Item 8.01. Other Events

On June 28, 2018 the Company sold the note for the largest loan in its discontinued loan portfolio and received $35.0 million cash compared to a $36.9 million recorded fair value. There will be no financing provided by the Company. As a result of the sale, a $1.9 million loss will be reflected in discontinued operations in the Company's second quarter financial statements. The fair value had been based upon a first quarter 2018 appraisal of related collateral which consisted of a Florida hotel under construction and a parking lot. The appraisal indicated an 80% loan to value and the loan also had personal guarantees of certain of the principals. While other dispositions of the loan may have resulted in full recovery of principal, those dispositions would have required considerable additional time. Company management believed that it was prudent to eliminate this credit exposure at the above discount to par. The above transaction will reduce the $195 million of commercial loan exposure in discontinued operations at March 31, 2018 by approximately 19%.
