RE: PepsiCo Proposal to Acquire PBG and PAS

Dear Friends and Colleagues,

As announced today, PepsiCo has reached agreements to acquire all of the outstanding shares of common stock it does not already own in our two largest anchor bottlers, The Pepsi Bottling Group (PBG) and PepsiAmericas (PAS). The merger of the businesses, which is subject to shareholder and regulatory approvals, would be a major strategic move to create a much more consolidated PepsiCo beverage business.

The change would strategically transform our business model across Europe, as well as in the U.S., Canada and Mexico. It reflects the new operating realities of our global marketplace: continued customer consolidation, the emergence of new competitors and the major growth of non-carbonated beverages; all of which require us to think and operate quite differently in terms of redefining our right to succeed by taking a total system wide view of our assets and organization.

For PepsiCo Europe, the change would be transformational. It would increase our revenues by about 35% and expand our manufacturing footprint by 27 plants. At the same time, we would welcome a further 17,000 associates of PAS and PBG from across Europe, directly into our business.

Merging the businesses would create important new opportunities. For example, in Russia and Eastern Europe, where we have scale businesses, it would allow us to accelerate the outstanding "Power of One" work that is already under way and enable us to further strengthen our position as a leading food and beverage company. We would be able to simplify our operations with the potential to further integrate the successful Lebedyansky juice business, exploring opportunities to extend the model to Ukraine and other emerging markets in East and Central Europe. The prospects for strategic advancement are equally exciting in markets like Spain, Turkey and Romania where we would have opportunities to fully leverage Power of One.

As I see it, bringing the three businesses together will provide a broad range of benefits. We'll be able to bring innovation to the marketplace more quickly and efficiently, serve our customers and consumers better and more fully leverage the scale and power of our beverage and snack portfolio.

I plan to share more information with you over the coming weeks and months, as this process moves toward completion.

In the meantime, I'd also like to pay a heartfelt tribute to all of you for such terrific focus and determination in spite of what is clearly a tough year across all business sectors in Europe. Your collective discipline and tenacity in executing against a clear set of priorities is absolutely pivotal in enabling us to successfully manage through the macro economic slowdown, delivering strong bottom line results and share performance. I'm proud of what the team has delivered and confident in the tremendous teams and growth plans we are building for the long terms consistent with our vision of becoming Europe's premier Food and Beverage company.

A key part of that successful focus on both the short and long term is of course, reflected in our close partnership with PBG and PAS. I'd encourage all of us to remain tightly disciplined in working closely on the immediate needs of our businesses whilst we also start to work together on the significant opportunities ahead.

Thanks for your continued support.

Statements in this release that are “forward-looking statements” are based on currently available information, operating plans and projections about future events and trends. They inherently involve risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those predicted in such forward-looking statements. Such risks and uncertainties include, but are not limited to: PepsiCo’s ability to consummate the acquisitions of PBG and PAS and to achieve the synergies and value creation contemplated by the proposed acquisitions; PepsiCo’s ability to promptly and effectively integrate the businesses of PBG, PAS and PepsiCo; the timing to consummate the proposed acquisitions and any necessary actions to obtain required regulatory approvals; the diversion of management time on transaction-related issues; changes in demand for PepsiCo’s products, as a result of shifts in consumer preferences or otherwise; increased costs, disruption of supply or shortages of raw materials and other supplies; unfavorable economic conditions and increased volatility in foreign exchange rates; PepsiCo’s ability to build and sustain proper information technology infrastructure, successfully implement its ongoing business process transformation initiative or outsource certain functions effectively; damage to PepsiCo’s reputation; trade consolidation, the loss of any key customer, or failure to maintain good relationships with PepsiCo’s bottling partners, including as a result of the proposed acquisitions; PepsiCo's ability to hire or retain key employees or a highly skilled and diverse workforce; changes in the legal and regulatory environment; disruption of PepsiCo's supply chain; unstable political conditions, civil unrest or other developments and risks in the countries where PepsiCo operates; and risks that benefits from PepsiCo's Productivity for Growth initiative may not be achieved, may take longer to achieve than expected or may cost more than currently anticipated.

For additional information on these and other factors that could cause PepsiCo's actual results to materially differ from those set forth herein, please see PepsiCo's filings with the SEC, including its most recent annual report on Form 10-K and subsequent reports on Forms 10-Q and 8-K. Investors are cautioned not to place undue reliance on any such forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date they are made. All information in this communication is as of August 4, 2009. PepsiCo undertakes no obligation to update any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise.
