division after completion of the proposed merger, recused themselves and Dr. Joan W. Miller, who participated in the unanimous resolution of the Independent Director Committee to recommend to the Alcon Board that the Alcon Board approve the merger agreement, was not present) recommends that Alcon shareholders vote to approve the merger agreement. This recommendation was made after consideration of all the material factors, both positive and negative, as described above

Opinion of Lazard Frères & Co. LLC

Alcon retained Lazard to act as its investment banker and to render an opinion to Alcon's board of directors as to the fairness, from a financial point of view, to holders of Alcon shares (other than Alcon, Novartis and their respective affiliates) of the Merger Consideration (as defined in the merger agreement) to be paid to such holders in the merger. On December 14, 2010, Lazard rendered its oral opinion to Alcon's board of directors, subsequently confirmed in writing, that, as of such date, and based upon and subject to the assumptions procedures, factors, qualifications and limitations set forth therein, the Merger Consideration to be paid to holders of Alcon shares (other than Alcon, Novartis and their respective affiliates) in the merger was fair, from a financial point of view, to such holders

Lazard's engagement and its opinion were for the benefit of Alcon's board of directors (in its capacity as such) and Lazard' opinion was rendered to Alcon's board of directors in connection with its evaluation of the merger and only addressed the fairness from a financial point of view, to holders of Alcon shares (other than Alcon, Novartis and their respective affiliates) of the Merge Consideration to be paid to such holders in the merger as of the date of Lazard's opinion. Alcon did not request Lazard to consider and Lazard's opinion did not address, the relative merits of the merger as compared to any other transaction or business strategy in which Alcon might engage or the merits of the underlying decision by Alcon to engage in the merger. Lazard's opinion was no intended to and does not constitute a recommendation to any shareholder as to how such shareholder should vote or act with respect to the merger or any matter relating thereto. Lazard's opinion was necessarily based on economic, monetary, market and othe conditions as in effect on, and the information made available to Lazard as of, the date of Lazard's opinion. Lazard assumed no responsibility for updating or revising its opinion based on circumstances or events occurring after the date of Lazard's opinion Lazard did not express any opinion as to the prices at which the Alcon shares or the Novartis shares may trade at any time subsequent to the announcement of the merger. Lazard's opinion is delivered in accordance with, and on the express condition that it may only be interpreted in accordance with, custom and practice in the United States

The following is a summary of Lazard's opinion. We encourage you to read Lazard's written opinion carefully in it entirety reviewed the financial terms and conditions of the merger agreement:

In connection with its opinion, Lazard

reviewed certain publicly available historical business and financial information relating to Alcon and Novartis.

reviewed various financial forecasts and other data provided to Lazard, or approved for Lazard's use, by Alcon relatin to the business of Alcon and publicly available estimates for Novartis relating to the business of Novartis:

held discussions with members of the senior managements of Alcon and Novartis with respect to the businesses an prospects of Alcon and Novartis, respectively.

reviewed public information with respect to certain other companies in lines of business Lazard believed to be generall relevant in evaluating the businesses of Alcon and Novartis, respectively.

reviewed the financial terms of certain business combinations involving companies in lines of business Lazard believed to be generally relevant in evaluating the businesses of Alcon and Novartis, respectively;

reviewed historical stock prices and trading volumes of the Alcon shares and the Novartis shares; and conducted such other financial studies, analyses and investigations as Lazard deemed appropriate

Lazard assumed and relied upon the accuracy and completeness of the foregoing information, without independent verification of such information. Lazard did not conduct any independent valuation or appraisal of any of the assets or liabilities (contingent or otherwise of Alcon or Novartis or concerning the solvency or fair value of Alcon or Novartis, and Lazard was not furnished with such valuation of appraisal. With respect to the financial forecasts for Alcon utilized in Lazard's analyses and provided to Lazard by the management of Alcon, Lazard assumed, with the consent of Alcon, that they were reasonably prepared on bases reflecting the best currently available estimates and judgment as to the future financial performance of Alcon. As Alcon was aware, the management of Alcon did not prepare forecasts beyond 2013 accordingly, the financial information used for purposes of Lazard's analyses for years 2014 through 2022 was extrapolated based of guidance from the management of Alcon and Lazard assumed, with the consent of Alcon, that such extrapolated financial information was reasonable basis upon which to evaluate the future financial performance of Alcon, and was appropriate to use in Lazard's analyses. A Alcon was also aware, the management of Novartis did not make available its forecasts of the future financial performance of Novartis but directed Lazard to publicly available estimates for Novartis. Lazard assumed, with the consent of Alcon, that such publicly available estimates for Novartis were a reasonable basis upon which to evaluate the future financial performance of Novartis, and were appropriate for Lazard to utilize in its analyses. Lazard assumed no responsibility for and expressed no view as to any such forecasts, extrapolated financial information or publicly available estimates or the assumptions on which they were based. Lazard further assumed, with the consent of Alcon, that adjustments (if any) to the Merger Consideration pursuant to Section 2.1(c) of the merger agreement would not be material in any respect to Lazard's analyses or opinion

In connection with its engagement, Lazard was not authorized to, and Lazard did not, solicit indications of interest from third parties regarding a potential transaction with Alcon, nor was Lazard requested to consider, and Lazard's opinion does not address, the relative merits of the merger as compared to any other transaction or business strategy in which Alcon might engage. Lazard was not involved in the negotiation or execution of the merger, nor was Lazard requested to consider the merits of the process relating to the merger or whether a different process may have resulted in different or greater consideration to be paid to holder of Alcon shares or the merits of the underlying decision by Alcon to engage in the merger

In rendering its opinion, Lazard assumed, with the consent of Alcon, that the merger would be consummated on the terms described in the merger agreement, without any waiver or modification of any material terms or conditions, and that the merger agreement and the transactions contemplated therein comply with Swiss law. Lazard also assumed, with the consent of Alcon, that obtaining the necessary governmental, regulatory or third party approvals and consents for the merger would not have an adverse effect on Alcon, Novartis or the merger. Lazard's opinion did not address any legal, tax, regulatory or accounting matters, as to which Lazard understood that Alcon obtained such advice as it deemed necessary from qualified professionals. Lazard expressed no view or opinion as to any terms or other aspects (other than the Merger Consideration to the extent expressly specified in Lazard's opinion) of the merger, nor did Lazard express any view or opinion regarding the nature or components of the Merger Consideration. In addition, Lazard expressed no view or opinion as to the fairnest of the amount or nature of, or any other aspects relating to, the compensation to any officers, directors or employees of any parties to the merger, or class of such persons, relative to the Merger Consideration or otherwise

The following is a brief summary of the material financial analyses and reviews that Lazard deemed appropriate in connection with rendering its opinion. The brief summary of Lazard's analyses and reviews provided below is not a complete description of the analyses and reviews underlying Lazard's opinion. The preparation of a fairness opinion is a complex process involving various determinations as to the most appropriate and relevant methods of analysis and review and the application of those methods to particular circumstances, and therefore, is not readily susceptible to summary description. Considering selected portions of the analyses and reviews in the summary see forth below, without considering the analyses and reviews as a whole, could create an incomplete or misleading view of the analyses and reviews underlying Lazard's opinion

In arriving at its opinion, Lazard considered the results of all of its analyses and reviews and did not attribute any particular weight to any factor, analysis or review considered by it; rather, Lazard made its determination as to fairness on the basis of its experience and professional judgment after considering the results of all of its analyses and reviews

For purposes of its analyses and reviews, Lazard considered industry performance, general business, economic, market and financial conditions and other matters, many of which are beyond the control of Alcon and Novartis. No company, business or transaction used in Lazard's analyses and reviews as a comparison is identical to Alcon, Novartis or the merger, and an evaluation of the results of those analyses and reviews is not entirely mathematical. Rather, the analyses and reviews involve complex considerations and judgment concerning financial and operating characteristics and other factors that could affect the acquisition, public trading or other values of the companies, businesses or transactions used in Lazard's analyses and reviews. The estimates contained in Lazard's analyses and reviews and the ranges of valuations resulting from any particular analysis or review are not necessarily indicative of actual values or predictive of future results or values, which may be significantly more or less favorable than those suggested by Lazard's analyses and reviews. In addition analyses and reviews relating to the value of companies, businesses or securities do not purport to be appraisals or to reflect the prices a which companies, businesses or securities actually may be sold. Accordingly, the estimates used in, and the results derived from, Lazard' analyses and reviews are inherently subject to substantial uncertainty

The summary of the analyses and reviews provided below includes information presented in tabular format. In order to fully understand Lazard's analyses and reviews, the tables must be read together with the full text of each summary. The table alone do not constitute a complete description of Lazard's analyses and reviews. Considering the data in the tables below without considering the full description of the analyses and reviews, including the methodologies and assumptions underlying the analyses and reviews, could create a misleading or incomplete view of Lazard's analyses and reviews.

In Lazard's analyses and reviews set forth below, each implied price per share range was rounded to the nearest dollar Except as otherwise noted, the following quantitative information, to the extent that it is based on market data, is based on market data as it existed on or before December 13, 2010 and is not necessarily indicative of current market conditions. For purposes of Lazard's opinion and analyses, Lazard assumed that the Merger Consideration would have a value of US$168.00

Financial Analyse

Discounted Cash Flow Analysi

Lazard performed a discounted cash flow analysis of Alcon based on financial forecasts for Alcon for years 2011 through 2012 prepared by the management of Alcon and financial information for Alcon for years 2014 through 2022 that was extrapolated based or guidance from, and with the consent of, the management of Alcon. Lazard calculated a present value of the forecasted unlevered free cash flows of Alcon for years 2011 through 2013. Lazard then determined a total terminal value for Alcon by calculating and adding together at interim terminal value for Alcon for years 2014 through 2022 based on the financial information referenced above and a perpetuity terminal value for Alcon post 2022 using perpetuity growth rates of 2.0% to 3.0%. Lazard discounted the unlevered free cash flows of Alcon for years 2011 through 2013 as well as the total terminal value for Alcon to December 31, 2010, in each case using discount rates ranging from 8.5% to 9.5%, which range was based on a weighted average cost of capital (WACC) analysis of the selected companies used in the comparable companies analysis described below. Based on the foregoing, Lazard calculated an implied price per share range for Alcon or US$150.00 to US$189.00.

Comparable Companies Analysi

Lazard analyzed the market values and trading multiples of Alcon and generally comparable publicly traded healthcare companies Using publicly available information and Institutional Brokers' Estimates System (IBES) mean estimates, Lazard analyzed the market value and trading multiples for the healthcare companies listed below

Although none of the selected companies is directly comparable to Alcon, the companies selected are publicly traded companie with criteria, such as lines of business, markets, business risks, growth prospects, maturity of business and size and scale of business, that for purposes of analysis Lazard considered similar to Alcor

Lazard calculated the range of trading multiples for all of the companies listed above based on the closing stock prices of th selected companies on December 13, 2010. In particular, Lazard reviewed the enterprise value of the selected companies as a multiple of among other things, estimated year 2010 and estimated year 2011 earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization, or EBITDA Lazard calculated enterprise value as the market capitalization (or equity value), plus total debt and minority interests and preferred stock less cash and cash equivalents. Lazard also reviewed price to earnings, or P/E, multiples, which is the per share equity value of the selecte companies as a multiple of earnings per share, or EPS. Estimated financial data for Alcon was based on the financial forecasts provided t Lazard by Alcon's managemen

The following table presents the reference range of trading multiples for all companies selected by Lazard as well as the individual trading multiples for Allergan, which Lazard considered to be more comparable to Alcon relative to the other companies selected for the analysis due to its business profile

	Healthcare Cor	npanies	Allergan
Enterprise Value / 2010E EBITDA	9.2x 13	3.5x	13.4x

Precedent Transactions Analysi

Lazard reviewed and analyzed selected precedent merger and acquisition transactions involving companies in the healthcar industry. In performing these analyses, Lazard analyzed certain publicly available financial information and transaction multiples relating to companies in the selected transactions and compared such information to the corresponding financial information for Alcon. The financial information for Alcon was based on the financial forecasts provided to Lazard by Alcon's management

Specifically, Lazard reviewed ten merger and acquisition transactions since January 2006 involving healthcare companies with transaction value greater than US$5 billion. Lazard also reviewed the two additional merger and acquisition transactions that had transaction value less than US$5 billion, Abbott Laboratories Acquisition of Advanced Medical Optics, Inc. and Warburg Pincus' acquisitio of Bausch & Lomb Incorporated, because they were the only sizeable ophthalmology transactions since January 2006

The precedent transactions reviewed were (listed by announcement date followed by the acquirer and target company)

Date Announced	Acquiror	Target
February 2010	Merck KGaA	Millipore Corp.
January 2009	Abbott Laboratories	Advanced Medical Optics, Inc.
June 2008	Invitrogen Corp.	Applied Biosystems Inc.
April 2008	Takeda Pharmaceutical Company Limited	Millennium Pharmaceuticals, Inc.
July 2007	Siemens AG	Dade Behring, Inc.
May 2007	Warburg Pincus	Bausch & Lomb Incorporated
April 2007	AstraZeneca PLC	MedImmune, Inc.
December 2006	Private Equity Consortium (The Blackstone Group L.P.,	Biomet, Inc.
	Goldman Sachs & Co., Kohlberg Kravis
	Roberts & Co. L.P. and TPG Capital)
June 2006	Siemens AG	Bayer Diagnostics (a division of Bayer AG)
June 2006	Johnson & Johnson	Pfizer Consumer Healthcare (a division of Pfizer Inc.)
May 2006	Thermo Electron Corp.	Fisher Scientific International Inc.
March 2006	Bayer AG	Schering AG

Using publicly available information and market data, Lazard calculated and analyzed the transaction value in each of the selecter precedent transactions as a multiple of each target company'

last twelve months (LTM) EBITDA and next twelve months (NTM) EBITDA, in each case with respect to the date of announcement of the transaction

Based upon its analysis, Lazard calculated a LTM enterprise value to EBITDA multiple reference range of 14.4x to 17.4x and applied such range to Alcon's estimated year 2010 EBITDA. Lazard then calculated an implied enterprise value reference range for Alcon resulting in an implied price per share range for Alcon of US$146.00 to US$175.00

Lazard also calculated a NTM enterprise value to EBITDA multiple reference range of 11.7x to 16.0x and applied such range to Alcon's estimated year 2011 EBITDA. Lazard then calculated an implied enterprise value reference range for Alcon, resulting in an implied price per share range for Alcon of US$120.00 to US$161.00

Other Analyses and Review

Minority Squeeze-Out Premiums Analysi

Lazard performed a minority squeeze-out premiums analysis based publicly available information on premiums paid in the 1' public company transactions with a US or European target company announced since 2006 with a transaction value greater than US$1 billion in which the acquiror owned between 50% and 80% of the target company. The implied premiums in this analysis were calculated by comparing the per share transaction price to the closing price of the target company's stock one-day prior to announcement of the transaction and to the target company's 1-month, 3-month and 6-month average closing price per share prior to announcement of the transaction. Based on the foregoing, Lazard applied the mean to median range of such implied premiums to Alcon's closing share price one-day prior to December 1, 2009 (the last unaffected trading day prior to the announcement of a proposed transaction between Alcon and Novartis), and to Alcon's 1-month, 3-month and 6-month average closing share price prior to December 1, 2009, which resulted in an implied price per share range for Alcon of US$152.00 to US$175.00

52-Week High/Lov

Lazard reviewed share price data for Alcon for the 52-week period ended December 13, 2010, the last trading day prior to the announcement of the merger. Lazard observed that, during this period, the closing share price for Alcon ranged from US$135.00 per share to US$170.18 per share

Miscellaneou

In connection with Lazard's services as Alcon's investment banker, Alcon agreed to pay Lazard an aggregate fee of US$1.5 million which was payable in full upon the earliest of (i) the date on which Lazard rendered its opinion, (ii) the date on which Lazard provided Alcon's board of directors, at its request, with a presentation in lieu of an opinion regarding Lazard's views concerning the fairness of the consideration proposed to be paid in the merger, and (iii) public announcement of the merger (subject to certain circumstances). Alcon also agreed to reimburse Lazard for certain expenses incurred in connection with Lazard's engagement and to indemnify Lazard and certain related persons under certain circumstances against certain liabilities that may arise from or relate to Lazard's engagement, including certain liabilities under US federal securities laws

Lazard, as part of its investment banking business, is continually engaged in the valuation of businesses and their securities in connection with mergers and acquisitions, negotiated underwritings, secondary distributions of listed and unlisted securities, private placements, leveraged buyouts, and valuations for estate, corporate and other purposes. Lazard and its affiliates have in the past provided currently are providing and in the future may provide certain investment banking services to Alcon, Novartis and certain of their respective affiliates, for which Lazard or its affiliates have received and may receive compensation, including, during the past two years, having performed certain financial advisory services for Novartis unrelated to the merger. In addition, in the ordinary course of their respective businesses, Lazard, LFCM Holdings LLC (an entity indirectly owned in large part by managing directors of Lazard) and their respective affiliates may actively trade securities of Alcon, Novartis and certain of their respective affiliates for their own accounts and for the accounts of their customers and, accordingly, may at any time hold a long or short position in such securities, and may also trade and hold securities on behalf of Alcon, Novartis and certain of their respective affiliates. The issuance of Lazard's opinion was approved by an authorized committee of Lazard Frères & Co. LLC

Lazard is an internationally recognized investment banking firm providing a full range of financial advisory and other services Lazard was selected to act as investment banker to Alcon because of its qualifications, expertise and reputation in investment banking and mergers and acquisitions, as well as its familiarity with the business of Alcon

Alcon and Novartis determined the Merger Consideration to be paid to the holders of Alcon shares in the merger throug arm's-length negotiations, and Alcon's board of directors approved the Merger Consideration. Lazard conducted the analyses and review summarized above for the purpose of providing an opinion to Alcon's board of directors as to the fairness, from a financial point of view, t the holders of Alcon shares (other than Alcon, Novartis and their respective affiliates) of the Merger Consideration to be paid to such holder in the merger. Lazard did not recommend any specific consideration to Alcon's board of directors or any other person or indicate that an given consideration constituted the only appropriate consideration for the merger

Lazard's opinion was one of many factors considered by Alcon's board of directors. Consequently, the summary of the analyses are reviews provided above should not be viewed as determinative of the opinion of Alcon's board of directors with respect to the Merge Consideration or of whether Alcon's board of directors would have been willing to recommend a different transaction or determine that different Merger Consideration was fair. Additionally, Lazard's opinion is not intended to confer any rights or remedies upon any employee or creditor of Alcon

Recommendation of the Independent Director Committe

The Independent Director Committee, acting with the advice and assistance of independent legal and financial advisors, evaluate and negotiated the terms and conditions of the merger agreement with Novartis. The Independent Director Committee unanimously resolve to recommend to the Alcon Board that the Alcon Board approve the merger agreement

In the course of reaching its determination and making the recommendation described above, the Independent Director Committee considered a number of factors, including the following the understanding of the Independent Director Committee of Alcon and its business as well as its financial performance results of operations and future prospects, which understanding contributed to the determination of the Independent Director Committee to recommend the merger agreement to the Alcon Board because it supported the view of the Independent Director Committee that the Merger Consideration reflected, among other things, an appropriate valuation of Alcon as a stand-alone business:

the opinion delivered orally (subsequently confirmed in writing) by Greenhill on December 14, 2010, to the effect that as of that date and based on and subject to the assumptions, limitations and qualifications set forth in its written opinion the Merger Consideration to be received by the Alcon shareholders (other than Novartis) pursuant to the merge agreement was fair, from a financial point of view, to such Alcon shareholders, which contributed to the determination of the Independent Director Committee to recommend the merger agreement to the Alcon Board because it supported the view of the

Independent Director Committee that the price offered by Novartis was fair to the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders

the long-term value of Alcon shares, which contributed to the determination of the Independent Director Committee to recommend the merger agreement to the Alcon Board because it supported the view of the Independent Director Committee that the price offered by Novartis was fair in light of, among other things, such long-term value;

the structure of the consideration payable under the merger agreement, which contributed to the determination of the Independent Director Committee to recommend the merger agreement to the Alcon Board because it results in Alcon shareholders receiving consideration valued at $168 per Alcon share (subject to changes in the market prices of Novarti shares and Novartis ADSs and the US dollar/Swiss franc exchange rate on and after the date of the annual general meeting of Alcon shareholders to which this prospectus relates, which may cause the value of the Merger Consideration to be higher or lower than $168 at the effective time of the merger);

the terms and conditions of the merger agreement, described under "The Merger Agreement and the Merger" beginning on page 104, which contains conditions to completion of the merger that the Independent Director Committee, after consulting with its legal counsel, considered to be reasonable, customary and reasonably likely to be satisfied in a timely manner, which the Independent Director Committee believed supported its determination to recommend the merger agreement to the Alcon Board;

the fact that the merger agreement contains a provision that requires a recommendation of the Independent Director Committee (not to be unreasonably withheld) before the Alcon Board and the Novartis Board can agree to a amendment to an essential term of the merger agreement, which contributed to the determination of the Independent Director Committee to recommend the merger agreement to the Alcon Board because it maintained the integrity of the recommendation described above:

the fact that the parties agreed in the merger agreement to interpret a "Material Change" (as defined in the merger agreement) as a change in the consolidated net assets of either party of more than 10% of the market value of all outstanding shares of such party, which contributed to the determination of the Independent Director Committee to recommend the merger agreement to the Alcon Board because it increased the certainty of completion of the merger;

the commitment of Novartis, subject to certain conditions, to vote or cause to be voted approximately 77% of the votin power of Alcon shares in favor of the merger, which contributed to the determination of the Independent Director Committee to recommend the merger agreement to the Alcon Board because it increased the certainty of completion of the merger.

the fact that there is no financing contingency to the merger, which contributed to the determination of the Independer Director Committee to recommend the merger agreement to the Alcon Board because it increased the certainty of the value offered to the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders; and the likelihood, considering the terms of the merger agreement, the financial and capital resources of Novartis and the incentives of Novartis to complete the merger, that the merger would be completed, and completed in a reasonably prompt time frame, which contributed to the determination of the Independent Director Committee to recommend the merger agreement to the Alcon Board because it supported the view of the Independent Director

Committee that it increased the certainty of value and time value of the consideration offered to the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders

The Independent Director Committee also considered a variety of risks and other potentially negative factors concerning the merge agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby, including the merger. These factors included the fact that the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders, following completion of the merger, would hold a relatively small percentage of equity ownership of Novartis, which the Independent Director Committee considered to the extent that is relates to their participation in future synergies resulting from the merger;

the structure of the consideration payable under the merger agreement, which the Independent Director Committee considered because, while providing downside protection, it limits the ability of Alcon shareholders to receive a value greater than $168 per Alcon share;

the commitment of Novartis, subject to certain conditions, to vote or cause to be voted approximately 77% of the voting power of Alcon shares in favor of the merger, combined with the absence of a requirement that a majority of the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders approve the merger agreement, which the Independent Director Committee considered because it increased the likelihood that the merger would be approved even if a significant number of the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders voted against it; and the limitations on Alcon's ability to obtain alternative offers from third parties to acquire Alcon as a result of Alcon' existing relationship with Novartis, including its ownership position in Alcon, which the Independent Directo Committee considered because it caused the Independent Director Committee to conclude that it was unlikely that an alternative transaction would be proposed by a third party

This discussion of the information and factors considered by the Independent Director Committee in reaching recommendation includes all of the material factors considered by the Independent Director Committee, but is not intended to be exhaustive. In view of the wide variety of factors the Independent Director Committee considered in evaluating the merger agreement, and the complexity of these matters, the Independent Director Committee did not find it practicable, and did not attempt, to quantify, rank or otherwise assign relative weight to the factors. In addition, different members of the Independent Director Committee may have given different weight to different factors.

In reaching its determination to make its recommendation, the Independent Director Committee did not consider the liquidation value of Alcon to be a relevant valuation method because it considered Alcon to be a viable going concern. The Independent Director Committee did not consider net book value to be a useful indicator of Alcon's value because the Independent Director Committee believed that net book value is indicative of historical costs but is not a material indicator of the value of Alcon as a going concern. In addition, the Independent Director Committee did not consider firm offers made by unaffiliated persons during the last two years (other than the transactions pursuant to the Purchase and Option Agreement described in "Special Factors" Background of the Merger" beginning page 34), as no such offers were made during that time

The Independent Director Committee believes that sufficient procedural safeguards were and are present to permit the Independent Director Committee to represent effectively the interests of the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders. These procedural safeguards include the following

Article V, Section 5 of the Alcon Organizational Regulations, which provides, among other things, that the Alcon Board may only resolve with respect to a merger with a majority shareholder of Alcon if a majority of the Independent Directo Committee so recommends

the active negotiations of the Independent Director Committee, with the assistance of independent legal and financia advisors, with representatives of Novartis regarding the merger consideration and the other terms of the merger and the merger agreement, which contributed to the determination of the Independent Director Committee determination to recommend the merger agreement to the Alcon Board because the Independent Director Committee believed such active negotiations resulted in the transaction's terms being more beneficial to the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders than the January 3 Proposal and in the initial draft of the merger agreement delivered by Novartis on November 23, 2010;

the fact that the Independent Director Committee is composed of three independent directors who are not affiliated with Novartis and are not employees of Alcon or any of its subsidiaries, which contributed to the determination of the Independent Director Committee to recommend the merger agreement to the Alcon Board because it believed such individuals could objectively evaluate the proposed transaction:

the fact that the Independent Director Committee received the advice and assistance of Greenhill as financial advisor and Pestalozzi and Sullivan & Cromwell, as legal advisors, and requested and received from Greenhill an opinion delivered orally and confirmed in writing on December 14, 2010, with respect to, as of such date, the fairness, from financial point of view, of the Merger Consideration to be received by Alcon shareholders (other than Novartis) pursuant to the merger agreement, which the Independent Director Committee believed supported its determination to recommend the merger agreement to the Alcon Board;

the fact that, other than receipt of board and committee fees (which are not contingent upon the consummation of the merger or the Independent Director Committee's recommendation of the merger agreement), their indemnification and liability insurance rights under the merger agreement and their entitlement under the merger agreement to receive merge consideration in respect of any Alcon shares and/or Alcon equity awards that they may hold, members of the Independent Director Committee do not have an interest in the merger different from that of the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders, which contributed to the Independent Director Committee's determination to recommend the merge agreement to the Alcon Board because it believed the compensation structure for the Independent Director Committee as well as the absence of differing interests in the merger, did not interfere with the ability of the Independent Director Committee to objectively evaluate the transaction; and the recognition by the Independent Director Committee that it had no obligation to recommend the approval of the merger agreement or any other transaction, which contributed to the determination of the Independent Director Committee to recommend the merger agreement to the Alcon Board because it believed that such recognition allower the Independent Director Committee to objectively evaluate the transaction

In light of the procedural safeguards described above, the Independent Director Committee did not consider it necessary to retain a unaffiliated representative to act solely on behalf of the unaffiliated Alcon shareholders for purposes of negotiating the terms of the merger agreement or preparing a report concerning the fairness of the merger agreement and the merger

Opinion of Greenhil

The Independent Director Committee retained Greenhill to act as its financial advisor in connection with the Independent Director Committee's consideration of the proposed terms of the potential merger. On December 14, 2010, at a meeting of the Independent Director Committee, Greenhill rendered to the Independent Director Committee an oral opinion, which was confirmed by delivery of a written opinion, dated December 14, 2010, to the effect that, as of the date of the opinion, and based upon and subject to the limitations and assumptions set forth therein, the Merger Consideration to be received by the holders of the Alcon shares (other than Novartis) pursuant to the merger agreement was fair, from a financial point of view, to such holders

The full text of Greenhill's written opinion dated December 14, 2010, which contains the assumptions made, procedures followed matters considered and limitations on the review undertaken in connection with the opinion, is attached as Annex D to this prospectus and i incorporated herein by reference. The summary of Greenhill's opinion in this prospectus is qualified in its entirety by reference to the ful text of the opinion reviewed the draft of the merger agreement presented to the Independent Director Committee at its meeting of December 14, 2010 and certain related documents;

In arriving at its opinion, Greenhill, among other things

reviewed certain publicly available financial statements of Alcon and Novartiss reviewed certain other publicly available business and financial information relating to Alcon and Novartis that Greenhill deemed relevant:

reviewed certain information, including financial forecasts and other financial and operating data concerning Alcon prepared by the management of Alcon;

reviewed certain publicly available financial forecasts relating to the business and financial prospects of Novartis prepared by certain research analysts (which are referred to in this prospectus as the Novartis street forecasts).

discussed the financial condition and prospects of Novartis with management of Novartis discussed the past and present operations and financial condition and the prospects of Alcon with senior executives of Alcon.

