(3) Operating Results

Looking back at the global economy in the first half of 2015, the U.S. economy continued recovering smoothly as employment conditions and consumer spending steadily improved. In Europe, although the U.K. and Germany showed signs of economic recovery, the Russian economy remained stagnant. The pace of economic expansion in China gradually declined while Southeast Asian countries faced slowdowns owing to local currency depreciation. As for the Japanese economy, improvement was seen in the corporate sector and employment conditions continued to recover. As a result, the global economy overall continued to realize moderate growth.

As for the markets in which Canon operates amid these conditions, demand for office multifunction devices (MFDs) and laser printers maintained steady growth, mainly for color models, while demand for semiconductor lithography equipment also increased, fueled by continued customer investment. As for cameras, demand continued to decline both for interchangeable-lens digital cameras and digital compact cameras. Additionally, demand for inkjet printers also decreased from the previous year due to sluggish market conditions in Southeast Asian countries.

The average values of the yen during the second quarter and first half of the year were ¥121.47 and ¥120.39 against the U.S. dollar, respectively, year-on-year depreciations of approximately ¥19 and ¥18, and ¥134.47 and ¥134.19 against the euro, respectively, year-on-year appreciations of approximately ¥5 and ¥6.

[Second-quarter results]

During the second quarter, despite firm sales in Japan, interchangeable-lens digital cameras continued to face severe conditions in other regions while sales volume for digital compact cameras decreased in most regions compared with the same period of the previous year. By contrast, sales of MFDs were strong and unit sales of semiconductor lithography equipment exceeded those for the same period of the previous year. Consequently, boosted by the positive effect of favorable currency exchange rates, second quarter net sales increased 5.1% year on year to ¥974.4 billion. The gross profit ratio for the second quarter, at 51.7%, remained at a high level thanks to highly profitable new products and ongoing cost-cutting activities, while operating expenses increased 7.0% year on year to ¥399.1 billion owing to such factors as the increase in foreign-currency-denominated operating expenses after conversion into yen due to the depreciation of the yen, along with the increase in R&D expenses related to new business and new products. As a result, second-quarter operating profit decreased by 5.3% to ¥104.7 billion. Other income (deductions) decreased by ¥7.9 billion due to foreign currency exchange losses, leading to a year-on-year decline in income before income taxes of 11.7% to ¥103.2 billion, and a decrease in net income attributable to Canon Inc. of 15.7% to ¥68.2 billion.

Basic net income attributable to Canon Inc. shareholders per share was ¥62.45 for the second quarter, a year-on-year decrease of ¥10.16.

[First-half results]

During the first half, interchangeable-lens digital cameras continued to face severe conditions in response to the stagnant market while sales volume for digital compact cameras decreased compared with the corresponding period of the previous year. Conversely, sales of MFDs were strong and unit sales of semiconductor lithography equipment exceeded those for the same period of the previous year. Consequently, boosted by the positive effect of favorable currency exchange rates, first-half net sales increased 2.0% year on year to ¥1,831.9 billion. The gross profit ratio for the first half rose 0.4 points to 51.4% from the year-ago period thanks to highly profitable new products and ongoing cost-cutting activities, while operating expenses increased 6.9% year on year to ¥771.4 billion owing to such factors as the increase in foreign-currency-denominated operating expenses after conversion into yen due to the depreciation of the yen, along with the increase in R&D expenses related to new business and new products. Consequently, operating profit for the first half of the year decreased by 11.5% to ¥170.9 billion. Other income (deductions) decreased by ¥9.4 billion due to foreign currency exchange losses, leading to a year-on-year decline in income before income taxes of 16.1% to ¥164.5 billion, and a decrease in net income attributable to Canon Inc. of 20.5% to ¥102.1 billion.

Basic net income attributable to Canon Inc. shareholders per share was ¥93.52 for the first half, a year-on-year decrease of ¥20.95.

Looking at Canon's first-half performance by business unit, within the Office Business Unit, as for office MFDs, in addition to healthy demand for the color A4 (letter and legal-sized) imageRUNNER ADVANCE C350/C250 lineup and color imagePRESS C800/C700 models for the light production market, sales of new small-office/home-office color A3 (12 x18) imageRUNNER ADVANCE C3300-series models, which feature high image quality, user-friendliness and productivity, proved popular in markets around the world. Among high-speed continuous-feed printers and wide-format printers, the new Océ-produced VarioPrint i300, Canon's first high-speed sheet-fed color inkjet press, gained favorable reviews. As for laser printers, unit sales increased from the same period of the previous year owing to such factors as the growth in demand for high-added-value models. As a result, coupled with the positive effect of favorable currency exchange rates, sales for the combined first six months of the year totaled ¥1,066.1 billion, a year-on-year increase of 3.3%, while operating profit totaled ¥151.1 billion, declining 5.9% due to the increase in R&D and other expenses.

Within the Imaging System Business Unit, although total sales volume of interchangeable-lens digital cameras declined due to market shrinkage, such new models as the EOS 5DS, EOS 5DS R and EOS M3 enjoyed steady growth. As for digital compact cameras, although sales volume declined amid the ongoing contraction of the market due to the effects of the growing popularity of smartphones, profitability improved thanks to the growing ratio of high-added-value models featuring high image quality and high-magnification zoom capabilities, along with a smooth transition from old products to new products. As for inkjet printers, although sales volume in developed countries, such as the U.S. and Western European nations, increased from the same period of the previous year thanks to sales promotions for new products featuring enhanced mobile-device compatibility and MAXIFY business-model inkjet printers, total sales volume declined slightly due to economic stagnation in Southeast Asian countries. As a result, despite the positive effect of favorable currency exchange rates, sales for the first six months totaled ¥595.2 billion, decreasing 4.8% year on year, while operating profit totaled ¥79.6 billion, a decline of 14.4%.

In the Industry and Others Business Unit, within the semiconductor lithography equipment segment, ongoing strong investment by manufacturers led to an increase in first-half unit sales of lithography systems for memory devices, image sensors and power semiconductor devices compared with the same period of the previous year. As for FPD lithography equipment, amid solid market growth, progress was made in orders and shipments. Looking at medical equipment, although sales volume for Canon's mainstay digital radiography systems decreased from the same period of the previous year owing to fierce market competition, total sales for the segment increased year on year thanks to efforts to boost sales of high-value-added models. Consequently, along with the impact of the acquisition of Axis, which became a consolidated subsidiary in the second quarter, sales for the first half of the year increased 18.7% year on year to ¥219.7 billion, while operating profit recorded a loss of ¥10.9 billion owing to upfront investment into next-generation technologies.

First-half results by major geographic area are summarized as follows:

Japan

Thanks to steady sales of digital compact cameras, net sales in Japan for the first half increased 1.4% from the year-ago period to ¥1,276.2 billion. Operating profit for the first half, however, decreased 21.5% year on year to ¥147.6 billion owing to the increase in R&D and other expenses.

Americas

Net sales for the first half increased 13.8% from the year-ago period to ¥550.0 billion thanks to the positive effects of favorable currency exchange rates along with the consolidation of new businesses. Operating profit for the first half totaled ¥16.6 billion, an increase of 89.1% year on year, owing to efforts to curtail spending.

Europe

Despite the negative effect of the appreciation of the yen, sales of MFDs were strong. As a result, along with the consolidation of new businesses, sales for the first half increased by 0.6% from the same period of the previous year to ¥562.9 billion. Operating profit for the first half totaled ¥6.3 billion, an increase of 17.2% year on year thanks to cost savings.

Asia and Oceania

Laser printers enjoyed solid demand in Asia and Oceania. As a consequence, as well as the positive impact of the depreciation of the yen, net sales for the first half increased 11.9% from the year-ago period to ¥836.1 billion while operating profit for the first half increased 18.6% to ¥39.1 billion.

Cash Flows

During the first half of 2015, cash flow from operating activities totaled ¥224.7 billion, declining ¥69.8 billion compared with the same period of the previous year due to the decrease in profit along with an increase in inventory. Cash flow from investing activities increased ¥163.9 billion year on year to ¥306.0 billion, mainly due to the payment for the acquisition of Axis. Accordingly, free cash flow totaled negative ¥81.3 billion, a decrease of ¥233.7 billion compared with the corresponding year-ago period.