Alcon

reviewed the historical market prices and trading activity for the Alcon shares and analyzed its implied valuatio multiples:

compared the value of the Merger Consideration with that received in certain publicly available transactions that Greenhill deemed relevant, including certain squeeze-out transactions:

compared the value of the Merger Consideration with the trading valuations of certain publicly traded companies the Greenhill deemed relevant:

compared the value of the Merger Consideration to the valuation derived by discounting future cash flows and a termina value of Alcon at discount rates Greenhill deemed appropriate;

compared the pro forma ownership of the shareholders of Alcon (other than Novartis) in Novartis to Alcon's contribution to certain operating metrics;

participated in discussions and negotiations among representatives of the Independent Director Committee, Alcon and Novartis and their respective legal and financial advisors; and performed such other analyses and considered such other factors as Greenhill deemed appropriate

Greenhill's written opinion was addressed to the Independent Director Committee. It was not a recommendation to the Independent Director Committee as to whether it should approve the merge or the merger agreement, nor does it constitute a recommendation as to whether the shareholders of Alcon should approve or take any othe action with respect to the merger at any meeting of the shareholders convened in connection with the merger. Greenhill was not requested to opine as to, and its opinion did not in any manner address, the underlying business decision of Alcon or the Independent Director Committee to proceed with or effect the merger, the requirements of the laws of Switzerland, or other legal matters. Greenhill did not express any opinion as to any aspect of the merger other than the fairness, from a financial point of view, of the Merger Consideration to the holders of Alcon shares (other than Novartis) and, in particular, Greenhill did not express an opinion as to the prices at which Novartis shares will trade at any future time. Greenhill did not express any opinion on the amount or nature of any compensation to any officers, directors of employees of Alcon, or any class of such persons, relative to the Merger Consideration to be received by the holders of the Alcon shares in the merger or with respect to the fairness of any such compensation

In conducting its review and analysis and rendering its opinion, Greenhill assumed and relied upon, without independer verification, the accuracy and completeness of the information publicly available, supplied or otherwise made available to it b representatives and management of Alcon and Novartis for the purposes of its opinion and further relied upon the assurances of th representatives and management of Alcon and Novartis that they were not aware of any facts or circumstances that would make suc information inaccurate or misleading. With respect to the financial forecasts and other data concerning Alcon that was furnished or otherwise provided to Greenhill, Greenhill assumed that such forecasts and data were reasonably prepared on a basis reflecting the best currently available estimates and good faith judgments of the management of Alcon as to those matters, and Greenhill relied upon suc financial forecasts and data in arriving at its opinion. Novartis did not provide Greenhill with internally prepared forecasts, analyses of estimates and did not endorse the Novartis street forecasts or any other publicly available forecasts relating to the business and financia prospects of Novartis. Novartis did, however, participate in a discussion with Greenhill regarding its future business and financial prospect in which Novartis' management responded to questions posed by Greenhill based on the Novartis street forecasts and commented on th future business and financial prospects of Novartis. On the basis of the foregoing and with the Independent Director Committee's consen Greenhill assumed that the Novartis street forecasts were a reasonable basis upon which to evaluate the business and financial prospects of Novartis and used the Novartis street forecasts for the purposes of its opinion. Greenhill expressed no opinion with respect to the Novartis street forecasts and the financial forecasts and other data concerning Alcon that was furnished or otherwise provided to Greenhill or other data or the assumptions upon which they were based

Greenhill did not make any independent valuation or appraisal of the assets or liabilities of Alcon, nor was it furnished with any such appraisals. Greenhill assumed for purposes of its opinion that the merger will be consummated in accordance with the terms set forth in the final, executed merger agreement, without waiver of any material terms or conditions set forth in the merger agreement. Greenhill further assumed that all material governmental, regulatory and other consents and approvals necessary for the consummation of the merger will be obtained without any effect on Alcon or the merger meaningful to its analysis

Greenhill's opinion was necessarily based on financial, economic, market and other conditions as in effect on, and the information made available to it, as of December 14, 2010. Subsequent developments may affect its opinion, and Greenhill does not have any obligation to update, revise, or reaffirm its opinion

Greenhill was not requested to and did not solicit any expressions of interests from any other parties with respect to the sale of Alcon, the sale of the Alcon shares held by Alcon shareholders (other than Novartis) or any other alternative transaction. Greenhill expressed no opinion as to whether any alternative transaction might produce consideration for the shareholders of Alcon (other than Novartis) in an amount in excess of that contemplated in the merger

The Independent Director Committee retained Greenhill based on its qualifications and expertise in providing financial advice and on its reputation as an internationally recognized investment banking firm. During the two years preceding the date of Greenhill's written opinion, Greenhill had not been engaged by, performed any services for or received any compensation from Alcon or any other parties the merger (other than amounts that were paid to Greenhill under the letter agreement pursuant to which Greenhill was retained as a financial advisor to the Independent Director Committee in connection with the merger). Under the terms of Greenhill's engagement letter with the Independent Director Committee, Greenhill will receive a customary fee from the Independent Director Committee in connection with the merger, of which a portion has been paid, and of which a portion is contingent on the consummation of the merger. Alcon has also agreed to indemnify Greenhill for certain liabilities that may arise out of Greenhill's engagement. Greenhill's opinion was approved by its fairnes committee.

Greenhill's opinion was one of the many factors considered by the Independent Director Committee in evaluating the merge agreement and the merger and should not be viewed as determinative of the views of the Independent Director Committee with respect to the merger agreement or the merger

Summary of Greenhill's Financial Analyse

The following is a summary of the material financial analyses presented by Greenhill to the Independent Director Committee i connection with rendering its opinion described above. The following summary, however, does not purport to be a complete description of the financial analyses performed by Greenhill, nor does the order of the analyses described represent the relative importance or weight give to those analyses by Greenhill. Some of the summaries of the financial analyses include information presented in tabular format. In order t fully understand the financial analyses performed by Greenhill, the tables must be read together with the full text of each summary and ar not alone a complete description of Greenhill's financial analyses. Considering the data set forth in the tables below without considering the narrative description of the financial analyses, including the methodologies and assumptions underlying the analyses, could create misleading or incomplete view of Greenhill's financial analyses. Except as otherwise noted, the following quantitative information, to the extent that it is based on market data, is based on market data as it existed on or before December 13, 2010, and is not necessarily indicative of current market conditions.

Selected Comparable Company Analysi

Greenhill performed a selected comparable company analysis of Alcon, an analysis that is based on factors such as the then-current market values, capital structure and operating statistics of other publicly traded companies believed to be generally relevant, in order to derive trading multiples for these companies, which then could be applied to Alcon to derive an implied per share equity value range for

In this analysis, Greenhill reviewed, to the extent publicly available, selected financial and stock market data for the following publicly traded companies, which are collectively referred to below as the selected companies

Abbott Laboratories

Allergan, Inc.

Baxter International, Inc.

Johnson & Johnson

Medtronic, Inc

Table of Content

St. Jude Medical, Inc.

Stryker Corporation

Zimmer Holdings, Inc

Greenhill selected these companies because, among other reasons, they are publicly traded companies with operations or businesse that for purposes of analysis may be considered similar or reasonably comparable to those of Alcon. Greenhill believes that none of the selected companies is directly comparable to Alcon. Out of the selected companies, Greenhill considered Allergan to be more comparable than the others given Allergan's participation in the ophthalmic pharmaceutical industry. Financial data of the selected companies was based on publicly available data, including Capital IQ, Inc., FactSet Research Systems, Inc., the Institutional Brokers' Estimate System, publicitings and other publicly available information as of December 13, 2010. Financial data of Alcon was based on the financial forecasts and other financial and operating data concerning Alcon prepared by or discussed with the management of Alcon, and which Alcon provided to Greenhill to utilize for purposes of its analyses

Selected Companies Analysis. For purposes of this analysis, Greenhill analyzed the following information for the selected companies, as well as for Alcon enterprise value, calculated as the sum of the fully diluted market value of the respective company's common stock, the book value of its outstanding debt, the book value of its preferred stock and the book value of any minority interest minus total cash and cash equivalents, as a multiple of estimated earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization, referred to herein as EBITDA, for estimated calendar years 2010 and 2011; and fully diluted equity value of its common stock as a multiple of estimated net income, for estimated calendar years 201 and 2011

Based on these analyses and applying its professional judgment and experience, Greenhill selected a range of enterprise value multiples of estimated EBITDA between 8.0x and 9.0x for calendar year 2010 and between 7.5x and 8.5x for calendar year 2011 and selected a range of equity value multiples of estimated net income between 12.5x and 13.5x for calendar year 2010 and between 11.5x and 12.5x for calendar year 2011

Because Alcon's share price has historically traded at a premium compared to the selected companies, Greenhill, in order to derive an implied per share equity value range for Alcon, calculated Alcon's average historical EBITDA and EPS to the selected companies for the three years prior to April 4, 2008 (the date of Novartis' announcement of its intent to purchase the shares of Alcon that at the time were held by Nestlé) and Greenhill then applied the same multiple premia to the multiples of the selected companies derived by Greenhill as discussed above.

For purposes of calculating Alcon's implied enterprise and per share equity value ranges for this analysis, Greenhill assumed a ne cash position of $2,469 million and a fully diluted share count of Alcon. When applied to Alcon, the enterprise value multiples of estimated EBITDA and Alcon's historical multiple premium as described above yielded an implied per share equity value range of approximately $13 to $147 and the equity value multiples of estimated net income and Alcon's historical multiple premium as described above yielded as implied per share equity value range of approximately $140 to $151. Greenhill compared these ranges to the Merger Consideration to be received by holders of Alcon shares (other than Novartis) in the merger

Allergan Analysis. As Greenhill viewed Allergan as the most comparable of the selected companies to Alcon, Greenhill conducted an additional comparable company valuation analysis based on Allergan's enterprise value multiples of estimated EBITDA and equity value multiples of estimated net income in order to derive an implied per share equity value range for Alcon. Based on these analyses and applying its professional judgment and experience, Greenhill selected a range of enterprise value multiples of estimated EBITDA for Allergan between 12.0x and 14.0x for calendar year 2010 and between 10.5x and 12.5x for calendar year 2011 and equity value multiples of estimated net income between 21.5x and 23.5x for calendar year 2010 and between 18.5x and 20.5x for calendar year 2011. For purposes of calculating Alcon's implied enterprise and per share equity value ranges for this analysis, Greenhill assumed a net cash position of $2,469 million and a fully diluted share count of Alcon. When applied to Alcon, the enterprise value multiples of estimated EBITDA yielded an implied per share equity value range of approximately $120 to $140 and the equity value multiples of estimated net income yielded as implied per share equity value range of approximately $159 to $175. This resulted in an average implied per share equity value range of Alcon share (other than Novartis) in the mergen

Discounted Cash Flow Analysi

Greenhill performed a discounted cash flow analysis of Alcon on a standalone basis using financial forecasts and estimates prepared by Alcon's management, and provided to Greenhill, for fiscal years 2010 through 2013. Greenhill calculated a range of implied present values per Alcon share by discounting to present value as of September 30, 2010 (a) estimates of Alcon's unlevered free cash flow for the calendar years 2010 through 2013 calculated using the financial forecasts and estimates prepared by Alcon's management and provided to Greenhill and (b) terminal values for Alcon as of December 31, 2027 using an intermediate unlevered free cash flow growth rate range of 6.0% to 7.0% for fiscal years 2014 through 2022 (in order to reflect Alcon's intermediate term growth potential) and using a terminal perpetuity growth rate of 2.5% after the end of 2022. These unlevered free cash flows and terminal values were then discounted to calculate an indication of present values using the discount rates ranging from 8.75% to 9.25%, which range was selected using a weighted average cost of capital methodology. The analysis also assumed, among other factors, (a) at the instruction of Alcon management, an approximately 1.1% per annum increase in Alcon's effective tax rate from fiscal years 2014 through 2027 and thereafter a constant tax rate of 27% in perpetuity and (b) for purposes of calculating Alcon's implied enterprise and per share equity value ranges, a net cash position of $2,469 million as of September 30, 2010 and a fully diluted share count of Alcon as of November 30, 2010. This methodology resulted in an implied per share equity value range of Alcon of approximately $154 to $175. Greenhill compared this range to the Merger Consideration to be received by holders of Alcon shares (other than Novartis) in the merger

Precedent Transaction Analysi

Greenhill performed an analysis of selected recent change of control transactions (the "Precedent Transactions") involving companies engaged in the medical device industry (the "Precedent Medical Device Transactions") and specialty pharmaceuticals industry (the "Precedent Specialty Pharmaceutical Transactions") consisting of selected transactions announced since January 1, 2007 and valued a greater than $1 billion, based on publicly available information

Although Greenhill analyzed the valuation multiples implied by the Precedent Transactions and compared them to the transaction multiples implied by the merger, none of these transactions is identical to the acquisition of Alcon by Novartis pursuant to the merge agreement, especially since a change of control of Alcon will not occur in the merger. Accordingly, Greenhill's analysis of the Preceden Transactions necessarily involved complex considerations and judgments concerning the differences in financial and operating characteristics, the parties involved and terms of their transactions and other factors that would necessarily affect the implied value of Alcon versus the values of the companies in the selected transactions. In evaluating the preceden transactions, Greenhill made judgments and assumptions concerning industry performance, general business, economic, market and financial conditions and other matters. Greenhill also made judgments as to the relative comparability of those companies to Alcon and judgments at to the relative companies. Greenhill also noted that the multiple implied by the Merger Consideration to be paid pursuant to the merger agreement are attractive relative to those paid in change-of-control.

Using publicly available information for the Precedent Transactions, Greenhill reviewed the consideration paid in each of the Precedent Transactions and analyzed (a) the enterprise value implied by such consideration as a multiple of EBITDA and revenues and (b) such consideration as a multiple of net income, in each case for the twelve month period preceding the applicable transaction, such twelve month period referred to herein as LTM

Precedent Specialty Pharmaceutical Transaction

Date Announced	Acquiror / Target
10/11/2010	Pfizer Inc. / King Pharmaceuticals Inc.
6/20/2010	Biovail Corporation / Valeant Pharmaceuticals International
5/21/2010	Abbott Laboratories / Piramal (Domestic Formulations Business)

8/24/2009	Warner Chilcott plc / Procter & Gamble Pharmaceuticals, Inc.
4/20/2009	GlaxoSmithKline plc / Stiefel Laboratories, Inc.

Greenhill derived from the Precedent Transactions a reference range of valuation multiples for such transactions. The median LTM enterprise value to EBITDA multiple for the Precedent Medical Device Transactions was 17.8x and the median enterprise value to LTM for the Precedent Specialty Pharmaceutical Transactions was 8.4x. Based on this analysis, Greenhill derived a LTM enterprise value to EBITDA multiple range of 13.0x to 15.0x for the Precedent Transactions. Greenhill then applied these multiples to Alcon in order to derive an implied per share equity value range for Alcon, which resulted in an implied per share equity value of approximately $129 to $147 for Alcon

The median LTM price to earnings ratio for the Precedent Medical Device Transactions was 33.2x and the median LTM price to earnings ratio for the Precedent Specialty Pharmaceutical Transactions was 12.6x. Based on this analysis, Greenhill derived a LTM price to earnings multiple range of 22.0x to 25.0x for the Precedent Transactions. Greenhill then applied these multiples to Alcon in order to derive an implied per share equity value range for Alcon, which resulted in an implied per share equity value of approximately $163 to $185 for

Greenhill then averaged the LTM enterprise value to EBITDA implied per share equity value range and the LTM price to earning ratio equity value range as described above to derive an average implied per share equity value of approximately $146 to $166 for Alcon Greenhill then compared this range to the Merger Consideration to be received by holders of Alcon shares (other than Novartis) in the merger

Squeeze-Out Premiums Paid Analysi

Using publicly available information, Greenhill analyzed the premiums offered in 88 selected public company minority shareholde squeeze-out transactions valued at greater than $1 billion and announced since January 1, 2000 in which 15% to 50% of the target company' shares were acquired in such transactions

For each of these transactions, Greenhill reviewed the premiums represented by the acquisition price per share in each such transaction as compared to the average closing price per share of the target company one day, one week and one month prior to the announcement of such transaction. This analysis indicated the following mean and median premiums for those time periods prior to announcement

	One Day Prior to	One Week Prior to	One Month Prior to
	Announcement	Announcement	Announcement
Mean	15.2%	17.8%	19.8%
Median	12.5%	15.2%	16.9%
			80

Table of Content

Based on this analysis, Greenhill applied a summary range based on the median premia for the transactions described above to (a) the unaffected Alcon closing share price on December 1, 2009, one day prior to the UBS research report published on December 2, 2009 speculating about a potential purchase of the shares of Alcon held by minority shareholders and (b) research analysts' consensus on the fundamental value of Alcon's share price prior to Novartis' offer to acquire Alcon's remaining shares on January 4, 2010, in order to derive an implied per share value range for Alcon's shares

This methodology resulted in an implied per share value range of approximately $162 to $168 for Alcon. Greenhill compared thi range to the Merger Consideration to be received by holders of Alcon shares (other than Novartis) in the merger

Greenhill noted that the reasons for, and circumstances surrounding, each of the transactions reviewed were diverse and that the premiums fluctuated based on such factors as perceived growth, synergies, strategic value and type of consideration utilized in such acquisition transactions. None of the target companies in the these transactions is identical to Alcon and, accordingly, Greenhill's analysis of these transactions necessarily involved complex considerations and judgments concerning the differences in financial and operating characteristics and other factors that would necessarily affect the comparison of the premium implied by the merger versus the premium implied by these transactions

Contribution Analysis of Alcon and Novarti

Greenhill examined the implied contribution of each of Novartis and Alcon's Minority Shareholders to the combined company' estimated EBIT, net income and revenues for the years 2011, 2012 and 2013, in each case using projections derived from the Alcon management financial forecasts and from financial forecasts prepared by research analysts. As is customary in a contribution analysis with stock consideration, Greenhill did not take into account potential synergies in conducting contribution analyses, due to the difficulty of projecting the level and timing around recognition of such synergies. The following table sets forth the results of this analysis, which assumes a base of 2.8 Novartis shares for every Alcon share in the merger and does not include potential adjustments to be made in cash of Novartis shares pursuant to the merger agreement

	Novartis	Alcon Minority Shareholders
EBIT
2011	94.4%	5.6%
2012	94.2%	5.8%
2013	93.4%	6.6%
Net Income
2011	94.1%	5.9%
2012	93.9%	6.1%
2013	93.0%	7.0%
Revenue
2011	96.7%	3.3%
2012	96.5%	3.5%
2013	96.2%	3.8%

Greenhill compared the percentages of the measures described above contributed by the Minority Shareholders' interest in Alcon to their estimated percentage ownership in the combined entity after giving effect to the merger

Other Consideration

In connection with its analyses, Greenhill also assumed that Novartis' publicly traded share price is an accurate reflection of it intrinsic value. Greenhill based such assumption upon certain factors, including market pricing should be an efficient reflection of supply and demand based on publicly available information gives Novartis' size and trading liquidity.

Novartis trades in line with its peer group on a price/earnings basis.

Novartis is widely covered by the analyst community

Greenhill also analyzed Novartis' share price performance for the past two years and relative share price performance for the past five years and performed a selected comparable companies analysis. In addition, Greenhill conducted a due diligence meeting with Novarti management on December 7, 2010 to confirm that there was no material non-public information that would have a meaningful negative impact on the price of Novartis shares if disclosed

The summary set forth above does not purport to be a complete description of the analyses or data presented by Greenhill, but simply describes, in summary form, the material analyses that Greenhill considered in connection with its opinion. The preparation of a opinion regarding fairness is a complex analytical process involving various determinations as to the most appropriate and relevant method of financial analysis and the application of those methods to the particular circumstances, and, therefore, such an opinion is not readil susceptible to partial analysis or summary description. The preparation of an opinion regarding fairness does not involve a mathematica evaluation or weighing of the results of the individual analyses performed, but requires Greenhill to exercise its professional judgmen based on its experience and expertise, in considering a wide variety of analyses taken as a whole. Each of the analyses conducted b Greenhill was carried out in order to provide a different perspective on the financial terms of the merger and add to the total mix of information available. Greenhill did not form a conclusion as to whether any individual analysis, considered in isolation, supported or faile to support an opinion about the fairness of the Merger Consideration to be paid to the holders of Alcon shares (other than Novartis) pursuar to the merger agreement. Rather, in reaching its conclusion, Greenhill considered the results of the analyses in light of each other an without placing particular reliance or weight on any particular analysis, and concluded that its analyses, taken as a whole, supported it determination. Accordingly, notwithstanding the separate factors summarized above, Greenhill believes that its analyses must be considere as a whole and that selecting portions of its analyses and the factors considered by it, without considering all analyses and factors, ma create an incomplete view of the evaluation process underlying its opinion. In performing its analyses, Greenhill made numerou assumptions with respect to industry performance, business and economic conditions and other matters. The analyses performed b Greenhill are not necessarily indicative of future actual values or results, which may be significantly more or less favorable than suggeste by such analyses. The analyses do not purport to be appraisals or to reflect the prices at which Alcon shares or Novartis shares migh actually be sold

As a result of the merger, Alcon will merge with and into Novartis. Novartis will be the surviving corporation in the merger Following completion of the merger, the Articles of Incorporation of Novartis in effect as of completion of the merger will be the Articles of Incorporation of the surviving corporation, and the Organizational Regulations of Novartis in effect as of the completion of the merger will be the Organizational Regulations of the surviving corporation

Public Shareholder

Following completion and as a result of the merger, there will no longer be any publicly held Alcon shares. Alcon's publishareholders will only participate in the surviving corporation's future earnings and potential growth through their ownership of Novartis ADS:

Stock Exchange Delisting and Deregistration

As promptly as practicable following completion of the merger, Novartis will cause Alcon shares to be delisted from the NYSE and deregistered under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act"). Registration under the Exchange Act may be terminated upon application to the SEC if the Alcon shares are neither listed on a national securities exchange nor held by 300 or more holders of record. As a result of such deregistration, Alcon will no longer be required to file reports with the SEC or otherwise be subject to the United States federal securities laws applicable to public companies

Effect on the Interest of Novartis in the Net Book Value and Net Earnings of Alco

The table below sets forth the interest of Novartis in Alcon's net book value and net earnings before and after the merger, based of the historical net book value of Alcon as of, and the historical net earnings of Alcon for, the year ended December 31, 2010. As discussed in Position of Novartis Regarding Fairness of the Merger", Novartis does not believe that net book value is a material indicator of the value Alcon as a going concern but rather is primarily indicative of historical costs.

Plans for Alco

Upon completion of the merger, Alcon will be merged with and into Novartis and Novartis will be the surviving corporation Following such completion, Alcon will become the new eye care division of Novartis. The new eye care division will be the second larges division of Novartis and Mr. Kevin Buehler, current President and CEO of Alcon, will lead this new division

Novartis has reviewed and will continue to review various potential business strategies that it may consider in the event that the merger is completed. Novartis expects to continue to review Alcon's assets, corporate structure, capitalization, operations, properties policies, management and personnel to consider and determine what other changes, if any, would be appropriate or desirable. Novarti expressly reserves the right to make any changes that it deems necessary, appropriate or convenient in light of its review or future developments. Subject the preceding sentences of this paragraph, Novartis has no current plans or proposals or negotiations that relate to o would result in: (i) an extraordinary corporate transaction, such as a merger, reorganization or liquidation involving Alcon or any of it subsidiaries; (ii) any purchase, sale or transfer of a material amount of assets of Alcon or any of its subsidiaries; (iii) any material change in the indebtedness or capitalization of Alcon; (iv) any change in the present board of directors or management of Alcon, including, but no limited to, any plans or proposals to change the number or the term of directors and to fill any existing vacancies on the Alcon Board or to change any material term of the employment contract of any executive officer; or (v) any other material change in Alcon's corporate structure or business

Accounting Treatmen

Novartis prepares its consolidated financial statements using IFRS, as issued by IASB. Novartis previously acquired approximately 77% of Alcon shares and therefore fully consolidates Alcon. In accordance with IFRS, the merger will be treated as a separate acquisition of the remaining non-controlling interests in Alcon that Novartis does not currently own and therefore will be accounted for as an equity transaction.

As described in more detail under "The Merger Agreement and the Merger Merger Consideration" beginning on page 104, Novar will pay consideration valued at $168 per Alcon share for each Alcon share outstanding at the effective time of the merger (other than Alcon shares owned by Novartis). Based on an estimated maximum number of Alcon shares outstanding at the effective time of the merger (other than Alcon shares owned by Novartis), Novartis therefore expects to deliver total Merger Consideration valued at approximately $12.9 billion to the non-controlling minority Alcon shareholders in connection with the merger. In accordance with IFRS, Novartis has recorded the value of the outstanding non-controlling interests at December 31, 2010 at approximately $6.5 billion. Based on this value ascribed to the outstanding non-controlling interests as a corresponding reduction in the consolidated equity of Novartis. This reduction in consolidated equity will be offset by an increase in consolidated equity in an amount equal to the market value at the effective time of the merger of the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs that Novartis will deliver as part of the Merger Consideration. To the extent Novartis will be required to also pay cash as part of the Merger Consideration (upon exercise of the put option), there will be no such offsetting increase in the consolidated equity of Novartis, which will be potentially reduced by an amount equal to such payments, if any

Material Swiss Income Tax Consequence

Generally, from a Swiss tax perspective, the merger has no direct tax consequences on the merging companies, a fact that wa confirmed to Novartis in a tax ruling by the Swiss Federal Tax authorities

The merger will result in an increase in nominal value, corresponding to the excess of the aggregate nominal value of Novarti shares issued to Alcon shareholders over the aggregate nominal value of the Alcon shares tendered. The increase in nominal value per Alcon share is subject to 35% Swiss federal withholding tax. Novartis has agreed to pay and bear the withholding tax. Accordingly, the amount subject to withholding tax is grossed up and corresponds to approximately 153.8% of the increase in nominal value per Alcon share. Swist resident shareholders are in principle entitled to a full refund or tax credit of the withholding tax against their income tax liability, if they duly report the taxable amount. Non-Swiss resident Alcon shareholders may be entitled to a partial refund of the withholding tax pursuant to the terms of any Swiss international double taxation treaty that may be applicable to them. In particular, US resident Alcon shareholders are in principle entitled to a refund of 20% of the taxable amount (or, in the case of qualified US pension funds as defined for the purposes of the Switzerland-US income tax treaty, to a full refund of the Swiss tax withheld in respect of their Alcon shares) if they meet all requirement that apply to them pursuant to the applicable tax treaty

Payments made under the put option, if any, are also subject to Swiss federal withholding tax at a rate of 35%; Alcon shareholder can, should such a payment be made, reclaim the full amount of the Swiss tax withheld if they are resident for tax purposes in Switzerland or if they hold their Alcon shares through a fixed base or a permanent business establishment located in Switzerland, and if they duly report the respective payments subject to income tax. Alcon shareholders who are resident in the United States for tax purposes may generally reclaim a portion of the withholding tax representing 20% of the gross payment under the put option (subject to further conditions a stipulated in the US-Switzerland income tax treaty). Alcon shareholders who are qualified US pension funds (as defined for the purposes of the US-Switzerland income tax treaty) are eligible for a full refund of the Swiss withholding tax. Alcon shareholders who are resident for tax purposes in other jurisdictions may be eligible for a partial (or full) refund of the Swiss withholding tax pursuant to the terms of any Swis international double taxation treaty that may be applicable to them

For Alcon shareholders who are Swiss resident individuals holding their Alcon shares as private property, the share component of the Merger Consideration will not be subject to any Swiss income tax, except for the amount of increase in nominal value per Alcon share including the federal withholding tax thereon paid and borne by Novartis (as described above). Such amount will be subject to income taxe at federal and, in general, at cantonal and communal levels. For all other Swiss resident Alcon shareholders and Alcon shareholders who hold their Alcon shares through a fixed base or permanent establishment in Switzerland, the receipt of Novartis shares may be treated as an income tax neutral exchange if the aggregate book value of the Alcon shares used by the Alcon shareholder is maintained for income tax purposes. The refund claim for the withholding tax paid and borne by Novartis in respect of the increase in nominal value per Alcon share in reportable as taxable investment income

For any Alcon shareholders who are tax residents of jurisdictions other than Switzerland and the United States, the receipt of Novartis shares will not be subject to any Swiss taxes other than the federal withholding tax in respect of the increase in nominal value per Alcon share, which will be paid and borne by Novartis and may entitle such Alcon shareholder to a partial or full reclaim of such tax pursuant to an applicable tax treaty. The receipt, if any, of payments under the put option will be subject to 35% Swiss federal dividence withholding tax, which may be reclaimed in full or in part by such Alcon shareholders pursuant to the terms of any Swiss international double taxation treaty that may be applicable to them

Alcon shareholders other than Swiss residents may submit withholding tax reclaims through Globe Tax Services, Inc ("GlobeTax"). Alcon shareholders who are US residents may file withholding tax reclaims via GlobeTax's global refunding procedure for fee of $0.004 per Alcon share or via GlobeTax's long-form process for a fee of $0.005 per Alcon share. Alcon shareholders who are tax residents of a jurisdiction (other than Switzerland or the United States) with a Swiss international double taxation treaty may file reclaim via the long-form process for a fee of $0.005 per Alcon share. Fees will be deducted from the payment of the withholding tax refund Non-Swiss resident shareholders may not be able to file claims for the reduction of withholding tax directly with the Swiss Federal Tax Administration

Alcon shareholders should consult with their tax advisors as to the tax consequences of the receipt of Novartis shares and/or cash and/or reclaims of Swiss withholding taxes pursuant to the tax laws of the jurisdictions in which they are resident for tax purposes. Alcon shareholders who hold their Alcon shares in "street name" through a broker or custodian should consult with their broker or custodian

Material United States Federal Income Tax Consequence

The following discussion is based on the advice of Allen & Overy LLP and contains a general discussion of the material US federa income tax consequences of the merger and the ownership and disposition of the Novartis shares and Novartis ADSs that may be relevant t you if you are a US Holder (as defined below). This summary is based on the Code, final, temporary and proposed US Treasury regulations administrative and judicial interpretations, all of which are subject to change, possibly with retroactive effect. Because this discussion doe not consider any specific circumstances of any particular holder of Alcon shares, Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs, persons who are subject to US taxation are strongly urged to consult their own tax advisors as to the overall US federal, state and local tax consequences, as well a to the overall Swiss and other foreign tax consequences, of the ownership and disposition of Alcon shares, Novartis shares or Novarti ADSs. In particular, additional or different rules may apply to US expatriates, banks and other financial institutions, regulated investmen companies, real estate investment trusts, traders in securities who elect to apply a mark-to-market method of accounting, dealers in securitie or currencies, tax-exempt entities, insurance companies, broker-dealers, investors liable for alternative minimum tax, investors that hol shares or ADSs as part of a straddle, hedging or conversion transaction, US Holders whose functional currency is not the US dollar partnerships or other pass through entities, persons who acquired Alcon shares, Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs pursuant to the exercise of employee stock options or otherwise as compensation and persons who hold directly, indirectly or by attribution, 10% or more of the votin power of the outstanding Alcon shares or of the outstanding Novartis shares and Novartis ADSs. This discussion generally applies only t US Holders who hold the Alcon shares, Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs as a capital asset (generally, for investment purposes), and whos functional currency is the US dollar. Investors are urged to consult their own tax advisors concerning whether they are eligible for benefit under the income tax treaty between the United States and Switzerland as currently in force

For purposes of this discussion, a "US Holder" is a beneficial owner of Alcon shares, Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs who is an individual who is a citizen or resident of the United States for US federal income tax purposes:

a corporation (or other entity taxable as a corporation for US federal income tax purposes) created or organized in o under the laws of the United States or a state thereof or the District of Columbia;

an estate the income of which is subject to US federal income taxation regardless of its source; or a trust (i) subject to the primary supervision of a US court and the control of one or more US persons or (ii) that has valid election in place to be treated as a US person

If a partnership (or other entity treated as a partnership for US federal income tax purposes) holds shares or ADSs, the tax treatment of a partner generally will depend upon the status of the partner and the activities of the partnership. Partners in a partnership that hold shares or ADSs are urged to consult their own tax advisor regarding the specific tax consequences of the owning and disposing of such shares or ADSs by the partnership.

For US federal income tax purposes, a US Holder of ADSs generally will be treated as the beneficial owner of the share represented by the ADSs. However, please see the discussion under " Dividends" beginning on page 89 regarding certain statements made the US Treasury concerning depositary arrangements

This discussion assumes that each obligation in the Deposit Agreement and any related agreement will be performed in accordance with its terms

Consequences of the Merge

The characterization of the merger from a US federal income tax perspective is not clear. The question essentially turns on whether the acquisition by Novartis from Nestlé of its initial 25% non-controlling interest in Alcon in 2008 and the subsequent acquisition of a 52% controlling majority interest in Alcon on August 25, 2010 for cash should be integrated with the merger as part of a single plan. If th transactions were integrated then there would not be sufficient "continuity of interest", and the merger could not qualify as a tax-fre reorganization under Section 368(a) of the Code. Novartis acquired both its initial 25% interest in Alcon and the 52% controlling interest pursuant to a Purchase and Option Agreement between Novartis and Nestlé. As described in more detail under " Background of the Mergi beginning on page 34, Novartis acquired the 52% controlling interest in Alcon following exercise by Novartis, at the earliest possible date of its call option under the Purchase and Option Agreement. The Purchase and Option Agreement also granted Nestlé an option to put it remaining 52% controlling interest in Alcon to Novartis, subject to the terms of the Purchase and Option Agreement. These facts, amon other things, support integrating the acquisition transactions from a tax perspective. On the other hand, the acquisition by Novartis of th initial 25% interest in Alcon occurred in 2008, and there was no legal requirement that either Novartis or Nestlé exercise their respectiv options under the Purchase and Option Agreement. This could support an argument that the initial 25% interest of Novartis in Alcon shoul be treated as "old and cold". If it was so treated, that 25% interest, together with the Novartis shares to be delivered to the non-controllin minority Alcon shareholders in connection with the merger, should satisfy the "continuity of interest" requirement, and the merger shoul then qualify as a tax-free reorganization. While the matter is not free from doubt, Novartis intends to treat the merger as a taxable transaction. US Holders should consult their own tax advisors as to the proper characterization of the merger and consider the consequence of either treatment, each of which is described below

The discussion set forth below assumes that Alcon does not constitute, and has not in the past constituted, a passive foreign investment company ("PFIC") for US federal income tax purposes. If this assumption is incorrect, the US federal income tax consequence of the merger to a US Holder of Alcon shares will differ from those set forth above. While it is not expected that Alcon has constituted of does constitute a PFIC, no investigation or representation has been or is being made in that regard

A US Holder that subsequently converts Swiss francs received in connection with the merger into US dollars will generally recognize exchange gain or loss equal to the difference between the US Holder's basis in the Swiss francs (as described above) and the US dollars received in exchange therefor. Exchange gain or loss will generally be treated as US source ordinary income or loss

Taxable Merge

If the merger is taxable under section 368(a) of the Code, a US Holder would generally recognize gain or loss upon the receipt of the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs and cash, whether paid in Swiss francs or US dollars, in exchange for such US Holder's Alcon share in connection with the merger in an amount equal to the difference between: (i) the sum of (x) the fair market value of the Novartis shares of Novartis ADSs received; (y) the amount of Swiss withholding tax paid by Novartis on behalf of the US Holder with respect to the gain in nominal value per Alcon share, and (z) the amount of US dollars, if any, received or, in the case of cash received in Swiss francs, the US dollar value of such Swiss francs determined based on the USD/CHF spot rate on the date payment is received (with respect to either cash in settlement of the Put Option or cash received in lieu of fractional shares), including any cash withheld to pay Swiss withholding tax; and (ii) the US Holder's adjusted tax basis in the Alcon shares exchanged in the merger

Gain or loss would generally be capital gain or loss, and any such gain or loss would generally be long-term capital gain or loss in the US Holder's holding period for such Alcon shares exceeds one year at the time of the exchange. Long-term capital gains of non-corporate US Holders are currently subject to reduced rates of taxation. The deductibility of capital losses is subject to limitations.

A US Holder's initial tax basis in the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs would be the fair market value of such Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs on the date of receipt. The holding period for the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs would begin on the day following the day the merger closes. A US Holder's tax basis in any Swiss francs received would equal the US dollar value of those Swiss francs using the same USD/CHF spot rate used to determine the amount of gain or loss recognized

In the case of a US Holder who holds Alcon shares with differing tax bases and/or holding periods, the preceding rules must be applied separately to each identifiable block of Alcon shares

Tax-Free Reorganizatio

If the merger qualifies as a tax-free reorganization, a US Holder will not recognize any loss and will recognize gain equal to the lesser of: (i) the cash (other than cash attributable to fractional Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs) received and (ii) the gain realized by the US Holder in the merger (i.e., the amount the US Holder would have recognized in a taxable merger). For US Federal income tax purposes cash includes (x) the amount of US dollars, if any, received, or, in the case of cash received in Swiss francs, the US dollar value of such Swiss francs determined based on the USD/CHF spot rate on the date payment is received, (y) the amount of Swiss withholding tax paid by Novartis on behalf of the US Holder with respect to the gain in nominal value per Alcon share and (z) any cash withholding tax withholding tax

Any gain recognized by a US Holder with respect to Alcon shares as a consequence of participating in the merger will generally be capital gain and will generally be long-term capital gain if such Alcon shares have been held for more than one year on the closing date of the merger. It is possible, however, that a US Holder would instead be required to treat all or part of such gain as dividend income if the US Holder's percentage ownership in Novartis (including Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs that the US Holder is deemed to own under certain attribution rules) after the transaction is not meaningfully reduced from what the US Holder's percentage ownership would have been if the US Holder had received solely Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs rather than a combination of cash and Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs in the merger. If a US Holder who has a relatively minimal stock interest in Alcon and Novartis suffers a reduction in its proportionate interest in Novartis relative to what its proportionate interest in Novartis would have been had it received solely Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs in the merger, the US Holder should be regarded as having suffered a meaningful reduction in interest. A US Holder should consult its own tare advisor as to whether its receipt of cash in the merger will be treated as capital gain or dividend income under the Code

A US Holder who receives Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs will have an adjusted tax basis in the Novartis shares or Novarti ADSs received in the merger (including fractional Novartis shares or ADSs deemed received) equal to the adjusted tax basis of the Alcor shares surrendered, increased by the amount of gain, if any, recognized, including any portion of the gain that is treated as a dividend, and decreased by the amount, if any, of any cash received. The holding period for Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs received in exchange for Alcon shares in the merger will include the holding period for the Alcon shares surrendered in the merger

US Holders will recognize gain or loss on any cash received in lieu of fractional Novartis shares or ADSs equal to the difference between the amount of cash received in lieu of fractional Novartis shares or ADSs and the US Holder's tax basis in the fractional Novartis shares or ADSs. A US Holder's tax basis in a fractional share or ADS will be determined by allocating the US Holder's tax basis in the Novartis shares or ADSs between the Novartis shares or ADSs received and the fractional share or ADS, in accordance with their respective fair market values. Such gain or loss generally will be long-term capital gain or loss if the holding period in the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs is more than one year as of the closing date of the merger

In the case of a US Holder who holds Alcon shares with differing tax bases and/or holding periods, the preceding rules must be applied separately to each identifiable block of Alcon shares

The preceding discussion under "Tax-Free Reorganization" assumes that at least 67 percent of the Merger Consideration will consist of Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs, which will depend upon the value of the Novartis stock price at the time of the merger

Creditability of Swiss Withholding Taxe

Any gain recognized by a US Holder of Alcon shares attributable to payments under the Put Option or to Swiss withholding tarpaid by Novartis with respect to gain in nominal value per Alcon share will be treated as US source income. Although the United State generally grants a foreign tax credit on income subject to both US and foreign tax, the tax credit is subject to limitation in the case of US taxpayers with insufficient foreign source income in the relevant category. Accordingly, a US Holder of Alcon shares may not be eligible to claim a full foreign tax credit for any Swiss withholding taxes on these payments. Although Section 865(h) of the Code provides an election to recharacterize gain from the sale of stock in a foreign corporation as foreign source income, it does not apply unless the relevant treaty overrides the applicable source rule under US law. Because the US-Switzerland income tax treaty does not include such a provision Section 865(h) does not apply. Accordingly, absent "competent authority" relief under the US-Switzerland income tax treaty, certain US Holders may be subject to double taxation on these payments

The rules governing the various limitations on the US foreign tax credit are extremely complex. US Holders should consult their own tax advisors regarding the application of these limitations to their particular situation

Ownership of the Novartis Shares and Novartis ADS

This discussion assumes that Novartis is not, and will not become, a PFIC, as described below

Dividend

US Holders of Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs will be required to include in gross income, as an item of ordinary income, the ful amount (including the amount of any withholding tax) of a dividend paid with respect to the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs at the time that such dividend is received by the US Holder, in the case of Novartis shares, or by the depositary, in the case of Novartis ADSs. For this purpose, a "dividend" will include any distribution paid by Novartis with respect to the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs (other than certain proor rate distributions of Novartis capital stock) paid out of the current or accumulated earnings and profits of Novartis, as determined under US federal income tax principles. To the extent the amount of a distribution by Novartis exceeds its current and accumulated earnings and profits, such excess will first be treated as a tax-free return of capital to the extent of a US Holder's tax basis in the Novartis shares of Novartis ADSs (with a corresponding reduction in such tax basis), and thereafter will be treated as capital gain, which will be long-term capital gain if the US Holder held the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs for more than one year. Under the Code, dividend payments by Novartis on the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs are not eligible for the dividends received deduction generally allowed to corporate shareholders.

Dividend income in respect of the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs will constitute income from sources outside the United State for US foreign tax credit purposes. Subject to the limitations and conditions provided in the Code, US Holders of Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs generally may claim as a credit against their US federal income tax liability, any withholding tax withheld from dividend. The rules governing the foreign tax credit are complex. Each US Holder is urged to consult its own tax advisor concerning whether, and to what extent, a foreign tax credit will be available with respect to dividends received from Novartis. Alternatively, a US Holder may claim the withholding tax as a deduction for the taxable year within which the withholding tax is paid or accrued, provided deduction is claimed for all of the foreign income taxes the US Holder pays or accrues in the particular year. A deduction does not reduct US tax on a dollar-for-dollar basis like a tax credit. The deduction, however, is not subject to the limitations applicable to foreign tax credits.

The US Treasury has expressed concern that parties to whom ADSs are released may be taking actions inconsistent with the claiming of foreign tax credits for US Holders of ADSs. Accordingly, the summary above of the creditability of the withholding tax could be affected by future actions that may be taken by the US Treasury

In general, a US Holder will be required to determine the amount of any dividend paid in Swiss francs, including the amount of any withholding tax imposed thereon, by translating the Swiss francs into US dollars at the USD/CHF spot rate on the date the dividend i actually or constructively received by a US Holder, in the case of shares, or by the depositary, in the case of ADSs, regardless of whether the Swiss francs are in fact converted into US dollars. If a US Holder converts the Swiss francs so received into US dollars on the date or receipt, the US Holder generally should not recognize foreign currency gain or loss on such conversion. If a US Holder does not convert the Swiss francs so received into US dollars on the date of receipt, the US Holder will have a tax basis in the Swiss francs equal to the US dollar value on such date. Any foreign currency gain or loss that a US Holder recognizes on a subsequent conversion or other disposition of the Swiss francs generally will be treated as US source ordinary income or loss

For a non-corporate US Holder, the US dollar amount of any dividends paid to it prior to January 1, 2013 that constitute qualified dividend income generally will be taxable at a maximum rate of 15%, provided that the US Holder meets certain holding period and other requirements. Novartis currently believes that dividends paid with respect to the Novartis shares and Novartis ADSs will constitute qualified dividend income for US federal income tax purposes. However, the US Treasury and the US Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") have announced their intention to promulgate rules pursuant to which US Holders of shares and ADSs, among others, will be permitted to rely of certifications from issuers to establish that dividends are treated as qualified dividends. US Holders of shares or ADSs are urged to consult their own tax advisors regarding the availability to them of the reduced dividend rate in light of their own particular situation and the computations of their foreign tax credit limitation with respect to any qualified dividends paid to them, as applicable

Sale or Other Taxable Dispositio

Upon a sale or other taxable disposition of Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs, US Holders generally will recognize capital gain or loss in an amount equal to the difference between the US dollar value of the amount realized on the disposition and the US Holder's tax basis (determined in US dollars) in the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs. This capital gain or loss generally will be US source gain or loss and will be treated as long-term capital gain or loss if the holding period in the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs exceeds one year. In the case of certain US Holders (including individuals), any long term capital gain generally will be subject to US federal income tax at preferential rates. The deductibility of capital losses is subject to significant limitations under the Code. Deposits or withdrawals of the Novartis share by US Holders in exchange for Novartis ADSs will not result in the realization of gain or loss for US federal income tax purposes

Passive Foreign Investment Company Rule

Novartis believes that Novartis was not a PFIC for US federal income tax purposes for its 2009 taxable year and does not expect to become one in the foreseeable future. If Novartis were a PFIC fo any taxable year during which a US Holder held the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs, gain recognized by the US Holder on a sale or other disposition (including certain pledges) of the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs would be allocated ratably over the US Holder's holding period for the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs. The amounts allocated to the taxable year of the sale or other disposition and to any year before Novartis became a PFIC would be taxed as ordinary income. The amount allocated to each other taxable year would be subject to tax at the highest rate in effect for individuals or corporations, as appropriate, for such taxable year, and an interest charge would be imposed of the amount allocated to such taxable year. Similar rules would apply to any distribution in respect of the Novartis shares or Novartis ADS in excess of 125% of the average of the annual distributions on the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs received during the preceding three years or the US Holder's holding period, whichever is shorter. Certain elections may be available that would result in alternative treatment (such as a mark-to-market treatment) of the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs. US Holders should consult their tax advisors to determine whether any such elections are available and, if so, what the consequences of the alternative treatments would be in their particular circumstances.

Pursuant to recently enacted legislation, US Holders that are PFIC shareholders may also be required to report additional information to the IRS regarding such shares, although any such reporting requirement will not be effective until the IRS issues further guidance thereunder

United States Information Reporting and Backup Withholdin

Dividend payments with respect to Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs and proceeds from the sale, exchange or other disposition of Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs received in the United States or through US-related financial intermediaries, may be subject to information reporting to the IRS and possible US backup withholding at a current rate of 28%. Certain exempt recipients are not subject to these information reporting and backup withholding requirements. Backup withholding will not apply to a US Holder who furnishes correct taxpayer identification number and makes any other required certification or who is otherwise exempt from backup withholding. Any US Holders required to establish their exempt status generally must provide a properly-executed IRS Form W-9 (Request for Taxpaye Identification Number and Certification). Backup withholding is not an additional tax. Amounts withheld as backup withholding may be credited against a US Holder's US federal income tax liability, and a US Holder may obtain a refund of any excess amounts withheld under the backup withholding rules by timely filing the appropriate claim for refund with the IRS and furnishing any required information

Beginning in 2011, recently enacted legislation may require individual US Holders to report to the IRS certain information with respect to their beneficial ownership of certain foreign financial assets, such as the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs, if the aggregate value of such assets exceeds $50,000. US Holders who fail to report required information could be subject to substantial penalties

Appraisal Right

The following description is a summary of the appraisal rights available to the shareholders of both Alcon and Novartis unde Article 105 of the Swiss Merger Act and of certain other provisions of Swiss law. A successful claim by one or more shareholders of either company would lead to a payment to all of the shareholders of that company who held shares at the time of the completion of the merger. This summary does not purport to be a complete description of the relevant Swiss statutory provisions and it is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the Swiss Merger Act and the Swiss Code of Obligations. Any Alcon shareholders who are considering bringing an appraisal suit under Article 105 of the Swiss Merger Act are strongly urged to read the Swiss Merger Act and the Swiss Code of Obligations and to consult their own Swiss legal advisors. In this summary, certain Swiss legal concepts are expressed in English and not in their original German, French or Italian terms. The concepts used in Swiss law may not be identical to the concepts described by the same English terms as they exist under the laws of othe jurisdictions

Alcon or Novartis shareholders whose shares are registered in their names can exercise appraisal rights under Article 105 of the Swiss Merger Act by filing a suit against Novartis with a Swiss civil court either in the Swiss Canton of Zug (the place of incorporation of Alcon) or in the Swiss Canton of Basel-Stadt (the place of incorporation of Novartis). The suit must be filed within two months after the merger has been published in the Swiss Official Gazette of Commerce. Shareholders who vote in favor of the merger may not be able to file the suit. Shareholders who vote against the merger, who have abstained from voting, or who have not participated in the shareholder meeting approving the merger may file the suit against Novartis, but (in the case of Alcon shareholders) will receive the Merger Consideration for their Alcon shares at the same time as all other Alcon shareholders, irrespective of whether or not they exercise their appraisal rights under Article 105 of the Swiss Merger Act

If an appraisal suit is filed, the court will determine the amount of compensation, if any, and such court's determination will be binding on or benefit all Alcon shareholders (or all Novartis shareholders in the case of a successful claim brought by one or more Novartis shareholders). Article 105 of the Swiss Merger Act requires the court to award an "adequate compensation" (angemessen Ausgleichszahlung), but does not prescribe any specific valuation reference points that a court should use in making its determination; to the knowledge of Novartis, there are no precedents yet of a successful appraisal claim and many issues around such claims are controversial in the legal literature that courts are expected to consider if faced with a claim. Article 7 of the Swiss Merger Act provides that the shareholder of both companies involved in a merger are entitled to a share in the surviving company that reflects the respective net assets (Vermögen) of the two merging companies, the apportionment of voting rights as well as other relevant factors. The court must therefore consider the respective net assets of Novartis and Alcon at the time the merger agreement was signed (although the view is not shared by all scholars), a well as consider the audit report, which will confirm that the merger consideration is justifiable (vertretbar) and adequate (angemessen based on Article 15(4)(c) and (d) of the Swiss Merger Act, but will also consider other relevant factors (such as the negotiation process and the fairness opinions) in trying to establish a value for Alcon and Novartis that meets the requirements of Article 7, 15 and 105 of the Swis Merger Act

The procedural costs (but not necessarily all of the Alcon shareholder's own litigation costs) of the appraisal proceedings will be borne by the company surviving the merger (in this case, Novartis). Under special circumstances, the court may require the plaintiffs to be a these costs. The filing of an appraisal suit does not prevent completion of the merger

Beneficial owners whose Alcon shares are held in "street name" should consult with their broker or custodiar

Litigation

Beginning on January 7, 2010, shareholder class action complaints relating to the January 3, 2010 proposal of Novartis to enter into a merger with Alcon were filed against Novartis and others, including in certain cases Alcon and certain members of the Alcon Board, by minority shareholders of Alcon. Nine actions were filed in the United States District Courts in New York and Texas, and four actions were filed in various Texas state courts. One of the federal actions was dismissed voluntarily, and the remaining eight actions were consolidated in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York. On May 24, 2010, that court dismissed the consolidated action based on the doctrine of forum non conveniens. On July 14, 2010, plaintiffs appealed the dismissal to the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. On January 5, 2011, plaintiffs-appellants moved to dismiss the appeal on grounds of mootness. The Second Circuit granted that motion for voluntary dismissal on January 6, 2011. On April 15, 2010, the actions pending in Texas state courts were consolidated in the District Court of Dalla County for pre-trial proceedings by the Texas Multidistrict Litigation Panel. On November 17, 2010, the court dismissed the consolidated Texas state court actions based on forum non conveniens without prejudice to re-filing in Switzerland. On December 17, 2010, plaintiff appealed the dismissal to the Texas Fifth District Court of Appeals

Financing of the Merge

The obligation of Novartis to complete the merger is not conditioned upon its ability to obtain financing for the merger. Novarti estimates that the total amount of funds necessary to fund the cash-settled put option component of the Merger Consideration will be approximately $1 billion, based on the market price of Novartis shares on the date of announcement of the merger. The actual amount of funds required (if any) will depend on the value of Novartis shares during the relevant measurement period as determined in accordance with the provisions of the merger agreement. Please see "The Merger Agreement and the Merger Merger Consideration" beginning on page 10

Fees and Expenses Relating to the Merge

Fees and expenses incurred or expected to be incurred by Novartis in connection with the merger are estimated as of the date of thi prospectus to be as follows

Type of Fee Amount ($)
Filing Fees $ 886,592.59
Financial advisor's fees and expenses of Credit Suisse Accounting fees and expenses
Legal, printing and miscellaneous fees and expenses

The market price of the Novartis shares and Novartis ADSs may decline following completion of the merger

The market prices of the Novartis shares and Novartis ADSs may decline following completion of the merger if, among othe reasons, Novartis does not achieve the expected cost savings and other benefits to the merger with Alcon as rapidly or to the exten anticipated by it, financial analysts or investors or at all, Alcon shareholders sell a significant number of Novartis shares or Novartis ADS after consummation of the merger or the effect of the merger with Alcon on the financial results of Novartis is not consistent with the expectations of financial analysts or investors

The consideration received by Alcon shareholders may be less than $168 because the market value of the Novartis shares to be delivered in the merger could fluctuate between the date of the annual general meeting of Alcon shareholders and the completion date of the merger

There will be a time lapse between the date on which Alcon shareholders vote on the merger agreement at the annual general meeting of Alcon shareholders and the date on which Alcon shareholders entitled to receive Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs actually receive such Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs. The market value of Novartis shares and Novartis ADSs may fluctuate during this period. These fluctuations may be caused by changes in the businesses, operations, results and prospects of both Novartis and Alcon, market expectations of the likelihood that the merger will be completed and the timing of the completion, general market and economic conditions such as the US dollar/Swiss franc exchange rate, or other factors. At the time Alcon shareholders cast their votes regarding approval of the merger agreement, Alcon shareholders will not know the actual market value of the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs they will receive when the merger is finally completed. The actual market value of Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs, when received by Alcon shareholders will depend on the market value of those Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs on that date. This market value may be less than the value used to determine the number of Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs to be received, as the determination will be made with respect to a period occurring prior to the consummation of the merger

The consideration received by Alcon shareholders may be less than $168 because the market value of the Novartis shares to be delivered in the merger could be different from the value used to determine the allocation of the Merger Consideration in accordance with the procedures set forth in the merger agreement

As described in more detail under "The Merger Agreement and the Merger Merger Consideration" the number of Novartis shares Novartis ADSs to be issued as Merger Consideration in respect of each Alcon share is determined in accordance with certain definitions see forth in the merger agreement. In order to value Novartis shares for purposes of determining the Merger Consideration, the merge agreement requires that a volume-weighted average price for the Novartis shares be calculated over a ten trading day period prior to the annual general meeting of Alcon shareholders. If the market value of Novartis shares decreases over the measurement period, the average price used to determine the Merger Consideration could be more than the market value of Novartis shares on the last day of the measurement period or on the date of the annual general meeting of Alcon shareholders. If that occurs, the Merger Consideration could have a value that it less than $168

The fairness opinions obtained by Novartis, Alcon and the Independent Director Committee will not reflect changes in circumstances between the dates of the respective opinions and the consummation of the merger

Alcon and the Independent Director Committee have received fairness opinions from their respective financial advisors. Credi Suisse rendered its oral opinion, subsequently confirmed by delivery of its written opinion, dated December 14, 2010, to the Novartis Board to the effect that, as of the date thereof and based upon and subject to the factors and assumptions set forth in the written opinion, the Merge Consideration was fair to Novartis from a financial point of view. Changes in factors that are beyond the control of Alcon and Novartis including changes in the business, operations or prospects of Novartis or Alcon, the prospects of post-merger operations, regulator, considerations, general market and economic conditions and other factors on which the opinions of Credit Suisse, Lazard and Greenhill are based, may alter the value of Novartis or Alcon, or the prices of the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs and/or the value of the Alcon shares by the time the merger is consummated. As a result of this, you should be aware that the fairness opinions of Credit Suisse, Lazard and Greenhill do not speak as of the effective time of the merger or as of any date other than the date of the relevant opinions. For a description of the opinion obtained by Novartis, Alcon and the Independent Director Committee, please see the relevant subheadings under "Specia Factors" beginning on page 34

Certain of Alcon's directors and executive officers have benefit arrangements that may result in their interests in the merger being different from those of Alcon shareholders

A number of Alcon's directors and executive officers who recommend that you vote in favor of the merger agreement have benefit arrangements that provide them with interests in the merger that may be different from yours. The receipt of compensation or other benefit in connection with the merger may influence these persons in making their recommendation that you vote in favor of approval of the merge agreement. Please see "Interests of Alcon's Directors and Executive Officers in the Merger" beginning on page 138

Risks Related to an Investment in the Novartis Shares and the Novartis ADS

The Novartis shares and the Novartis ADSs to be received by Alcon shareholders in connection with the merger will have different rights from the Alcon shares

At the effective time of the merger, each outstanding Alcon share will be converted into the right to receive, inter alia, Novarti shares or Novartis ADSs. As of such time, you will no longer be at

Alcon shareholder, but will instead be a holder of Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs. While both Novartis and Alcon are incorporated in Switzerland, there are certain differences between your current rights as an Alcon shareholder and the rights to which you will be entitled a a holder of Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs. For a detailed discussion of the differences between the current rights of Alcon shareholder and the rights you can expect as a holder of Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs, please see "Comparison of Rights of Novartis and Alcon Shareholders" beginning on page 160

The market price of the Novartis shares and the Novartis ADSs may be affected by factors different from those affecting the price of your Alcon shares

If the merger is successfully completed, Alcon shareholders will become holders of Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs. The busines of Novartis differs from that of Alcon, and its results of operations, as well as the price of Novartis shares and Novartis ADSs, may be affected by factors different from those affecting Alcon's results of operations and the price of the Alcon shares

The price of the Novartis ADSs and the US dollar value of any dividends may be negatively affected by fluctuations in the Us dollar/Swiss franc exchange rate

The Novartis ADSs trade on the NYSE in US dollars. Since the Novartis shares underlying the Novartis ADSs are listed in Switzerland on the SIX and trade in Swiss francs, the value of the Novartis ADSs may be affected by fluctuations in the US dollar/Swis franc exchange rate. In addition, since any dividends that Novartis may declare will be denominated in Swiss francs, exchange rate fluctuations will affect the US dollar equivalent of dividends received by holders of the Novartis ADSs. If the value of the Swiss france decreases against the US dollar, the price at which the Novartis ADSs trade may and the value of the US dollar equivalent of any divide will decrease according

The rights of holders of Novartis ADSs are not the same as the rights of shareholders of Novartis

While a Novartis ADS is not a Novartis share and a holder of a Novartis ADS is not a holder of a Novartis share, the rights and terms of the Novartis ADSs are designed to replicate, to the extent reasonably practicable, the rights attendant to Novartis shares. However because of certain aspects of Swiss law, the Articles of Incorporation of Novartis and the contractual terms of the deposit agreement unde which the Novartis ADSs are issued, the rights afforded to the holders of Novartis ADSs are not identical to, and, in some respects, are les favorable than, the rights afforded to the shareholders of Novartis. For more information regarding the characteristics of, and difference between, Novartis shares and Novartis ADSs, please see "Description of the Novartis Shares" and Description of the Novartis American Depositary Shares" beginning on page 146 and 150, respectively

US holders of Novartis shares and Novartis ADSs may not be able to exercise preemptive rights

Under Swiss law, shareholders have preemptive rights to subscribe for cash for issuances of new shares on a pro rata basis. Shareholders may waive their preemptive rights in respect of any offering at a general meeting of shareholders of Novartis. Preemptive rights, if not previously waived, are transferable during the subscription period relating to a particular offering of shares and may be quoted on the SIX. US holders of Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs may not be able to exercise the preemptive rights attached to Novartis shares including Novartis shares underlying Novartis ADSs, unless a registration statement under the Securities Act is effective with respect to such rights and the related Novartis shares, or an exemption from this registration requirement is available. In deciding whether to file such registration statement, Novartis would evaluate the related costs and potential liabilities, as well as the benefits of enabling the exercise of the preemptive rights by US holders of Novartis shares and Novartis ADSs. Novartis cannot guarantee that a registration statement would be filed, or, if filed, that it would be declared effective. If preemptive rights could not be exercised by a US holder of Novartis shares of Novartis ADSs, such preemptive rights would, if possible, be sold on behalf of such holders and the net proceeds from such sale would be distributed to such holders. If the rights cannot be sold, such rights lapse. In either case, the interest of the affected holders of Novartis share and Novartis ADSs would be diluted and, if the rights were to lapse, such holders would not realize any value from the granting of preemptive rights.