Cash flow from financing activities recorded an outlay of ¥123.6 billion, mainly arising from the dividend payout.

Owing to these factors, as well as the negative impact of foreign currency translation adjustments, cash and cash equivalents decreased by ¥217.6 billion to ¥627.0 billion from the end of the previous year.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

(1) Basis of Presentation and Significant Accounting Policies(a) Basis of Presentation

The Company issued convertible debentures in the United States in May 1969 and established a program in which its American Depositary Receipts (ADRs) were traded in the U.S. over-the-counter market. Since then, under the U.S. Securities Act of 1933 and the U.S. Securities Exchange Act of 1934, the Company has prepared its annual consolidated financial statements in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (U.S. GAAP) and filed them with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission on Form 20-F. The Company's ADRs were listed on the NYSE in September 2000 after being quoted on NASDAQ from February 1972 to September 2000.

Canon's quarterly consolidated financial statements are prepared in accordance with the recognition and measurement criteria of accounting principles generally accepted in the United States. Certain disclosures have been omitted.

The number of consolidated subsidiaries and affiliated companies that were accounted for by the equity method basis as of June 30, 2015 and December 31, 2014 are summarized as follows:

	June 30, 2015	December 31, 2014
Consolidated subsidiaries	304	261
Affiliated companies	5	7
Total	309	268

(b) Principles of Consolidation

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company, its majority owned subsidiaries and those variable interest entities where the Company or its consolidated subsidiaries are the primary beneficiaries. All significant intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated.

(c) Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In May 2014, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued a new accounting standard related to revenue from contracts with customers. This standard requires an entity to recognize revenue when promised goods or services are transferred to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services. This standard was originally planned to be effective for annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2016, however, in April 2015, the FASB proposed a one-year delay in the effective date and the proposition was officially determined in July 2015. Early adoption as of the original effective date is permitted. This standard may be applied retrospectively to each prior reporting period presented or retrospectively with the cumulative effect of initially applying this standard recognized at the date of initial application. Canon has not selected a transition method and is currently evaluating the adoption date and the effect that the adoption of this standard will have on its consolidated results of operations and financial condition.

(6) Acquisition

On April 15, 2015, the Company acquired 76.1% of the issued shares of Axis AB (Axis), a Sweden-based company listed on Nasdaq Stockholm, a global leader in the network video solution industry, primarily through a public cash tender offer for consideration of ¥ 244,725 million. In addition, the Company acquired 8.7% of the issued shares of Axis from noncontrolling shareholders primarily through an additional public cash tender offer. As a result, the Company's aggregate interest represents 84.8% of the issued shares of Axis. The fair value of the 23.9% noncontrolling interest in Axis of ¥ 77,086 million was measured based on Axis's common stock price on the acquisition date.

The acquisition was accounted for using the acquisition method of accounting. Acquisition-related costs were expensed as incurred and were not material.

The Company views its network surveillance camera business as a promising new business area for Canon. Canon aims to provide advanced and high-performance network solutions to its customers and improve its product competitiveness through the acquisition.

The following table summarizes the estimated fair values of the assets acquired and liabilities assumed at acquisition date. Although Canon has preliminarily allocated the amount paid for acquisition to the acquired assets and assumed liabilities, such allocation is subject to change within the measurement period.

Other noncurrent assets	2,053
Non-current assets	322,928
Total acquired assets	354,293
Total assumed liabilities	32,482
Net assets acquired	321,811

Goodwill recorded is attributable primarily to expected synergies from combining operations of Axis and Canon.

The amounts of net sales of Axis since the acquisition date included in the Canon's consolidated statements of income for the six months ended June 30, 2015 were ¥ 20,245 million. The amounts of net income of Axis included in the Canon's consolidated statements of income were not material.

(11) Derivatives and Hedging Activities

Risk management policy

Canon operates internationally, exposing it to the risk of changes in foreign currency exchange rates. Derivative financial instruments are comprised principally of foreign exchange contracts utilized by the Company and certain of its subsidiaries to reduce the risk. Canon assesses foreign currency exchange rate risk by continually monitoring changes in the exposures and by evaluating hedging opportunities. Canon does not hold or issue derivative financial instruments for trading purposes. Canon is also exposed to credit-related losses in the event of non-performance by counterparties to derivative financial instruments, but it is not expected that any counterparties will fail to meet their obligations. Most of the counterparties are internationally recognized financial institutions and selected by Canon taking into account their financial condition, and contracts are diversified across a number of major financial institutions.