Discharge of the current and former members of the Alcon Board for their term of office from January 1, 2010 up to , 20 (the last date on which Alcon shareholders may give voting instructions for the annual general meeting of Alcon shareholders)

Proposo

The Alcon Board proposes that discharge be granted to the current and former members of the Alcon Board for their term of office from January 1, 2010 up to a contract the last date on which Alcon shareholders may give voting instructions for the annual generation meeting of Alcon shareholders may give voting instructions for the annual generation meeting of Alcon shareholders.

Explanation

Under Swiss statutory law, the Alcon Board may seek discharge from the Alcon shareholders. If discharge is granted, the corporation and those Alcon shareholders who have voted in favor of discharge cannot assert any claims based on Swiss corporation law for directors' liability with respect to matters then known to the Alcon shareholders. The right to assert liability claims still exists, however, with respect to matters not known to the Alcon shareholders on the date on which discharge was granted. In other words, all Alcon shareholders whether or not they voted in favor of discharge—can still assert claims against former directors if additional facts come to light (as a result subsequent audits or otherwise) after the granting of discharge. For the avoidance of doubt, discharge of the Alcon Board with regard to claims for directors' liability based on Swiss corporation law does not preclude Alcon shareholders from asserting claims against the directors and officers of Alcon under the US federal securities laws. For certain limitations on the enforcement of the US federal securities laws, please see "Limitations on Enforcement of US Laws" on page 164

THE MERGER AGREEMENT AND THE MERGER

The following is a summary of the merger agreement and of certain other key aspects of the merger. This summary does not purpose to be a complete description of the terms and conditions of the merger agreement and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the merge agreement, a copy of which is attached as Annex A to this prospectus and incorporated herein by reference. Alcon shareholders are urged to read the merger agreement in its entirety. In the event of any discrepancy between the terms of the merger agreement and the following summary, the merger agreement will control

Structure of the Merge

In the merger agreement, Novartis and Alcon have agreed to merge pursuant to art. 3 para. 1 lit. a and art. 4 para. 1 lit. a of th Swiss Merger Act (merger by absorption between two companies limited by shares). Novartis will be the acquiring company and will continue to operate, while Alcon will be the transferring company and will be dissolved upon completion of the merger. By operation of law Alcon's assets, liabilities and contracts will be transferred to Novartis in their entirety (Universalsukzession). After the merger is completed the Alcon shares will be delisted from the NYSE and deregistered under the Exchange Ac

Merger Consideration

In the merger, Alcon shareholders (with the exception of Novartis) will receive for each registered Alcon share, with a nomina value of CHF 0.20, issued and outstanding immediately prior to the completion of the merger the merger consideration described below (the "Merger Consideration"). The Merger Consideration will have the value, determined in accordance with the definitions below, of $168 and will be composed of the right to receive from Novartis a number of Novartis shares, each with a nominal value of CHF 0.50 (the "Stock Consideration") equal to the Exchange Ratio (as defined below); and the right to receive from Novartis a cash-settled, non-transferable put option (the "Put Option") exercisable for an amount equal to the Contingent Value Amount (as defined below), without interest

The "Exchange Ratio" means the quotient, rounded to the nearest ten-thousandth (or if there is not a nearest ten thousandth, the higher ten thousandth), obtained by dividing $168 by the Novartis Share Value (as defined below); provided that the Exchange Ratio will not be greater than 2.8, and provided, further, that if the Novartis Share Value is less than $60, then the Exchange Ratio will be the sum of (i) 2.8 plus (ii) the Dividend Adjustment Factor (as defined below)

The "Dividend Adjustment Factor" means the quotient of (i) the product of (x) the Dividend Value Adjustment (as defined below multiplied by (y) 2.8 divided by (ii) the Novartis Share Value (as defined below)

The "USD Dividend Value" means the amount of any Novartis cash dividend declared or paid after the date of the merge agreement (including the 2010 Novartis Annual Dividend (as defined below)) and on or prior to the date of completion of the merger pe Novartis share in Swiss francs converted into US dollars on the basis of the USD/CHF spot rate prevailing at 4:30 pm (London time) on the last day of the Measurement Period (as defined in the definition of "Novartis Share Value") reported on the Bloomberg Professional Service under function "BFIX"

The "Dividend Value Adjustment" means the lesser of (i) the USD Dividend Value and (ii) $60 minus the Novartis Share Value (defined below)

The actual Novartis Share Value used to determine the Merger Consideration may be greater than or less than the values expressed in the table above. Please see also "Risk Factors" The consideration received by Alcon shareholders may be less than $168 because the mark value of the Novartis shares to be delivered in the merger could fluctuate between the date of the annual general meeting of Alcon shareholders and the completion date of the merger" on page 94

Exercise of the Put Option

In the event that the Stock Consideration Value (as defined under " Merger Consideration" above), i.e. the value of the Novar shares you will receive for each Alcon share as determined in accordance with the merger agreement, is less than $168, the election an exchange agent will exercise all Put Options (as defined under " Merger Consideration" above) included in the Merger Consideration and the Put Options are so exercised, the election and exchange agent will pay you an amount in cash payable in USD equal to the applicabl Contingent Value Amount (as defined under " Merger Consideration" above) for each of your Alcon shares (net of applicable Sw withholding tax) as part of the Merger Consideration. Each outstanding Put Option will terminate and be of no further force and effect either following payment of the Merger Consideration or in the event the Stock Consideration Value is greater than or equal to $168.

Treatment of Certain Share Capital and Equity

The Alcon shares that Novartis holds will not be exchanged in the merger, and such Alcon shares will be cancelled upon completion of the merger. The Alcon shares that Alcon or any of its subsidiaries hold will be exchanged in the merger and the Novartis shares so issue in connection with such exchange may be used by Novartis upon effectiveness of the merger in the exchange to the extent these Novartis shares are held by Alcon. Any Novartis shares that Alcon may hold at completion of the merger will be transferred to Novartis by operation of the merger.

Following completion of the merger, all awards as defined in and outstanding under the Amended 2002 Alcon Incentive Plan will upon exercise or vesting as applicable, be settled in the form of Novartis shares instead of Alcon shares and will be structured so that the beneficiaries will receive for each Alcon share otherwise issuable the Merger Consideration as determined in accordance with procedures see forth in the merger agreement whereby any cash component of the Merger Consideration (including cash payable upon exercise of the Pu Option) will be substituted by a number of Novartis shares based on the Novartis Share Value (except that cash-settled stock appreciation rights will continue to be settled in cash). Performance-based restricted share units granted for the 2009-2011 performance cycle will be converted into a number of Novartis restricted share units, assuming target performance levels. The other terms and conditions of the award (including the rights of employees upon termination of employment following change of control, vesting conditions and payment schedules) will remain the same

No Special Benefits to Directors and Members of Senior Management of Alcon

Meetings of Shareholder

The merger cannot be completed before the merger agreement is approved by 2/3 of the votes represented at a general meeting of Alcon shareholders, as described in this prospectus, and approved by 2/3 of the votes represented at a general meeting of shareholders of Novartis. In the merger agreement, Novartis has agreed that the Novartis Board will submit the merger agreement and related resolutions to a general meeting of shareholders of Novartis on a date to be determined by Novartis in its sole discretion, but in any event at the latest of the date following the date the annual general meeting of Alcon shareholders to which this prospectus relates takes place. Novartis has further agreed that the Novartis Board will recommend that shareholders of Novartis approve all resolutions necessary in connection with the merger agreement. The extraordinary general meeting of shareholders of Novartis is expected to be held on , 201

Alcon has agreed that the Alcon Board will submit to a general meeting of Alcon shareholders (i) the merger agreement and related resolutions and (ii) a proposal to grant discharge to the current and former members of the Alcon Board. Novartis has agreed to vote or cause to be voted any Alcon shares beneficially owned by it or any of its subsidiaries (approximately 77% of all outstanding Alcon shares) in favor of the approval of such resolutions at the annual general meeting of Alcon shareholders; provided that the obligation to vote in favor of (i) the merger-related resolutions will not apply in the event that the Alcon Board recommends to the Alcon shareholders not to approve the merger or a Material Change (as defined under "Subsequent Material Changes" below) has occurred irrespective of whether such a materic change affects Novartis or Alcon and (ii) the discharge resolution is subject to no new material facts with respect thereto becoming known by the Alcon Board and the Novartis Board after the date of the merger agreement

In the merger agreement, Alcon has agreed to (i) send an invitation to the general meeting of Alcon shareholders as promptly a practicable, but in no event later than two days after the date on which the registration statement on Form F-4 containing this prospectus i declared effective or on such other date thereafter as may be agreed by Novartis and Alcon, (ii) convene the general meeting of Alcon shareholders on the date that is 20 business days (as such term is defined in the Exchange Act) following delivery of the invitation or or such other date as Novartis and Alcon may agree; (iii) make the merger agreement and all other documents required by law available for inspection by its shareholders at least 30 days prior to the general meeting of Alcon shareholders

Exchange of Alcon Shares and Option to Receive Novartis ADS

Election and Exchange Agen

Novartis has appointed Mellon Investor Services LLC (operating with the service name BNY Mellon Shareowner Services) a election and exchange agent to implement the exchange of Alcon shares for the Merger Consideration

Timing of the Exchang

As soon as reasonably practicable after the time of completion of the merger, but in no event more than five business day following completion of the merger, Novartis will send, or will cause the election and exchange agent to send, to each Alcon shareholder or record evidenced by physical certificates as of completion of the merger, whose Alcon shares were converted into the right to receive the Merger Consideration and who has not previously surrendered such certificates in connection with a valid election, a letter of transmittate (which will specify that the delivery will be effected, and risk of loss will pass, only upon proper delivery of the certificates representing Alcon shares (or effective affidavits of loss) to the election and exchange agent) in such form as Alcon and Novartis may reasonably agree including instructions for use in effecting the surrender of Alcon share certificates (or

Option to Elect to Receive Novartis ADS

If your Alcon shares are held in registered form, you will receive in a separate mailing an election form, which you should reaccarefully. Alcon shareholders of record can, by sending a properly completed election form (together with any share certificates, i applicable) to the election and exchange agent not later than on , elect to receive either (i) Novartis shares (listed on the SIX) of equivalent number of receipts representing Novartis ADSs (listed on the NYSE), each Novartis ADS representing one registered Novartis share. The number of Novartis ADSs to be received by any Alcon shareholder who does not receive Novartis shares will be equal to the number of Novartis shares otherwise issuable to such Alcon shareholder in accordance with the merger agreement

In case no valid election is made, Alcon shares with an associated registered address (which may be the address of a broker of custodian if the relevant Alcon shares are held through a brokerage or custodial account or a book-entry facility) in Switzerland will be converted into Novartis shares, provided that the relevant Alcon shareholder furnishes appropriate account details and transfer instructions to the election and exchange agent not later than on ; Alcon shares with an associated registered address (which may be the address a broker or custodian if the relevant Alcon shares are held through a brokerage or custodial account or a book-entry facility, such as DTC outside of Switzerland or for which the election and exchange agent has not received appropriate account details or transfer instruction by on , will be converted into Novartis AI

If your Alcon shares are held in a brokerage or other custodial account or through a book-entry facility such as the DTC, you man not be able to make an election. In particular, you may automatically receive Novartis ADSs as part of your Merger Consideration if you Alcon shares are held through DTC. You will receive or should seek instructions from the institution holding your Alcon shares, advising you will be able to make an election and, if so, of the procedures for making your election and delivering your Alcon shares. An instructions must be given to your broker or custodian sufficiently in advance of the election deadline for record holders in order to allow your broker or custodian sufficient time to cause the record holder of your Alcon shares to make an election as described above

For more information about how to make or withdraw an election, please see "Questions and Answers about the Merger" beginnin on page 3

Fractional Share

Each Alcon shareholder of record who, based on its shareholding at the time of completion of the merger and on the Merge Consideration, does not receive an integral number of Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs will receive rights corresponding to the resulting fraction. The election and exchange agent will receive all Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs not used for the share exchange in the merge because of the existence of such fraction rights and will sell such Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs on behalf of the holders of fraction rights (on the SIX or the NYSE, as applicable) and pass on the proceeds to such Alcon shareholders in cash. This sale will occur during period of three Trading Days after completion of the merger, as determined by Novartis in a manner reasonably designed to achieve the highest possible sale price

Procedures for Exchange of Alcon Share

Each Alcon shareholder, (i) to the extent such Alcon shareholder has not previously surrendered its share certificate(s) in connection with a valid election, upon surrender to the election and exchange agent of an Alcon share certificate (or effective affidavits or loss), together with a properly completed letter of transmittal, duly executed and completed in accordance with the instructions thereto, and such other documents as may reasonably be required by the election and exchange agent, or (ii) as soon as reasonably practicable after completion of the merger in the case of an uncertificated Alcon share or in the case an Alcon shareholder has previously surrendered it Alcon shares in connection with a valid election, in each case will be entitled to receive in exchange therefore the Merger Consideration Following completion of the merger, the Merger Consideration will be delivered (i) as promptly as practicable to Alcon shareholders in bool entry form or to those Alcon shareholders that have previously surrendered their certificates in connection with a valid election or (ii) to the extent such Alcon shareholder has not previously surrendered its share certificate(s) in connection with a valid election, after receipt by the election and exchange agent of the relevant Alcon share certificate and properly completed letter of transmittal, to Alcon shareholders in certificate form in accordance with the foregoing. No interest will be paid or accrued on any Merger Consideration

No dividends or other distributions with respect to Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs issued as Merger Consideration will be paid to the holder of any unsurrendered Alcon share certificates until such certificates are surrendered as provided in the merger agreement Following such surrender, subject to the effect of escheat, tax or other applicable laws, there will be paid, without interest, to the recombolder of the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs, if any, issued in exchange therefor (i) as soon as reasonably practicable following such surrender, all dividends and other distributions payable in respect of any such Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs, as applicable, with a record date after the date of completion of the merger and a payment date on or prior to the date of such surrender and not previously paid and (ii) at the appropriate payment date or as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter, the dividends or other distributions payable with respect to such Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs with a record date after the date of completion of the merger but with a payment date subsequent to such surrender. For purposes of dividends or other distributions in respect of Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs, all Novartis shares and Novartis ADSs to be issued pursuant to the merger will be entitled to dividends pursuant to the immediately preceding sentence as if issued and outstanding as of the date of completion of the merger. For the avoidance of doubt, nothing in the merger agreement gives the holder of any unsurrendered Alcon share certificates any right to receive any dividend or other distribution with respect to Novartis shares or Novartia ADSs that was included in the definition of "USD Dividend Value"

The employees of Novartis and Alcon will be informed and consulted by Novartis and Alcon, respectively, in accordance with the Swiss Merger Act

In the merger agreement, Alcon has agreed, except as expressly permitted by the merger agreement or as required by applicable law, not to (i) amend the Amended 2002 Alcon Incentive Plan or the terms of any awards outstanding under the Amended 2002 Alcon Incentive Plan, (ii) issue any new awards under the Amended 2002 Alcon Incentive Plan or under any other benefit plan or scheme (other than the awards for the performance year 2010, consistent with past practice, to be approved or ratified by the Alcon Board in February 2011) or (iii) otherwise exercise any permissible authority under Section 5.6 of the Amended 2002 Alcon Incentive Plan

Directors' and Officers' Insurance

In the merger agreement, Novartis has agreed that it will obtain or will cause Alcon to obtain prior to completion of the merger effective as of completion of the merger, "tail" insurance policies with a claims period of six years following completion of the merger with at least the same coverage and amounts as the current policies of directors' and officers' liability insurance maintained by Alcon, in each case with respect to claims arising out of or relating to events that occurred before or at the time of completion of the merger (including in connection with the transactions contemplated by the merger agreement); provided that in no event will Novartis be required to expend of will Alcon expend an annual premium for such coverage in excess of 300% of the last annual premium paid by Alcon for such insurance for the covered persons prior to the date of the merger agreement.

Third Party Claim

In the merger agreement, Novartis and Alcon have agreed that, if any person other than Novartis and Alcon (such persons including but not limited to shareholders of Novartis or Alcon) raises claims against either Novartis or Alcon, including but not limited to a member of the Novartis Board, the Alcon Board or the management of either Novartis or Alcon in connection with the merger, Novartis and Alcon will fully support and closely cooperate with each other in order to defend their position. Alcon has agreed that it will not settle any such claim without the consent of Novartis

Alcon Dividend

Until the date of completion of the merger, Alcon has agreed not to, nor to permit any of its subsidiaries to, split, combine of reclassify any Alcon shares or declare, set aside or pay any dividend or other distribution (whether in cash, shares or property or an combination thereof) in respect of its share capital except for dividends or other distributions payable by any wholly owned subsidiary of Alcon, or to redeem, repurchase or otherwise acquire or offer to redeem, repurchase or otherwise acquire any Alcon securities or securities of any of its subsidiaries. In the merger agreement, Alcon also represents and warrants that neither it nor any of its subsidiaries has taken an action or resolved to take any action since the date of Alcon's merger balance sheet attached to the merger agreement that would have violated such commitment if such action or resolution had been taken after the date of the merger agreement.

Alcon Litigation Trus

In the merger agreement, Alcon represents and warrants that upon execution of the merger agreement the Alcon Litigation Trust (formed under the Alcon Litigation Trust Agreement dated as of July 7, 2010 by and between Alcon, as Grantor, and Messrs. Plaskett and de Vink and Dr. Miller, as Trustees) will have been terminated. In the merger agreement, Alcon further represents, warrants and undertakes that the Trust Property (as defined in the Alcon Litigation Trust Agreement) remaining at the termination of the Alcon Litigation Trust will be paid over to Alcon within five Trading Days following such termination and (i) that no amount of Trust Property will be withheld, (ii) except as set forth in the merger agreement, that no amount of Trust Property has been expended as of the date of the merger agreement and (iii) that the Trustees of the Alcon Litigation Trust have irrevocably waived any claim to any future reimbursement, disbursement or refund of any amounts from the Alcon Litigation Trust

Swiss Withholding Tax

In the merger agreement, Novartis agrees to use its best efforts to obtain within 30 days from the date of the merger agreement a taruling from the Swiss Federal Tax Administration confirming that the payment of the Contingent Value Amount (as defined under "Merg Consideration" above) to the Alcon shareholders qualifies as a dividend for the purpose of the US-Switzerland income tax treaty. Novarti subsequently obtained informal confirmation of this fact from the Swiss Federal Tax Administration

To the extent that the merger will result in a gain in nominal value (such gain, i.e., the amount of the aggregate nominal value of the Stock Consideration less the nominal value of one Alcon share, the "Nominal Value Amount Increase"), the Swiss withholding tax due of the Nominal Value Amount Increase will be borne and paid by Novartis, and the amount subject to withholding tax will be grossed up accordingly (i.e., equal to approximately 153.8% of the Nominal Value Amount Increase)

Subsequent Material Change

If any "Material Change" (as defined under art. 17 of the Swiss Merger Act) occurs in the period between the execution of the merger agreement and the later to occur of the extraordinary general meeting of shareholders of Novartis or the annual general meeting of Alcon shareholders, Novartis and Alcon have agreed in the merger agreement that they will comply with the process set forth in art. 17 of the Swiss Merger Act (including apprising each other of any events that are reasonably likely to lead to a Material Change) and that any action taken in connection therewith can only be taken by the Novartis Board or the Alcon Board, as the case may be

Novartis and Alcon have agreed that they will interpret the term "Material Change" under art. 17 of the Swiss Merger Act as change in the consolidated net assets of either Novartis or Alcon of more than 10% of the market value of all outstanding shares of such party, which market value shall be measured as of the date of execution of the merger agreement

Further Assurance

In the merger agreement, Novartis and Alcon have agreed that they will cooperate with each other and use (and will cause their respective subsidiaries to use) their respective reasonable best efforts to take, or cause to be taken, all actions and to do, or cause to be done all things reasonably necessary, proper or advisable under applicable laws to complete the transactions contemplated by the merger agreement, including the merger, as soon as practicable. Alcon has also agreed that it will grant access to Novartis, subject to certail confidentiality obligations in the merger agreement, to all information reasonably required by Novartis to prepare the integration of Alcon business.

Conditions to the Completion of the Merge

Novartis and Alcon are obligated to complete the merger only if the following conditions are satisfied the merger agreement has been approved by the shareholder meetings of Alcon and Novartiss the registration statement on Form F-4 containing this prospectus has been declared effective under the Securities Acade and the SEC has not taken any action to suspend effectiveness:

the SIX and the NYSE have approved the listing of any newly issued Novartis shares and Novartis ADSs, respectively in connection with the merger; and no order or injunction has been issued by any governmental authority or a competent court that (i) prohibits the consummation of the merger and (ii) is enforceable in Switzerland

Novartis and Alcon cannot assure you that all of the conditions to completing the merger will be satisfied or waived

Termination of the Merger Agreemen

Either Novartis (by decision of the Novartis Board) or Alcon (by decision of the Alcon Board) may terminate the merger agreement if the conditions precedent to the merger have not been satisfied by October 1, 2011, other than as a result of the fault of the party seeking termination

The termination of the merger agreement will also terminate all rights and obligations arising out of the merger agreement, excep as to certain limited provisions relating to payment of costs, applicable law and jurisdiction, termination of the merger agreement and claim for damages

Effective Time of the Merge

Subject to the conditions to completion of the merger described above (please see " Conditions to the Completion of the Merge above), completion of the merger will occur on the date in which entries into the Commercial Register with respect to both parties have bee made. UNAUDITED IFRS PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED INCOME STATEMENT

Novartis has accounted for its acquisition of Alcon in stages in its historical consolidated financial statements as follows

Novartis acquired a 25% non-controlling interest in Alcon from Nestlé on July 7, 2008. This interest was accounted for by the equity method until August 25, 2010

On August 25, 2010, Novartis acquired an additional 52% interest from Nestlé and obtained majority ownership o Alcon. As a result, Alcon has been fully consolidated from August 25, 2010, and the initial 25% non-controlling interes was revalued to its estimated fair value as of August 25, 2010.

As of August 25, 2010, Novartis has performed a purchase price allocation, which is final except for any matters that may arise following 100% ownership. It resulted in a fair value of net identifiable assets acquired with the change of majority ownership in Alcon on August 25, 2010 of $27.1 billion.

As a result of Alcon being fully consolidated from August 25, 2010, its results since that date are reflected in the historical consolidated income statement of Novartis for the year ended December 31, 2010 and the consolidated balance sheet as of that date

The unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010 combines the respective audited historical consolidated income statements of Novartis and Alcon, giving effect to (i) the consolidation of Alcon as a result of Novartis acquiring majority ownership of Alcon on August 25, 2010 and (ii) the proposed acquisition of the remaining outstanding non-controlling interests Novartis does not currently own via the merger, as if each had occurred on January 1, 2010. The audited historical consolidated income statements have been adjusted in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement to give effect to pro forma events that are (i) directly attributable to the acquisition of majority ownership of Alcon by Novartis or to the proposed merger (ii) factually supportable, and (iii) expected to have a continuing impact on the combined results. Since the accounting for the merger would have had a limited impact on the Novartis audited historical consolidated balance sheet as of December 31, 2010, no pro forma consolidated balance sheet as of that date is presented; however, the impact of the merger on the consolidated equity of Novartis is explained under "4 Adjustments arising from the merger" on page 128. The unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement should be read in conjunction with the accompanying notes to the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement. Table of Content

The unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement is presented for informational purposes only. The pro form information is not necessarily indicative of what the combined company's results of operations actually would have been had the acquisition of majority ownership of Alcon and the acquisition of the outstanding non-controlling interests via the merger been completed as o January 1, 2010. In addition, the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement does not actually purport to project the future results of the combined company

does not reflect any cost savings, operating synergies or revenue enhancements that the combined company may achieve as a result of the integration of Alcon upon completion of the merger, the costs to integrate the operations of Novarti and Alcon or the costs necessary to achieve these cost savings, operating synergies and revenue enhancements;

has not been adjusted to reflect the impacts of certain divestitures, which were required by antitrust regulators in variou jurisdictions as a condition to obtaining the necessary clearances or approvals for the acquisition of majority ownershi of Alcon by Novartis, as Novartis considers such divestitures to be insignificant to the combined company; and has not been adjusted to reflect any matters not directly attributable to consolidating Alcon as a result of the acquisition of majority ownership of Alcon. No adjustment, therefore, has been made for actions that may be taken once the proposed merger has been consummated, such as any of the integration plans of Novartis related to Alcon

As indicated above, the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010 reflects the acquisition of an additional 52% interest in Alcon by Novartis from Nestlé. In the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed income statement the acquisition of majority ownership of Alcon by Novartis has been accounted for under the acquisition method as prescribed by IFRS 3 revised ("IFRS 3R") as if such acquisition had occurred on January 1, 2010. Novartis has been treated as the acquirer for these purposes. The acquisition accounting is dependent upon certain valuations and other studies and is final except for any matters that may arise following 100% ownership

As the proposed acquisition of the outstanding non-controlling interests via the merger would, if completed, be a separat transaction subsequent to the acquisition by Novartis of the majority ownership of Alcon, it would only increase the controlling ownership percentage of Novartis in Alcon. Therefore, the proposed merger has been accounted for in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement as an equity transaction as prescribed by IAS 27 revised ("IAS 27R") as if the merger had occurred on January 1, 2010

All pro forma adjustments have been made solely for the purpose of providing an unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement. Differences between these adjustments and the amounts that will actually be incurred upon consummation of the merge could result in differences that could have a material impact on the accompanying unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined incomstatement and the combined company's future results of operations

NOTES TO THE UNAUDITED IFRS PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED INCOME STATEMENT

Basis of Presentation

The unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement is based on the audited historical consolidated income statements of Novartis and Alcon. It should be read in conjunction with the audited consolidated financial statements of Novartis as at and for the year ended December 31, 2010 prepared in accordance with IFRS as issued by the IASB and the audited consolidated financial statements of Alcon as at and for the year ended December 31, 2010 prepared in accordance with US GAAP. The audited historical consolidated income statements have been adjusted in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement to give effect to proformate events that are (i) directly attributable to the acquisition of majority ownership of Alcon by Novartis or to the proposed merger (ii) factually supportable, and (iii) expected to have a continuing impact on the combined results

For the purpose of the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement, Alcon's consolidated financial statement have been reviewed for any potential differences between US GAAP and IFRS and differences between the accounting policies of Alconard Novartises.

The unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010 has been prepared to reflect the acquisition of the 52% interest in Alcon acquired by Novartis from Nestlé on August 25, 2010, which led to Novartis obtaining majority ownership of Alcon. This acquisition of majority ownership of Alcon has been accounted for using the acquisition method (a prescribed by IFRS 3R) as if the acquisition had occurred on January 1, 2010. The acquisition method requires the recognition of al identifiable assets and liabilities at their fair values. Any excess of the purchase price over the net identifiable assets is recognized a goodwill. Any existing non-controlling interests may either be recognized at fair value or at their proportionate share of net assets. Novarti has chosen the latter option and has therefore valued the approximately 77% interest purchased from Nestlé at its proportionate share of the fair value of all net identifiable assets of Alcon at the acquisition date. Novartis has recognized goodwill in an amount equal to the difference between (i) the sum of the purchase price paid for the 52% interest in Alcon and the fair value of the initial 25% interest and (ii) 77% of the fair value of the net identifiable assets and liabilities of Alcon

The proposed acquisition of the remaining outstanding non-controlling interests in Alcon via the merger is a separate transaction from the earlier acquisition of majority ownership of Alcon by Novartis on August 25, 2010. Because it changes the Novartis ownership of Alcon but does not result in a change of control, Novartis will account for the merger as an equity transaction as required by IAS 27R. The assets and liabilities of Alcon will therefore not be revalued as of the date of the completion of the merger, goodwill will not arise and an excess of the consideration paid to acquire the outstanding non-controlling interests over the proportionate share in the net assets of Alcon of the outstanding non-controlling interests will be recognized against equity

Adjustments to Alcon's Consolidated Income Statement for US GAAP to IFRS and Accounting Policy Difference

The unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement has been prepared in a manner consistent with the accounting policies of Novartis. These accounting policies differ in a number of significant respects from those of Alcon. This note describe the adjustments made to reconcile Alcon's US GAAP financial information with IFRS as issued by the IASB and to align it with the accounting policies of Novartis.