Foreign currency exchange rate risk management

Canon's international operations expose Canon to the risk of changes in foreign currency exchange rates. Canon uses foreign exchange contracts to manage certain foreign currency exchange exposures principally from the exchange of U.S. dollars and euros into Japanese yen. These contracts are primarily used to hedge the foreign currency exposure of forecasted intercompany sales and intercompany trade receivables that are denominated in foreign currencies. In accordance with Canon's policy, a specific portion of foreign currency exposure resulting from forecasted intercompany sales are hedged using foreign exchange contracts which principally mature within three months.

Cash flow hedge

Changes in the fair value of derivative financial instruments designated as cash flow hedges, including foreign exchange contracts associated with forecasted intercompany sales, are reported in accumulated other comprehensive income (loss). These amounts are subsequently reclassified into earnings through other income (deductions) in the same period as the hedged items affect earnings. Substantially all amounts recorded in accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) as of June 30, 2015 are expected to be recognized in earnings over the next twelve months. Canon excludes the time value component from the assessment of hedge effectiveness. Changes in the fair value of a foreign exchange contract for the period between the date that the forecasted intercompany sales occur and its maturity date are recognized in earnings and not considered hedge ineffectiveness.

Derivatives not designated as hedges

Canon has entered into certain foreign exchange contracts to primarily offset the earnings impact related to fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates associated with certain assets denominated in foreign currencies. Although these foreign exchange contracts have not been designated as hedges as required in order to apply hedge accounting, the contracts are effective from an economic perspective. The changes in the fair value of these contracts are recorded in earnings immediately.

(12) Commitments and Contingent LiabilitiesCommitments

As of June 30, 2015, commitments outstanding for the purchase of property, plant and equipment approximated ¥34,468 million, and commitments outstanding for the purchase of parts and raw materials approximated ¥84,841 million.

Canon occupies sales offices and other facilities under lease arrangements accounted for as operating leases. Deposits made under such arrangements aggregated ¥13,974 million and ¥13,847 million at June 30, 2015 and December 31, 2014, respectively, and are included in noncurrent receivables in the accompanying consolidated balance sheets.

Future minimum lease payments required under noncancelable operating leases are ¥26,761 million (within one year) and ¥72,463 million (after one year), at June 30, 2015.

Guarantees

Canon provides guarantees for bank loans of its employees, affiliates and other companies. The guarantees for the employees are principally made for their housing loans. The guarantees of loans of its affiliates and other companies are made to ensure that those companies operate with less financial risk.

For each guarantee provided, Canon would have to perform under a guarantee if the borrower defaults on a payment within the contract periods of 1 year to 30 years, in the case of employees with housing loans, and of 1 year to 5 years, in the case of affiliates and other companies. The maximum amount of undiscounted payments Canon would have had to make in the event of default is ¥8,926 million at June 30, 2015. The carrying amounts of the liabilities recognized for Canon's obligations as a guarantor under those guarantees at June 30, 2015 were not significant.

Canon also issues contractual product warranties under which it generally guarantees the performance of products delivered and services rendered for a certain period or term. Estimated product warranty costs are recorded at the time revenue is recognized and are included in selling, general and administrative expenses. Estimates for accrued product warranty costs are based on historical experience. Changes in accrued product warranty cost for the six months ended June 30, 2015 and 2014 is summarized as follows:

Legal proceedings

Canon is involved in various claims and legal actions arising in the ordinary course of business. Canon has recorded provisions for liabilities when it is probable that liabilities have been incurred and the amount of loss can be reasonably estimated. Canon reviews these provisions at least quarterly and adjusts these provisions to reflect the impact of the negotiations, settlements, rulings, advice of legal counsel and other information and events pertaining to a particular case. Based on its experience, although litigation is inherently unpredictable, Canon believes that any damage amounts claimed in outstanding matters are not a meaningful indicator of Canon's potential liability. In the opinion of management, any reasonably possible range of losses from outstanding matters would not have a material adverse effect on Canon's consolidated financial position, results of operations, or cash flows.

(13) Disclosures about the Fair Value of Financial Instruments and Concentrations of Credit RiskFair value of financial instruments

The estimated fair values of Canon's financial instruments at June 30, 2015 and December 31, 2014 are set forth below. The following summary excludes cash and cash equivalents, trade receivables, finance receivables, noncurrent receivables, short-term loans, trade payables and accrued expenses for which fair values approximate their carrying amounts. The summary also excludes investments which are disclosed in Note 2.

	Millions of yen
	June 30, 2015		December 31, 2014
	Carrying amount	Estimated fair value	Carrying amount	Estimated fair value
Long-term debt, including current installments	(1,868)	(1,855)	(2,163)	(2,146)
Foreign exchange contracts:
Assets	827	827	265	265
Liabilities	(1,636)	(1,636)	(11,167)	(11,167)

The following methods and assumptions are used to estimate the fair value in the above table.

Long-term debt

Canon's long-term debt instruments are classified as Level 2 instruments and valued based on the present value of future cash flows associated with each instrument discounted using current market borrowing rates for similar debt instruments of comparable maturity. The levels are more fully described in Note 14.

Foreign exchange contracts

The fair values of foreign exchange contracts are measured using quotes obtained from counterparties or third parties, which are periodically validated by pricing models using observable market inputs, such as foreign currency exchange rates and interest rates, based on market approach.

Limitations of fair value estimates

Fair value estimates are made at a specific point in time, based on relevant market information and information about the financial instruments. These estimates are subjective in nature and involve uncertainties and matters of significant judgment and therefore cannot be determined with precision. Changes in assumptions could significantly affect the estimates.

Concentrations of credit risk

At June 30, 2015 and December 31, 2014, one customer accounted for approximately 17% and 16% of consolidated trade receivables, respectively. Although Canon does not expect that the customer will fail to meet its obligations,

Canon is potentially exposed to concentrations of credit risk if the customer failed to perform according to the terms of the contracts.

(14) Fair Value Measurements

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability (an exit price) in the principal or most advantageous market for the asset or liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. A three-level fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs used to measure fair value is as follows:

- Level 1 - Inputs are quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.
 Level 2 - Inputs are quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets, quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in markets that are not active, inputs other than quoted prices that are observable, and inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by observable market data by correlation or other means.
 Level 3 - Inputs are derived from valuation techniques in which one or more significant inputs or value drivers are unobservable, which reflect the reporting entity's own assumptions about the assumptions that market participants would use in establishing a price.

Assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis

The following tables present Canon's assets and liabilities that are measured at fair value on a recurring basis consistent with the fair value hierarchy at June 30, 2015 and December 31, 2014.

Level 1 investments are comprised principally of Japanese equity securities, which are valued using an unadjusted quoted market price in active markets with sufficient volume and frequency of transactions. Level 2 cash and cash equivalents are valued based on market approach, using quoted prices for identical assets in markets that are not active. Level 3 investments are mainly comprised of corporate bonds, which are valued based on cost approach, using unobservable inputs as the market for the assets was not active at the measurement date.

Derivative financial instruments are comprised of foreign exchange contracts. Level 2 derivatives are valued using quotes obtained from counterparties or third parties, which are periodically validated by pricing models using observable market inputs, such as foreign currency exchange rates and interest rates, based on market approach.

Finance receivables represent financing leases which consist of sales-type leases and direct-financing leases resulting from the sales of Canon's and complementary third-party products primarily in foreign countries. Canon has policies in place to ensure that its products are sold to customers with an appropriate credit history, and continuously monitors its customers' credit quality based on information including length of period in arrears, macroeconomic conditions, initiation of legal proceedings against customers and bankruptcy filings. The allowance for credit losses of finance receivables are evaluated collectively based on historical experience of credit losses. An additional reserve for individual accounts is recorded when Canon becomes aware of a customer's inability to meet its financial obligations, such as in the case of bankruptcy filings. Finance receivables which are past due at June 30, 2015 and December 31, 2014 are not significant.