Novartis has identified the items summarized below as requiring an adjustmen

Alcon US GAAP to IFRS adjustment

Employee benefit

Under US GAAP, and under IFRS according to the alternative chosen by Novartis in applying IFRS, actuarial gains and losses are recognized in comprehensive income. Under US GAAP, actuarial gains and losses outside a corridor of 10% of the greater of the projected benefit obligation and the value of plan assets are recycled to the income statement over the average remaining service period of active employees. IFRS does not require a subsequent recognition of any actuarial gains or losses in the income statement. Other minor differences arise from the differences relating to the timing of recognition of social charges on long-term incentive plans and the unvested service costs of post-employment benefit plans

The corresponding reduction in expense made in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010 totaled $10 million and is reflected in the lines "Cost of Goods Sold", "Marketing & Sales" and "Research & Development"

Research & Developmen

Payments made to third parties outside a business combination to acquire additional intellectual property are expensed unde US GAAP, but are capitalized under IFRS

The corresponding reduction in expense made in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010 amounted to $16 million, and is reflected in "Research & Development"

Under US GAAP, profits from an intercompany sale for which the related goods have not been sold to third parties are eliminated and will be recognized only upon the ultimate third party sale, as is any related income tax due by the selling company. Unde IFRS, as under US GAAP, profits arising from an intercompany sale for which the related goods have not been sold to third partie are eliminated and will be recognized only upon the ultimate third party sale; however, the tax on the profit that is eliminated i based on the tax rate applicable in the jurisdiction of the buying company and not, as is the case under US GAAP, on the tax rate applicable in the jurisdiction of the supplying company

The method used for the measurement of deferred tax assets for share-based compensation awards under US GAAP also differ from the method used under IFRS. Under US GAAP, the deferred tax asset is measured based on the recorded compensation expense, and it therefore does not fluctuate with the company's share price. The difference between the deferred tax asset and the actual tax deduction realized is recognized at the exercise date of an award. Under IFRS, the deferred tax asset is measured based on an estimate of the future tax deduction, which depends on the company's share price at the end of the relevant reporting period

The corresponding reduction in tax expense made in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010 amounted to $18 million and is reflected in the line "Taxes"

Alcon accounting policy adjustment

Alternative accounting treatment of certain financial asset

Alcon classifies certain financial assets as trading securities. These would have been classified as available-for-sale securitie under Novartis accounting policies. The classification of financial assets as trading securities under US GAAP causes the recognition of any unrealized gains on such securities in the consolidated income statement. If these securities were classified a available-for-sale securities in accordance with the Novartis accounting policies, unrealized gains would not have been recognized in the consolidated income statement, but rather in the separate statement of consolidated comprehensive income

The corresponding adjustment made in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement for this item for the year ended December 31, 2010 amounted to $(1) million and affects the line "Financial income"

Reclassification

Reclassifications have been made in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement for the year ender December 31, 2010 for the following items

Alcon has included in the line "Net sales" the revenues from a co-promotion agreement with Novartis. To conform to the Novarti presentation of such revenues, $7 million has been reclassified to the line "Other Revenues" for the purpose of the unaudited IFR pro forma condensed combined income statement

Alcon presents general and administration expenses together with marketing and sales expenses in its consolidated income statement, while Novartis separates the two items in its consolidated income statement. Therefore, $396 million in general and administration expenses included by Alcon in the line "Marketing & Sales" have been reclassified to the line "General & Administration" for the purpose of the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement

Alcon presents the amortization of intangible assets in a separate line in its income statement, while Novartis charges the amortization to the line "Cost of Goods Sold" or, if it relates to certain technology or scientific infrastructure, to the line "Research & Development". For the purpose of the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement the amortization of Alcon has been reclassified in accordance with Novartis accounting policies by recording expenses of $(56) million in the line "Cost of Goods Sold" and $(4) million in the line "Research & Development"

"Interest income" presented by Alcon in a separate line is included in the line "Financial income" for Novartis reporting purposes Furthermore, Alcon presents foreign exchange gains and losses in the line "Gain (loss) from foreign currency, net" and investment income as "Other, net", whereas Novartis presents such amounts in the line "Financial income". For the purpose of the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement, $29 million in interest income, $(3) million of loss from foreign currency and $35 million of investment income have been included in the line "Financial income"

IFRS pro forma adjustment

Adjustments were made in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement to reflect the acquisition by Novartis of the 52% interest in Alcon from Nestlé on August 25, 2010, which led to Novartis obtaining majority ownership of Alcon. Thi acquisition of majority ownership has been accounted for using the acquisition method (as prescribed by IFRS 3R) as if the acquisition has occurred on January 1, 2010. These adjustments and those related to the elimination of certain non-recurring items and the estimated additional financing costs that would have been incurred had the acquisition of the 52% interest in Alcon already occurred as of January 1 2010 are shown in the following tables.

3. Elimination of the Alcon results from August 25, 2010 to December 31, 201

The Novartis consolidated income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010 includes the Alcon results since the change of majority ownership on August 25, 2010. To avoid double counting these results in the unaudited IFRS proforma condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010, the Alcon results for the period from August 25, 2010 to December 31, 2010 have been eliminated

Elimination of accounting for Alcon as an associated compan

a) Elimination of the Alcon results from January 1, 2010 to August 25, 201

The initial 25% interest of Novartis in Alcon, acquired in 2008, was accounted for as an investment in an associated company using the equity method of accounting until the change of majority ownership occurred on August 25, 2010. Since Alcon is already fully consolidated in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement a from January 1, 2010, the impact of accounting for Alcon as an associated company has been eliminated from the Novartis historical consolidated income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010, amounting to an adjustment to income of $98 million.

b) Elimination of revaluation gain on initial 25% interes

For business combinations achieved in stages, IFRS requires that any previously held interest of an acquirer in a acquiree is adjusted to its fair value through the income statement as of the acquisition date. The agreement that Novarti entered into with Nestlé in 2008 specified an average price of up to $168 per share for all of the Alcon shares held by Nestlé (comprising approximately 77% at the time of the Purchase and Option Agreement), including $143 per share for the initial 25% interest acquired by Novartis in 2008, and a maximum of $181 per share for the remaining 52% including a premium for the change of majority ownership

Novartis has re-assessed the fair value of the initial 25% non-controlling interest in Alcon it acquired from Nestlé in 2008. Novartis determined a fair value of approximately $38.7 billion for the total interest in Alcon currently owned by Novartis based on a price of $168 per Alcon share, which is the per share value of the Merger Consideration and also the approximate average price per share paid by Novartis for the total interest acquired from Nestlé. Novartis assessed the fair value attributable to the initial 25% non-controlling interest as of August 25, 2010 (the date of the acquisition of the 52% majority ownership interest in Alcon) by deducting from the fair value of approximately $38.7 billion for its total interest in Alcon acquired from Nestlé the amount paid for the 52% majority ownership interest of $28.3 billion (which included a premium for gaining majority ownership). This results in a fair value for the initial 25% non-controlling interest in Alcon of approximately $10.4 billion. As this fair value of the initial non-controlling interest exceeds the recorded book value of the initial non-controlling interest of approximately $10.0 billion, Novartis recorded revaluation gain of $378 million

This gain has been reduced by $43 million of accumulated losses recorded in the comprehensive income of Novarti since the July 2008 acquisition date of the initial 25% non-controlling interest. These accumulated losses were recorded under the equity accounting method, which requires these accumulated losses to be recycled into the income statement at the time of acquiring majority ownership. The net amount of $335 million is a non-recurring item, and therefore it has not been included in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010.

The combined impact of a) and b) above is an adjustment of $433 million including any related tax impac

3.3 Elimination of transactions between Alcon and Novarti

Alcon records in the line "Other Revenues" the income from a co-promotion agreement with Novartis. Novartis record the corresponding expenses in the line "Marketing & Sales". The $3 million in income attributable to the period from January 1, 2010 to August 25, 2010 wa

Purchase price accounting adjustment

IFRS 3R requires that all of an acquiree's net identifiable assets are revalued to their estimated fair value at the time majority ownership over the acquiree is obtained. Novartis obtained majority ownership of Alcon on August 25, 2010 as a result of acquiring an additional 52% interest in the company from Nestlé

The purchase price allocation is final, except for any matters that may arise following 100% ownership. It resulted in a fair value of net identifiable assets acquired with the change of majority ownership in Alcon on August 25, 2010 of $27.1 billion. Alcon recorded ne identifiable assets on an IFRS basis of $5.9 billion. The identified fair value increases arise on account of (i) intangible assets of $24.5 billion; (ii) inventory of $467 million; and (iii) property, plant and equipment of $140 million. At the same time, liabilities increased on account of (i) additional deferred taxes of $3.8 billion and (ii) post-employment benefit liabilities of $129 million.

The following is an explanation of the significant fair value adjustments

a) Fair value adjustment relating to inventor

The fair value of inventory is considered to be approximated by its net realizable value, i.e. its estimated net selling price less estimated direct marketing and sales costs and a reasonable profit on these activities. Based on this method, the fair value of Alcon's inventory exceeds its carrying amount by $467 million. The estimated revaluation of inventory is charged to the line "Cost of Goods Sold" over its average anticipated usage period of four months. However, the related charge has not been included in the unaudited IFRS proforma condensed combined income statement as it is considered to be non-recurring. The relevant amount recorded in the Novartis consolidated income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010 of $467 million has therefore been eliminated in the unaudited IFRS proforma condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010

b) Fair value adjustment relating to intangible asset

The fair value of identified intangible assets is determined using either the excess earnings approach or the relief from royalty approach, which are both variations of an income approach. The excess earnings approach is based on indirect cash flows, which are determined based on forecasted earnings of the intangible assets after deducting an allowance for the returns for assets contributing to the cash flow generation of the intangible asset to be valued. Currently marketed products, the marketing know-how and some "Research & Development" projects were valued using this approach. Under the relief from royalty approach, the fair value of an intangible asset is determined based on the present value of royalties a company avoids because it owns a specific intangible asset. Alcon's surgical equipment business technology platforms were valued using this approach. The forecasted excess earnings and royalties avoided reflect asset specific risks and uncertainties. For the purpose of the purchase price allocation reflected in the unaudited IFRS proform condensed combined income statement, Novartis has based its forecast of the excess earnings and royalties avoided or information provided by Alcon and its own industry expertise, (such as historical product revenues), Alcon's constructure and other relevant assumptions. All forecasts have been made from the perspective of a market participant assuming their highest and best use. The discount rates chosen are commensurate with the general risk and uncertaintie inherent in intangible assets. Asset specific risks are reflected in the forecasted net cash flows. Based on this final valuation of intangible assets, an additional amortization expense, calculated on a straight-line basis over the useful lives of the respective assets, has been recorded in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined incomstatement for the year ended December 31, 2010, amounting to $1,926 million. This additional amortization expense has been included in the line "Cost of Goods Sold". Useful lives for various identified intangible assets (which include currently marketed products, technology platforms and marketing know-how) range from five to 25 years. The Alcohorand name is estimated to have an indefinite life, and as a result will not be amortized. The value attributed to the Alcohorand name, together with values attributable to "Research & Development" projects, which are also not amortized, will be subject to annual impairment test reviews

c) Fair value adjustment relating to property, plant and equipment

The fair value of property, plant and equipment is significantly influenced by its specific nature, age, condition, and location. The fair value as at August 25, 2010 results in a fair value adjustment of $140 million to the book value recorded by Alcon as at August 25, 2010.

Depreciation related to the revaluation of property, plant and equipment has been recorded in the unaudited IFRS proforms condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010, amounting to $19 million, and has been included in the line "Cost of Goods Sold"

As a result of the adjustments described in a) c) above, a total adjustment has been recorded in the line "Cost of Goods Sold" in tunaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010, amounting to $1,478 million, with a related tax charge reduction of $84 million

d) Deferred tax on fair value adjustment

A net deferred tax liability of $3.8 billion has been recorded on the fair value adjustments explained above. The tax rate used to calculate these deferred taxes is based on a weighted average of the tax rate applicable in the jurisdictions in which Novartis expects most of the intangible assets and inventories to reside and where the property, plant and equipment is situated. The deferred tax liability will be released in line with the amortization of the intangible assets, use of the inventory and depreciation of the property, plant and equipment, as applicable. As the impact of the deferred tax on the amortization of the intangible assets and depreciation of the property, plant and equipment is considered to be recurring, it has been reflected in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement, whereas the impact related to revaluation of inventory is considered to be non-recurring and has therefore not been reflected in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement.

The deferred tax credit recorded in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement for the above mentioned item for the year ended December 31, 2010 amounted to $84 million, recorded in the line "Taxes"

e) Fair value of outstanding non-controlling interests and resulting goodwing

Novartis has chosen to record the outstanding non-controlling interests in Alcon at their proportionate share of ne identifiable assets as at the change of majority ownership date of August 25, 2010. Consequently the value attributable to the outstanding non-controlling interests in Alcon at that date is approximately 23% of the $27.1 billion in ne identifiable assets of Alcon as of August 25, 2010, or $6.3 billion

Goodwill is calculated as the difference between (i) the sum of the fair value of the initial 25% interest in Alcon that Novartis acquired in 2008 and the purchase price paid for the 52% interest in Alcon that Novartis acquired of August 25, 2010 and (ii) 77% of the fair value of Alcon's net identifiable assets recognized at the acquisition date. Upon the change of majority ownership in Alcon on August 25, 2010, Novartis had a total investment for the 77% majority interest of $38.7 billion (fair value of the initial 25% interest of $10.4 billion and a purchase price of $28.3 billion for the additional 52% interest). Subtracting from this amount the approximately 77% share of the net identifiable assets of Alcon at the change of majority ownership date, totaling $20.8 billion, results in residual goodwill of $17.9 billion Goodwill is not amortized but is subject to an annual impairment review, and it is not expected to be tax deductible

As a result of the accounting policy adopted by Novartis under IFRS 3R, no goodwill has been included in the amoun attributed to the outstanding non-controlling interests Novartis would acquire in the proposed merger

Elimination of non-recurring item

As indicated under "1. Basis of Presentation" above, the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement has been adjusted only to give effect to pro forma events that are expected to have a continuing impact on the combined results. Non-recurring item have therefore been excluded. Novartis has incurred non-recurring costs of $99 million, primarily related to transaction and other costs as result of acquiring the additional 52% interest in Alcon. Furthermore, Alcon has also incurred non-recurring costs of $152 million as a result of the change in its majority ownership, primarily related to the acceleration of benefits under post-employment benefit and share-based compensation plans. These non-recurring costs have been excluded from the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010.

These non-recurring items amounted to a total of $251 million and related tax of $(36) million have been eliminated from the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010.

Financing costs for the additional 52% interest in Alco

For purposes of the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement, the 52% interest in Alcon that Novarti acquired on August 25, 2010 from Nestlé is assumed to have been acquired with effect from January 1, 2010. If the acquisition of the 52% stake had in fact occurred on January 1, 2010, Novartis would have incurred $104 million of additional financing costs, which have been recorded in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010 under "Interest expense". The additional financing costs are based on the assumption that the $28.3 billion paid for the 52% stake acquired from Nestlé of August 25, 2010 would have been financed using available Novartis funds of $17.0 billion and additional short-term borrowings of $11.3 billion with an interest rate of 1.4% during the period up to the actual acquisition of the 52% interest in Alcon on August 25, 2010

At the same time, "Financial income" would have been lower during the period from January 1, 2010 to August 25, 2010 had the $17.0 billion of available Novartis funds been used for acquiring the approximately 52% interest in Alcon with effect from August 25, 2010 actually have been utilized as of January 1, 2010. Based on the average return of 0.31% that Novartis achieved on these funds during the period up to the actual acquisition of the 52% interest in Alcon on August 25, 2010, "Financial income" in the unaudited IFRS pro form condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010 has been reduced by $35 million.

Adjustments arising from the merge

Impact related to consolidated equit

As described in more detail under "The Merger Agreement and the Merger Merger Consideration" on page 104, in accordance we the provisions of the merger agreement, each Alcon share will be converted into the right to receive merger consideration valued at $168 including up to 2.8 Novartis shares. While a lower number of Novartis shares per Alcon share may be delivered in connection with the merger if the Novartis share value (calculated as described in the above-referenced section) is higher than $60, for purposes of the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement, Novartis assumes that it will deliver Novartis shares at an exchange ratio of 2.8 Novartis shares per Alcon shares.

At the assumed exchange ratio of 2.8 Novartis shares per Alcon share, Novartis would deliver an aggregate of approximately 215 million Novartis shares to Alcon shareholders (other than Novartis) in connection with the merger. This is based on an assumption that there will be up to 76.8 million outstanding Alcon shares (other than Alcon shares owned by Novartis) at the effective time of the merger. O these 76.8 million Alcon shares, approximately 71.0 million are currently outstanding, while it is currently assumed that an additional 5.8 million Alcon shares will be issued prior to the completion of the merger pursuant to outstanding Alcon share-based awards

As described in the table below, at the assumed exchange ratio, the 71.0 million Alcon shares to be exchanged represent a additional 199 million Novartis shares. The pro forma basic earnings per share calculation has been made based on this additional amount. The additional 5.8 million Alcon shares assumed to be issued prior to the completion of the merger represent a further additional 16 million Novartis shares. The pro forma diluted earnings per share calculation has been made on the resulting total of 215 million Novartis shares.

Number of Alcon shares outstanding for the non-controlling interests (millions)	71.0
Estimate of Alcon shares that may be delivered prior to merger pursuant to share-based awards (millions)	5.8
Estimate of maximum number of Alcon shares outstanding immediately prior to completion of the merger (other than Alcon shares owned by Novartis) (millions)	76.8
Consideration per share ($)	168
Total consideration ($ billion)	12.9

As described in the table above, in connection with the merger Novartis expects to deliver total consideration valued a approximately $12.9 billion to the non-controlling minority Alcon shareholders

The following table illustrates the impact of the merger on the portion of the Novartis Group's consolidated equity attributable to shareholders of Novartis, assuming the delivery of 215 million Novartis shares, with an illustrative Novartis per share value of $60 (with the merger consideration consisting exclusively of Novartis shares) and an illustrative Novartis per share value of $56, which was the approximate closing price of the Novartis shares on the SIX on the date of announcement of the execution of the merger agreement converted into US dollars at the spot USD/CHF exchange rate of Interest at 0.3% per annum on the assumed borrowings to settle in cash the contingent value amount of $900 million recorded in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010 amounted to $3 million and related tax of $(1) million

Upon completion of the merger, the excess of the estimated aggregate merger consideration of $12.9 billion over the proportionat share of Alcon's net assets attributable to the non-controlling interests ($6.5 billion at December 31, 2010) will be deducted from the Novartis Group's consolidated equity. As a result, Novartis currently expects to record a reduction in the Novartis Group's consolidated equity upon completion of the merger of approximately $6.4 billion. Costs directly related to the merger (currently anticipated to be $80 million) will also be deducted from the Novartis Group's consolidated equity

As a result of the acquisition of all of the outstanding non-controlling interests in Alcon, the amount of the net income attributable to the shareholders of Novartis increases in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010 by $95 million. After additionally taking into account the $2 million net impact of the financing of the merger, the amount attributable to the shareholders of Novartis increases by a net $93 million for the year ended December 31, 2010. No income attributable to non-controlling shareholders correspondingly declines by $95 million

Transaction Cost

Transaction costs directly relating to the merger are anticipated to be $80 million and will be recorded in equity as required by IAS 27R. The transaction and other costs related to the acquisition of the majority ownership of Alcon on August 25, 2010 of $251 million have been eliminated from the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed consolidated income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010 under 3.5 above, as they are non-recurring

4. Financing Cost

A 0.125% change in the cost of financing would change the amount recorded in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010 by $10 million

A 0.125% change in the return on the assets used for the financing of the additional 52% interest in Alcon with effect from January 1, 2010 would change the amount recorded in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010 by $14 million

As a result, the net impact of a 0.125% increase/decrease in the financing assumption and decrease/increase in the return on the assets assumption used for the financing of the additional 52% interest in Alcon with effect from January 1, 2010 would change the amount recorded in the unaudited IFRS pro forma condensed combined income statement for the year ended December 31, 2010 by $24 million

4. Earnings per shar

Pro forma earnings per common share for the year ended December 31, 2010 have been calculated based on the pro forma weighter average number of Novartis shares outstanding for the year ended December 31, 2010, which has been calculated as if the acquisition of the 52% interest in Alcon resulting in the change of majority ownership and the proposed merger had occurred on January 1, 2010 and as result were effective for the periods presented

SUMMARY OF RELEVANT SIGNIFICANT DIFFERENCES BETWEEN US GAAP AND IFRS

The historical financial information of Alcon included in this prospectus has been prepared and presented in accordance wit US GAAP. The historical financial information of Novartis and the pro forma financial information included in this prospectus has bee prepared and presented in accordance with IFRS. Certain differences exist between US GAAP and IFRS, which might be material to the financial information included in this prospectus.

The principal relevant differences between US GAAP and IFRS that Novartis believes are relevant in the preparation of Alcon' financial statements in accordance with IFRS and in the preparation of the pro forma financial information included in this prospectus are described below. The following summary does not include all differences that exist between US GAAP and IFRS and is not intended to provide a comprehensive listing of all such differences specifically related to Novartis, Alcon or the industry in which Novartis and Alcon operate

The differences described below reflect only those differences in accounting policies in force at the time of the preparation of the historical financial information of Alcon. There has been no attempt to identify future differences between US GAAP and IFRS as the result of prescribed changes in accounting standards, transactions or events that may occur in the future. The organizations that promulgat US GAAP and IFRS have significant projects ongoing that could have a significant impact on future comparisons such as this one between US GAAP and IFRS. Future developments or changes in either US GAAP or IFRS may give rise to additional differences between US GAAP and IFRS that could have a significant impact on Novartis or the combined company

Under US GAAP, profits from intercompany sales, for which the related goods have not been sold to third party customers, are eliminated and will be recognized only upon the ultimate third party sale as is any related income tax due by the selling company. Unde IFRS, profits arising from an intercompany sale, for which the related goods have not been sold to third parties, are eliminated and will be recognized only upon the ultimate third party sale as under US GAAP. However, the deferred tax on the profit that is eliminated is based on the tax rate applicable in the jurisdiction of the buying company, and not that of the supplying company, as is the case under US GAAP.

The measurement of deferred tax assets for share-based compensation awards differs under US GAAP and IFRS. Under US GAAP the deferred tax asset is measured based on the recorded compensation expense and therefore does not fluctuate with the company's shar price. The difference between the deferred tax asset and the actual tax deduction realized is recognized at the exercise date. Under IFRS deferred tax is based on an estimate of the future tax deduction, which depends on the company's share price at the end of the reportin period. Furthermore, tax benefits from equity awards in excess of the tax effects of the compensation expense are recognized in equity under both US GAAP and IFRS. However, under US GAAP, unlike under IFRS, any shortfalls can be offset against any excess amount booke into equity

Under US GAAP the classification as current or non-current follows the classification of the underlying asset, whereas under IFR deferred tax assets and liabilities are always classified as non-current on the balance shee

Post-Employment Benefit

Under US GAAP and under the IFRS accounting alternative Novartis has adopted for its IFRS consolidated financial statements actuarial gains and losses are recognized in comprehensive income. Under US GAAP actuarial gains and losses outside a corridor of 10% of the greater of the contraction of the greater of t projected benefit obligation or the value of plan assets are recycled to the income statement over the average remaining service period o active employees. IFRS does not require a subsequent recognition in the income statement

Under US GAAP prior service costs are initially recognized in comprehensive income and are recycled to the income statement over the remaining years of service (active employees) or the life expectancy (inactive employees). Under IFRS prior service costs not yet vested are recognized in the income statement on a straight line basis over the vesting period

Accounting for Non-Controlling Interest

Under US GAAP any remaining non-controlling interest in a company that is being acquired (in this case, Alcon) must be measured at its fair value. Under IFRS any remaining non-controlling interest in a company that is being acquired can be measured either at its fair value or at the non-controlling interests' proportionate share of the net identifiable assets of the company that is being acquired. Novartis has chosen the latter IFRS accounting alternative. For more detail about the proposed accounting treatment of the merger and the effect on the consolidated financial statements of Novartis, please see "Unaudited IFRS Pro Forma Condensed Combined Income Statement and Unaudited IFRS Pro Forma Condensed Combined Income Statement and IFRS Pro Forma adjustments" beginning on page 12

INTERESTS OF ALCON'S DIRECTORS AND EXECUTIVE OFFICERS IN THE MERGER

In considering the recommendation of the Alcon Board that you vote for the approval of the merger agreement, you should be aware that members of the Alcon Board and Alcon's executive officers have agreements and arrangements that provide them with interest in the merger that may differ from, or be in addition to, the interests of other Alcon shareholders. The Alcon Board was aware of these agreements and arrangements during its deliberations of the merits of the merger and in determining to recommend that you vote to approve the merger agreement.

Treatment of Equity Award

The Second Stage Acquisition constituted a "change of control" under the Amended 2002 Alcon Incentive Plan. Consequently pursuant to the award agreements under the Amended 2002 Alcon Incentive Plan, any stock options, stock appreciation rights, restricte shares and restricted share units that were granted prior to January 1, 2009, and were held at the time of consummation of the Second Stag Acquisition vested at such time. The award agreements under the Amended 2002 Alcon Incentive Plan provide that, upon a change control, all performance share unit awards would continue to vest under their original terms, unless achievement of performance goals can no longer be measured, in which case 100% of each award would vest subject to completion of individual service requirements. Since achievement of performance goals was able to be measured following the Second Stage Acquisition, the performance share unit awards remained outstanding following consummation of such acquisition

The following table shows the number of each type of equity award held by each of Alcon's directors and executive officers that vested upon consummation of the Second Stage Acquisition, and the dollar values of such equity awards (for options and stock appreciation rights, the spread values) based on the $160.37 closing price of Alcon shares on the NYSE on August 25, 2010, the date of consummation of the Second Stage Acquisition

Mr. McCracken, along with approximately 200 other Alcon employees (none of whom were executive officers), received a specia retention grant of restricted share units in connection with the Second Stage Acquisition. Mr. McCracken received 3,729 restricted share units in such grant

Pursuant to the award agreements under the Amended 2002 Alcon Incentive Plan, any equity awards that were granted on or after January 1, 2009 and any performance share units, in each case that were held at the time of consummation of the Second Stage Acquisition (other than the special retention grants), will vest on an accelerated basis (at the 100% level, with respect to performance share units) upon termination of the participant's employment by Alcon, other than for "cause" (as defined in the Amended 2002 Alcon Incentive Plan), or resignation by the participant for "good reason", in each case within the two years following the Second Stage Acquisition ("double-trigger vesting). The award agreements for options, stock appreciation rights and restricted share units define "good reason" as (i) a material diminution in the participant's base compensation, (ii) a material diminution in the participant's authority, duties or responsibilities or (iii) material change in the geographic location at which the participant must perform services. The "good reason" definition in the award agreements for performance share units contains the same three prongs, but the award agreement for the performance share units granted in 2008 also includes (iv) a material diminution in the authority, duties or responsibilities of the supervisor to whom the participant is required to report and (v) a material diminution in the budget over which the participant retains authority. Since the service of the non-executive directors will terminate upon the dissolution of the Alcon Board that will occur in connection with the merger, their awards will vest at such

Mr. McCracken's retention grant of restricted share units will vest on a prorated basis upon a termination of his employment by Alcon in connection with his position being eliminated or a resignation by Mr. McCracken for "good reason", defined in the same manner a in the other award agreements (other than the performance share unit agreements)

Upon consummation of the merger, the Alcon equity awards will be converted into awards with respect to Novartis shares, a described under "The Merger Agreement Treatment of Certain Share Capital and Equity" on page 106. As described in such section, t equity awards will otherwise remain subject to their existing terms, including any "double-trigger" acceleration of vesting provision described above, except that performance-based restricted share units granted in 2009 for the 2009-2011 performance cycle will be converted into a number of Novartis restricted share units, assuming target performance levels. The other terms and conditions of the award (including the rights of employees upon termination of employment following change of control, vesting conditions and payment schedules) will remain the same. If the performance share units granted in 2008 for the 2008-2010 award cycle are still outstanding at the time of the consummation of the merger, the number of such units that will convert into Novartis restricted share units will be determined based on actual performance for the award cycle. If such performance share units have already been settled at the time of the consummation of the merger, the underlying shares will be treated as other Alcon shares

The table on the following page shows the number of each type of equity award held by each of Alcon's directors and executive officers as of December 31, 2010, which will be converted into Novartis equity awards if not exercised or settled, as the case may be, prior to the consummation of the merger. For stock appreciation rights, we have indicated (i) the number of each such award that are vested and (ii) the number that are unvested and are subject to the "double-trigger" acceleration of vesting described above. All the options are vested and all the restricted share units are unvested. For these purposes, the target number of performance share units is shown for both the 2009 and 2009 performance cycles. The dollar values of such awards (for options and stock appreciation rights, the spread values) are also provided, based on the $168 value of the Merger Consideration

Severance Benefit

Alcon has entered into employment contracts, offer letters and other agreements with certain executive officers that provide fo certain severance benefits upon certain terminations of employment. Other executive officers are covered by Alcon's US broad-based severance policy

Alcon has entered into an employment contract with Kevin J. Buehler, the Chief Executive Officer and President, that provides fo a lump sum payment of 12 months salary, as well as a prorated annual bonus (determined assuming fully satisfactory performance wa achieved), if Alcon terminates the contract without "cause" (as defined in the contract) or declines to renew the contract. Under the contract, Mr. Buehler will be subject to non-competition and non-solicitation covenants for 12 months following the termination of his employmen

Pursuant to an offer letter with Dr. Sabri Markabi, Senior Vice President, Research and Development and Chief Medical Officer, if within one year following the change of control that occurred in connection with the Second Stage Acquisition, Alcon terminate Dr. Markabi's employment without "cause" (which is not defined in the offer letter) or Dr. Markabi terminates employment because of material reduction in his responsibilities or a material change in geographic location at which he must perform services, Alcon will part. Markabi two times his annual base salary as in effect at the time of termination and two times his target annual incentive bonus amount

Pursuant to an offer letter with Merrick McCracken, Senior Vice President, Global Human Resources, if, within one year following the change of control that occurred in connection with the Second Stage Acquisition, Mr. McCracken's employment is terminated by Alcour without "cause" (as defined in the letter) or he terminates employment for good reason (which consists of a material diminution in his base compensation, a material diminution in his authority, duties or responsibilities or a material change in the geographic location at which he must perform services), Alcon will pay Mr. McCracken one times the sum of his annual base salary and his target annual bonus in effect at the time of his termination, as well as a prorated bonus for the then-current performance year. In addition, while Mr. McCracken would have to repay a prorated portion of his $50,000 sign-on bonus in the event he voluntarily terminates his employment in the first 24 months of his employment, he would not have to do so if such termination was for reasons related to the change of control

For the executive officers of Alcon who do not have severance terms in their individual employment agreements, Alcon's Us broad-based severance policy provides for up to six months of severance benefits (based on service) upon a termination of employment by Alcon without "cause", as defined in the policy, and upon certain voluntary resignations with appropriate approval from Alcon. Similarly executive officers who are not entitled to receive prorated bonus payments for the year of termination pursuant to their individual agreements are entitled to receive prorated target bonuses upon elimination of their position or certain approved voluntary resignations

The following table shows the estimated value of the severance benefits payable to each executive (other than Richard J. Croarkin whose employment as Senior Vice President, Finance, has already terminated and whose benefits are described below), assuming qualifying termination on December 31, 2010 for illustration purposes

Supplemental Defined Contribution Plan

Upon the change of control that occurred in connection with the consummation of the Second Stage Acquisition, the executive became 100% vested (to the extent not already vested) in all of their benefits under the Alcon Excess 401(k) Plan, which will become payable upon their termination of employment. The following table shows the amount of each participating executive's total benefits in such plan as of October 15, 2010, as well as the amount of his or her benefits that vested upon the change of contro

Supplemental Defined Benefit Plan

The consummation of the Second Stage Acquisition caused the change of ownership provisions in the Executive Salar Continuation Plan (the "ESCP") to apply. All plan participants were deemed 100% vested in their plan benefits, early retirement reduction were waived and payouts began in the second month following the month of consummation of the Second Stage Acquisition (subject to an required delay under Section 409A of the Internal Revenue Code). Benefit payments under the ESCP were calculated pursuant to plan provisions by averaging base salary at the time of the Second Stage Acquisition, base salary at December 31, 2009, and base salary at December 31, 2008.

Upon the consummation of the Second Stage Acquisition, benefits in the Alcon Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan (the "ASERP") became 100% vested (to the extent not already vested) and early retirement reductions were waived for benefits accrued as o August 25, 2010. (Future accruals will be subject to the early retirement reductions.) The ASERP benefit payments will be payable on the later of the first day of the second month after the participant turns age 50 and the first day of the second month after the termination of the participant's employment

The following table shows the participating executives' aggregate accrued benefits in the ESCP and ASERP as of December 31 2010, as well as the benefits that vested in connection with the Second Stage Acquisition

Alcon maintains a "rabbi trust" to hold and invest amounts for the payment of benefits to participants under the ESCP and the ASERP. The assets of the trust are restricted to the payment of ESCP and ASERP benefits except under certain conditions, such as Alcon' insolvency. The Alcon Executive Retirement Plans Grantor Trust Agreement required Alcon to fund the actuarially determined present value of the aggregate accrued pension benefits of all participants in the ESCP and ASERP upon a change of control of Alcon. Alcon contributes $152 million to the trust during the third quarter of 2010 to satisfy this requirement in connection with the consummation of the Second Stage Acquisition

Terminated Executive

The employment of Mr. Croarkin was terminated on November 30, 2010. Pursuant to a memo provided to Mr. Croarkin in connection with his termination, Mr. Croarkin received a severance payment equal to 26 weeks of his base salary (approximately $310,000) a 2010 bonus payout of $520,800 (based on actual performance), as well as a payment for excise taxes imposed in connection with Section 280G of the Internal Revenue Code, as described above (with the excise taxes totaling $744,935). Mr. Croarkin was also entitled to receive an additional year of benefit accrual (with an early retirement reduction percentage applied) under the ASERP (described above). Hi annual total ASERP benefits are $110,695, which he will receive beginning in June 2011, subject to his compliance with certain non-competition and non-solicitation provisions. He is also entitled to receive a lump-sum payment of his benefits under the Alcon Exces 401(k) Plan. Alcon also offered to reimburse him for up to $300,000 in relocation expenses, and to provide financial planning and tax preparation services and an executive physical

In the merger agreement, Novartis has agreed that it will obtain or will cause Alcon to obtain prior to completion of the merger effective as of completion of the merger, "tail" insurance policies with a claims period of six years following completion of the merger with at least the same coverage and amounts as the current policies of directors' and officers' liability insurance maintained by Alcon, in each case with respect to claims arising out of or relating to events that occurred before or at the time of completion of the merger (including in connection with the transactions contemplated by the merger agreement); provided that in no event will Novartis be required to expend of will Alcon expend an annual premium for such coverage in excess of 300% of the last annual premium paid by Alcon for such insurance for the covered persons prior to the date of the merger agreement.

Ownership of Alcon Shares by Alcon Directors and Executive Officer

The following tables show, as of January 31, 2011, the Alcon shares beneficially owned by each director and each executive officer As of January 31, 2011, all of the directors and executive officers listed below had direct or beneficial ownership of less than 1% of the outstanding Alcon shares. The listed directors and executive officers have informed Alcon that they currently intend to vote all of their Alcon shares "FOR" the proposal to approve the merger agreement

In addition, see above disclosure of outstanding vested stock appreciation rights, which will be settled in Alcon shares. Upon the exercise of one vested stock appreciation right, the participant is entitled to receive Alcon shares equal in value to the excess, if any, of the fair market value of one Alcon share on the day the vested stock appreciation right is exercised over the grant price

RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

Co-Marketing Agreement for Japan between Novartis Pharma AG and Alcon Pharmaceuticals Ltd

On January 9, 2009, Alcon Pharmaceuticals Ltd. entered into an agreement with Novartis Pharma AG (an affiliate of Novartis providing for the co-promotion under their license of the Lucentis® product in Japan. This agreement has a three-year term ending of December 31, 2011. During the years ended December 31, 2010 and 2009, Alcon recognized co-promotion fees from this agreement which were more than sufficient to recover Alcon's costs under the agreement

Past Transactions among Director

On December 30, 2009, Dr. Vasella, Chairman of Novartis and a director of Alcon, agreed to buy a property from Mr. de Vink, member of the Independent Director Committee of Alcon, for $3.15 million. The purchase was completed in January 2010. Except as se forth in the preceding sentence or as otherwise set forth elsewhere in this prospectus, during the two years before the date of this prospectus there have been no transactions, to the knowledge of Novartis or Alcon, between any executive officer or director of Novartis, on the one hand, and any executive officer, director or affiliate of Alcon that is a natural person, on the other hand, in which the aggregate value of the transaction or series of similar transactions with that person exceeds $60,000.

DESCRIPTION OF THE NOVARTIS SHARES

As of the date of this prospectus, the share capital of Novartis is CHF 1,318,811,500, fully paid-in and divided into 2,637,623,000 registered shares, each with a nominal value of CHF 0.50. As of the date of this prospectus, Novartis has neither authorized nor conditional capital. Novartis intends to ask its shareholders to authorize an increase of its share capital by up to shares to be delivered as part of the Merger Consideration. There are no preferential voting shares; all shares have equal voting rights. No participation certificates, non-voting equity securities (Genussscheine) or profit-sharing certificates have been issued. Novartis shares are listed and traded on the SIX (Valon No. 001200526, ISIN CH0012005267, symbol: NOVN) as well as on the NYSE in the form of American Depositary Receipts ("ADRs" representing Novartis ADSs (Valor No. 567514, ISIN US66987V1098, symbol: NVS). For a detailed description of the Novartis ADSs please see "Description of the Novartis American Depositary Shares" beginning on page 150

Set forth below is a history of the share capital of Novartis and a summary of the material terms of the Novartis shares as specified in the Articles of Incorporation of Novartis and the Swiss Code of Obligations (Obligationenrecht) relating to Novartis shares. This description is not complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to Swiss law, including the Swiss Code of Obligations, and to the Articles of Incorporation of Novartis. The Articles of Incorporation of Novartis were included as Exhibit 3.1 of the Novartis AG' registration statement on Form F-4 (Registration No. 333-171381) of which this prospectus is a part. The Articles of Incorporation of Novartis are hereby incorporated by reference into this section, and the descriptions in this section are qualified in their entirety by reference to the full text of the Articles of Incorporation of Novartis. History of the Share Capital of Novarti

Share Repurchase Program

Novartis began repurchasing its shares in 1999. Since then, five share repurchase programs have been completed, with the repurchase of Novartis shares valued at CHF 19 billion in total. Novartis shares repurchased under the first program were not cancelled. However, Novartis shares repurchased under the other four programs were cancelled. At the annual general meeting of shareholders of Novartis in February 2008, the shareholders of Novartis authorized the Novartis Board to launch a sixth program to repurchase Novartis shares up to a maximum amount of CHF 10 billion via a second trading line on the SIX. In 2008, a total of six million Novartis shares were repurchased at an average price of CHF 49.42 per share and cancelled. The share repurchase program has been suspended in favor of deberopayment since April 2008. As announced on December 15, 2010, Novartis intends to buy back Novartis shares under the existing authorization of the sixth share repurchase program to reduce shareholder dilution in connection with the mergen

Convertible or Exchangeable Securitie

Novartis has not issued convertible or exchangeable bonds, warrants, options or other securities granting rights to Novartis shares other than securities granted to associates as a component of compensation

Prior Public Offering

Neither Novartis nor Alcon has, during the past three years, made an underwritten public offering of common stock for cash or a offering exempt from United States registration under Regulation A in respect of common stock

Rights of Holders of Novartis Share

Right to Vote ("One Share, one Vote"

Each Novartis share registered with the right to vote entitles the holder to one vote at a general meeting of shareholders of Novartis

Resolutions and Elections at the General Meetin

A general meeting of shareholders of Novartis passes resolutions and elections with the "absolute majority" of the votes represented at the meeting. As a result, abstentions have the effect of votes against the resolution. Shareholder resolutions requiring a vote by such "absolute majority" include amendments to the Articles of Incorporation of Novartis elections of directors and statutory auditors approval of the annual report and the annual accounts setting the annual dividend:

decisions to discharge directors and management from liability for matters disclosed to the general meeting o shareholders of Novartis; and the ordering of an independent investigation into specific matters proposed to the general meeting of shareholders of

However, under the Articles of Incorporation of Novartis, the approval of a "supermajority" of at least 2/3 of the votes represented at the general meeting of shareholders of Novartis is required for

At general meetings of shareholders of Novartis, shareholders can be represented by proxy. However, a proxy must either be the shareholder's legal representative, another shareholder with the right to vote, a proxy appointed by Novartis, an independent representative nominated by Novartis, or a depositary. Votes are taken either by a show of hands or by electronic voting, unless the general meeting of shareholders of Novartis resolves to have a ballot or where a ballot is ordered by the chairman of the meeting

Reserves and Dividend

The Swiss Code of Obligations requires that at least 5% of the annual profits be retained as general reserves, so long as these reserves amount to less than 20% of the registered share capital. The Code of Obligations and the Articles of Incorporation of Novartis permit Novartis to accrue additional reserves.

Under the Swiss Code of Obligations, Novartis may only pay dividends out of the balance sheet profit or out of reserves created for this purpose. In either event, under the Swiss Code of Obligations, while the Novartis Board may propose that a dividend be paid, Novartis may only pay dividends upon approval by a general meeting of shareholders. The auditors of Novartis must confirm that the dividen proposal of the Novartis Board conforms to the Swiss Code of Obligations and the Articles of Incorporation of Novartis. The Novartis Board intends to propose a dividend once each year. For more information, please see "Item 3. Key Information 3.A. Selected Financial Data Countries and Dividends per Share" of Novartis AG's Annual Report on Form 20 F for the year ended December 31, 201

Dividends are usually due and payable shortly after the shareholders have passed a resolution approving the payment. Dividend which have not been claimed within five years after the due date revert to Novartis, and are allocated to its general reserves. For information about deduction of the withholding tax from dividend payments, please see "Item 10. Additional Information 10.E Taxation" of Novar AG's Annual Report on Form 20 F for the year ended December 31, 201

Other Shareholder Right

Shareholders of Novartis representing at least 10% of the share capital of Novartis may request that an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders of Novartis be convened. Shareholders of Novartis representing Novartis shares with an aggregate nominal value of at least CHF 1 million may request that an item be included in the agenda of a general meeting of shareholders of Novartis. Such request must be made in writing at least 45 days before the date of the general meeting of shareholders of Novartis, specify the item to be included in the agenda and contain the proposal on which the shareholder of Novartis requests a vote

Shareholder Registration

No restrictions apply on the transferability of Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs. However, only shareholders of Novartis registere in the Novartis share register or the Novartis ADS register kept by JP Morgan Chase Bank may exercise their voting rights. In order to b registered, a shareholder of Novartis must declare that he or she acquired the Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs in his or her own name an for his or her own account. The Articles of Incorporation of Novartis provide that the Novartis Board may register nominees with the right t vote. For restrictions on registration of nominees, please see below

The Articles of Incorporation of Novartis provide that no shareholder shall be registered with the right to vote for more than 2% of the registered share capital of Novartis (held in the form of the registered share capital of Novartis (held in the form of the registered share capital of Novartis (held in the form of the registered share capital of Novartis (held in the form of the registered share capital of Novartis (held in the form of the registered share capital of Novartis (held in the form of the registered share).

Novartis shares, Novartis ADSs or a combination of both). The Novartis Board may, upon request, grant an exemption from this restriction In 2010, no exemptions were requested

Given that shareholder representation at general meetings of shareholders has traditionally been low in Switzerland, Novartic considers the restriction on registration necessary to prevent a minority shareholder from dominating a general meeting of shareholders of Novartic Novartic considers.

The Articles of Incorporation of Novartis provide that no nominee shall be registered with the right to vote for more than 0.5% of the registered share capital of Novartis (held in the form of Novartis shares, Novartis ADSs or a combination of both). The Novartis Boar may, upon request, grant an exemption from this restriction if the nominee discloses the names, addresses and the number of Novartis share of the persons for whose account it holds 0.5% or more of the registered share capital of Novartis

The same shareholder registration restrictions apply to holders of Novartis ADSs as to the holders of Novartis shares

The restrictions on registration contained in the Articles of Incorporation of Novartis may only be removed by a resolution of the general meeting of shareholders of Novartis, with approval of at least 2/3 of the votes represented at the meeting

Shareholders of Novartis, Novartis ADS holders or nominees that are linked to each other or act in concert to circumvent the restrictions on registration are treated as one person or nominee for purposes of the restrictions on registration

No Restrictions on Tradin

The registration of shareholders in the Novartis share register or the Novartis ADS register kept by JP Morgan Chase Bank does not affect the tradability of Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs. No restrictions are imposed by Novartis or JP Morgan Chase Bank on the trading of registered Novartis shares or registered Novartis ADSs. Registered shareholders of Novartis and registered holders of Novartis ADS may, therefore, purchase or sell their Novartis shares or Novartis ADSs at any time, including prior to a general meeting of shareholders of Novartis regardless of the record date. The record date serves only to determine the right to vote at a general meeting of shareholders of Novartis.

Change of Control Provision

The Swiss Stock Exchange Act provides that anyone who, directly, indirectly or acting in concert with third parties, acquires equity securities exceeding 33¹/₃% of the voting rights of a company whether or not such rights are exercisable is required to make an offer acquire all listed equity securities of that company. A company may raise this threshold to 49% of the voting rights ("opting up") or may under certain circumstances, waive the threshold ("opting out"). Novartis has not adopted any such measures

There are no change-of-control clauses benefiting directors of Novartis

Election and Term of Office of the Director

All Novartis directors are elected individually. Novartis directors are elected to terms of office of three years or less by shareholder at general meetings of shareholders of Novartis. The terms of office among directors are to be coordinated so that approximately 1/3 of all directors are subject each year to re-election or election. Under Swiss law, a general meeting of shareholders of Novartis is entitled to remove any director at any time, regardless of his or her remaining term of office

DESCRIPTION OF THE NOVARTIS AMERICAN DEPOSITARY SHARES

JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. (fka Morgan Guaranty Trust Company of New York), as depositary under the Amended and Restated Deposit Agreement, dated as of May 11, 2000, among Novartis, JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., as depositary, and all holders from time to time of ADRs issued thereunder evidencing Novartis ADSs, as amended (the "Deposit Agreement"), will issue the Novartis ADSs that will be delivered in connection with the merger. Each Novartis ADS will represent one Novartis share, which Novartis will deposit with UBS AG as custodian, as agent of the depositary. For a description of the Novartis shares, including certain provisions that apply to Novarti ADSs, please see "Description of the Novartis Shares" beginning on page 146. Each Novartis ADS will also represent any securities, cash of other property deposited with the depositary, but which the depositary has not distributed directly to you. Unless specifically requested by you, all Novartis ADSs will be issued on the books of the depositary in book-entry form and periodic statements will be mailed to you that reflect your ownership interest in such Novartis ADSs. In this description, references to ADRs includes ADRs the ownership of which will be evidenced by periodic statements you will receive

Because the depositary or its nominee will actually be the registered owner of the registered Novartis shares underlying the Novarti ADSs, you must rely on it to exercise the rights of a shareholder on your behalf, including the attendance of general meetings of shareholders of Novartis. If you become an owner of Novartis ADSs, you will become a party to the Deposit Agreement and therefore will be bound by its terms and by the terms of the Novartis ADSs and the ADRs. The Deposit Agreement and the form of ADR specify the right of Novartis, your rights and obligations as owner of Novartis ADSs and the rights and obligations of the depositary. The Deposit Agreement the Novartis ADSs and the ADRs are governed by New York law. As an owner of a Novartis ADS, you appoint the depositary as you attorney-in-fact, with full power to delegate, to act on your behalf and to take any and all actions contemplated in the Deposit Agreement, to adopt any and all procedures necessary to comply with applicable laws and to take such action as the depositary in its sole discretion may deem necessary or appropriate to carry out the purposes of the Deposit Agreement

The following is a summary of the material terms of the Deposit Agreement and the rights pertaining to the Novartis ADSs. Because it is a summary, it does not contain all the information that may be important to you. For more complete information, you should read the entire Deposit Agreement, which is filed as an exhibit to the registration statement of which this prospectus forms a part, and the form of ADR that contains the terms of the Novartis ADSs. In addition, this summary should be read together with, and is qualified by, the description of Novartis shares under "Description of the Novartis Shares" beginning on page 146. To find out where copies of these documents can be obtained, please see the sections of this prospectus entitled "Where You Can Find More Information" and "Incorporation of Certain Documents by Reference" on page 161 and 162, respectively. The depositary's office is located at 4 New York Plaza, New York NY 10004

You may hold the Novartis ADSs either directly or indirectly through your broker or another financial institution. If you hold the Novartis ADSs directly, by having a Novartis ADS registered in your name on the books of the depositary, you are an "ADR holder." This description assumes you hold your Novartis ADSs directly. If you hold the Novartis ADSs through your broker or financial institution nominee, you must rely on the procedures of such broker or financial institution to assert the rights of an ADR holder described in this section. You should consult with your broker or financial institution to find out what those procedures are

Deposit, Withdrawal and Cancellation

The depositary will issue Novartis ADSs if you or your broker deposits Novartis shares or evidence of rights to receive Novartis shares with the custodian and pay the fees and expenses owing to the depositary in connection with such issuance. In the case of the Novartis ADSs to be issued under this prospectus, Novartis will arrange for the deposit of the underlying Novartis shares with the depositary

The custodian may require that all Novartis shares deposited in the future with the custodian be accompanied by certain delivery documentation, including instruments showing that such Novartis shares have been properly transferred or endorsed to the person on whose behalf the deposit is being made

The custodian will hold all deposited Novartis shares (including those being deposited by or on the behalf of Novartis in connection with the offering to which this prospectus relates) for the account of the depositary. The custodian will also hold any additional securities property and cash received on or in substitution for the deposited Novartis shares. The deposited Novartis shares and any such additional items are referred to as "deposited securities."

Upon each deposit of Novartis shares, receipt of related delivery documentation (if required) and compliance with the other provisions of the Deposit Agreement, including the payment of the fees and charges of the depositary and of any taxes or other fees of charges owing, the depositary will issue ADRs evidencing the number of Novartis ADSs to which such person is entitled, in the name of upon the order of such person entitled thereto. Unless specifically requested to the contrary by the ADR holder, all of the ADRs issued will be part of the depositary's direct registration system, pursuant to which the ownership of such Novartis ADSs will be recorded, and registered holder will receive periodic statements from the depositary which will show the number of Novartis ADSs registered in such ADI holder's name. An ADR holder can request that the Novartis ADSs not be held through the depositary's direct registration system and that certificated ADR be issued. At the request, risk and expense of the person depositing Novartis shares, the depositary may accept deposits for forwarding to the custodian and may deliver ADRs at a place other than its office.

When you turn in your Novartis ADSs at the depositary's office, or when you provide proper instructions and documentation in the case of direct registration Novartis ADSs, the depositary will, upon payment of certain applicable fees, charges and taxes, deliver the underlying Novartis shares at the office of the custodian or, at the request, risk and expense of the ADR holder, at such other place as may be requested by the ADR holder.

Notwithstanding any other provision of the Deposit Agreement to the contrary, the depositary may only restrict the withdrawal o deposited securities in connection with temporary delays caused by closing the transfer books of Novartis or those of the depositary or the deposit of Novartis shares in connection with voting at a general meeting of shareholders of Novartis, or the payment of dividends:

the payment of fees, taxes and similar charges; or compliance with any US or foreign laws or governmental regulations relating to the ADRs or to the withdrawal o deposited securities

Table of Content

Record Date

Subject to the provisions of the Deposit Agreement, the depositary may, after consultation with Novartis, if practical, fix record dates for the determination of the ADR holders who will be entitled (or obligated, as the case may be) to receive any distribution on or in respect of deposited securities:

to give instructions for the exercise of voting rights at a meeting of Novartis shareholders; or to receive any notice or to act in respect of other matters

Share Dividends and Other Distribution

Novartis may make various types of distributions with respect to Novartis shares. The depositary has agreed to pay to you the cash dividends or other distributions it or the custodian receives on Novartis shares or other deposited securities, after converting any cash received into US dollars and, in all cases, making any necessary deductions provided for in the Deposit Agreement. You will receive these distributions in proportion to the number of deposited securities that your Novartis ADSs represent. You must hold the Novartis ADSs of the record date established by the depositary in order to be eligible for dividends and other distributions. In general, the depositary will attempt to set a record date for the Novartis ADSs that is the same record date used by Novartis for dividends and other distributions on the Novartis shares. It is possible that the record date Novartis uses for dividends and other distributions on the Novartis shares and the record date used by the depositary may not be the same

Except as stated below, to the extent the depositary is legally permitted, it will deliver such distributions to ADR holders in proportion to their interests in the following manner

Cash. The depositary will distribute any US dollars available to it resulting from a cash dividend or other cash distribution or the net proceeds of sales of any other distribution or portion thereof (to the extent applicable), on an averaged or other practicable basis, subject to (i) appropriate adjustments for taxes withheld, (ii) such distribution being impermissible or impracticable with respect to certain registered holders, and (iii) deduction of the depositary's expense in (w) converting any foreign currency to US dollars to the extent that it determines that such conversion may be maded on a reasonable basis, (x) transferring foreign currency or US dollars to the United States by such means as the depositary may determine to the extent that it determines that such transfer may be made on a reasonable basis (y) obtaining any approval or license of any governmental authority required for such conversion or transfer, which i obtainable at a reasonable cost and within a reasonable time and (z) making any sale by public or private means in any commercially reasonable manner. If exchange rates fluctuate during a time when the depositary cannot convert a foreign currency, you may lose some or all of the value of the distribution.

Novartis shares. In the case of a distribution in Novartis shares, the depositary will issue additional ADRs to evidence the number of Novartis ADSs representing such Novartis shares. Only whole Novartis ADSs will be issued. Any Novartis shares that would result in fractional Novartis ADSs will be sold, and the net proceeds will be distributed in the same manner as cash to the ADR holders entitled thereto.

Rights to receive additional Novartis shares. In the case of a distribution of rights to subscribe for additional Novartis shares or other rights, if Novartis provides satisfactory evidence that the depositary may lawfully distribute such rights the depositary will distribute warrants or other instruments representing such rights. However, if Novartis does not furnish such evidence, the depositary may (i) sell such rights if practicable and distribute the net proceed in the same way it distributes cash or (ii) if it is not practicable to sell such rights, do nothing and allow such rights to lapse, in which case ADR holders will receive nothing. Novartis has no obligation to file a registration statement under the Securities Act in order to make any rights available to ADR holders

Other Distributions. In the case of a distribution of securities or property other than those described above, the depositary may either (i) distribute such securities or property in any manner it deems equitable and practicable or (ii) the extent the depositary deems distribution of such securities or property not to be equitable and practicable, sell such securities or property and distribute any net proceeds in the same way it distributes cash

If the depositary determines that any distribution described above is not practicable with respect to any specific ADR holder, the depositary may, after consultation with Novartis if practicable, choose any practicable method of distribution for such ADR holder including the distribution of foreign currency, securities or property (or appropriate documents evidencing the right to receive such foreign currency, securities or property), or it may retain such items, without paying interest on or investing them, on behalf of the ADR holder a deposited securities, in which case the Novartis ADSs will also represent the retained items.

Any US dollars will be distributed by checks drawn on a bank in the United States for whole dollars and cents. Fractional cents will be withheld without liability for interest thereon and dealt with by the depositary in accordance with its then current practices

The depositary is not responsible if it decides that it is unlawful or impractical to make a distribution available to any ADR holders

There can be no assurance that the depositary will be able to convert any currency at a specified exchange rate or sell any property rights, shares or other securities at a specified price, nor that any of such transactions can be completed within a specified time period

Voting Right

Subject to the provisions of the Deposit Agreement, each Novartis ADS entitles the ADR holder to one vote at a general meeting of shareholders of Novartis. As soon as practicable after the depositary receives notice of any meeting or solicitation of consents or proxies of holders of Novartis shares or other deposited securities, the depositary will mail to registered ADR holders materials describing the matter to be voted on and explaining how you may instruct the depositary to exercise the voting rights, if any, pertaining to the Novartis shares of other deposited securities underlying the Novartis ADSs as you direct, including instructions to give a discretionary proxy to a person designated by Novartis. You must hold the Novartis ADSs on the date established by the depositary in order to be eligible to give instructions for the exercise of voting rights at a meeting of Novartis shareholders. It is possible, however, that the record date Novartis use for the exercise of voting rights on the Novartis shares and the record date used by the depositary may not be the same. Historically, the depositary has to set record dates for the Novartis ADSs that were thirty days prior to the relevant general meeting of shareholders of Novartis, whereas the record dates used by Novartis for the exercise of voting rights on the Novartis shares were approximately five day prior to the relevant meetings.

For your instructions to be valid, the depositary must receive them in writing on or before a date specified by the depositary for that purpose. Upon receipt of valid instructions from an ADR holder, the depositary will try, as far as practical and subject to applicable law and the provisions of the Articles of Incorporation of Novartis and the deposited securities, to vote or cause to be voted the Novartis shares of other deposited securities in accordance with such instructions.

The depositary will not itself exercise any voting discretion in respect of any deposited securities. To the extent such instruction are not so received by the depositary from any ADR holder

the depositary will deem such ADR holder to have so instructed the depositary to give a discretionary proxy to an independent proxy designated by Novartis, and the depositary will try, as far as practical and permitted under the provisions of the deposited securities, to give discretionary proxy to an independent proxy designated by Novartis to vote the Novartis shares or other deposited securities as to which such instructions are so given, unless Novartis informs the depositary that Novartis does not wish such proxy given with respect to such

The Articles of Incorporation of Novartis provide that no shareholder shall be registered with the right to vote for more than 2% of the registered share capital of Novartis (whether held in the form of Novartis shares, Novartis ADSs or a combination of both). Novartis has agreed to exempt the depositary and the custodian and their respective nominees, if any (but no individual ADR holder), from this limitation in respect of deposited securities held in connection with the Novartis ADR program, up to a limit of 20% of the registered share capital of Novartis. The depositary will inform Novartis if the depositary reaches 19.5% of the share capital of Novartis, at which time Novartis will review and may increase the 20% limitation. In the event this 20% limitation is not increased, Novartis may refuse to recognize the voting rights of any ADR holder regardless of the ADR holder's individual percentage share ownership or whether the ADR holder has complied with any disclosure obligations in connection with the Novartis ADSs. This limitation will not apply to any rights other than voting (and the rights connected therewith), such as rights relating to dividends or transfer

The Articles of Incorporation of Novartis provide that no nominee will be registered with the right to vote for more than 0.5% of the registered share capital of Novartis (held in the form of Novartis shares, Novartis ADSs or a combination of both). The Novartis Board may upon request, grant an exemption from this restriction if the nominee discloses the names, addresses and the number of Novartis shares of the persons for whose account it holds 0.5% or more of the registered share capital of Novartis

ADR holders or nominees that are linked to each other or act in concert to circumvent the restrictions on registration are treated a one person or nominee for purposes of the above restrictions

In addition, Novartis has the right not to recognize votes of deposited securities or other Novartis shares held by any ADR holder of other person holding an interest in an ADR who has not complied with disclosure obligations in connection with the Novartis ADSs

Novartis reserves the right to instruct ADR holders to deliver their ADRs for cancellation and withdrawal of the deposited securities so as to permit Novartis to re-register such withdrawn deposited securities as Novartis shares without voting rights. Novartis may also refuse to allow such holder to redeposit such Novartis shares into the ADR facility

Reports and Other Communication

The depositary will make available for inspection by ADR holders any written communications from Novartis that are both received by the custodian or its nominee as a holder of deposited securities and made generally available to the holders of deposited securities. If so requested by Novartis, the depositary will mail to ADR holders copies of such communications or, at its option, English translations or summaries thereof

A depositary service charge of $0.0035 per Novartis ADS

The fees described above may be amended from time to time. Novartis will pay all other charges and expenses of the depositary and any agent of the depositary (except the custodian) pursuant to agreements from time to time between Novartis and the depositary

The depositary has agreed to reimburse Novartis $3.5 million per year for expenses directly related to the Novartis ADR Program which were incurred during the year, including related legal fees, expenses related to investor relations in the US, US investor presentations ADS-related financial advertising and public relations, fees and expenses of the depositary as administrator of the ADS Direct Plan reasonable accountants' fees in relation to Novartis AG's Annual Report on Form 20 F, maintenance and broker reimbursement expense Because the expenses of Novartis related to these categories exceed $3.5 million, the $3.5 million cannot be deemed to have reimbursed Novartis for any particular expense. The depositary has further agreed to waive an annual maintenance fee of $50,000 associated with the administration of the Novartis ADR Program, and not to seek reimbursement of up to $50,000 of out-of-pocket expenses incurred annually in providing such administrative services. In addition, the depositary has agreed to reimburse Novartis for its annual NYSE listing fee incurred during the initial term of its agreement with the depositary

The depositary collects its fees for issuance and cancellation of Novartis ADSs directly from ADR holders depositing Novartis shares or surrendering Novartis ADSs for the purpose of withdrawal or from intermediaries acting for them. The depositary collects fees for making distributions to ADR holders by deducting those fees from the amounts distributed or by selling a portion of distributable property t pay the fees. The depositary may collect its annual fee for depositary services by deduction from cash distributions, or by directly billin investors, or by charging the book-entry system account of participants acting for them. The depositary may generally refuse to provide services to any holder until the fees and expenses owing b such holder for those services or otherwise are paid

ADR holders must pay any tax or other governmental charge payable by or on behalf of the custodian or the depositary with respect to the Novartis ADSs, any deposited securities underlying the Novartis ADSs or any distribution thereon. If an ADR holder owes any such tax or other governmental charge, the depositary may refuse to effect any registration, registration of transfer, split-up or combination of deposited securities or (subject to the limitations described above in "Deposit, Withdrawal and Cancellation") withdrawal of deposit securities. The depositary may also deduct the amount thereof from any cash distributions, or sell deposited securities and deduct the amount thereof from the net proceeds of such sale. The ADR holder will remain liable if the proceeds of the sale are not enough to pay the taxes. If the depositary sells deposited securities, it will, if appropriate, reduce the number of Novartis shares to reflect the sale and pay to the ADR holder any proceeds, or send to the ADR holder any property remaining after it has paid the taxes. If any tax or governmental charge is required to be withheld on any non-cash distribution, the depositary may sell the distributed property or securities to pay such taxes and distribute any remaining net proceeds to the ADR holders entitled thereto

Reclassifications, Recapitalizations and Merger

If Novartis takes certain actions that affect the deposited securities, including (i) any change in par value, split up, consolidation cancellation or other reclassification of deposited securities, (ii) any distribution on the Novartis shares that is not distributed to the ADI holders or (iii) any recapitalization, reorganization, merger, consolidation, liquidation, receivership, bankruptcy or sale of all or substantially all of the assets of Novartis, then the cash, securities or other property received by the depositary will become deposited securities, and the depositary may choose to amend the form of ADR

distribute additional or amended ADRs

sell any securities or property received and distribute the proceeds as cash; or treat the cash, securities or other property it receives as part of the deposited securities, and each Novartis ADS wi automatically represent a pro rata interest in such property

Amendment and Termination

Novartis may agree with the depositary to amend the Deposit Agreement and the Novartis ADSs without the consent of any ADI holder for any reason. ADR holders will be given notice at least 30 days before any amendment that imposes or increases any fees of charges (other than stock transfer or other taxes and other governmental charges, transfer or registration fees, cable, telex or facsimilar transmission costs, delivery costs or other such expenses), or which prejudices any substantial existing right of ADR holders. If an ADI holder continues to hold Novartis ADSs after being so notified of these changes, that ADR holder is deemed to agree to that amendment and be bound by the ADRs and the Deposit Agreement as amended. An amendment can become effective before notice is given if necessary to ensure compliance with a new law, rule or regulation

The depositary may, and will at the written direction of Novartis, terminate the Deposit Agreement and the ADRs issued pursuan thereto, provided that the depositary mail notice of such termination at least 30 days prior to the date fixed for termination. Afte termination, the depositary's only responsibilities will be to deliver deposited securities to ADR holders who surrender their ADR and to hold or sell distributions received on deposited securities. Six months after the termination date, the depositary will sell the remaining deposited securities and will hold the net proceeds of such sales, without liability for interest, in trust for the ADR holders who have not ye surrendered their ADRs. After making such sales, the depositary will have no obligations except to account for the proceeds and other cash

Limitations on Obligations and Liability to ADR Holder

Limits on the obligations of Novartis and the obligations of the depositary; limits on liability to ADR holders and holders of Novarti ADS

The Deposit Agreement expressly limits the obligations and liability of the depositary, Novartis and their respective agents. Neithe Novartis nor the depositary nor any such agent will be liable if any of them is prevented, forbidden or delayed by present or future law or circumstances beyond their control from performing their obligations under the Deposit Agreement;

exercises or fails to exercise discretion under the Deposit Agreement or the Novartis ADSs issued pursuant thereto.

performs its obligations without gross negligence or bad faith

takes any action or refrains from taking any action in reliance upon the advice of or information from legal counsel accountants, any person presenting shares for deposit, any registered ADR holder, or any other person believed by it to be competent to give such advice or information; or relies upon any written notice, request, direction or other document believed by it to be genuine and to have been signed or presented by the proper party or parties

Neither the depositary nor Novartis, nor any of their respective agents have any obligation to appear in, prosecute or defend an action, suit or other proceeding in respect of any deposited securities or the ADRs. The depositary and its agents will not be responsible for failing to carry out instructions to vote any of the deposited securities, for the manner in which the deposited securities are voted or for the effect of the vote. Novartis has agreed to indemnify the depositary and its agents under certain circumstances and the depositary and it agents have agreed to indemnify Novartis under certain circumstances.

The depositary and its agents may own and deal in deposited securities and in ADRs

Requirements for Depositary Action

Prior to the issue, registration, registration of transfer, split-up, combination or cancellation of any ADRs, the delivery of an distribution in respect thereof or (subject to the limitations described above in " Deposit, Withdrawal and Cancellation") the withdrawal any deposited securities, the depositary and its custodian may require payment with respect thereto of (i) any stock transfer or other tax or other governmental charge, (ii) any stock transfer or registration fees in effect for the registration of transfers of shares or other deposited securities upon any applicable register and (iii) any applicable fees and expenses described in the Deposit Agreement;

the production of proof satisfactory to the depositary and/or its custodian of (i) the identity of any signatory and genuineness of any signature and (ii) such other information, including without limitation, information as to citizenship residence, exchange control approval, beneficial ownership of any securities, compliance with applicable law

of or governing shares and terms of the Deposit Agreement and the ADRs, as it may deem necessary or proper; and

compliance with such regulations as the depositary may establish consistent with the Deposit Agreemen

The issuance of ADRs, the acceptance of deposits of Novartis shares, the registration, registration of transfer, split-up of combination of ADRs or (subject to the limitations described above in "Deposit, Withdrawal and Cancellation") the withdrawal of sharmay be suspended, generally or in particular instances, when the ADR register or any register for deposited securities is closed or when any such action is deemed advisable by the depositary and Novartis

Disclosure of Interest in Novartis ADS

By holding ADRs, ADR holders agree to comply with all provisions governing any deposited securities that may require disclosure of or impose limits on beneficial or other ownership of deposited securities (including those limits described in " Voting Rights" above other shares and other securities or may provide for blocking transfer, voting or other rights and to cooperate with the depositary in the depositary's compliance with any Novartis instruction in respect thereof. The depositary will use reasonable efforts to comply with such Novartis instructions.

Books of Depositar

The depositary or its agent will maintain at a designated transfer office in New York, New York, a register for the registration registration of transfer, combination and split-up of ADRs, which will include the depositary's direct registration system. ADR holders may inspect such records at the transfer office at all reasonable times for the purpose of communicating with other holders in the interest of the business of Novartis or a matter relating to the Deposit Agreement. The register may be closed from time to time when deemed expedient by the depositary or when requested by Novartis. The depositary will maintain facilities for the delivery and receipt of ADRs

Pre-release of Novartis ADS

The depositary may issue Novartis ADSs prior to the deposit with the custodian of shares (or rights to receive shares). This is called a pre-release of the Novartis ADS. The depositary may pre-release Novartis ADSs only if the pre-released Novartis ADSs are fully collateralized (marked to market daily); and each recipient of pre released Novartis ADSs agrees in writing that he or she owns the underlying shares.

assigns all rights in such shares to the depositary.

holds such shares for the account of the depositary, and will deliver such shares to the custodian as soon as practicable, and promptly if the depositary so demands

In general, the number of pre-released Novartis ADSs may not evidence more than 20% of all Novartis ADSs outstanding at an given time (excluding those evidenced by pre-release Novartis ADSs). However, the depositary may, with the prior consent of Novartis change such limit. The depositary may retain for its own account any earnings on collateral for pre-release Novartis ADSs and its charge for issuance thereof

COMPARISON OF RIGHTS OF NOVARTIS AND ALCON SHAREHOLDERS

The rights of Alcon shareholders are currently governed by Swiss law and the Articles of Association of Alcon. The rights of shareholders of Novartis are currently governed by Swiss law and the Articles of Incorporation of Novartis. Upon completion of the merger the rights of Alcon shareholders who become shareholders of Novartis in the merger will be governed by Swiss law and the Articles of Incorporation of Novartis. While both Novartis and Alcon are companies organized under the laws of Switzerland, and accordingly, the shareholder rights of both companies are governed by Swiss law, there are certain differences between the rights of Alcon shareholders and the rights of Novartis or Novartis ADSs, due to differences between the Articles of Association and Articles of Incorporation of Alcon and Novartis, respectively. The following discussion explains the material differences between the current rights of Alcon shareholders and the rights they will have as shareholders of Novartis if they receive Novartis shares in the merger. The following comparison of shareholders' rights is necessarily a summary and is not intended to identify immaterial differences that may exist. This summary is qualified in its entirety by reference to Swiss law, the Articles of Association of Alcon and the Articles of Incorporation of Novartis

Shareholder Registration

Acquirors of Alcon shares are recorded upon request in the Alcon share register as shareholders with voting rights. The Alcon Board may record nominees who hold shares in their own name, but for account of third parties, as shareholder of record in the Alcon share register.

Acquirors of Novartis shares are recorded upon request in the Novartis share register as shareholders with voting rights. The Novartis Board may register nominees with the right to vote in the Novartis share register to the extent of up to 0.5% of the registered share capital of Novartis as set forth in the commercial register. Novartis shares held by a nominee that exceed this limit may be registered in the Novartis share register if the nominee discloses the names, addresses and the number of Novartis shares of the persons for whose account it holds 0.5% or more of the registered share capital of Novartis as set forth in the commercial register. For purposes of the preceding sentence nominees are persons who do not explicitly declare in the request for registration to hold the Novartis shares for their own account and with whom the Novartis Board has entered into a corresponding agreement. No person or entity (including persons or entities who hold some of all of their Novartis shares through nominees) will be registered with the right to vote for more than 2% of the registered share capital of Novartis as set forth in the commercial register. The restriction in the foregoing sentence is subject in particular cases to exemptions allowed by the Novartis Board and Article 685d of the Swiss Code of Obligations. Corporate bodies and partnerships or other groups of persons of joint owners who are interrelated to one another through capital ownership, voting rights, uniform management or otherwise linked as well as individuals or corporate bodies and partnerships who act in concert to circumvent the regulations concerning the limitation of participation or the nominees (especially as syndicates), shall be treated as one single person for the provisions of this paragraph

An Alcon shareholder registered in the Alcon share register may be represented at general meetings of Alcon shareholders by proxy who needs not to be an Alcon shareholder

A shareholder of Novartis may only be represented at general meetings of shareholders of Novartis by his legal representative another shareholder of Novartis with the right to vote, the corporate proxy, the independent proxy or by a depositary

Powers of the General Meeting

The general meeting of Alcon shareholders may appoint a special auditing firm entrusted with the examinations required unde applicable law in connection with capital increases. The general meeting of shareholders of Novartis has no equivalent appointment power

The general meeting of shareholders of Novartis holds a consultative vote on the compensation system of Novartis. The vote take place before every significant change to the compensation system, but at least every third annual general meeting of shareholders on Novartis. The general meeting of Alcon shareholders has no equivalent consultative vote

The foregoing is not an exhaustive list of the powers of the respective general meetings of the Novartis and Alcon shareholders

WHEREAS the boards of directors of both Parties have approved the execution of this Merger Agreement on the date hereo

NOW, THEREFORE, the Parties agree to enter into this Merger Agreement

1 Merge

Agreement to Merg

The Parties hereby agree that Novartis and Alcon shall merge pursuant to art. 3 para. 1 lit. a and art. 4 para. 1 lit. a of the Swis Federal Act on Mergers, Demergers, Conversion and Transfer of Assets and Liabilities (the "Merger Act") (merger by absorptio between two companies limited by shares) and in accordance with this Merger Agreement (hereinafter the "Merger"). Novarti shall be the acquiring company which shall continue to operate, and Alcon shall be the transferring company which shall be dissolved upon Completion (as defined below). By operation of law, Alcon's assets, liabilities and contracts shall be transferred to Novartis in their entirety (Universalsukzession).

Merger Report and Merger Balance Shee

The Novartis board of directors (the full board of directors of Novartis being referred to herein as the "Novartis Board") and the Alcon board of directors (the full board of directors of Alcon being referred to herein as the "Alcon Board") shall approve a join merger report as set forth in art. 14 Merger Act (the "Merger Report") as soon as practicable but no later than on 19 January 2011

Merger Balance Shee

The Merger shall be implemented on the basis of the non-consolidated, non-audited interim balance sheets (Zwischenabschlüsse) prepared under Swiss statutory accounting principles as of 30 September 2010 of Novartis and of Alcon, respectively (attached hereto as Exhibit 1.2(b)(i) and Exhibit 1.2(b)(ii), respectively, each a "Merger Balance Sheet"). Each Merger Balance Sheet shall be superseded for purposes of this Merger Agreement by an audited balance sheet of Novartis or of Alcon, as the case may be, dated 31 December 2010 when such audited balance sheet becomes available, whereupon such audited balance sheet shall become the applicable Merger Balance Sheet

The Merger Consideration (as defined in section 2.1(a) (Stock Consideration and Put Option)) is not based on the Merger Balance Sheets but based on the factors enumerated in section 2.1(d) (Basis for Determining Merger Consideration). In the event that Completion (as described in section 6.5 (Completion)) occurs more than six months after the closing date of the Merger Balance Sheets, the Merger Balance Sheets shall be replaced by updated balance sheets (the "Updated Merger Balance Sheets") in accordance with art. 11 Merger Act

Upon the completion and effectiveness of the Merger ("Completion") and for the purpose of the non-consolidated financia statements of Novartis, the assets and liabilities of Alcon shall be booked in the Novartis non-consolidated balance sheet pursuan to Alcon's Merger Balance Sheet or Alcon's Updated Merger Balance Sheet, as the case may be, with retroactive effect as from and including January 1, 2011, or the relevant later date as agreed by the Parties hereto, and all act and operations of Alcon as from such date shall be deemed to be conducted for Novartis' account and shall be recorded in the non-consolidated financial statements of Novartis

2 Exchange of Alcon Shares for Merger Consideration

Merger Consideration

Stock Consideration and Put Option

In the Merger, the shareholders of Alcon (with the exception of Novartis) shall receive for each registered Alcon Share with nominal value of CHF 0.20 (each, an "Alcon Share") issued and outstanding immediately prior to Completion the merge consideration described below (the "Merger Consideration"). The Merger Consideration shall have a value, determined in accordance with the definitions below, of USD 168 and shall be composed of

- (i) the right to receive from Novartis a number of Novartis Shares (the "Stock Consideration") equal to the Exchange Ratio (as defined below); and
- (ii) the right to receive from Novartis a cash-settled, non-transferable put option (the "Put Option") exercisable for an amount equal to the Contingent Value Amount (as defined in section 2.1(b) (Determination of the Merger Consideration)), without interest interest.

The Parties have concluded, after seeking financial and legal advice, that the parameters of art. 7 para. 2 Merger Act are met with respect to the Merger Consideration

The exchange ratio shall be the quotient, rounded to the nearest ten thousandth, or if there shall not be a nearest ten thousandth, the higher ten thousandth, obtained by dividing USD 168 by the Novartis Share Value (the "Exchange Ratio"); provided that the Exchange Ratio shall not be greater than 2.8; provided, further, that if the Novartis Share Value is less than USD 60, then the Exchange Ratio shall be the sum of (x) 2.8 plus (y) the Dividend Adjustment Factor

The "Dividend Adjustment Factor" shall mean the quotient of (x) the product of (i) the Dividend Value Adjustment multiplied by (ii) 2.8 divided by (y) the Novartis Share Value

The "USD Dividend Value" shall mean the amount of any Novartis cash dividend declared or paid after the date of this Merge Agreement (including the 2010 Novartis Annual Dividend) and on or prior to the Completion Date (as defined in section 6.: (Completion)) per Novartis Share in Swiss Francs converted into US dollars on the basis of the USD/CHF spot rate prevailing a 4:30 pm (London time) on the last day of the Measurement Period (as defined in the definition of "Novartis Share Value") reported on the Bloomberg Professional Service under function "BFIX.

The "Dividend Value Adjustment" shall mean the lesser of (i) the USD Dividend Value and (ii) USD 60 minus the Novarti Share Value

The "2010 Novartis Annual Dividend" means the dividend with respect to Novartis Shares to be approved at the Novartis annual general meeting in 2011

The "Novartis Share Value" means the average of the Daily Novartis Share Values for each of the ten (10) Trading Days ending on (and including) the Trading Day prior to the date of the Alcon Shareholders' Meeting (such ten (10) Trading Days, the "Measurement Period") weighted by the total volume of trading in Novartis Shares as reported on the NOVN.VX VWAP page on the Bloomberg Professional Service each such Trading Day

The "Daily Novartis Share Value" means, for any Trading Day, the Daily Novartis VWAP for such Trading Day converted into US dollars on the basis of the USD/CHF London spot rate prevailing at 4:30 pm (London time) for such Trading Day reported on the Bloomberg Professional Service under the Bloomberg Professional Service un function "BFIX" minus, for any Trading Day prior to the Ex-Dividend Date for any Novartis cash dividend declared or paid afte the date of this Merger Agreement and on or prior to the Completion Date, the USD Dividend Value

The "Daily Novartis VWAP" means, for any Trading Day, the per share volume-weighted average price of Novartis Shares a reported on the NOVN.VX VWAP page (which prices are displayed in Swiss Francs) on the Bloomberg Professional Service in respect of the period from the open of trading on the relevant Trading Day to the close of such Trading Day

The "Ex-Dividend Date" means the date on which Novartis Shares first trade on the SIX Swiss Exchange without the right to the applicable dividend

The "Stock Consideration Value" means the product of (x) the Exchange Ratio and (y) the Novartis Share Value

The "Contingent Value Amount" means an amount in US dollars equal to USD 168 minus the Stock Consideration Value. If the Stock Consideration Value is equal to or above USD 168, the Contingent Value Amount shall be zero

"Trading Day" means a date on which trading occurs on the SIX Swiss Exchange

"Novartis Shares" mean ordinary shares of Novartis with a nominal value of CHF 0.50 each

Adjustment of Merger Consideration

The Merger Consideration shall be adjusted to reflect the economic effect of any share split, share combination, subdivision reclassification, stock dividend, exchange of shares or similar transaction with respect to Alcon Shares or Novartis Shares that (i) is approved after the date hereof but prior to Completion and (ii) is entered into the commercial register, or has a record of effective date that occurs during such period of the commercial register.

Basis for Determining Merger Consideration

The Merger Consideration was agreed by the Parties after negotiations based on a variety of different factors including market capitalization and fundamental values of both companies and the proposed terms of the Merger Agreement including the structure of the merger consideration. Prior to the execution of this Merger Agreement, the Alcon Board and the Novartis Board received and considered fairness opinions with respect to the Merger Consideration.

Implementation of the Exchang

Appointment and Duties of Exchange Agen

Novartis shall appoint an Exchange Agent (the "Exchange Agent") to implement the exchange of Alcon Shares for Merge Consideration in accordance with the terms set out in the agreement between Novartis and the Exchange Agent and this Merge Agreement, including Exhibit 2.2(a). Novartis will, to this effect, use reasonable best efforts to ensure that the Merge Consideration is credited to the Exchange Agent as promptly as practicable following Completion

Alcon shall provide to the Exchange Agent all information reasonably necessary for it to perform as specified in this Merge Agreement and as specified in any agreement with the Exchange Agent

Entitlement of Alcon Shareholders and Settlemen

The right to receive the Merger Consideration shall vest by operation of law in those record holders of Alcon Shares (each, as "Alcon Shareholder" and collectively, the "Alcon Shareholders") who hold Alcon Shares at Completion

Alcon Shareholders can, by returning a properly completed form of election ("Form of Election") to the Exchange Agent not late than five (5) Trading Days prior to the Alcon Shareholders' Meeting, elect to receive either Novartis Shares (listed on the SIX Swiss Exchange) or an equivalent number of receipts representing Novartis American Depository Shares (listed on the New York Stock Exchange), each Novartis American Depository Share representing one registered Novartis Share (hereinafter each "Novartis ADS"). The number of Novartis ADSs to be received by any Alcon Shareholder who does not receive Novartis Share is therefore equal to the number of Novartis Shares otherwise issuable to such Alcon Shareholder in accordance with Section 2.1

In case no Form of Election is received, Alcon Shareholders with a registered address in Switzerland shall receive the Stoc Consideration in the form of Novartis Shares; Alcon Shareholders with a registered address outside of Switzerland shall receive the Stock Consideration after Completion in the form of Novartis ADS:

Settlement of Fraction

Each shareholder of record of Alcon (but not, for the avoidance of doubt, any beneficial owner of Alcon Shares) who, based on it shareholding at Completion and on the Merger Consideration, does not receive an integral number of Novartis Shares or Novarti ADSs shall receive rights corresponding to the resulting fraction (each a "Fraction Right"). The Exchange Agent shall (i) receive all Novartis Shares or Novartis ADSs not used for the share exchange in the Merger because of the existence of Fraction Right and (ii) sell such shares or ADSs on behalf of the holders of Fraction Rights (on the SIX Swiss Exchange or the New York Stock Exchange, as applicable) and pass on the proceeds to such shareholders of record of Alcon in cash. This sale shall occur during period of three Trading Days after Completion, as determined by Novartis in a manner reasonably designed to achieve the highest possible sale price

Exercise of Put Option

In the event that the Stock Consideration Value is less than USD 168, the Exchange Agent shall exercise all Put Options included in the Merger Consideration pursuant to section 2.1(a)(ii) (Stock Consideration and Put Option), and (if the Put Options are supported by the Exchange Agent shall in accordance with section 2.2(a) (Appointment and Duties of Exchange Agent) pay at amount in cash payable in USD equal to the applicable Contingent Value Amount per Alcon Share (net of applicable Swist withholding tax) as part of the Merger Consideration in satisfaction of section 2.1(a)(ii) (Stock Consideration and Put Option) Each outstanding Put Option shall terminate and be of no further force and effect (i) following the payment of the Merger Consideration or (ii) in the event the Stock Consideration Value is greater than or equal to USD 168

7.4 Modifications and Amendments, Right to Amend, Joint Negotiation

Except as set forth in the paragraph immediately below, any modifications to, or waivers of any provisions of, this Merge Agreement must be made in writing and shall be subject to approval by the Novartis Board and the Alcon Board

The Novartis and Alcon Boards acknowledge and agree that any amendment to an essential term of this Merger Agreement shall be subject to approval by the Novartis Board and the Alcon Board (and, in the case of the Alcon Board, upon recommendation of the Independent Director Committee, which recommendation shall not be unreasonably withheld)

The Parties agree that they jointly negotiated and prepared this Merger Agreement and that this Merger Agreement shall not be construed against any Party on the grounds that such Party prepared or drafted the same

Each provision of this Merger Agreement shall be interpreted in such manner that it is effective and valid under applicable law. I any provision of this Merger Agreement shall be unenforceable or invalid even though, such provision shall be ineffective only to the extent of such unenforceability or invalidity and be replaced by such valid and enforceable provision which a reasonable partiacting in good faith would consider to match as closely as possible the invalid or unenforceable provision and to attain the same a similar economic effect. The remaining provisions of this Merger Agreement shall continue to be binding and in full force.

7.6 Non-Assignmen

Neither Party may assign any of its rights under this Merger Agreement without the prior written consent of the other Party

7.7 Applicable Law and Jurisdiction

The Merger and this Merger Agreement (and any claims or disputes arising out of or related thereto or hereto or to the inducement of any Party to enter therein or herein) shall in all respects be governed by, and construed in accordance with, the laws of Switzerland, including all matters of construction, validity and performance, in each case without reference to any conflict of law rules that might lead to the application of the laws of any other jurisdiction. Any dispute between the Parties shall be resolved, at the exclusion of any other competent courts of law, by the courts of the City of Zurich, Switzerland, venue being Zurich 1, and in permitted under applicable rules of civil procedure shall be submitted to the Commercial Court of the Canton of Zurich (Handelsgericht des Kantons Zürich).

7.8 Jurisdiction on Shareholders' Claim

Any shareholders' claims based on the Merger Act which arise out of or are made in connection with the Merger or this Merge Agreement shall exclusively be decided by the Swiss courts either at the seat of Novartis or at the seat of Alcon

Exhibit 2.2(a): Settlement Procedures

- (i) Exchange Agent. As soon as reasonably practicable after Completion, but in no event more than five (5) business days following Completion, Novartis will send, or will cause the Exchange Agent to send, to each holder of record of Alcon Shares evidenced by physical certificates as of Completion (and, to the extent commercially practicable, to make available for collection by hand if so elected by such holder of record), whose Alcon Shares were converted into the right to receive the Merger Consideration, a letter of transmittal (which shall specify that the delivery shall be effected, and risk of loss and title shall pass, only upon proper delivery of the certificates representing Alcon Shares ("Certificates") (or effective affidavits of loss in lieu thereof) to the Exchange Agent) in such form as Alcon and Novartis may reasonably agree, including instructions for use in effecting the surrender of Certificates (or effective affidavits of loss in lieu thereof) to the Exchange Agent in exchange for the Merger Consideration
- (ii) Deposit. At or prior to Completion, Novartis shall (1) cause to be deposited with the Exchange Agent, in trust for the benefit of the holders of Alcon Shares, cash (2) cause to be made available to the Exchange Agent, through JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., as depositary for the Novartis ADSs, Novartis ADSs and (3) cause to be made available to the Exchange Agent Novartis Shares, in each case sufficient to be issued and paid pursuant to Section 2.1 and Section 2.2, payable upon due surrender of the Certificates (or effective affidavits of loss in liet thereof) or distributed as soon as reasonable practicable after Completion for uncertificated Alcon Shares (without any action by the holder of such uncertificated shares) pursuant to the provisions hereof. Following the Completion Date, Novartis agrees to make available to the Exchange Agent, when and as needed, cash sufficient to pay any dividends and other distributions pursuant to paragraph (vi) below. All cash and shares deposited with the Exchange Agent or made available to the Exchange Agent are referred to as the "Exchange Fund." The Exchange Agent shall, pursuant to irrevocable instructions consistent with this Merger Agreement, deliver the appropriate Merge Consideration out of the Exchange Fund. The Exchange Fund shall not be used for any other purpose. The Exchange Agent shall invest any cash included in the Exchange Fund as directed by Novartis; provided that no such investment or losses thereon shall affect the Merge Consideration payable to holders of Alcon Shares entitled to receive such consideration in the amount of any such losses. Any interest and other income resulting from such investments shall be the property of, and paid to, Novartis
- (iii) Exchange. Each holder of Alcon Shares, (1) upon surrender to the Exchange Agent of a Certificate (or effective affidavits of loss in lieu thereof), together with a properly completed letter of transmittal, duly executed and completed in accordance with the instruction thereto, and such other documents as may reasonably be required by the Exchange Agent, or (2) as soon as reasonably practicable afte Completion in the case of an uncertificated Alcon Share, in each case will be entitled to receive in exchange therefor the Merger Consideration. Following Completion, the Merger Consideration shall be paid as promptly as practicable (by mail or, to the exten commercially practicable, made available for collection by hand if so elected by the surrendering certificate holder) to holders of Alcon Shares in book entry form or, after receipt by the Exchange Agent of the Certificate and properly completed letter of transmittal, to holder of Alcon Shares in certificate form in accordance with the foregoing. No interest shall be paid or accrued on any Merger Consideration
- (iv) Other Payees. If any cash payment is to be made to a person other than the person in whose name the applicable surrendered Certificate or uncertificated Alcon Share is registered, it shall be a condition of such payment that the person requesting such payment shall pay any transfer or other similar taxes required by reason of the making of such cash payment to a person other than the registered holder of the surrendered Certificate or uncertificated Alcon Share or shall establish to the satisfaction of the Exchange Agent that such tax has been paid or is not payable. If any portion of the Merger Consideration is to be registered in the name of a person other than the person in whose name the applicable surrendered Certificate or uncertificated Alcon Share is registered, it shall be a condition to the registration thereof that the surrendered Certificate shall be properly endorsed or otherwise be in proper form for transfer or such uncertificated Alcon Shares shall be properly transferred and that the person requesting such delivery of the Merger Consideration shall pay to the Exchange Agent any transfer or other similar taxes required as a result of such registration in the name of a person other than the registered holder of such Certificate or uncertificated Alcon Share or establish the satisfaction of the Exchange Agent that such tax has been paid or is not payable.

- (v) No Further Transfers. After Completion, there shall be no further registration of transfers of Alcon Shares. From and after Completion the holders of Certificates or uncertificated Alcon Shares shall cease to have any rights with respect to such Alcon Shares except a otherwise provided in this Agreement or by applicable laws. If, after Completion, Certificates or uncertificated Alcon Shares are presented to the Exchange Agent or Novartis, they shall be cancelled and exchanged for the consideration provided for, and in accordance with the procedures set forth, herein
- (vi) Dividends and Distributions. No dividends or other distributions with respect to Novartis Shares or Novartis ADSs issued as Merge Consideration shall be paid to the holder of any unsurrendered Certificates until such Certificates are surrendered as provided in the Exhibit 2.2(a). Following such surrender, subject to the effect of escheat, tax or other applicable laws, there shall be paid, without interest, the record holder of the Novartis Shares or Novartis ADSs, if any, issued in exchange therefor (i) as soon as reasonably practicable following such surrender, all dividends and other distributions payable in respect of any such Novartis Shares or Novartis ADSs, a applicable, with a record date after the Completion Date and a payment date on or prior to the date of such surrender and not previously pai and (ii) at the appropriate payment date or as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter, the dividends or other distributions payable wit respect to such Novartis Shares or Novartis ADSs with a record date after the Completion Date but with a payment date subsequent to suc surrender. For purposes of dividends or other distributions in respect of Novartis Shares or Novartis ADSs, all Novartis Shares and Novarti ADSs to be issued pursuant to the Merger shall be entitled to dividends pursuant to the immediately preceding sentence as if issued an outstanding as of the Completion Date. For the avoidance of doubt, nothing in this paragraph (vi) shall give the holder of any unsurrendere Certificates any right to receive any dividend or other distribution with respect to Novartis Shares or Novartis ADSs that was included in the definition of "USD Dividend Value."
- (vii) Lost, Stolen or Destroyed Certificates. If any Certificate shall have been lost, stolen or destroyed, upon the making of an affidavit of that fact by the person claiming such Certificate to be lost, stolen or destroyed and, if required by Novartis, the posting by such person of bond, in such reasonable amount as Novartis may direct, as indemnity against any claim that may be made against it with respect to such Certificate, the Exchange Agent will issue, in exchange for such lost, stolen or destroyed Certificate, the applicable Merger Consideration

Schedule A: Illustration of Option Conversion

1. Key Assumption

Novartis Share Value: $54.5

Merger Consideration Value: $16

Employee has options to purchase 100 shares of Alcon stock at a per share exercise price of $9

2. Calculation of the Award Conversion Rati

Award Conversion Ratio = $168/$54.50 = 3.0825688

Award Conversion Ratio rounded down to nearest ten thousandth = 3.082

3. Rollover Mechanic

Number of Novartis options following rollover = current number of Alcon options × Award Conversion Ratio (rounded down to the nearest whole number of Novartis options options)

$$= 100 \times 3.082$$

Rounded down to the nearest whole number = 30

Exercise price of options following rollover = current exercise price/Award Conversion Ratio (rounded up to the nearest whole cent

= $90/3.0825 = $29.1970

Rounded up to the nearest whole cent = $29.2

Comparison of "Spread Value" Pre- and Post- Rollove

Spread value of Alcon options immediately prior to rollover = Number of options × (Merger Consideration Value exercise prior to rollover)

= $7,80

Spread Value of Novartis options following rollover = Number of options × (Novartis Share Value exercise price

Difference due to rounding = $7.6

Members of the Board

You have asked us to advise you with respect to the fairness to Novartis AG ("Novartis") from a financial point of view of the Merge Consideration (as defined below) set forth in Merger Agreement, dated as of December 14, 2010 (the "Merger Agreement"), betwee Alcon, Inc. ("Alcon") and Novartis. The Merger Agreement provides for, among other things, the merger (by absorption between tw companies limited by shares) of Novartis and Alcon (the "Merger") pursuant to which Novartis will be the acquiring company which wi continue to operate, and Alcon will be the transferring company which will be dissolved upon completion of the Merger. In the Merger, th shareholders of Alcon (other than Novartis) will receive, for each registered share of Alcon with a nominal value of CHF 0.20 issued an outstanding immediately prior to the Merger (the "Alcon Shares"), the following consideration, with a value of USD 168 per Alcon Shares (the "Merger Consideration"): (i) that number of ordinary shares of Novartis with a nominal value of CHF 0.50 each ("Novartis Shares" equal to the Exchange Ratio (as defined below) (the "Stock Consideration") and (ii) a cash-settled, non-transferable put option (the "Pu Option") exercisable for an amount (the "Contingent Value Amount"), without interest, equal to the difference of (x) USD 168 minus (y) th value of the Stock Consideration (the "Stock Consideration Value"), calculated as the product of (A) the Exchange Ratio and (B) the averag of the daily per-share volume weighted average prices of the Novartis Shares as reported on the NOVN.VX VWAP page on the Bloomber Professional Service, converted into US dollars, for each of the ten trading days ending on and including the trading day prior to the shareholders' meeting of Alcon to vote on the Merger (as defined in and determined in accordance with the Merger Agreement, th "Novartis Share Value"); provided that if the Stock Consideration Value is equal to USD 168, the Contingent Value Amount will be zero The "Exchange Ratio" will be calculated in accordance with the terms of the Merger Agreement as the quotient (rounded to the nearest te thousandth, or if there is not a nearest ten thousandth, the higher ten thousandth) obtained by dividing USD 168 by the Novartis Shar Value; provided that the Exchange Ratio will not be greater than 2.8; and provided, further, that if the Novartis Share Value is less tha USD 60, then the Exchange Ratio will be the sum of (1) 2.8 plus (2) an amount (the "Dividend Adjustment Factor") calculated in accordance with the Merger Agreement as the quotient of (I) the product of (A) the lesser of (i) the amount of any Novartis cash dividend declared of paid after the date of the Merger Agreement and prior to the closing of the Merger (including the dividend with respect to the Novarti Shares to be approved at the Novartis annual general meeting in 2011) per Novartis Share (in Swiss Francs converted into US dollars i accordance with the Merger Agreement) and (ii) USD 60 minus the Novartis Share Value, multiplied by (B) 2.8, divided by (II) the Novarti Share Value

Our opinion is necessarily based upon information made available to us as of the date hereof and financial, economic, market and othe conditions as they exist and can be evaluated on the date hereof. We are not expressing any opinion as to what the value of Novartis Share actually will be when issued to the holders of Alcon Shares pursuant to the Merger or the prices at which the Novartis Shares will trade a any time. Our opinion does not address the relative merits of the Merger as compared to alternative transactions or strategies that might be available to Novartis, nor does it address the underlying business decision of Novartis to proceed with the Merger

We have been engaged by the Board of Directors of Novartis to render an opinion with respect to the Merger Consideration and becam entitled to receive a fee upon the rendering of this opinion. In addition, Novartis has agreed to indemnify us and certain related parties for certain liabilities and other items arising out of or related to our engagement. We and our affiliates have in the past provided and ar currently providing investment banking and other financial services to Alcon and its affiliates, including having provided or providin certain foreign exchange services and products to Alcon. We and our affiliates also have in the past provided and are currently providing an in the future we may provide, investment banking and other financial services to Novartis and its affiliates for which we and our affiliate have received, and would expect to receive, compensation, including having acted as a lead underwriter in connection with public offering of debt securities by Novartis; a lender in connection with Novartis's revolving credit facility; and having provided or providing certain asset management, foreign exchange and trade finance services and products to Novartis. We and our affiliates may have provided other financia advice and services, and may in the future provide financial advice and services, to Alcon, Novartis and their respective affiliates for whic we and our affiliates have received, and would expect to receive, compensation. In addition, in connection with Novartis' acquisition of it 77% stake in Alcon, we acted as financial advisor to the seller in that transaction. We are a full service securities firm engaged in securitie trading and brokerage activities as well as providing investment banking and other financial services. In the ordinary course of business, we and our affiliates may acquire, hold or sell, for our and our affiliates own accounts and the accounts of customers, equity, debt and other securities and financial instruments (including bank loans and other obligations) of Alcon, Novartis and any other company that may b involved in the Merger, as well as provide investment banking and other financial services to such companies

It is understood that this letter is for the information of Board of Directors of Novartis in connection with its consideration of the Merger and does not constitute advice or a recommendation to any stockholder as to how such stockholder should vote or act on any matter relating to the proposed Merger

Based upon and subject to the foregoing, it is our opinion that, as of the date hereof, the Merger Consideration is fair to Novartis from financial point of view

December 14, 201

The Board of Director Alcon, Inc Bösch 6 CH-6331 Hünenber Switzerlan

Dear Members of the Board

We understand that Alcon, Inc., a Swiss company limited by shares (Aktiengesellschaft) pursuant to art. 620 ff. CO having its sea in Hünenberg ("Alcon"), and Novartis AG, a Swiss company limited by shares (Aktiengesellschaft) pursuant to art. 620 ff. CO having its sea in Basel ("Novartis"), propose to enter into a Merger Agreement, dated as of December 14, 2010 (the "Agreement"), pursuant to which Novartis will acquire the remaining interest in Alcon not already owned by Novartis (the "Transaction"). Pursuant to the Agreement, Alcon will be merged with and into Novartis and each registered share, nominal value CHF 0.20 each, of Alcon ("Alcon Shares"), other than any Alcon Shares held by Novartis, will be converted into the right to receive the Merger Consideration (as defined in the Agreement), subject to certain adjustments as more fully described in the Agreement. We have assumed with your consent that the Merger Consideration in respect of each Alcon Share will have a value of US$168 as of the closing and shall be composed, as further described in the Agreement, of: (i) specified number of ordinary shares, nominal value CHF 0.50 each, of Novartis (the "Novartis Shares") equal to the Exchange Ratio (a defined in the Agreement) and (ii) a cash-settled, non-transferable put option exercisable for an amount equal to the Contingent Value Amount (as defined in the Agreement), without interest. The terms and conditions of the Transaction are more fully set forth in the Agreement

You have requested our opinion as of the date hereof as to the fairness, from a financial point of view, to holders of Alcon Shares other than Alcon, Novartis and their respective affiliates (collectively, the "Excluded Holders"), of the Merger Consideration to be paid to such holders in the Transaction

In connection with this opinion, we have

Conducted such other financial studies, analyses and investigations as we deemed appropriate

We have assumed and relied upon the accuracy and completeness of the foregoing information, without independent verification of such information. We have not conducted any independent valuation or appraisal of any of the assets or liabilities (contingent or otherwise of Alcon or Novartis or concerning the solvency or fair value of Alcon or Novartis, and we have not been furnished with any such valuation or appraisal. With respect to the financial forecasts for Alcon utilized in our analyses and provided to us by the management of Alcon, we have assumed, with the consent of Alcon, that they have been reasonably prepared on bases reflecting the best currently available estimate and judgments as to the future financial performance of Alcon. As you are aware, the management of Alcon did not prepare forecast beyond 2013; accordingly, the financial information used for purposes of our analyses for years 2014 through 2022 was extrapolated based on guidance from the management of Alcon and we have assumed, with the consent of Alcon, that such extrapolated financial information is a reasonable basis upon which to evaluate the future financial performance of Alcon, and is appropriate for us to utilize in our analyses. A you are also aware, the management of Novartis did not make available its forecasts of the future financial performance of Novartis but directed us to publicly available estimates for Novartis. We have assumed, with the consent of Alcon, that such publicly available estimate for Novartis are a reasonable basis upon which to evaluate the future financial performance of Novartis, and are appropriate for us to utilize in our analyses. We assume no responsibility for and express no view as to any such forecasts, extrapolated financial information or publicly available estimates or the assumptions on which they are based. We further have assumed, with the consent of Alcon, that adjustments (i any) to the Merger Consideration pursuant to Section 2.1(c) of the Agreement will not be material in any respect to our

Further, our opinion is necessarily based on economic, monetary, market and other conditions as in effect on, and the information made available to us as of, the date hereof. We assume no responsibility for updating or revising our opinion based on circumstances of events occurring after the date hereof. We do not express any opinion as to the prices at which the Alcon Shares or the Novartis Shares may trade at any time subsequent to the announcement of the Transaction. In connection with our engagement, we were not authorized to, and we did not, solicit indications of interest from third parties regarding a potential transaction with Alcon, nor were we requested to consider, and our opinion does not address, the relative merits of the Transaction as compared to any other transaction or business strategy in which Alcon might engage. We were not involved in the negotiation or execution of the Transaction, nor were we requested to consider the merits of the process relating to the Transaction or whether a different process may have resulted in different or greater consideration to be paid to holder of Alcon Shares, or the merits of the underlying decision by Alcon to engage in the Transaction

In rendering our opinion, we have assumed, with the consent of Alcon, that the Transaction will be consummated on the term described in the Agreement, without any waiver or modification of any material terms or conditions, and that the Agreement and the Transaction contemplated therein comply with Swiss law. We also have assumed, with the consent of Alcon, that obtaining the necessary governmental, regulatory or third party approvals and consents for the Transaction will not have an adverse effect on Alcon, Novartis or the Transaction. We do not express any opinion as to any tax or other consequences that might result from the Transaction, nor does our opinion address any legal, tax, regulatory or accounting matters, as to which we understand that Alcon obtained such advice as it deemed necessary from qualified professionals. We express no view or opinion as to any terms or other aspects (other than the Merger Consideration to the extent expressly specified herein) of the Transaction, nor do we express any view or opinion regarding the nature or components of the Merger Consideration. In addition, we express no view or opinion as to the fairness of the amount or nature of, or any other aspects relating to, the compensation to any officers, directors or employees of any parties to the Transaction, or class of such persons, relative to the Merger Consideration or otherwise

Lazard Frères & Co. LLC ("Lazard") is acting as investment banker to Alcon in connection with the Transaction and will receive fee for such services, which is payable in full upon the earliest of (i) the date on which Lazard renders this opinion, (ii) the date on which Lazard provides the Board of Directors, at its request, with a presentation in lieu of an opinion regarding Lazard's views concerning the fairness of the consideration proposed to be paid in the Transaction and (iii) public announcement of the Transaction (subject to certain circumstances). We and our affiliates in the past have provided, currently are providing and in the future may provide certain investment banking services to Alcon, Novartis and certain of their respective affiliates, for which we or our affiliates have received and may receive compensation, including, during the past two years, having performed certain financial advisory services for Novartis unrelated to the Transaction. In addition, in the ordinary course of their respective businesses, Lazard, LFCM Holdings LLC (an entity indirectly owned in large part by managing directors of Lazard) and their respective affiliates may actively trade securities of Alcon, Novartis and certain of their respective affiliates for their own accounts and for the accounts of their customers and, accordingly, may at any time hold a long or short position in such securities, and may also trade and hold securities on behalf of Alcon, Novartis and certain of their respective affiliates. The issuance of this opinion was approved by the Opinion Committee of Lazard

Our engagement and the opinion expressed herein are for the benefit of the Board of Directors of Alcon (in its capacity as such) and our opinion is rendered to the Board of Directors of Alcon in connection with its evaluation of the Transaction. Our opinion is not intended to and does not constitute a recommendation to any stockholder as to how such stockholder should vote or act with respect to the Transaction or any matter relating thereto. Our opinion is delivered in accordance with, and on the express condition that it may only be interpreted in accordance with, custom and practice in the United States

Based on and subject to the foregoing, we are of the opinion that, as of the date hereof, the Merger Consideration to be paid to holders of Alcon Shares (other than the Excluded Holders) in the Transaction is fair, from a financial point of view, to such holders

Very truly yours, LAZARD FRERES & CO. LLC

CONFIDENTIAL

December 14, 201
Independent Director Committee of the Board of Director
Alcon, Inc
Bösch 6

CH-6331 Hünenber Switzerlan

Members of the Independent Director Committee of the Board of Directors

We understand that Alcon, Inc. (the "Company") and Novartis AG ("Novartis") propose to enter into a Merger Agreement (the "Merger Agreement"), which provides, among other things, for the merger (the "Merger") of the Company with and into Novartis, as a result of which the Company shall be dissolved upon completion of the Merger and, by operation of law, the Company's assets, liabilities and contracts shall be transferred to Novartis in their entirety. In the Merger, Company shareholders (other than Novartis) shall receive for each registered Company share, with a nominal value of CHF 0.20 (the "Common Shares"), issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Merger, consideration composed of: (i) a number of Novartis shares with a nominal value of CHF 0.50 each equal to the Exchange Ratio (a such term is defined in the Merger Agreement) or an equivalent number of receipts representing Novartis ADSs (as such term is defined in the Merger Agreement) (the "Stock Consideration") and (ii) a Put Option (as such term is defined in the Merger Agreement) exercisable for an amount in cash equal to the Contingent Value Amount (as such term is defined in the Merger Agreement), without interest (the "Contingent Consideration" and together with the Stock Consideration, as adjusted pursuant to the terms of the Merger Agreement, the "Consideration"). We also understand that the Merger Agreement provides for the payment of cash in lieu of any fractional Novartis share to be issued to holders of Common Shares. The terms and conditions of the Merger are more fully set forth in the Merger Agreement

You have asked for our opinion as to whether, as of the date hereof, the Consideration to be received by the holders of Common Share pursuant to the Merger Agreement is fair, from a financial point of view, to such holders other than Novartis (the "Minority Holders"). We have not been requested to opine as to, and our opinion does not in any manner address, the requirements of the laws of Switzerland or othe legal matters. We also have not been requested to opine as to, and our opinion does not in any manner address, the underlying busines decision to proceed with or effect the Merger

For purposes of the opinion set forth herein, we have reviewed the draft of the Merger Agreement presented to the Independent Director Committee of the Board of Director of the Company (the "IDC") at its meeting on December 14, 2010 and certain related documents reviewed certain publicly available financial statements of the Company and Novartis reviewed certain other publicly available business and financial information relating to the Company and Novartis that we deemed relevant

reviewed certain publicly available financial forecasts relating to the business and financial prospects of Novartis prepared by certain research analysts (the "Novartis Street Forecasts")

discussed the financial condition and prospects of Novartis with management of Novartis discussed the past and present operations and financial condition and the prospects of the Company with senior executives of the Company reviewed the historical market prices and trading activity for the Common Shares and analyzed its implied valuatio multiples compared the value of the Consideration with that received in certain publicly available transactions that we deeme relevant, including certain squeeze-out transactions

10 compared the value of the Consideration with the trading valuations of certain publicly traded companies that we deemed relevant compared the value of the Consideration to the valuation derived by discounting future cash flows and a terminal value of the Company at discount rates we deemed appropriate compared the pro forma ownership of the Minority Holders in Novartis to the Company's contribution to certai operating metrics participated in discussions and negotiations among representatives of the IDC, the Company and Novartis and their respective legal and financial advisors; and performed such other analyses and considered such other factors as we deemed appropriate

We have assumed and relied upon, without independent verification, the accuracy and completeness of the information publicly available supplied or otherwise made available to us by representatives and management of the Company and Novartis for the purposes of this opinio and have further relied upon the assurances of the representatives and management of the Company and Novartis that they are not aware of any facts or circumstances that would make such information inaccurate or misleading. With respect to the Company Forecasts and other data with respect to the Company that have been furnished or otherwise provided to us, we have assumed that such Company Forecasts an data were reasonably prepared on a basis reflecting the best currently available estimates and good faith judgments of the management of th Company as to those matters, and we have relied upon such forecasts and data in arriving at our opinion. Novartis has not provided us wit internally prepared forecasts, analyses or estimates and has not endorsed the Novartis Street Forecasts or any other publicly available forecasts relating to the business and financial prospects of Novartis. Novartis did, however, participate in a discussion with us regarding it future business and financial prospects in which Novartis' management responded to questions we posed based on the Novartis Street Forecasts and commented on the future business and financial prospects of Novartis. On the basis of the foregoing and with the consent of the IDC, we have assumed that the Novartis Street Forecasts are a reasonable basis upon which to evaluate the business and financia prospects of Novartis and have used the Novartis Street Forecasts for the purposes of our opinion. We express no opinion with respect to th Company Forecasts or the Novartis Street Forecasts or other data or the assumptions upon which they are based. We have not made an independent valuation or appraisal of the assets or liabilities of the Company, nor have we been furnished with any such appraisals. We hav assumed that the Merger will be consummated in accordance with the terms set forth in the final, executed Merger Agreement, which w have further assumed will be identical in all material respects to the latest draft thereof we have reviewed, and without waiver of an material terms or conditions set forth in the Merger Agreement. We have further assumed that all material governmenta regulatory and other consents and approvals necessary for the consummation of the Merger have been or will be obtained without any effect on the Company or the Merger meaningful to our analysis. Our opinion is necessarily based on financial, economic, market and other conditions as in effect on, and the information made available to us as of, the date hereof. It should be understood that subsequent developments may affect this opinion, and we do not have any obligation to update, revise, or reaffirm this opinion

We were not requested to and did not solicit any expressions of interest from any other parties with respect to the sale of the Company, the sale of the Common Shares held by the Minority Holders or any other alternative transaction. No opinion is expressed as to whether an alternative transaction might produce consideration for the Minority Holders in an amount in excess of that contemplated in the Merger

We have acted as financial advisor to the IDC in connection with the Merger and will receive a fee for rendering this opinion and for othe services rendered in connection with the Merger, a portion of which is contingent on the consummation of the Merger. In addition, the Company has agreed to indemnify us for certain liabilities arising out of our engagement. During the two years preceding the date of thi opinion we have not been engaged by, performed any services for or received any compensation from the Company or any other parties to the Merger (other than any amounts that were paid to us under the letter agreement pursuant to which we were retained as a financial advisor to the IDC in connection with the Merger)

It is understood that this letter is for the information of the IDC and is rendered to the IDC in connection with their consideration of the Merger and may not be used for any other purpose without our prior written consent, except that this opinion may, if required by law, be included in its entirety in any proxy or other information statement or registration statement to be mailed to the shareholders of the Company in connection with the Merger. We are not expressing an opinion as to any aspect of the Merger, other than the fairness to the Minority Holders of the Consideration to be received by them from a financial point of view. In particular, we express no opinion as to the prices at which shares of Novartis will trade at any future time. We express no opinion with respect to the amount or nature of any compensation to any officers, directors or employees of the Company, or any class of such persons relative to the Consideration to be received by the holder of the Common Shares of the Company in the Merger or with respect to the fairness of any such compensation. This opinion has been approved by our fairness committee. This opinion is not intended to be and does not constitute a recommendation to the members of the IDC as to whether they should approve the Merger or the Merger Agreement, nor does it constitute a recommendation as to whether the shareholders of the Company should approve or take any other action in respect of the Merger at any meeting of the shareholders convened in connection with the Merger

Based on and subject to the foregoing, including the limitations and assumptions set forth herein, we are of the opinion that as of the dat hereof the Consideration to be received by the Minority Holders pursuant to the Merger Agreement is fair, from a financial point of view, to such holders

Very truly yours,

PART II INFORMATION NOT REQUIRED IN PROSPECTUS

Item 20. Indemnification of Directors and Officer

Under Swiss law, directors and senior officers acting in violation of their statutory duties whether dealing with bona fide the parties or performing any other acts on behalf of the corporation may become liable to the corporation, its shareholders and (in bankrupto its creditors for damages. The directors' liability is joint and several but only to the extent the damage is attributable to each director based on willful or negligent violation of duty. If the board of directors lawfully delegated the power to carry out day-to-day management to different corporate body, such as the executive board, the board of directors is not vicariously liable for the acts of the members of the executive board. Instead, the directors can be held liable for their failure to properly select, instruct or supervise the executive board members. If directors and officers enter into a transaction on behalf of the corporation with bona fide third parties in violation of their statutory duties, the transaction is nevertheless valid as long as it is not excluded by the corporation's business purpose

Under Swiss law, a corporation may indemnify a director or officer of the corporation against losses and expenses (unless such losses and expenses result from a culpable breach of such director's or officer's fiduciary duties under Swiss law), including attorney's fees judgments, fines and settlement amounts actually and reasonably incurred in a civil or criminal action, suit or proceeding by reason of having been the representative of or serving at the request of the corporation

The Articles of Incorporation of Novartis and Alcon do not contain provisions regarding the indemnification of directors and officers but, according to general principles of Swiss employment law, an employer may, under certain circumstances, be required to indemnify an employee against losses and expenses incurred by him in the execution of his duties under the employment agreement, unless the losses and expenses arise from the employee's gross negligence or willful misconductions.

Novartis and Alcon currently maintain directors' and officers' insurance for their directors and officers as well as officers and directors of certain subsidiaries

Item 22. Undertaking

The undersigned Registrant hereby undertakes

- (1) To file, during any period in which offers or sales are being made, a post-effective amendment to this registration statement
 - (i) to include any prospectus required by section 10(a)(3) of the Securities Act
- (ii) to reflect in the prospectus any facts or events arising after the effective date of the registration statement (or the most recent post-effective amendment thereof) which, individually or in the aggregate, represent a fundamental change in the information in the registration statement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, any increase or decrease in volume of securities offered (if the total dollar value of securities offered would not exceed that which was registered) and any deviation from the low or high end of the estimated maximum offering range may be reflected in the form of prospectus filed with the Commission pursuant to Rule 424(b) if, in aggregate, the changes in volume and price represent no more than a 20% change in the maximum aggregate offering price set forth in the "Calculation of Registration Fee" table in the effective registration statement
- (iii) to include any material information with respect to the plan of distribution not previously disclosed in the registration statement or any material change to such information in the registration statement; provided, however, that paragraphs (a)(1)(i) and (a)(1)(ii) of this section do not apply if the registration statement is on Form S-3, Form S-8 or Form F-3 and the information required to be included in a post-effective amendment by those paragraphs is contained in periodic reports filed with or furnished to the Commission by the registration pursuant to section 13 or section 15(d) of the US Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, that are incorporated by reference into the registration statement
 - (2) That, for the purpose of determining any liability under the Securities Act, each such post-effective amendment shall be deemed to be a new registration statement relating to the securities offered therein, and the offering of such securities at that time shall be deemed to be the initial bona fide offering thereof
 - (3) To remove from registration by means of a post-effective amendment any of the securities being registered which remai unsold at the termination of the offering
- (4) To file a post-effective amendment to the registration statement to include any financial statements required by Item 8.A. of Form 20-F at the start of any delayed offering or throughout a continuous offering. Financial statements and information otherwise required by Section 10(a)(3) of the Act need not be furnished, provided that the registrant includes in the prospectus, by means of a post-effective amendment, financial statements required pursuant to this paragraph (4) and other information necessary to ensure that all other information in the prospectus is at least as current as the date of those financial statements

The undersigned Registrant hereby undertakes as follows: that prior to any public reoffering of the securities registered hereunder through use of a prospectus which is a part of this registration statement, by any person or party who is deemed to be an underwriter within the meaning of Rule 145(c), the issuer undertakes that such reoffering prospectus will contain the information calle

for by the applicable registration form with respect to reoffering by persons who may be deemed underwriters, in addition to the information called for by the other items of the applicable form

The Registrant undertakes that every prospectus (i) that is filed pursuant to the immediately preceding paragraph, or (ii) that purports to meet the requirements of Section 10(a)(3) of the Securities Act and is used in connection with an offering of securities subject to Rule 415, will be filed as a part of an amendment to the registration statement and will not be used until such amendment is effective, and that, for purposes of determining any liability under the Securities Act, each such post-effective amendment shall be deemed to be a new registration statement relating to the securities offered therein, and the offering of such securities at that time shall be deemed to be the initial bona fide offering thereof

The undersigned Registrant hereby undertakes (i) to respond to requests for information that is incorporated by reference into the prospectus pursuant to Items 4, 10(b), 11 or 13 of this Form, within one business day of receipt of such request, and to send the incorporated documents by first class mail or other equally prompt means and (ii) to arrange or provide for a facility in the US for the purpose of responding to such requests. This includes information contained in documents filed subsequent to the effective date of the registration statement through the date of responding to the request

The undersigned Registrant hereby undertakes to supply by means of a post-effective amendment all information concerning transaction, and the company being acquired involved therein, that was not the subject of and included in the registration statement when in became effective

Insofar as indemnification for liabilities arising under the Securities Act may be permitted to directors, officers and controlling persons of the Registrant pursuant to the foregoing provisions, or otherwise, the Registrant has been advised that in the opinion of the SEC such indemnification is against public policy as expressed in the Act and is, therefore, unenforceable. In the event that a claim for indemnification against such liabilities (other than the payment by the Registrant of expenses incurred or paid by a director, officer of controlling person of the Registrant in the successful defense of any action, suit or proceeding) is asserted by such director, officer of controlling person in connection with the securities being registered, the Registrant will, unless in the opinion of its counsel the matter has been settled by controlling precedent, submit to a court of appropriate jurisdiction the question whether such indemnification by it is against public policy as expressed in the Act and will be governed by the final adjudication of such issues.
